ALDERMEN PUT 40 YEAR GRANT INTO CAR BILLS

Veto 20 Year Plan as Impracticable.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The council local transportation committee made one important change today in the legislative transit bills submitted by the citizens' committee, headed by James Simpson. The six bills, which propose to grant added powers to the city on transit matters, offered the city council the option of granting a 20 year road term franchise or a terminable permit. The aldermen decided unanimously that this plan gave them no choice. They argued that it is impracticable to finance a comprehensive system on a fixed term of 20 years, and therefore they would be compelled to grant a terminable permit to obtain the transportation facilities they desire. They declared that the fixed term grant shall permit of a 40 year franchise.

Bills to Council on Tuesday.

Otherwise the bills will probably be indorsed by the city council at a special session on Tuesday. Two sessions of the committee will be held tomorrow. The first, starting at 10 o'clock in the morning, will be a public hearing. Tomorrow evening the aldermen will have a session to discuss and decide on any other amendments which may be proposed. However, it is not anticipated there will be any changes of importance, because there will be sufficient time for any careful drafting of amendments before the council meeting.

It is planned to take the bills to Springfield on Tuesday night. The delegation of the entire city council will be led by the citizens' committee, composed of Mr. Simpson, Col. A. A. Sprague, Prof. Charles M. Thompson, Joseph R. Noel and John A. Carroll.

To Call on Lieutenant.

The group plans to call on Gov. Emerson first, then on Lieut. Gov. Sterling as the presiding officer of the senate and finally on Speaker Shanahan of the house. The drafts of the bills will be formally presented to both of the three officials. All will be reminded that this is the first time that Chicago has presented a substantially united front in a request for transportation legislation.

It is claimed that it is the first time in the history of the city that a unanimous agreement on enabling legislation in such an important matter has been so closely approached. The constitutional lawyers of both houses will be invited to examine the bills when ready and report their findings.

It was reported last night that no representative of the transportation interests will join the procession. While the bills are acceptable to the committee, it is said that they have given up more than they think they should have been asked to concede.

Bills Again Under Fire.

The bills were again under fire at the meeting of the local transportation committee yesterday, particularly by Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th], who added to what Ald. Wiley W. Mills [17th] and Ald. William D. Meyering [30th] said on Friday.

Ald. Meyering started the ball rolling.

"You have limited a fixed term franchise to 20 years as the present ordinance," he said to representatives of the citizens' committee.

"No change was made in the present law on fixed term franchises for street car companies," explained Sidney S. Gorham, attorney for the citizens' committee, "because of the intimation that downstate legislators opposed any change. We did not, therefore, suggest anything out of the ordinary or revolutionary."

Attacks 20 Year Franchise.

"We are given a choice between a 20 year fixed term franchise or a terminable permit, which in my opinion is no choice," Meyering went on. "We have listened to the bankers and it is so generally conceded that it is impracticable to finance a transit system of the size we desire on a 20 year basis that this form of franchise is almost out of the picture. We also have been given the impression that a fixed term franchise for 40 years can be financed on a sound basis. But your bills do not give us that alternative. I think the legislature would look with suspicion on a plan which gives no choice."

Then Ald. Guernsey hopped into the fray. He said:

"I listened with interest to the statements of Mr. Gorham in which he told how the terminable permit, with

FLOOD ENGULFS 21 BOY SCOUTS; 3 DIE; 5 MISSING

Death Toll in South May Reach 28.

BULLETIN.

Quincy, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—New trouble loomed in the Quincy district tonight when the main Mississippi river levee of the Gregory drainage district started to slip. Reports were that emergency methods probably would be of little avail.

Rockwood, Tenn., March 23.—(AP)—With the parents of three and a number of other men standing helpless on the bank, two Boy Scouts and their master found their last adventure in the flood waters of White creek today, and rescuers tonight feared five of their fellows had died with them in the stream.

James T. Wright, the scoutmaster; J. C. Hill and Ed Burnett, scouts, were drowned after a sudden cloudburst sent the creek over its banks and swept the cabin housing Wright's troop of 21 boys from a rock bluff into the swirling water.

Five Others Missing.

Thirteen of the boys, who ranged from 12 to 16 years old, have been rescued. The other five, unheard from since the rescue expedition stood helpless when the cabin was torn from its foundation early today, were the objects of a search, but most of the hundreds lining the creek banks feared they were drowned.

The boys were camping over the week-end with Wright about six miles from here. About 5 a. m. the tiny creek, swelled to a width of more than an eighth of a mile, tore the cabin from its foundation.

They were blocked by the washout of the only bridge across the creek, and efforts to use a boat failed.

Wright and eleven of the boys managed to cling to a driftwood raft for some time, and several of these later were saved by rescuers.

Survivor Tells Story.

Rockwood, Tenn., March 23.—[U.P.]—L. G. McCluen Jr., 13 year old survivor of the flood which overtook the boy scout camp tonight told the following story:

"We left Rockwood at about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for the Tarwater bungalow, where we were to spend the week-end. Twenty-five of us went, but three of the boys went back home after supper. During the evening we sat around and Jim [referring to Scoutmaster Wright] read to us from a book called 'Up Eel River.' We went to bed about 10 o'clock, all of us sleeping on the floor in the same room.

"The next thing I knew Willard Staples, who was lying close to the door, woke me, saying that there was water on the floor. Then Jim woke up and roused the other boys. Before we could get our clothes on the water was knee deep.

Water Gets Knee Deep.

"We went out on the porch and saw there was water all around us. We stood on the porch for half an hour or longer, trying to figure a way to get out.

"Jim then told us to get on the roof. The next thing I heard was a tremendous crash. The county highway bridge had just fallen into the water.

"It still was dark. It was raining and the water was cold.

Cabin Tumbles Into River.

"Then all of a sudden the cabin tumbled over into the stream, breaking into three pieces.

"We grabbed for a tree and stayed on it a while. We saw then it was bending too far down. So we leaped from it into the water and swam to another tree. That didn't suit us, so we again jumped into the water and swam to a drift. We were on it when rescued."

Put Harriman Dead at 28.

Harriman, Tenn., March 23.—(AP)—This railroad junction town in east Tennessee tonight counted its dead, tentatively placed at a score, and began gathering funds to care for those made homeless by the raging Emory river.

Hundreds of refugees were huddled about the river banks after an all day vigil, many watching for some signs of friend or family claimed by the swollen river.

The swirling debris laden river prevented rescuers from reaching homes near the river banks, and, though hearing the cries of victims, they were forced to stand by and see the houses sweep away.

THAT NO-ACCOUNT BOY WHOM GRANDPA WAS SO ASHAMED OF

U. S. Surplus of 150 Million from Incomes

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Income tax collections continued to mount today with prospects of a surplus for the fiscal year ending June 30 in excess of 150 million dollars.

The unexpected showing of large profits during 1928, when speculative activities reached an unprecedented volume, has caused treasury officials to revise their estimates all along the line.

Today's treasury statement showed that income tax receipts for the present month up to the close of business on Thursday amounted to $536,088,827, as compared with $414,816,307 during the same period of last year.

For the fiscal year 1929 up to date income tax receipts have totaled $1,611,289,632, as against $1,523,021,382 in the same period of the fiscal year 1928.

Pass March Year Ago.

Already the receipts for March exceed the total for the entire month of March, 1928. The 112 million dollar excess in the first 21 days of March over the first 21 days of March, 1928, represents the amount by which treasury estimates of revenue have thus far been exceeded.

The treasury was expecting that the March collections would be about the same as last year, which, even on that basis, would have meant greater business activities in view of the fact that a reduced corporation tax was effective on 1928 earnings.

According to government experts, the total for March will show a somewhat smaller increase over March, 1928, than the excess of the first 21 days would indicate. It is expected, however, that the March total will be at least $90,000,000 more than in March, 1928, and possibly $100,000,000 more.

June Receipts Will Be Large.

The June income tax payments are certain to show an increase also over June, 1928, possibly by 50 million or 60 million dollars. This would mean a total increase for the first six months of 1929 of as much as 150 million dollars over the same period of last year.

On the basis of income tax receipts in March about equal to those of March of last year, the treasury some weeks ago estimated that there would be a surplus for the present fiscal year of $26,000,000. If the unexpected increase amounts to as much as 150 million dollars it would mean a surplus of as much as 175 million dollars.

This may be reduced, however, by various treasury operations such as the prospective payment of $45,000,000 to the railroads necessitated by a recent court decision.

WINTER FROWNS ON CALIFORNIA; SLEET AND SNOW

San Francisco, Cal., March 23.—(AP)—Winter frowned upon California sunshine long enough today to dash snow and sleet across some landscapes that for weeks had basked in the warmth of springtime. Points in the Rockies received a fresh covering of snow.

Glendale, Cal., near Los Angeles, reported a heavy snow, followed by sleet and rain, while ten miles away, in the latter city, the sun shone. At Paso Robles, Cal., snow fell half an hour this afternoon, two to three inches being reported in outlying sections. Older residents of the city said that snow never before had fallen there so late in the year.

Heavy snowfall that reached a depth of three inches at Salt Lake City and ranged up to six inches at Delta, Utah, hampered air and highway travel over that section. The storm was reported as extending from Reno, Nev., to Cheyenne, Wyo. Air traffic east and west of Salt Lake has been tied up since yesterday afternoon, and mail was moved by train.

Wife Knocks Him Out with Easter Lily; He Gets Divorce

George Naghtin, 3614 Milwaukee avenue, won a divorce from his wife, Elizabeth, before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday on charges of cruelty. Naghtin testified that his wife knocked him unconscious with a potted lily which he bought as a present for her last Easter. He recovered consciousness to find the lily in his hand, and left their home March 29, 1928, he said.

Shoots Wife to Death and Kills Himself

Rochford Carlson, a roofer, 39 years old, shot and killed his wife, Harriet, 35, with a shotgun shortly after 5 o'clock this morning on the street in front of their home, 6940 Indiana avenue, then going into the house killed himself with the same weapon.

The tragedy was witnessed by the Carlson's daughter, Marie, 15 years old, a student in Calumet High school. She told the police that it was the result of her father's jealousy that had led him to accuse her mother of unfaithfulness.

The girl said that she and her parents spent the evening at the home of her uncle, Arthur Scott, 703 West 31st place. They returned home about 1 o'clock and Mrs. Carlson went to bed with her daughter. Miss Carlson was awakened by hearing her mother scream in the adjoining room. She leaped from her bed and saw the couple scuffling over a shotgun.

In the scuffle the weapon was discharged, the charge entering the wall. Mrs. Carlson fled to the street, with her husband in pursuit. As she reached the sidewalk he took aim and fired and she fell fatally wounded.

Carlson then rushed into the house, reloaded the weapon, placed the butt against a wall with the barrel pointing at his heart, and pulled the trigger. He died immediately. Mrs. Carlson died on the way to a hospital.

PLANE TRIPS ON TREES, SMASHES; 2 SLIGHTLY HURT

A pilot and his passenger, en route from St. Louis to the Municipal airport in a Ryan brougham plane, powered by a Wright whirlwind motor, lost their bearings in the darkness last night and cracked up the ship while attempting to land in a field at Higgins road on the southwest boundary of the village of Park Ridge. Both men escaped with slight injuries.

Sighting a government air mail beacon on the roadside, the pilot, F. H. Rust, 31 years old, dropped a flare from a height of 500 feet. The flare lit up the field but failed to illuminate a row of trees. As the plane skimmed down, its landing gear caught on the tree tops and was wrenched away, causing the crippled craft to nose dive and turn over as it struck. Rust and his passenger, Roy A. Englehardt, 23 years old, student in the aviation school at Marion, Ill., crawled out of the wreckage and were taken to a Park Ridge physician's office, where their injuries were dressed.

Rust, a pilot for the Robertson Aircraft corporation of St. Louis, was bringing the ship here to be reconditioned in the hangars of the Universal Aircraft corporation. His home is in University City, a St. Louis suburb. Englehardt's home is in Osceola, Wis.

Rum Runners Shoot, Kidnap a Coast Guard

Algonac, Mich., March 23.—(AP)—St. Clair river rum runners tonight introduced a new version of the "ride." Earl Roberts, immigration border patrol inspector and the subject of the innovation, is in the hospital at St. Clair, Mich., recovering from a gunshot wound received during his brush with the rum runners.

Roberts was shot through the hip and dragged into a rum boat here late tonight by a rum runner whom he had accosted as he was beaching his boat here.

Alarm Is Spread.

The pilot put his craft out into the river and W. J. Stoutmeyer, deputy collector of customs, who was with Roberts at the time of the kidnaping, spread the alarm. State police, sheriffs' officers, and Canadian mounted police and Ontario provincial police began a search for the rum boat.

At length Dr. W. E. Cathcart of Port Lampton, Ont., reported to police that he had treated Roberts' wound and placed the inspector on a ferry bound for the United States. Roberts had been picked up on a wharf at Port Lampton, where the rum runner and Stoutmeyer said they recognized and Stoumeyer said they recognized the pilot of the boat.

TROUBLE OVER IMALONE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Death of a West Indies Negro aboard the British schooner Imalone, sunk by coast guard gunfire off the Louisiana coast yesterday, may result in international complications.

Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador, called at the state department today and asked for details regarding the shelling of the schooner. Before leaving, Sir Esme indicated that if newspaper accounts of the sinking of the vessel bore accurate a protest will be registered.

May Ask Apology.

If the death of the British citizen can be laid to the shelling of the vessel by the coast guard, the British government will ask apologies from the United States, just as was done when coast guard vessels violated international law by invading the territorial waters of Bahama in 1927.

Admiral F. C. Billard, commander of the coast guard, asserted that in shelling the vessel the coast guardsmen acted within their rights.

State department officials were not so ready to defend the shelling incident. They stated that a full report was being asked for.

Other Aliens Killed?

New Orleans, La., March 23.—(AP)—U. S. District Attorney Edmund E. Talbot today expressed the belief that scores of aliens being smuggled into the United States were drowned when the coast guard cutter Dexter sank the alleged rum ship, Imalone, in the Gulf of Mexico yesterday.

The Imalone went down under the gunfire of the cutter when its crew made unusual resistance to boarding by the government crew. This unusually determined resistance was cited here as evidence that the ship carried aliens in addition to the rum and drugs which were said to have been its customary cargo.

Prisoners in Irons.

Pascagoula, Miss., March 23.—[U. P.]—The crew of the British auxiliary schooner Imalone of Belize were being taken to New Orleans in irons today aboard the coast guard cutters Dexter and Walcott, which fired upon and sank their schooner yesterday in the belief that it was a rum runner. The crew will deliver their prisoners to custom officials, who probably will charge them with rum running.

REBELS CREEP ON CITY UNDER COVER OF NIGHT

Small Force Beats Back Attacks.

BULLETIN.

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—(AP)—The rebel attack during the evening dropped off to desultory firing. At 9:30 p. m. the national headquarters was informed by Gen. Carrillo that the situation was unchanged.

BULLETIN.

San Diego, Cal., March 23.—(AP)—The United States destroyer Robert Smith sailed from here today with Mazatlan, Mexico, reported to be its destination. The scout cruiser Omaha, flagship of Rear Admiral Thomas Senn, and three additional destroyers were reported under orders to sail tomorrow, presumably for Mazatlan.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

MEXICO CITY, March 23.—The long awaited offensive of the Mexican rebels against the port of Mazatlan began early last night and continued throughout the night and today. The strongly entrenched federal defenders tonight, after holding back the rebels for thirty hours, were still in possession of the important west coast port.

The federals are outnumbered by the rebel army. The government estimates the rebel forces besieging Mazatlan at less than 5,000, while the federal garrison is 3,500 strong. This makes the forces, from a military point of view about even when the strong defensive position is taken into account.

The extent of the casualties is not reported, but they undoubtedly are heavy. A government communique tonight said that one federal was wounded and that there had been rebel casualties. Gen. Jaime Carrillo, commander of the federal forces, is sending hourly bulletins to the office of the presidency at Chapultepec palace. President Portes Gil is also sending hourly bulletins to Gen. Carrillo informing him of the movements of the federal troops being sent to reinforce the Mazatlan garrison.

Rebels Surround City.

The rebels, after completely surrounding Mazatlan, began their attack last night from the front and right flank in an attempt to rush the fortifications. The federals replied with a withering machine gun fire. Across the wide open fields the rebels advanced rapidly against the federal trenches, but their charges were repulsed several times. For over three hours, as the rebels advanced over the recently plowed fields, the federal machine guns played upon them.

The ground over which the revolutionaries are fighting is north of the "beach entrance," which affords the only feasible approach to the federal fortified lines. This stretch is a mile and a half wide and several miles long and is partly cultivated.

During the rebels' rushes upon the city, first from one point and then from another, powerful electric searchlights covered the port completely. The powerful searchlights made the darkness darker to the defenders, due to the contrast between the blackness without and the glaring light within. The federals could see the insurgents carrying away their dead.

Rebels Dig Fox Holes.

As the rebels advanced hurriedly they dug fox holes from which to fight. Little by little they closed in on Mazatlan and at daybreak, around 5 o'clock, they were already entrenched in lines by fox holes, completely spanning their attacking front from the hills to the sea.

This morning the rebels, having advanced their lines considerably toward the port and having fought tenaciously in the face of a continuous withering barrage of machine guns, fort artillery and rifles, suddenly stopped firing. The electric lights were turned off and the camp of the besiegers settled back into an imposing silence.

Apparently the rebel commander had decided to give his men a much needed rest, anticipating a more strenuous attempt to carry the port by storm later. After some hours of rest the rebel attack began anew all along the line. As the federals concentrated on a rebel rush on the left, reserves began a drive on the right, the previous rush evidently being a feint to attract the federal forces to that point.

The main strength of the rebels was directed along the railroad, with the

MEXICAN REBELS BATTLE FOR CONTROL OF MAZATLAN

View of Mazatlan, seaport on west coast of Mexico, which is being attacked by rebel army under command of Gen. Francisco Manzo. Bloody fighting is reported, with federals still in possession of the city, although outnumbered. The rebels surrounded the city, but were repulsed when they attempted to rush the fortifications. [Pacific and Atlantic Photo.]

evident intention of reaching the great bridge and putting it out of commission, together with the viaduct over which the railroad enters Mazatlan. The only other land entrance into Mazatlan is over a long bridge over the lowland around the city.

Gunboat Shells Rebels.

All morning the rebels shelled the advanced positions of the federals but with comparatively little damage because of the excellent federal trenches which were prepared during the last two weeks in anticipation of the attack.

While the shelling was at its height and the rebels were advancing under the cover of a barrage of machine gun fire, the Mexican gunboat Progreso, used since the war began as a transport for troops and provisions, suddenly appeared in the bay and began shelling the advancing rebels, who took cover in a nearby woods, where they were partially protected from both the gunboat and the federal troops' fire.

Federal cavalry then appeared in heavy force in the open along the low lying shore lands. The gunboat turned its fire on the woods and, with the cavalry, forced the retreat of the rebels. The rebels were forced to retreat into a cemetery where, from behind the walls and the tombstones, they continued firing.

While the battle was in progress rebel aviators flew low over Mazatlan, dropping printed leaflets calling upon the defenders to join the revolutionary armies and declaring that it was only a question of time before the port would fall.

12,000 Federals Rush to Aid.

While the battle for possession of Mazatlan was on Gen. Lazaro Cardenas, famous cavalry officer, was marching to the relief of the port with 12,000 men. He is now at Tepic, capital of the state of Nayarit, a town of some 12,000 inhabitants.

The revolutionaries are said to have flung several thousand men into a pass leading from the state into the lowlands behind Mazatlan. If the federals overcome this opposition, their road is easy, and it is expected they will reach Mazatlan tonight or tomorrow morning, when the rebels probably will be forced to raise the siege or offer battle against superior and better disciplined forces.

All day yesterday and far into the night the Mexican federal troops were assembling divisions and preparing to march to Mazatlan. The railroad is reported to be cut in several places. This necessitates the use of a large number of army automobile drays, with which the forces of Gen. Cardenas are well supplied. The federals, once a broken railroad section is reached, will not await repairs, but will rush forward in trucks, and, where necessary, on foot. As a good part of the forces of Gen. Cardenas consist of cavalry, they will lead the advance upon Mazatlan, and attempt to cut off the retreat of the rebels.

Send Troops to Three States.

Meanwhile, the Mexican government is preparing to send heavy detachments of troops against the rebels in the states of Jalisco, Michoacan, and Guanajuato, who are raiding small ranches and undefended villages. They are the same elements which for three years periodically have been active. They retreat into the mountains when they are closely followed.

The rural agrarian troops are familiar with the mountainous regions where the guerrilla bands are operating, and they are being organized and armed under competent officers to deal with the so-called Catholic rebels. These regions, therefore, promise soon to form another center of combat.

Twenty-four thousand railway ties and several trainloads of rails are being rushed to repair the railroads torn up by the rebel commander in chief, Gen. José Gonzalo Escobar, whose forces are retreating from Monterey, Saltillo, and Torreon. Work already has been begun to rehabilitate the several hundreds of miles of track that were destroyed.

All Americans Safe.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—J. Reuben Clark, undersecretary of state, was informed tonight by Ambassador Dwight Morrow over long distance telephone from Mexico City that William T. Blocker, American counsel at Mazatlan, had telegraphed the embassy that all Americans in the city were safe. Mr. Blocker had been reported killed in the rebel attack on the city earlier in the day.

Hardly had Mr. Clark concluded his conversation with Mr. Morrow, he said, when he was called to the telephone to brand as untrue reports circulated that the ambassador had been killed in Mexico City. At the time the report said Mr. Morrow was killed, the under-secretary said, he was talking with him.

U. S. Flyer Captured.

Nogales, Ariz., March 23.—(AP)—An American aviator said to be from the Mexican federal air base at Naco, Sonora, was captured this afternoon when he landed and attempted to set fire to a railroad bridge near Santa Cruz, between Naco and Nogales, a statement issued at rebel headquarters at Nogales, Sonora, said.

Federals March on Nogales.

SAN LUIS, Sonora, March 23.—(AP)—A federal cavalry force, 800 strong, was dispatced from the government garrison here late today with orders from Gen. Abelardo Rodriguez of the northern district of Lower California to attack the rebel garrison at Nogales, Sonora.

Try to Wedge in Calles.

JUAREZ, Chihuahua, March 23.—(AP)—Insurgent leaders today reported that their campaign of "tactical" warfare to rout the government command of Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles had been carried south of Torreon by detachments of rebel forces sent from their base at Jimenez to harass federal military movements.

Torreon, important industrial center of Coahuila and a strategic point of fortification, is the objective of a rebel counter drive launched yesterday with the concentration at Bermijillo, 30 miles north, of several thousand soldiers who prepared for an attack.

Revolutionary movements in the zone embracing Coahuila, Durango, and Zacatecas, as described in reports from the insurgent commanders here, indicated a process of wedging in the Calles army in the vicinity of Torreon to be coupled with a rebel advance from the south or the west coast.

Send Mission to Hoover.

A report received from Col. Juan Villegas Fernandez at the Jimenez base declared that the insurgent forces had encountered a federal command in Colorado, Zacatecas, about 150 miles south of the Callista base of operations in Torreon. The rebel attack dispersed 800 federal infantrymen and an uprising in the city timed with the insurgent advance caused 300 others to flee to the mountains, Col. Fernandez reported.

A committee representing the rebel command prepared today to leave for New York and Washington on a mission concerning financial and other matters connected with the rebellious movement. Gerzayan Ugarte, private secretary to former President Venustiano Carranza, is head of the mission. Other members are Franco J. Santa Maria and Jaime Manuel Alvarez del Castillo. Ignacio Moran, financial agent in the United States for Gen. Escobar, also will accompany the mission.

Begin Modernization of Two Battleships May 1

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—The battleship Pennsylvania will go to the Philadelphia navy yard for modernization about May 1 and the Arizona will go to the Norfolk navy yard about the same time. Congress has authorized $14,800,000 for the work and of this sum $7,400,000 already has been appropriated.

Chicagoans Find Revolution in Mexico Is a Genuine War

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

From actual experience, four Chicagoans can testify that the Mexican revolution at close quarters is considerably more exciting than on the front pages of the daily papers. The quartet comprises Mr. and Mrs. Fred Geriach, 2440 Lake View avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lindstrom of Winnetka, who arrived home yesterday after being "battle bound" in Vera Cruz for a week.

Leaving New Orleans for a brief visit at Vera Cruz, where they expected to spend one day before going on to Mexico City, the party was told on leaving their steamer, the Maranan, that a revolution was afoot. Taking it as another pleasantry of the jovial skipper, they laughed and went ashore, taking rooms at the Imperial hotel.

Rebels Commandeer Ship.

That afternoon they hired an automobile and drove to the commandantis, where they found the rebel forces under Gen. Jesus Aguirre, since executed, loading trains and ships with supplies. Every soldier, they found, was loaded down with belts of ammunition. Their own steamer, the Maranan, was commandeered by thirty rebels.

They were not molested, although they were warned not to try to use a moving picture camera they had brought.

A young Mexican named Garcia, from New Orleans, had attached himself to the party. He asked for and obtained an interview with Gen. Aguirre, while the rest of the party, including his wife, waited nervously outside. They learned that he was a Cornell graduate, that he had been banished for his rebel sympathies, and had married an Atlanta girl. Mr. Lindstrom, going to learn what was keeping him, found him in conversation with Aguirre.

Witness Early Morning Battle.

At 5 o'clock the next morning the party was aroused by the rattle of musketry, and looking out across the square which the hotel faces, they found a cathedral opposite, the roof of the federal forces' headquarters, and other buildings smarming with rebels.

"Each of them wore a red rag around his arm or his hat," related Mrs. Geriach yesterday, "as few of them seemed to have uniforms, and the red cloth distinguished them from the noncombatants—though there was not a soul in sight except the troops. Until about 7 o'clock the shooting kept up, one of the snipers shooting a man in the doorway of the hotel downstairs. Later we saw the hole the bullet made in the wall.

Flee Evacuation of City.

"Suddenly next day they seemed to just melt away, and a great silence fell. Even the birds had quit cheeping in the square. That night we heard nothing but the sound of trains leaving. Next day we found that the federal troops were entering the city, and Aguirre, learning of this, had fled. The battle we witnessed was among the rebels, one of the companies having mutinied.

"We got moving pictures of the entry of the federal forces into Vera Cruz, though we are not sure how good they will be. And that night at dinner in a little café we met one of the generals—Gen. E. R. Escobar—not the rebel general of the same name.

"Finally we managed to get aboard a boat bound for New York, and were thankful enough for that, though we had planned to return to New Orleans."

SENATE QUIZZERS TOUR WORKS OF SANITARY BOARD

Inspect Boulevard, Cinder Path and Lamp Posts.

The state senatorial committee investigating sanitary district expenditures yesterday explored the mud flats bordering the north shore drainage canal. The senators toured the $1,350,000 channel boulevard in motor cars, searched the $1,062,000 cinder bridle path for hoof prints, paraded through the $23,000,000 sewage treatment plant, and inspected the 600 boulevard lamps, the cost of which has provoked much comment.

Gazing out of the dreary expanse of dun-colored landscape cut by the white ribbon of concrete with its handsome lamp standards at 80 foot intervals, the senators remarked, somewhat wistfully, that owners of property in the district must have benefited greatly. They made a resolution to discover the identity of these property owners, intimating that they intend to find some familiar names.

They Find Some Hoof Prints.

Senator Harry W. Starr, chairman, got his shoes muddy picking his way on the bridle path which parallels the boulevard. He and the others examined the cinder surface carefully and finally made out some hoof prints. T. E. Scouten, senate sergeant at arms, who lives in the vicinity, said he had not seen more than three equestrians on the path in two years.

The spectacle of a million dollar bridle path seemed to fascinate the downstate senators. They picked up handfuls of the cinders, said to have cost the sanitary board from $2 to $4 a cubic yard, and let them sift through their fingers. They were awed by the idea of a cinder path for horse riding, beginning at somewhere in a prairie and ending somewhere else four miles away in a prairie.

"It's a wonderful thing, this keeping of a great county free from sewage," said Senator William R. McCauley of Olney, solemnly. "We certainly are away behind modern affairs down state."

See Wheels Go Round.

The solemnity of the senators remained while they went through the sewage treatment plant at Howard avenue, termed by W. R. Rhodes, sanitary engineer, the finest in the world. They spent nearly three hours gazing at the dirty water flowing into the plant, and at the huge motors which force the water through air and water purifying machines. Then, duty completed, their natural light heartedness returned.

Driving on into Evanston in the limousines hired for them by the sanitary district, the senators stopped for lunch. Senator Adolph Marks bought a bag of red apples and distributed them gayly to members of the party. There had been talk of visiting the west side sewage disposal plant but at 3 o'clock the senators were tired and decided to call it a day.

"Just how did this inspection advance the senatorial inquiry into alleged mismanagement of drainage board finances?" a reporter asked.

"It gave us important knowledge which will help us in questioning witnesses," responded a senator. "Now we know what it's all about."

Holds Records' Seizure Illegal.

While the senators were absent on their tour Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom issued a reply to a letter sent him by the committee asking an opinion as to the legality of Chairman Starr's seizure of records and documents from the Central Auto Service. According to prosecutors, the records contain evidence of expenditure of sanitary funds by officials of the old board for wine, women and parties.

Quoting numerous legal precedents, the attorney general's opinion stated that the constitutional rights of the auto company had been violated by the seizure of the records on a subpoena duces tecum without a court order.

"By the provisions of the subpoena," the opinion said, "the corporation is called upon to produce, at a certain time and place, certain papers and documents therein specified. There is no provision thereof with in any way attempts to authorize the committee or any one in its behalf to seize the records found in the office of the company, as was done in this case, and if the subpoena had attempted to authorize such a seizure it would in that respect have been void. In my opinion, therefore, the seizure of the records in this case was made without any warrant of law and was wholly unjustified and illegal."

AUTO RUNS 50 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS.

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 50 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pickup, instant starting, smoother running motors, and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 592, 970 Third-St., Milwaukee, Wis., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

RAILROAD SMOKE OBSCURES LOOP AS NIGHT FALLS

Inspector Finds Haze Bars View from South.

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.

Clouds of dense smoke and billowy vapor arising from hundreds of locomotives late yesterday obstructed a view of loop buildings from a position on Roosevelt road just west of Clark street. From this elevated observation post Frank A. Chambers, deputy smoke inspector, who is seeking evidence to support his contention that much of the smoke in the loop drifts in from the railroads, made a survey of the near south side as evening fell.

In the district roughly bounded by Polk, State, 22d, and Canal streets there are many miles of railroad tracks stretching in every direction. Many of them lead to the freight houses near Roosevelt road and others carry suburban and through passenger traffic to the stations fringing the loop on the south and west. A smaller district is located east of Michigan avenue and south of Roosevelt road surrounding the Michigan Central roundhouse at 16th street and Indiana avenue.

Shows Engineers Careless.

From the vantage point on the roadway it was shown clearly, Mr. Chambers said, that the engineers become careless in enforcing the smoke ordinance when they think that darkness covers their violations.

Before the natural light of day had faded, columns of light smoke and exhaust steam were seen lazily converging and drifting toward the southwestern end of the loop. None of those emissions could be termed violations of the ordinance, Mr. Chambers said, but he carefully timed the dense pillars of sooty black smoke that arose from a few of the locomotives. An increase in number was noted as darkness lowered the tracks.

A gentle breeze from the southeast propelled the accumulated smoke cloud toward the loop, where it hung as an impenetrable curtain hiding the railroad stations and the towering buildings from sight. Twinkling lights in some of the structures threw dim rays through hazy openings in the obscuring blanket. For the most part, it was a black mask shutting off the view of the pedestrian.

Pollutes Air in Loop.

To observe the effect of these geysers of smoke, Mr. Chambers hastened to the southwest end of the loop. Atmospheric conditions forced the smoke blanket to hover at a low altitude as it swirled among the office buildings. A gaseous odor perceptibly irritated the nostrils and lungs as the smoke was inhaled with each breath.

A survey was made of the buildings in the vicinity to determine if they were contributing to the haze. Only two were noted, the United States government's printing and supply station at 1208 Indiana avenue and the new police building at 11th and State streets, both public buildings.

Contrasted with the smudge blown up by the engines was the clear visibility at the 53d street station on the Illinois Central's suburban electrified line. Objects a mile away could be distinguished whereas buildings three blocks away from Roosevelt road were engulfed in the smoke blur.

Along the Kinzie street tracks of the North Western railroad the visibility was good also. Mr. Chambers attributed this to the use of Diesel engines for hauling freight cars in the district.

HEAVY HARBOR FOG AT NEW YORK HOLDS UP AQUITANIA SAILING

New York, March 23.—(Special.)—The worst fog of the year which settled over the harbor late Friday, was still blundering ships tonight. The Aquitania, booked to leave at midnight Friday, this evening was still anchored at Quarantine, waiting for sufficient visibility to proceed. Anchored alongside her was the De la Salle of the French line, bound for Cuba.

TENNIS THEFTS AT CANNES LAID TO U. S. YOUTH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CANNES, France, March 23.—Langdon Smith, a young American visitor at the Riviera and one of the players in the Cannes Lawn Tennis club tournament, was arrested last night, charged with the theft of several thousand francs and valuables belonging to members of the club. Smith was arrested as he was about to board a train for Monte Carlo. Tickets to Naples and Alexandria were found in his pockets.

In Smith's room police found a veritable cache of watches, gold bracelets, cigaret cases and other valuables said to have been stolen from the clothes of fellow players while they were on the courts.

Smith, who is said to be a member of a prominent Middletown, Conn., family, came here several weeks ago from St. Moritz. He was extremely popular. Señorita Alvarez, Spanish woman tennis star, is said to be among those who lost valuables.

American Kidnaped by Mexicans Alive and Well

Cadiz, O., March 23.—(AP)—Kidnaped Monday night by Mexican bandits at San Benito, Zacatecas, Thomas L. Carnahan, a native of Cadiz, is safe and well, according to a message received by Cadiz relatives, they announced today. The mining company by whom he is employed is negotiating for his release, it was learned.

ALL 'SIDE' PAY OF LEGISLATORS HIT BY HOUSE QUIZ

3 Pertinent Questions Directed by Group.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Pay roll connections of state representatives with all public bodies in Illinois—the state, cities, counties, and park boards as well as the Chicago sanitary district—will be investigated by Representative R. J. Branson's house committee, it developed here today.

Several members of the house are known to have drawn fat side salaries from the Chicago city hall, most of them as legal experts for Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, while others have swelled their bank rolls as park board employes.

The intention of the committee to include these members in the investigation became known when Representative Harry Baxter, one of the committeemen, made public a circular letter addressed to each representative asking him to state the facts about remuneration to him or his relatives by "any governmental agency in the state."

"Slackers" Must Face Board.

Each of the alleged double pay rollers who fails to reply or whose reply is unsatisfactory, Chairman Branson has announced, will be subpoenaed to appear before the committee and testify under oath.

Three questions are propounded in the committee questionnaire, as follows:

1. Have you at any time, while a member of the general assembly of Illinois, held other office or employment under the state of Illinois, any county, municipality or other governmental agency of Illinois? If so, please state the particulars in full as to time, service and compensation.

2. During the time you have been a member of the general assembly of Illinois has any member of your family, or any relative, held office [other than elective] or employment under the state, county, municipality or other governmental agency? If so, please state the particulars in full, as to time, service and compensation.

Any Sums from Others?

3. Have you while a member of the general assembly of Illinois received directly or indirectly any part of the compensation paid to any other officer or employé of the state, county, municipality or other governmental agency? If so, please state the particulars in full as to time, service and compensation.

The communication expresses the belief that every legislator "welcomes the opportunity" of disclosing his pay roll connections and will be glad to coöperate with the committee.

Mr. Baxter announced that he expects to have replies to the questionnaires no later than next Thursday, March 28, at which time the committee plans to journey to Chicago to begin its inquiry.

DRY OFFICIALS ASK SOURCE OF WHISKY SOLD BY BELLBOYS

Assistant United States District Attorney Edward A. Fisher yesterday consulted with officials of the Congress hotel in an effort to determine where eight bellboys at the hotel obtained the liquor they dispensed to undercover prohibition agents who charge they bought fifty pints of whiskey there during the last week.

Two of the three bellboys now in custody were arraigned yesterday before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and their cases continued for a hearing on March 29. The two, William Jones, bell captain, and Leo T. Reilly, were held in bonds of $1,500 each. Charles Schenck, the third bellboy, was arraigned Friday and held for the hearing in the same bonds. Five others are sought.

CHICAGO AS GOOD AS MOST CITIES, DANIELS ASSERTS

Chicago is more unfavorably criticized throughout the country than is Mexico, Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy under President Wilson, declared yesterday as he left the city for Des Moines, Ia.

"Any place you go in this country you hear Chicago knocked as the center of crime and graft and gangsters, a kind of hellhole of the universe," Mr. Daniels said. "Chicago is really no worse than most of the other cities of the country, but it is franker in telling of its crime. In a way such frankness is admirable. It shows a healthy, fearless attitude, a desire to know actual conditions and face them, but it gives the city more unfavorable publicity than Mexico with its rebels and bandits.

"What Chicago needs is more elections like those of last April and last fall, when most of the grafting, crime-protecting politicians were voted out of office. Political protection is the cause of Chicago's organized crime."

FIND SOURCE OF FAKE LABEL RUM; ARREST TWO MEN

The source of a portion of the moonshine recently peddled in the loop under the brands of Old Log Cabin, Cedar Brook and Johnny Walker was discovered last night by Wabash avenue police and a prohibition enforcement squad when they raided a flat at 3919 Indiana avenue. Two Negroes, Lawrence Young and Artemus A. Khaton, were busy stamping counterfeit labels on 300 bottles containing moonshine whisky when the raiders burst in. Both men were arrested.

Two druggists were also jailed as a result of the activities of dry agents yesterday: James Lyons, 1367 West Harrison street, and Roman Hayney, 2535 West 63d street.

FREEDOM OF SEAS FOR NEUTRALS HELD TO BE IMPOSSIBLE

Freedom of the seas for neutrals during war is an impossibility, according to Quincy Wright, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, who spoke yesterday afternoon before the Week-End School of Foreign Affairs held by the forum of the League of Women Voters in the Medical and Dental Arts building, 185 North Wabash avenue.

"A neutral loses the freedom of the seas and then usually goes in with one side of the warring factions," he pointed out, adding that this is what has been done by the United States, as illustrated in the late war against Germany.

Prof. Wright described, with approval, Senator Capper's resolution now before the senate which provides that the United States should not be allowed to ship arms to the violators of the Kellogg pact, stating that it is only through such support that the Kellogg measure can be effective.

COUNTY TO PAY $29,000,000 FOR OUTSIDE ROADS

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

The motorists of Cook county, by the terms of the Emmerson 3 cent gas tax law and the license fee levy, find themselves under obligation to pay into the state highway funds the sum of $41,225,000 in the thirty months succeeding next Aug. 1. What will be returned for this sum is surprising.

This total is based upon the estimates by the state highway department itself, and is admitted by Gov. Louis L. Emmerson to be below normal probability. The Chicago Motor club fixes its revenue estimate from gas tax and licenses at more than $45,000,000, by taking into consideration the normal increase in the number of cars in the next two and a half years.

Further than this state assessment on motor vehicles, a motorist who resides in the city of Chicago will find that $12,000,000 additional will fall on him as a special tax burden in the shape of city vehicle license fees for the period.

Must Raise $87,000,000.

The citizen of Chicago owning a motor car thus is put in the position of being forced to participate in raising $87,000,000 in thirty months ostensibly for the building and maintenance of highways over which to operate his car, but in reality for the purpose of building roads in other parts of the state and only repairing existing roads within the city. As the present city administration does very little repairing with the vehicle tax funds, he finds that from all the vast sum for which he is assessed no benefits of any great value will be returned by either state or city.

There is no inclination, however, to discount the benefits that will be derived by Cook county and Chicago motorists from the road widening and road building on the state's program for the Chicago area, including Du Page, Kane, Will, and Lake counties. In fact the most important construction projects to Chicago motorists are those extending out of or around Cook county, so that the motor traffic of this region will receive material benefits, though the actual work is not within the county limits.

It is interesting then to take the proposition apart and see how Cook county and Chicago motorists are going to pay their millions and what they will get in return for the payment.

Taking the highway department's estimates of revenue, under the act, Cook county will dig up in 3 cent gasoline taxes the sum of $26,250,000. The estimate fixes $52,500,000 as the amount the state will pay and it is admitted that this county will pay at least half.

Cook county will receive back from the state its equity in the "third cent" of the 3 cent tax. [The state retains 2 cents and refunds to the counties the "third cent," less administration charges in the proportion of the payment of license fees.] Roughly this will mean a refund to Cook county of $6,632,000 in the thirty months.

It appears that there are about 155 miles of state bond issued roads designated within Cook county which are uncompleted. At $30,000 a mile the state would put $4,700,000 into Cook county, if it completes them in the period.

Thus the total possible return to Cook county for its $26,236,000 would be $11,332,000. This means that during the next 30 months Chicago and Cook county motorists will contribute $14,918,000 toward downstate roads, when paying a 3 cent tax on gasoline. And that sum is not all that they will pay.

$15,000,000 License Fees.

In addition, county car owners will separate from $15,000,000 in license fees for which no return from the state can be figured, if the completion of bond issue roads in the county is charged to gasoline tax payments.

During eight years past Cook county has paid the state in license fees over $35,000,000. The total of bond issue roads built in the county, 220 miles at $30,000 a mile [maximum for pavements according to the highway department], represents a cost of $6,600,000, showing that in that period Cook county paid $28,400,000 toward downstate roads.

In the next two and a half years the county will not only pay the entire bill for what state highways it should get under the law [and which it is now promised], but will also pay $15,000,000 in license fees, plus $14,-918,000 in gas taxes, toward completed or projected downstate roads. Thus the record shows that the county's charity in the matter of building downstate roads in the next thirty months will amount to the astonishing net total of $29,918,000, all of which is above every dollar's worth of work the state has put into the county or proposes to. It will pay to the state in both gasoline and vehicle fees in this period the gross sum of $41,-225,000. Direct returns will consist of county refunds and designated road building amounting to $11,332,000.

No Provisions on Roads.

This latter road work estimate, of course, is based upon the supposition that the state highway department will, in fact, complete the bond issue roads now due Cook county under the legislative acts. In the gasoline tax law there is no provision nor designation of such roads for completion. The fulfillment of the promise to Cook county that it may have what it is justly and legally entitled to (3.68 per cent of the state highway system) lies within the discretion of the highway department. The highway department has consumed eight years in buying or building 220 miles of concrete highway in Cook county. It now has 158 miles to complete. Perhaps some one of the algebraic class can compute the approximate time of completion.

During the debates in the senate and house and at hearings in Chicago and elsewhere, Frank T. Sheets, the state highway engineer, pledged that the state would build 255 miles of uncompleted bond issue roads in the "metropolitan area" at a cost of about $11,000,000; that "a major portion" of the $7,500,000 appropriated for "widening, improving, and connecting state bond issue roads" must "necessarily be expended in the metropolitan district adjacent to Chicago, where such problems are most acute and pressing." Of the grade separation appropriation of $2,000,000 it was frankly said that little of it would find its way to the Chicago area.

Governor Means Chicago.

In discussing the subject informally with the writer Gov. Emmerson said that "by metropolitan area we mean the Chicago area. There is no other metropolitan area in Illinois in which motor traffic congestion compares with it. When we say centers of large population, we mean Chicago."

From the "downstate viewpoint," a quality of logic admittedly possessed in at least a moderate degree by both the governor and the state highway engineer, Cook county is held to be in high good fortune because of promises of bond issue roads and road widening in the "area."

While this view may be justified by circumstances, it does not alter the fact that the county of Cook actually is to get back only $11,332,000 in roads and county refunds and is to be assessed $41,225,000 during the brief period of two years and six months.

As to Road Widening.

In the matter of road widening, the downstate viewpoint conjures up a vivid picture of Chicago being at the receiving end of all benefits. The argument has been along the line that when radial highways are widened and room for traffic from the state is provided, the automobile movement will be entirely toward Chicago and Chicago will have an opportunity to prosper upon what visitors from the state will spend while in the metropolis.

These debaters lost track entirely of the movement of Chicago cars to the country where visitors patronize hotels, restaurants and shops and purchase vegetables, dairy products and fowls. As matters stand the weekly exodus from Chicago amounts to 200,000 cars over Saturday and Sunday, while the incoming volume of cars from downstate does not represent more than a tenth of that figure. With proper motoring facilities a movement outward from Chicago of 400,000 cars over the week ends is not a wild estimate.

Market Here Increases.

Another consideration which puts the downstate territory in the position of being the chief beneficiary from state roads leading to Cook county is the fact that farm produce finds a faster, cheaper, and more convenient medium for shipment into the city than by railway or wagon road. It can be pointed out to downstate producers and farmers that before the roads which are now being paid for in the proportion of 40 per cent by Cook county and 60 per cent by the rest of the state were in existence a vast amount of fruit and farm produce entered Chicago by railway from Indiana, Wisconsin, and Michigan and by steamship from points along and across the lake.

The rural districts also have obtained the advantage of rapid and frequent deliveries of commodities at their doors, ranging in scope from mail to pianos.

Land Values Rise.

With the present facilities for weekend motoring Chicago cars do not venture far beyond a 40 mile radius in mass movement. The benefits to agricultural industry and agricultural property within this radius is obvious. The wider roads of Cook county have doubled and tripled property value and multiplied roadside business many times. And in this connection it should be remembered that the widened roads of Cook county have been built and paid for by Cook county itself and not the state by means of the $15,-000,000 bond issue which is still a debt to be paid.

By adding the $48,000,000 of gas taxes and license fees for the next thirty months, the $12,000,000 of wheel taxes, the $35,000,000 which has been paid for state roads in the last eight years, and the $15,000,000 of the county bond issue, it will be found that $107,000,000 is the total bill within the county for highways up to 1931 with possibly 390 miles of state highways to show for it.

ROADS PROMISED BY STATE

The state highway department asserts that it will build the highways just outside Cook county indicated by the heavy black lines in the map. These roads are a part of the $100,-000,000 bond issue system and were never put under work, though thousands of miles of concrete connecting small villages downstate were completed under Gov. Small's administration.

With the passage of the gas tax the present administration is on record with the promise that it will do this work. While the highways are not within Cook county, which pays 40 to 50 per cent of all state motor fees, it will undoubtedly be of service and value to Chicago motor fee payers. The question that interests license and gas tax payers of Cook county now is when the work will be done?

TWO SENTENCED TO 25 YEARS IN RANIERI CASE

Angelo Petitti and Andrew Cappellano, who were convicted last December of the kidnaping of 10 year old Billy Ranieri, were refused new trials yesterday by Judge Robert E. Gentzel of the Criminal court, and were sentenced to 25 years each in the penitentiary in accordance with the verdict of the jury. The defendants announced that an appeal would be taken to the Supreme court. They were allowed 60 days to perfect the appeal.

The reason for the long delay in disposing of the motion was the result of the illness of Judge Gentzel following the trial. He was off the bench for nearly two months because of a nervous breakdown due to the strain of the trial.

The kidnaping of the Ranieri boy while he was on his way home from school last fall created a public sensation. The boy was held prisoner for 10 days during which time negotiations were carried on for ransom of $50,000. The child was finally liberated and it was later found that he had been held prisoner at Capellano's farm, near Bourbonnais, Ill. Petitti carried on the negotiations for the ransom.

LAWYERS ATTACK REVALUATION IN TWO SOFT SPOTS

Question Bankers' Loan and Rate of Increase.

Two possible attacks against the validity of reassessment were disclosed by lawyers last night at a tax meeting held in the city council chambers for the district, including the loop, bounded by North avenue, Roosevelt road, Halsted street, and the lake.

Attorney Edward T. McCartney, representing several property owners, declared from the floor that a serious reflection was thrown upon the entire reassessment by the fact that Harry S. Byrnes, director of the revaluation, had accepted nine-tenths of his $75 a month salary from a fund underwritten by the Chicago Clearing House association.

Counsel Advises Loan.

The bankers subscribed the money because they hold $140,000,000 in tax collection warrants that have no security other than a legal assessment and the loan was made only after a careful consideration of Mr. McCartney's point by counsel for the banks. Additional funds to finance the cost of the reassessment, estimated at between $300,000 and $1,000,000, became necessary when the Supreme court held that the county could not pay more than $7 a day for a deputy assessor.

The second suggested legal attack was brought out by Attorney Lester Bell, counsel for the Property Owners' association for Uniform Assessments, an organization representing large estates who are fighting in the courts to prevent collections under the 1927 assessment. Under questioning by Mr. Bell, it was disclosed for the first time by Joseph E. Hall, superintendent of the land values under Mr. Cutmore, that the board of assessors has boosted business front foot values in the loop from 10 to 20 per cent over the figures fixed by an advisory committee of the Chicago Real Estate board.

Makes Addresses Principals.

Another enlightening tax session was held yesterday by the Principals' club of Chicago, which was addressed by William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission. Daniel J. Healy, chairman of the club's school affairs committee, told the tax commissioner that the board of education is in sore need for more money, and that $30,000,000 in tax anticipation warrants recently sold will run the schools no longer than the last week in June.

"I agree that the schools should receive more money," Mr. Malone replied. "But I cannot give it to them by raising assessed valuations, because to do so would be to feed more graft to the discredited sanitary district and city hall.

"I'm going to hold the total revenue to what it was under the 1927 assessment, and I suggest that the schools get their relief by obtaining a larger portion of the aggregate tax collections through a raise in the tax rate by the present session of the general assembly."

Ordinance Faulted, Clerk Says.

In the office of County Clerk Robert Swaine it was said that all of the tax spending bodies could benefit tremendously through an increase in the aggregate assessment since their tax ordinances are padded. The sanitary district, for example, a year ago asked $3,500,000 for corporate and construction purposes. With a total assessed valuation of $4,200,000,000 they received only about $6,900,000 on their maximum rate of 15 cents per $100. This year the sanitary board is asking for $4,700,000, but it will receive no more than it did last year if Mr. Malone carries out his declaration.

The Principals' club approved Mr. Malone's suggestion that it aid the reassessment by opening tax information bureaus in all of the public schools this week.

George O. Fairweather, chairman of the joint commission on realty valuations, who presided last night, announced that the board of assessors this week will determine the percentage of actual value that will be used for assessed values in figuring the tax bills. This percentage, with the unit front foot values being made public at nightly community meetings, will tell whether individual tax bills, as well as the aggregate tax revenue are going up or down this year.

Minimum Estimate 40 Per Cent.

"Arriving at this percentage should be a simple mathematical problem, unaffected by political expediency or pressure of special interests," said Mr. Fairweather. "The largest figure that has been mentioned by students of the subject is 40 per cent. However, some have contended that this will yield a greater revenue than could have been obtained without the reassessment. Others have figured as low as 25 per cent as the proper equalization figure to hold the revenue where it was last year."

Several owners of property just north of the Chicago river objected to tentative front foot values placed on their land by the appraisers. They pointed out that their property is of comparatively low value.

STIMSON HERE ON WAY EAST

WALKER TO HEAD INVESTIGATIONS BUREAU, REPORT

Attorney Walter G. Walker, formerly an assistant state's attorney and more recently associate counsel for the Employers' association, is slated for the position of director of the bureau of investigations of the department of justice, according to rumors circulated yesterday in political circles. Walker refused to affirm or deny that he had been approached on the subject or rejoining the government service.

Attorney Walker was a special agent in the department from 1918 to 1923. Most of that time he was in charge of the local office in Washington. The position for which he is now slated would place him in charge of the entire service with headquarters at Washington.

For several years Walker has been waging a relentless war against racketeers. He was appointed an assistant state's attorney several years ago and placed in charge of the racketeer campaign. After leaving the public service he was made associate counsel for the Employers association to further his prosecution of the racketeer in labor circles.

Guest of Strawn

Henry L. Stimson, governor general of the Philippine islands, passed through Chicago yesterday, en route to Washington where he will become secretary of state in President Hoover's cabinet. Col. Stimson with Mrs. Stimson, arrived at the North Western station ir. the morning from San Francisco and left on the Century for New York at 12:40 p. m. He will go to Washington Monday.

Col. Stimson was met at the train by Silas H. Strawn and escorted to the Blackstone hotel for breakfast, after which, with Mrs. Stimson, he was taken on an automobile tour of the city.

The new secretary of state declined to discuss foreign policies, "until," he said, "I can confer with President Hoover and Mr. Kellogg in Washington." On the subject of independence for the Philippines he expressed the belief that the islands were well pleased with the presidential election and predicted that enormous economic developments would take place there in the future.

BOOKMAKER IS FINED.

Abraham Myers, 38 years old, was fined $10 and costs for operating a handbook in his cigar store at 8406 Cottage Grove ave. ue when arraigned before Judge George B. Holmes in the Grand Crossing court yesterday.

BABY GIRL KILLED IN TUMBLE FROM AUTO TO STREET

Virginia Binkowski, 2 years old, 4909 West 24th place, Cicero, was fatally injured, while riding in an automobile with her parents last night when she fell from her mother's lap and rolled out of the car, the door of which had not been shut. The accident happened in Humboldt park near North avenue. The child died at the Lutheran Memorial hospital.

A. Garvin, 42 years old, 66 West Van Buren street, died yesterday in St. Luke's hospital of injuries suffered on Friday when he was struck at Michigan avenue and 16th street by an tomobile driven by James Cassella, 636 West 65th street. His death and the baby's increased the Cook county motor toll to 150 since Jan. 1.

In a dispute following a collision between his peddler's wagon and an automobile at Artesian avenue and 61st street Peter Ravelis, 32 years old, 1235 Oregon street, was slashed by the motorist, who was armed with a long knife. The motorist drove away and Ravelis' wound was closed with fifteen stitches.

Britain Adopts "Bulldog" Plane for Air Defense

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—A new night fighting airplane, the "British Bulldog," was chosen today for Great Britain's air defense after exhaustive tests. The plane is of the interceptor fighter type and is a 700 horsegower, single seater Hawker-Rolls-Royce biplane. The new plane has phenomenal climbing speed, reaching a height of four miles in twelve minutes and there maintaining a speed of 172 miles an hour. Squadrons of these planes will be stationed around London with pilots equipped with electrically heated clothing.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—Former Gov. Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts, who arrived here today from Florida, and Mrs. Fuller and their young son, were guests of the President and Mrs. Hoover at luncheon today at the White House. Mr. Fuller and his family will leave early tomorrow for their home in Boston.

1,772 RESORTS IN CITY ARE CLOSED, POLICE REPORT

Speakeasies and soft drink parlors are closing up rapidly as the result of Commissioner of Police Russell's drive on liquor resorts, it was disclosed yesterday. Reports of the captains of the 40 police districts showed that 1,772 such resorts have been forced to close since the commissioner began the drive.

|---|---|
| Places where license was revoked | 148 |
| Places closed voluntarily | 1,180 |
| Places closed by request | 444 |
| | 1,772 |

Before the reports had come in from the district commanders Commissioner Russell had estimated that 30 per cent of the soft drink parlors in Chicago had closed.

PARKS ON SIDEWALK; FINED.

Frank Solli, 1641 South Kenilworth avenue, charged with parking his car on the sidewalk at Sangamon avenue and Lake street for one hour was fined $2 and costs by Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Des Plaines street court yesterday.

Spring Heat Records Are Broken in New Orleans

New Orleans, La., March 23.—(AP)—Early spring heat records were broken today in New Orleans and other southern and southwestern recording cities, the United States weather bureau announced. Temperature records for both March and April fell at New Orleans with a maximum of 90 degrees at 2:30 p. m. The March highest on record is 86.3 on the 12th, in 1922, and the April record is 89.7 on the 20th, in 1915.

FOCH TO REST TODAY BESIDE UNKNOWN POILU

Complete Details for Marshal's Funeral.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, France, March 23.—Workmen today prepared the Arc de Triomphe for the reception tomorrow morning of the body of Marshal Ferdinand Foch. Work also was started in the Cathedral of Notre Dame, where the body will be taken Monday night.

A huge catafalque 100 feet high is being erected in the center of the arch at the Place de l'Etoile where the casket will be placed alongside of the bronze slab with the perpetually flickering flame that marks the resting place of France's unknown soldier.

Vast sheets of black crepe, hung from the top of the arch, will shroud the massive 200 feet high masonry under which France's national hero will lie in state. Tall flag poles are being erected around the arch and from them long tricolored streamers edged with black, will float.

Body on View Today.

A motor hearse will carry the marshal's body from the Foch home in the rue de Grenelle tomorrow morning. A squadron of cavalry and a company of infantry will act as an escort. All day tomorrow, Sunday night, and Monday the body will remain on view while the public files through the arch.

On Monday evening at 10 o'clock another motor hearse will take the body, without escort, to the Cathedral of Notre Dame and there it will be placed below another catafalque which is being erected in the nave of the cathedral.

The funeral mass will be held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and then a procession will start from the cathedral to the Invalides, where the casket will be placed in the St. Ambrose chapel, a few steps away from the tomb of Napoleon.

The Funeral Procession.

The funeral procession will consist of two squadrons of mounted Guarde Republicaine—a battery of field artillery and a battalion of infantry with colors—detachments from the French and allied armies, delegations of war veterans, and flags of all the regiments dissolved since the war.

Then will come a bugle corps and the late marshal's official flag—and then the body on a gun limber followed by the marshal's favorite charger, saddled and bridled. Following this will be a company of infantry—then the family—and then the President of France, Gaston Doumergue, representatives of the foreign governments, the diplomatic corps, members of the senate and the chamber of deputies, the cabinet and the prime minister, and the members of the French academy of arts and sciences.

Salute Foch Home.

Thousands more paid homage to Foch today. They stood in line all day long and many still were there tonight waiting to obtain a glimpse of the coffin containing the body. Owing to the facilities, however, only a few thousand were able to view the casket and the others were forced to be content to pay their tribute by saluting as they passed in front of the house.

A remarkable thing about today's homage was the fact that most all were working people who heretofore were unable to get away from work. Most of those in today's line were those who took advantage of the Saturday half holiday.

The government plans to proclaim Tuesday as a day of mourning. Restaurants have been asked not to play music, horse races have been called off and the stock exchange and theaters will be closed.

Pershing a Pallbearer.

Gen. John J. Pershing of the United States, it was revealed today, has been invited to be a pallbearer. Others who have been asked to act are Minister of War Paul Painleve, French marshals, military chiefs of the allied armies, and a private soldier, to be chosen from among French war veterans.

May Reconcile Tiger, Poincare.

PARIS, March 23.—[U.P.]—Their mutual grief over the death of Marshal Ferdinand Foch may result in a reconciliation between Premier Raymond Poincare and Georges Clemenceau.

As distinguished representatives of foreign nations at the funeral of Marshal Foch arrived today, it was learned that the aged Clemenceau had sent his first amiable communication to Poincare since the start of the political quarrel. They became foes years ago as a result of a dispute when Poincare was president of France and Clemenceau was premier.

The white haired "father of victory" replied in friendly terms to the premier's invitation to join the nation's leaders at the funeral for Foch.

"I am deeply touched by your invitation but I regret to state that my health may not permit me doing more than I have already done in paying my respects to Madame Foch," Clemenceau said in his reply.

Washington Plans Services.

Washington, D. C., March 23.—(AP)—High requiem mass for Marshal Foch will be celebrated at St. Paul's Catholic church here Tuesday noon. The services will be held under the auspices of the French embassy and Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, Md., will attend. The Rev. Cornelius J. Dacey, pastor of St. Paul's, will be celebrant. Admission to the services will be by card and invitations have been extended to President and Mrs. Hoover and many high officials of the government. Among the government officials who are expected to attend are the secretaries of state, treasury, war and navy.

British Pay Respects.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 23.—Great Britain paid solemn homage to the memory of Marshal Foch in an impressive service at Westminster cathedral today. The Prince of Wales represented King George and Premier Stanley Baldwin was also present. The prince knelt at the royal kneeling desk of the cathedral during the services.

For an hour the prince remained alone partaking of the devotions. Near him a tricolor covered a catafalque surmounted with a sword and a baton, the symbol that Marshal Foch was a field marshal in the British army. On the opposite side of the catafalque, kneeling alone, was Premier Baldwin, representing the government.

The congregation that was packed in the great cathedral was representative of the government and all the departments of the naval, military, and civil life of Great Britain and the British empire.

Protest Foch Memorial Service.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Bohemia, March 23.—Wild scenes ensued at the meeting of the Bohemian Landtag yesterday when the German members walked out in a body to protest against a memorial service being organized by the Czech members in honor of Marshal Foch.

Later in the day they returned and apologized for their brusque action but protested they should have been warned of the service beforehand according to parliamentary custom.

GEN. SARRAIL, WHO FOUGHT AT VERDUN, JOINS FOCH IN DEATH

PARIS, France, March 23.—(AP)—Gen. Maurice Emmanuel Sarrail, one time "defender of Verdun" and former high commissioner in Syria, died today at the age of 72.

Gen. Sarrail commanded the Third French army at the first battle of the Marne and was decorated with the military medal for his courage and tenacity in holding Verdun and the heights of the Meuse.

The general had been ill for three weeks, suffering from liver trouble, which became serious on the day that Marshal Foch died. The general's wife and Lieut. Col. Alfred Dreyfus, chief figure in the world famous "Dreyfus affair" that kept French politics in a turmoil for years, were at his bedside when he died.

Gen. Sarrail, as former commander in chief of the oriental army, will be buried at the expense of the state, probably on Wednesday. His wish that there be no military honors will be respected. He will be buried in the Invalides.

USE 18 TANKS OF OXYGEN TO SAVE YOUNG WIFE; FAIL

Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—[Special.]—Firemen who administered oxygen continuously for 125 hours to save the life of Mrs. Ruth Vandehen, 17, a pneumonia victim, lost their battle when the young wife died at midnight.

Eighteen tanks of oxygen had been used by the firemen since Monday.

ALDERMEN PUT 40 YEAR GRANT INTO CAR BILLS

Veto 20 Year Franchise as Impracticable.

amortization, will be terminated in a series of years. I do not see how it can be done. It looks to me like a permanent terminable permit or a perpetual indeterminate franchise or an interminable terminable permit.

"I'm not sure, if the legislature passed this terminable permit and we agree upon an ordinance, that the people will approve of it on a referendum. If the legislature will not go to 40 years on a fixed term grant, how can we expect them to put out a permit forever. Perhaps 30 years or 25 years will be enough for a franchise and nearly every one has suggested 40 years as sufficient."

Ald. Robert R. Jackson [3d] spoke for a choice between a 20 year fixed term and a terminable permit.

Chairman Joseph B. McDonough [13th] stepped into the discussion by frankly telling the citizens' committee that a number of aldermen insisted on 40 years.

"This is one point the aldermen want changed," asserted McDonough. "I notice Col. Sprague here and may I ask him if the citizens' committee will take this matter up again with the transportation companies?"

Sprague Agrees to Take It Up.

"As I have listened to your proceedings," said Col. Sprague, "I have gotten the idea that you have the impression that the citizens' committee asks that you approve of the bills as presented. May I say that you are at liberty to make any changes you see fit, with this possible exception—that state officials have indicated that Chicago can have necessary needful legislation, if we are united on it. There will be no objection whatever in taking up this matter with the transportation interests."

Ald. Mills added his indorsement to the 40 year franchise amendment and the committee ordered Assistant Corporation Counsel John G. Drennan and Frederick Bangs to prepare the amendment and submit it tomorrow.

Arvey Replies to Guernsey.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] made a reply to Ald. Guernsey just before the session ended. Arvey read a resolution signed by 38 members of the city council on June 4, 1927, which said:

"We favor legislation which will enable the city council to grant a terminable permit or an indeterminate franchise, if it is empowered to fix the terms and conditions of such grant and give an ordinance under such law after being submitted to the people on a referendum."

"Don't you admit you signed that?" Arvey asked Guernsey.

"I admit that happened, but this is a perpetual franchise before us now," said Guernsey.

"The bills before us now conform exactly to the demand of the city council adopted in that resolution," asserted Arvey. "The citizens' committee has met every requirement we then laid down."

Japanese Diet Raises Tariff on Lumber Imports

TOKYO, Japan, March 23.—(AP)—Both houses of the Japanese diet today passed a new and higher tariff schedule on lumber. The schedule will affect principally pine, cedar, spruce, and hemlock, most of which comes here from the American northwest. It is expected to increase revenue in this country by about 6,500,000 yen [about $3,250,000], and will affect an American-Japanese lumber trade of about $40,000,000 annually. The bill was opposed strenuously by Japanese consumers and American importers.

'OWN YOUR HOME' EXPOSITION WILL OPEN APRIL 27

Break Ground for First Outdoor Show.

Ground was broken yesterday with dedication ceremonies for Chicago's sixth annual Own Your Home building and equipment exposition, which will open April 27 and continue for 16 days on the city water works property east of the Chicago avenue water tower.

One of the eight houses to be erected in the show will be taken by THE TRIBUNE and will be used for displays of its various editorial features and departments. THE TRIBUNE is the only publication taking space; the other seven houses to be put up will be handled by building material concerns and contractors.

Move from Coliseum.

Yesterday's dedication ceremonies were led by Robert H. Sexton, managing director of the exposition, and were participated in by more than 100 public officials and citizens interested in home building. Previous to this year the exposition has been held at the Coliseum. The coming show will feature Chicago's attractions as a residential city, and will involve landscaping and outdoor building details.

The Rev. John Timothy Stone of the Fourth Presbyterian church gave the invocation.

Work will begin on the building tomorrow morning. Arched entrances will be erected at both the Chicago avenue and Pearson sides of the grounds, and the houses will front on broad terraces reached by circular marble stairways and garden walks bordered with flowers.

Suburbs Plan Exhibits.

In addition to many large exhibits outlining the attractions of Chicago for home owners, suburban chambers of commerce and civic organizations are arranging displays that will give visitors an opportunity to examine the advantages of adjacent communities.

Educational exhibits of all materials and equipment that enter into the construction of the modern home, furniture and decorations, services of financing, repair, and architectural planning will be shown

BOOZE MURDER SUSPECT FLEES TRAP BY POLICE

Steve Oswald Sought in Cassidy Killing.

Steve Oswald, 26 years old, said to be a member of the "Spike" O'Donnell gang of beer runners, sought by police in the murder of Ray Cassidy on Friday night, narrowly escaped a trap set for him last night.

Cassidy was shot to death in front of a saloon he was preparing to open at 5213 South Halsted street, next door to the headquarters of Ragen's Colts. His brother, Arthur, with him at the time, was uninjured, but James Hawkins, 3737 Parnell avenue, was struck by a flying bullet.

Raid Mother's Home.

Police, searching for Oswald, raided the home of his mother at 5337 South Racine avenue yesterday afternoon. In a cedar chest they found a loaded machine gun and a .38 caliber revolver. Sergt. Peter Carney then left a detachment to await Oswald's arrival.

Last night a car stopped in front of the house, but Oswald's aunt, Mrs. Irene Brown, 34 years old, 5404 South May street, warned the occupants away. She was placed under arrest, but refused to say whether the man in the car was Oswald.

Oswald was tried on a charge of murder in 1926, but found not guilty. He has since been involved in other gangland activities in the south side beer territory.

Former Sanitary Employé.

Cassidy, the slain man, was formerly employed in the sanitary district and the saloon was a new venture. It was formerly owned by Hugh "Stubby" McGovern, who was killed on Dec. 30 at the Granada café. Police had closed the McGovern saloon after the killing there of John Rice, another saloon owner, on Nov. 8. Cassidy purchased the place from Michael McGovern, Hugh's brother.

Police yesterday were also attempting to link another killing with the south side beer wars—that of Joseph Vaznonis, who kept a place at 501 West 32d street. His body was found Friday night near his automobile in the forest preserve at 83d street and Mason avenue, a bullet in his head and a revolver nearby. An early suicide theory was discarded.

Hold Two Inquests.

Inquests into both deaths were held yesterday. At the Cassidy inquest Arthur Cassidy declared that he thought his brother's murder was a case of mistaken identity. The case was continued until April 3, in order that Hawkins may be able to testify. In the Vaznonis case, Mrs. Ursula Vaznonis, widow of the slain man, said that her husband had sold his saloon six months ago and shortly thereafter the government had raided the place and found a quantity of alcohol. She suggested that he may have been killed in order to prevent his identifying the purchasers. This inquest was also continued.

Another Man Shot.

Walter P. Murray, 23 years old, 3456 Nevers avenue, an investigator for the sanitary district, was shot in the right thigh early yesterday morning by Andrew J. Schultz, 50 years old, president of a real estate company with offices at 3276 Milwaukee avenue. Schultz, when arrested, told the police he was awakened by the breaking of a plate glass window in his office. He lives upstairs, he said, and he and his son went down to investigate. He took along a revolver. Murray and a group of young men were standing on the corner, and according to Schultz, they menaced him and he fired.

McGURN, SCALISI IN COURT; DENY MASSACRE GUILT

Stansbury Back from Detroit Inquiry.

Jack McGurn and John Scalisi, who have been indicted on charges of participating in the murder of seven members of the Bugs Moran gang, entered formal pleas of not guilty when arraigned yesterday before Chief Justice John J. Sullivan of the Criminal court. The seven cases of murder against each defendant were assigned to Judge Jacob Hopkins for trial.

McGurn, who has the reputation of being a stickler for fashionable garb, seemed more like the gangster he is reported to be when arraigned in court. He appeared in a soft white shirt, the sleeves rolled up, and was in need of a shave. Scalisi, an old time occupant of the jail, was in similar attire.

Tell Court They Have Lawyers.

The men informed the judge that they had attorneys to represent them at the forthcoming trials and that it would not be necessary for the judge to appoint counsel. Attorney Thomas D. Nash appeared as counsel at the police court hearings.

Assistant State's Attorney David Stansbury returned yesterday from Detroit where he had been making a first hand investigation of massacre clews for a week. He had arranged for a raid there before he left and upon his arrival he was informed that Sidney Lipkin, 21 years old; Morris Bomburg, 23, and Louis Palange, 22, had been arrested on his instructions.

Not the Men He Wanted.

They are minor bootleggers, he was informed, and are not the men he wanted. However, the Detroit police were requested to send their photographs and finger prints here by air mail. They were found in a place Stansbury expected other men would be found.

Assistant State's Attorneys Walker Butler and Harry S. Ditchburne who have been carrying on the massacre investigation here, said their progress was slow but satisfactory.

Member of Bremen Crew Grateful for Message

A cablegram from Capt. Hermann Koehl, member of the Bremen trans-Atlantic crew, which visited Chicago last July, was received by Mayor Thompson in reply to the mayor's message of sorrow over the death of Baron von Huenefeld, another member of the Bremen crew. Capt. Koehl expressed gratitude for the mayor's message and recalled the days spent in Chicago among the finest in his life.

SECRETARY GOOD RETURNS TO CITY FOR BRIEF VISIT

Secretary of War James W. Good of Chicago, returned to the city for a brief visit to attend to personal business matters and wind up his affairs in the law firm with which he was connected before his appointment to the cabinet by President Hoover.

"I have been kept very busy the last three weeks," said Mr. Good, "but I bring no news from Washington other than that peace and prosperity are prevailing."

The secretary said he was greatly interested in the development of inland waterways "with Chicago as the center of the system." He said he was not ready to reveal his views on the waterway subject in general but that he would discuss them in a speech he is to make here on April 10 at the Bankers' club. Bankers from all over the middle west are expected to attend the meeting.

Bellwood Residents Seek Injunction Against Sewer

Thirty-five Bellwood property owners yesterday filed a petition for an injunction to restrain the village from constructing a sewer to cost $540,000. The petitioners protest against the levy of a special assessment for the project.

JURY SELECTION SPEEDED BY NEW COURT METHODS

Judge Questions Venire in Trial of Eller Men.

The speed with which a jury is being selected in Judge Frank Comerford's court to try the 13 henchmen of Morris Eller, city collector, was pointed out yesterday by court officials as an example of the new procedure by which the usual tedious task of selecting juries in important criminal cases is being gradually taken under control by the judges with an important saving of time.

At the previous trial 32 court days were taken in finding twelve men who would meet the qualifications imposed by the state and defense attorneys. In the present trial eight jurors have been sworn in within less than a week and prospects are that the panel will be completed by tomorrow nirght.

The new system of jury selection being slowly adopted by all the judges was initiated by Judge John P. McGoorty. At first over the objections of attorneys, but now with their cooperation, the judge has insisted on qualifying the jurors on all important questions.

Unfit Quickly Weeded Out.

By this method the juror is impressed with the importance of jury service and it is pointed out that he is less apt to evade answering questions truthfully when quizzed by the judge instead of by the lawyers. The fear of contempt of court punishment for untruthful answers makes the average juror hesitate to practice deception when questioned by the judge, it is said. Court officials also have remarked that the new system quickly weeds out those unfit to serve and forces the attorneys to use up peremptory challenges much morce rapidly than under the old method.

The procedure being followed by Judge Comerford in the present trial of the Eller henchmen illustrates the difference between the new method and the old. He starts out the day by giving the veniremen a lecture about the importance of jury service and the necessity for truthfully answering questions. The men are all placed under oath and the judge calls for legal excuses.

Warns Against Excuses.

"No one is to invent a legal excuse where none exists," Judge Comerford cautions the veniremen. "Personal inconvenience or interference with business is not a legal excuse."

Only men with legal excuses, such as service as election officials, acquaintanceship with the defendants or the attorneys, are excused. In case a juror expresses a fear that his employer may discharge him if he absents himself from work to serve on the jury the judge quiets his apprehension with the following announcement:

"If your employers discharge you or make your position unbearable because you do your duty as a citizen by serving on a jury in my court they will have a chance to think it over in the county jail. I'll personally be responsible to you on that score."

Passed on Alimony Plea.

Tuesday Harry Ruff, 5213 South Green street, managed to slip by on the plea that he was just ordered to pay alimony and that he could not meet the requirements out of a juror's salary. He is one of the few without a strict legal excuse who escape service.

The judge also gives a lecture on the fundamental principles of law to the entire venire. This formerly was done individually and took up much time as the lawyers over and over again repeated the reasons for the presumption of innocence and the other safeguards around a defendant. Last and most important is the warning that a juror should not announce a fixed opinion unless he actually has one. Then the attorneys are allowed to ask a few questions and must either accept or challenge the juror.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Albert Kelly, 28 years old, 4501 Emerald avenue, identified as one of five men who fatally beat a Negro near 606 Root street several days ago, was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by Judge Samuel Miller yesterday. Kelly was identified in court by Mrs. Charles Mallory, 3535 S. Dearborn street, colored, widow of the victim.

AX VICTIM DIES

MARY GIGL.

Gillis Mack, 28 year old colored hatchet killer who has confessed that he terrorized Gary for weeks with assaults and robberies, was confronted yesterday with a third charge of murder when Mary Gigl, 16 years old, died from injuries inflicted by Mack. She was beaten and attacked by Mack several days ago.

The girl was a runaway from her home in Milwaukee. She had come to Gary with her sweetheart, Joseph Klamek, and was living at a hotel. Klamek lived with an uncle. Last Friday Mary met Chester Dybalski, 18, of New Chicago, near Gary, who was with her when they encountered Mack. Dybalski, who was also severely beaten by the murderer, is semi-conscious in Mercy hospital in Gary, where Mary Gigl died. It is thought he will recover.

Mack's victims include Miss Gigl, Miss Josephine Oboriczzi, 20 years old, whose body was found at Pierce and 15th streets a week ago Tuesday, and James Welch, 50 years old, a colored man who was a spectator when Mack assaulted and robbed Welch's employer, Ferado Martino.

SEIZE $50,000 IN ALLEGED STOLEN GOODS; ARREST 8

Information volunteered by Samuel Jackson, a Negro burglar, 4100 Prairie avenue, last night prompted the police to obtain a search warrant and raid the Empire Sales company, 192 North Clark street. Clothing, furs and miscellaneous goods, valued at $50,000, were confiscated as stolen property, and seventeen persons, including ten women, were taken in custody.

Nine of the women satisfied police they were in the shop as customers and were released, but the tenth, identified as Dorothy Mason, an alleged shoplifter, was jailed, as were the seven men. The male prisoners identified, themselves as Isadore Silberman, 1552 North Shore avenue, one of the proprietors; Meyer Gordon, 703 North Clark street, another proprietor; Sidney Eichenbaum, 4800 North Monticello avenue; Daniel Keene, Webster hotel; Leslie F. Junkeman, 2445 Fargo avenue; Harold Scherling, 347 North Clark street, and Isadore Rosenberg, 2051 Iowa street.

WATER TOWER IS CENTER OF OLD TIME WARD FIGHT

Council Battlers Hunt for Mayor in Woodpile.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The near north side, where Ald. Dorsey R. Crowe [42nd] and Richard Prendergast are engaged in one of the old fashioned aldermanic battles for which the region used to be famous, held the center of the statge last night among the eleven run-off elections to be held April 2. From the link bridge to Division street both camps opened a final week of intensive cultivation of the vote crop.

One question is: Where will the Thompson followers land? Mr. Prendergast has the support of the Deneen group and of non-partisans and has the backing of Frank J. Loesch, assistant state's attorney. Ald. Crowe has been strong anti-Thompson in the city council and the M. V. L. has said "his voting record has been 100 per cent good."

Each side is accusing the other of trying to line up Thompson support. The drive this week will be concentrated on Streeterville and the near Gold Coast.

Committee Backs Crowe.

Ald. Crowe received fresh support when a group of prominent citizens organized the North Central Non-Partisan Citizens Committee, which which will open headquarters tomorrow in the Drake hotel. Col. A. A. Sprague, commissioner of public works in the Dever regime, is chairman of the executive committee.

Other officers are Dr. L. E. Schmidt, treasurer and J. O. Stoll, secretary. Among the members are James Hamilton Lewis, Alfred S. Austrian, Murray Wolbach and William C. Scherwat, who used to be one of the Deneen leaders in the ward. Mrs. Richard S. Folsom is chairman of the women's executive committee for Ald. Crowe.

Hot Battle in Fiftieth.

Up in the 50th ward, the battle between Ald. A. K. Mose and Curtis F. Mellin took on blistering heat. Both Mose and Mellin are accusing each other of being former soul mates of Thompsonism. County Commissioner Louis Nettlehorst, Brundage ward committeeman, who is backing Mose, has been declaring a deal is on between Mellin and the Deneen forces to wipe Edward J. Brundage, former attorney general off the map.

Service Men Attack Mose.

Ald. Mose's war record was brought out as an issue yesterday, when resolutions signed by Lincoln Square Post and North Town Post of the American Legion were circulated throughout the ward. The resolutions said a study of government records led the two posts to make a report, which in condensed form, follows:

"A. K. Mose was born in Chicago. He registered and filed a draft questionnaire June 5, 1917, claiming to be an alien, so he was temporarily classified as such. Later upon information given by a neighbor, an investigation was entered into, and he was taken out of the alien class and placed in class 1A, the nation's most fit for service.

"Thereupon Mose appealed out of class 1A and produced numerous affidavits purporting to show his alienship. All this was investigated and rejected. Whereupon Mose was finally reclassified in class 1A on Sept. 3, 1918.

"Due to Mose using up approximately 450 fighting days dodging the effects of the selective draft service by claiming to be an alien, he never served a day in the service of defending this country in her time of need. We appeal to our fellow citizens not to support such an individual for public office."

The Mose forces announced yesterday that the War Veterans' Voters' league will hold a rally Wednesday night at 4643 Lincoln avenue, in the interests of the alderman.

On the northwest side, the race between Ald. Frank R. Ringa [39th] and Frank J. Reilly narrowed down. The Democratic ward organization led by Leo J. Winiecki, committeeman, who ran in the Feb. 26 election, came out for Reilly. The Deneen organization is backing Reilly, who has the M. V. L. endorsement.

In the 36th ward, Capt. Leonard M. Rice is receiving support of ex-service men in his battle against Ald. Eugene L. Nusser, who is a son-in-law of George Hitzman, Thompson ward committeeman, and state grain inspector by appointment of Len Small.

The contest between Paul Herriott and O. E. Northrup in the 18th, for the vacancy created by the election of Donald McKinlay as municipal judge slipped into its final week at high speed. The Northrup camp charged some of the Deneen leaders, who are among Herriott's backers, with unfairness. They said that William H. Cruden, a federal pay roller and Deneen ward committeeman, has circulated reports that city hall pay rollers are working to elect Northrup.

The Northrup Statement.

Countering this a joint statement from Northrup and Judge McKinlay, who is supporting him, said:

"Northrup was with Dever when he ran against Thompson and at that election the Deneen people now supporting Herriott worked for William Hale Thompson. Northrup has a mixture of support from all political camps and he is purely a community nonpartisan candidate."

Judges William J. Lindsay and Harry A. Lewis yesterday refused to issue writs of mandamus for runoff elections sought by Alex Keiferstein against Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] and by John Bolton against Ald. Frank A. Sloan [36th]. Cronson and Sloan were declared reelected Feb. 26.

TWO WEDDINGS HOLD INTEREST OF CITY'S SOCIETY

Mrs. Wahl Is Bride of Arthur Bissell.

Yesterday's calendar included two weddings of social importance. Mrs. Margaret Tilt Wahl and Arthur Bissell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell of 50 East Schiller street, were married at 4 p. m. in the apartment of Mrs. Wahl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tilt, 1500 Lake Shore drive. Attendance at the ceremony was limited to members of the families and a few intimate friends.

The bride wore an afternoon frock of beige crêpe, a brown straw hat and a corsage of green orchids and gardenias. Her only attendant, Miss Mary Tilt, wore a gown of pearl gray crêpe with a hat to match and carried yellow roses. Frederick Wells of Boston, Mass., served as best man for the groom. After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Bissell will reside at 118 East Oak street.

Emily Green Becomes Bride.

The marriage of Miss Emily Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zola C. Green of Oak Park, and Walter Waterman Hellyer, son of the Walter Hellyers of Riverside, was solemnized at 8:30 p. m. at the Green residence and was followed by a reception and dance at the Nineteenth Century club of Oak Park. The bride wore a gown of cream antique satin with a flowing train and lace yoke and a tulle veil suspended from a lace cap trimmed with orange blossoms.

Sister Matron of Honor.

Her sister, Mrs. L. Gerald Koch, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Beatrice Ripley, Mrs. Otto C. Doering Jr. of New York City, Mrs. John Hellyer Silverthorne, and Miss Mary Motter. They were similarly gowned in green lace with flounced skirts abbreviated in front and dipping downward in back. Philip Hellyer was his brother's best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hellyer will sail on Friday from San Francisco for Japan, to be gone six months.

BERLIN, Germany, March 23.—(AP)—German police have begun installation of a telephone system for tracing criminals. A powerful transmission apparatus has been completed at Berlin and a connection with Breslau is expected to be opened shortly. It is planned later to connect 25 to 30 of the chief cities with Berlin for quick transmission of criminals' photographs, finger prints, and hand writing.

Pope Will Leave Vatican to Attend Feast of St. John

MILAN, Italy, March 23.—[U. P.]—The Catholic paper, Italia announces today that the pope will leave the Vatican for the first time on June 24 to officiate at the feast of St. John the Baptist.

MOSCOW GOES ON SUGAR RATIONS; FEARS HOARDERS

MOSCOW, Raiuss, March 23.—(AP)—The Moscow Soviet has inaugurated a sugar control system with the hope of dealing a smashing blow to the speculation and hoarding of recent weeks.

The action followed a run on the sugar bins during the last three days when long queues formed in front of the government stores and cooperatives, buying sugar in large amounts.

Moscow normally consumes from 200 to 225 carloads of sugar a month but on a single day, March 29, the population bought 93 carloads. The sugar run apparently was prompted by rumors of a shortage.

To prevent a real shortage the authorities adopted a system whereby each person designated as a toiler has the right to buy each month two kilograms [about 4 4-10 pounds] of sugar for himself and a similar amount for each member of the family. A system of sales to non-toilers is being formulated.

WITNESS TELLS OF LOVE TRYSTS OF MRS. INMAN

Testifies Her Home Was the Place.

Reno, Nev., March 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Hancock of New York, told the jury in Judge Bartlett's court here today in the divorce trial of Walker P. Inman, son of Mrs. James B. Duke, against Helene Garnet Patton Inman, that her apartment often had been the rendezvous for Mrs. Inman and John Steele, vaudeville singer, and that her apartment also was used by Mrs. Inman in telephoning to Steele.

Mrs. Hancock followed Mrs. Mary Hinman on the stand. She identified three letters which she said Mrs. Inman had read to her and which she had read herself. These letters were admitted as exhibits, although several others offered had not been placed in evidence.

Tells of Cocktail Party.

The testimony of Mrs. Hancock was of such a nature that she left much of it to the imagination of the jury and others permitted in the courtroom. She said Mrs. Inman had told her intimate details of meetings she had with Steele, but she asked that she not be instructed to repeat them. Then she told of a cocktail party in the Hancock apartment and of having found Steele and Mrs. Inman in what she described as a compromising position.

Love Letters Are Barred.

An attempt to get before the jury five love letters alleged to have been written to Mrs. Inman by Steele, failed.

Counsel for Inman sought to get them into the record by having them identified by Mrs. Hinman.

Asked if she had ever thrown a bottle at Mrs. Inman, the witness answered in the negative. She said the bottle had been hurled at another person present at a party in the Inman home.

Oak Park Board Indorses McFeely for Re-Election

Members of the village board of Oak Park have issued a statement indorsing the candidacy of President Willis McFeely of Oak Park, who is running for reelection in the coming election, it was learned yesterday. The action of the board is said to have been taken because of claims by the faction supporting Charles Crysler, McFeely's opponent, that some of the members had indorsed Crysler's candidacy.

STILLMAN WINS VENUE CHANGE IN $500,000 BEAUVAIS DAMAGE SUIT

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—In the suit brought by Frederick K. Beauvais, the Indian guide, against James A. Stillman for $500,000 damages for an alleged conspiracy to falsely represent the plaintiff as the father of Mr. Stillman's youngest child, Guy, Justice John Ford of the Supreme court today granted two motions.

The first was a motion by Benjamin Friedlander of Brooklyn, counsel for Beauvais, to include as defendants "Richard Roe and John Doe," as well as Florence H. Leeds, one time chorus girl, who was accused of displacing Mrs. Stillman in the banker's affections. The second was a motion by John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie, attorney for Stillman, to transfer the whole case to White Plains, because Westchester county is the bona fide residence of Mr. Stillman.

Beauvais, a former employé of the Stillmans at their summer camp in Canada, sued Stillman two years ago, while the banker's suit naming the guide as co-respondent in a divorce suit was still undetermined. Stillman and his wife were subsequently reconciled and it became necessary for Beauvais to amend his complaint.

HUSBAND ASKS DIVORCE FROM WIFE, AGED 70

Charles Manifold, 66 years old, 3444 West Adams street, filed a bill for divorce in the Superior court yesterday against his wife, Eleanor, 70 years old. Through his attorney, Harry X. Cole, Manifold charges his wife with desertion.

The Manifolds were married at Hammond April 15, 1894, and separated in January, 1926. The bill states that Mrs. Manifold refused to move from a seven room house at 304 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, to a home more accessible to his employment in the city water bureau. She clings to the old homestead with no other company than a Pekingese dog, according to the bill.

PLAN PAGEANT, CIVIC PROGRAMS FOR BOYS' WEEK

Annual Celebration Set for May 19-25.

To save $10,000,000 annually on Chicago's adolescent crime bill is one of the purposes of the observance of Boys' week throughout the city, according to George W. Dixon, president of the Chicago Boys' Week federation. The date set for the celebration this year is May 19-25, and it will be participated in by the schools, boys' clubs, Boy Scouts, Y. M. C. A., settlements, churches, parks, service clubs, and the Association of Commerce.

"Statistics show that approximately 85 per cent of Chicago's crime is committed by boys under 21 years of age," Mr. Dixon said yesterday. "It costs taxpayers about $14,000,000 to maintain the police, court, and jail machinery. Of this amount, therefore, nearly $12,000,000 is due to juvenile crime. These youthful criminals are at the age when corrective influence would be effective, if intelligently applied, in four-fifths of the cases, thus saving the city $10,000,000.

Promotes Good Citizenship.

"One dollar spent in giving leadership and opportunity to underprivileged boys will, in the long run, save two or three dollars required for capture and punishment after neglected boys become criminals. In addition, priceless good citizenship is also saved.

Announcement was made yesterday of the completion of the organization for the Boys' week campaign. William J. Bogan, superintendent of schools, is chairman of the executive committee; Michael Zimmer, secretary; Melvin A. Traylor, treasurer; Edward L. Burchard, executive secretary; Robert D. Klees, vice chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Dixon was reelected president.

Special days of the week will be devoted to the relationship of the city's 700,000 boys under 21 years of age to church, health, industry, citizenship, home, athletics, and school. An elaborate pageant has been planned for Soldiers' field and there will also be a civic program at the Auditorium.

Pays Large Dividends.

"The purpose of Boys' week is to get every man to think a little while in terms of the boy," said Mr. Bogan.

Boys' week has been celebrated in Chicago since 1921. About 3,000 cities throughout the United States now observe it. Vice presidents of the Boys' Week federation in Chicago are J. F. Cornelius, Edward I. Cudahy, Ald. Guy Guernsey, Alex C. Johnson, Dr. M. H. Mack, Lewis E. Myers, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., R. W. Stewart, William J. Bogan, Walter Head, Medard Welch, Dr. Thomas A. Carter, J. E. Soll, Leo F. Wormser, and Msgr. C. J. Quille.

POPE RECEIVES UNIQUE PALMS FOR FETE TODAY

VATICAN CITY, March 23.—(AP)—Pope Pius was presented with several elaborately worked palms today for Palm Sunday.

Msgr. Mingoli, for the Benedictine monks, who since 1826 have had the privilege of preparing palms for the apostolic palace, prepared a palm surrounding a miniature showing Pope Pius XI in the act of blessing the Italian tricolor and the Fascist lictorio emblem. In the midst of the palm is a vase formed by palms with clusters of grapes and sheaves of train.

Another palm was presented by the Bresca family of San Remo. This family has had the honor of providing the palms used each year in St. Peter's on Palm Sunday. The privilege was accorded about three centuries ago by Pope Sixtus V, in honor of the act of a young sailor named Bresca whose quick wit prevented a disastrous accident when the obelisk now standing in St. Peter's square was erected.

Because of the recently concluded accord between the Holy See and the Italian state, there will be a new atmosphere of rejoicing in tomorrow's ceremony. The American church of Santa Susanna will have a solemn blessing of palms in the morning.

Pack 3,500 Baskets

More than 3,500 boxes of Easter eggs and candy for disabled veterans in Chicago hospitals were packed yesterday by girls from all high schools in the city at the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue. Other school children, from kindergarten up also did their share to make wounded veterans happy. They made paper flowers, "gloom chasers," to be placed on the trays on Easter morning.

Witch Doctor Is Charged with Murdering a Girl

Allentown, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—A charge of murder was read to Charles Belles, self-styled "faith healer," here today in connection with the death last Friday of Verna Octavia Delp. The charge was preferred by State Police Corporal Earl Haans and accused Belles of administering a fatal poison to the girl. Belles, an alleged "pow-wow" doctor, displayed no sign of emotion when the charge was read to him. Police said they had learned that he had agreed to help the girl evade maternity and that she had visited him a number of times.

PARIS WILL LET EIFFEL TOWER STAND FOREVER

Decides to Allow Old Age and Rust to Fell It.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 23.—The question of the Eiffel tower is settled. The subject had been raised because the tower is now 40 years old, and a monument to its designer is, on the occasion, to be inaugurated.

It may surprise some Americans to hear that there ever was any "question" about the Eiffel tower. The tower is an ornament to the city; it is one ostentatious proof of modernity; and, still better, it is the biggest of its kind in the world.

None the less, a fearsome howl went up when the engineer, Gustave Eiffel, first exhibited in 1887 his design for a huge carcass of iron and steel to adorn the projected Exposition of 1889.

But the temptation to startle the visiting firemen was too great. It was distinctly understood that, once the exposition was over, the tower was to come down. It bore a charmed life, however, year after year and it still stood. When it became superbly useful as a wireless station, its life for good was assured. It can now stand till it falls, till rust does its work on enough of the 25,000,000 rivets which went into it, to make it crash.

If Paris were to be cleared of all the structures which keep its broad, general aspect from being a perfect harmony, the Eiffel tower is not the only structure which would have to go. There is, for instance, the Trocadero. It, too, was built purely for exhibition purposes, and it too was supposed to come down. But it has lasted along with the tower, and though not so conspicuous, its two towers are enough of an eyesore.

English Teaching Falling.

Since 1913, the number of instructors in French schools who are teaching either English or German as a modern language subject has increased but 18 per cent. The number of those who are teaching either Italian or Spanish has increased 71 per cent.

These statistics were hidden away in a declaration by the minister of public instruction during a debate in the senate. They should deflate a bit the overconfident who proclaim that the future of the world is to the Anglo-Saxons and to them alone, as well as those who glibly repeat that English is on the way to being the universal international language. If these figures indicate anything, it is rather that all the great cultural tongues are extending their influence.

Cannes Business Booms.

Five years ago I saw the city of Cannes, and the resort which is more important than the city, for what I believed to be the last time. Chance having brought me there once again, it is worth recording the phenomenal change that has taken place.

For as long as most people can remember, of course, Cannes has been a gathering place of those who want to be seen and to see. But it is now far more brilliant than it was before. The tourist business, if surface indications be accurate, is booming, and so is all commerce. What has done it all—the stabilised franc? Or are there just so many more rich people in the world?

It is safe to say that there is an entirely different crowd to that of three decades ago. The decay of old fortunes and the growth of new ones—the mad dance of money which began during the war and has continued ever since, shows here clearly its effects. Some of the old crowd may still be hanging on to their villas, but they are now lost in a cosmopolitan swirl. The intimate little colony can maintain a separate existence no longer. Affluence, as it has spread out, has made its possessors anonymous.

They are good spenders, these new ones, perhaps far more so than the older and more stodgy crowd. For them has been opened the row of branch shops of the great Parisian dressmakers and beauty specialists and jewelers.

COUPLE NAMED IN COURT ACTION TO BE MARRIED

Miss Hanna Jones, 49 years old, proprietor of a sanitarium at 4330 Berkeley avenue, against whom habeas corpus proceedings for the custody of Charles D. Vassar, 70 years old, disinherited son of a wealthy New York architect, now dead, are pending in the Circuit court, yesterday took out a marriage license to wed Vassar. They will be married today. Attorney David A. Hayes, who represents friends of Vassar in their suit to prevent the marriage, predicted.

Vassar, who is a Harvard graduate, was cut off in his father's will with an annuity of $500 out of a $5,000,000 estate, thirty-eight years ago. He came to Chicago and lived with his friends, Mrs. E. Hitchins, and her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Heniff, 8754 Justine street. Last December he was sent to Miss Jones' sanitarium because Mrs. Hitchins became ill.

Friday Mrs. Heniff filed the petition for a writ of habeas corpus charging Miss Jones refused to allow her to see Vassar and was seeking to marry him. She also alleged that Miss Jones had induced him to make a will in her favor for his life's savings of $6,000.

Attorney Hayes said that he will press the suit before Judge Emanuel Eller Monday, even though the marriage is performed.

FAHERTY RETURN TO ENLIVEN FIGHT OVER PAVING BILL

Coming Home This Week with Blood in Eye.

The clash between two of Mayor Thompson's cabinet heads over a new paving bill now pending in the state legislature is expected to reverberate in the city hall this week with the return of Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements. His opponent is Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, who is trying to obtain the privilege of resurfacing streets by special assessment.

The bill which Mr. Wolfe is sponsoring would permit him to resurface streets which now must be repaved by the board of local improvements. The bill involves more than 600 miles of street resurfacing, which Mr. Wolfe claims he can do at a saving of nearly $10,000,000 under what the improvement board would charge.

Dahlberg Already on Scene.

In the absence of Faherty, who is in Florida, Mr. Wolfe had his bill introduced at Springfield and last week went there to plead for its passage. He found Gotthard A. Dahlberg, attorney for the board of local improvements, there before him and lobbying against the bill.

The mayor, approached by Commissioner Wolfe in his efforts to get favorable consideration for his bill, is reported to have wished him success in his legislative venture. But other reports current in the city hall have it that the mayor instructed Attorney Dahlberg to hasten to Springfield and oppose the bill as he is unwilling to take sides in the conflict. What the mayor will say when Faherty returns and requests an audience is perplexing members of the city council.

Divides Counsel's Office.

Another paradox pointed out by the aldermen is the apparent division over the bill in the corporation counsel's office. As is customary, the bill was drawn for Wolfe in the city lawyer's office and taken to Springfield. Before drafting the bill, the corporation counsel must have ascertained that it is constitutional, the aldermen say, but Mr. Dahlberg, who is an assistant corporation counsel, has attacked it on the grounds that it is unconstitutional.

Debate Liquor Issue

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Whether liquor will be sold on the Leviathan and other vessels of the United States Lines, Inc., now the property of Paul W. Chapman, will not be settled until the directors are chosen and approved by the United States shipping board.

It is known that almost every other American shipping company is operating bars, the liquors being sealed as medical stores when the ship touches prohibition ports. The practice developed soon after prohibition and has not been interfered with by authorities. According to Joseph E. Sheedy, manager of the United States Lines, previous business gained by the lines because of prohibition is worth considering.

Mr. Chapman is known to favor liquorless ships, but whether his personal views will have any effect on the board is a matter of conjecture.

SCHUMANN-HEINK TO SING TODAY IN CHICAGO CHURCH

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink came to Chicago yesterday to sing, possibly for the last time in this city. As always, she beamed on those who greeted her when she arrived on the Broadway limited, then retired to the Auditorium hotel where she will rest until her concert this afternoon.

The concert, a benefit for old St. James Catholic church, Wabash avenue and 29th street, will start at 3 o'clock. Mme. Schumann-Heink gave the concert last year that inaugurated the annual Palm Sunday musical event. This year she will sing old favorite songs, and will be assisted by Edward Collins, composer and pianist, and Mrs. Katherine Collins, accompanist. The Rev. Father J. P. O'Donoghue is pastor of the church.

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY.

A committee of lawyers in New York has undertaken the task of educating jurors to acquit defendants under the Jones act. Frederick R. Coudert Jr., member of one of the nation's leading law firms, is chairman of the committee, which includes seven former assistant United States district attorneys. They propose to fight this measure with the same vigor as the New York bar displayed in the case of the enforcement act known as the fugitive slave law.

The jury system, as these lawyers well know, has been a great, and perhaps the greatest, defender of human liberties against executive and legislative oppression. Lawyers may express dissatisfaction with the jury system on the ground that it is an instrument ill adapted to solve difficult questions of fact in litigation; but no lawyer with a knowledge of constitutional history in England and America can question the vast significance of the jury in the overthrow of tyranny. An appeal to jurors to correct the abuse of law is inevitable in the light of history.

The jury is simply a sample of public opinion. When law makers and law enforcers lose all sense of perspective and balance the jury is the common man's reliance. The New York committee mentioned the repudiation in the north of the fugitive slave law by way of precedent. In its final phases that law was so severe that any citizen might be called upon by a United States marshal to help in the recovery of a Negro alleged to have escaped from bondage. It was an offense to refuse to assist the marshal, and refusal to cooperate—as in the case of the two Quakers of Pennsylvania—was punishable as treason. The word of the slave owner claiming the Negro was virtually final in court proceedings, and the Negro himself was not even permitted to testify.

The two Quakers, Castner Hanway and Elijah Lewis, lived at Christiania, Lancaster county, Pennsylvania. A United States marshal, accompanied by the owner, who was also the reputed father, of a fugitive slave appeared at the town in September, 1851. A hostile crowd gathered. The Quakers sought to disperse the mob, but without success. The marshal ordered the Quakers to join his posse. They refused and were arrested and tried for treason. The jury acquitted without leaving the box.

This case was repeated in diverse forms in many sections of the north. In law the Quakers may well have been guilty and liable to the death penalty. In the light of common sense and humanity their conduct was above reproach. The jurors disregarded the law. Had they done otherwise they would have deserved the scorn of all posterity.

Instances of this sort could be listed without number. Where the blue laws have become dead, though still in the statute books, the juries which refused to convict must be credited with killing them. The laws requiring Sunday closing in Illinois and other states have been rendered forceless by juries which would not punish violators. In American history there is no more perfect example of jury-sense than is presented by the witchcraft trials in Salem. Before 1692 there had been ten or a dozen witchcraft prosecutions and some of the defendants had been executed. Then, in 1692, Salem was struck with a frenzy and some twenty persons were tried and executed for conspiring with the devil.

Sanity returned to the people in 1693, and its return was encouraged by the fact that a new system of jury selection had meanwhile been inaugurated. The juries of 1692 were chosen from freemen, who of necessity were church members; the next year the juries were chosen from among the whole body of the people.

Perhaps the most painstaking student of the witchcraft trials is Winfield S. Nevins. He says: "The officials . . . never relaxed their efforts until the juries, compoled of the common people, had refused repeatedly to convict."

It was not until two years later, long after the sanity of jurors had saved the day, that the law was repealed, and by that time the repeal was no longer needed. There is scarcely room to doubt that the judges, the prosecutors and the "good people" of Massachusetts were scandalized by the willfulness of the juries which defied the law.

The knowledge that meddlesome laws, tyrannical laws, and laws which exact cruel penalties will not be enforced by juries has led lawmakers and prosecutors frequently to attempt to evade honest jury trial. Sometimes the evasion takes the form of packing the jury in the interest of the prosecution. Sometimes the judge so charges the jury that acquittal is made extremely difficult. Both methods were pursued on behalf of tyranny in the alien and sedition cases.

Matthew Lyon of Vermont was the first man convicted under the sedition law. He was a representative in congress and charged President Adams with a "continual grasp for power, an unbounded thirst for ridiculous pomp, foolish adulation and selfish avarice." Lyon had also permitted the publication of a letter to him from Joel Barlow in which the President's address to the senate was referred to as "the bullying speech of your President." He was indicted, charged with stirring up sedition and bringing the President and government of the United States into contempt. He said the jury was selected from his enemies. Under the charge of Justice Paterson of the Supreme court he was convicted, sentenced to four months in jail and the payment of a fine of $1,000. U. S. Marshal Fitch took him to jail at Vergennes, Vt. He was treated with indignity by the marshal, thrust into a cold and filthy cell, "the common receptacle for horse thieves, runaway Negroes or any kind of felons."

Anthony Haswell, editor of the Vermont Gazette of Bennington, printed an advertisement of a lottery conducted to raise money to pay Lyon's fine. The advertisement addressed "the enemies of political persecutions in the western district of Vermont," and called Marshal Fitch "a savage." Haswell was indicted for sedition. He proposed to prove the brutality with which Lyon had been treated and that the government favored the occasional appointment of Tories to office. Justice Paterson ruled the evidence inadmissible and charged the jury that if Haswell's intent was defamatory he should be found guilty. He was convicted and sentenced to two months' imprisonment and the payment of a fine of $200.

Dr. Thomas Cooper, editor of the Sunbury and Northumberland Gazette in Pennsylvania, was another indicted under the sedition law. In the course of trial he applied for a subpoena duces tecum to compel President Adams to appear as a witness. At this Justice Samuel Chase, of the Supreme court (it should be noted that in these days the Supreme court judges rode circuit), who was hearing the case with District Judge Richard Peters, flew into a high rage and refused to issue the writ. John Marshall later issued the same writ, in the trial of Aaron Burr, for Jefferson. Justice Chase in charging the jury confessed that he could not suppress his feelings at the gross attack upon the President. Cooper was convicted, sentenced to pay $400 and to be in prison for six months.

After trying several other cases Justice Chase went from Richmond to New Castle and undertook a search of newspaper files to discover sedition. In these trials the United States marshals personally hand-picked the members of the grand juries and the trial juries. "When making up juries they selected only persons of the same manner of thinking as that of the marshals and judges themselves," says Albert Beveridge. To Justice Chase is credited the statement, "We want good Whigs as jurymen."

These cases brought a terrific attack upon the judiciary, destroyed the Federalist party, and resulted in the repeal of the sedition act. It may be taken as a certainty that if the trials had been fairly conducted the juries would never have enforced a law which violently contravened the principles of free speech and cruelly punished the expression of opinion.

These illustrations have been culled from American history. They could be matched, with only a change of names and laws, in the long history of the struggle for freedom in England. The persecution of Catholics in the seventeenth century, for example, was nullified in some part by the unwillingness of juries to convict, as in the case of Sir Thomas Gascoigne, an aged Roman Catholic baronet of Yorkshire. Twelve gentlemen of the West Riding, who knew Sir Thomas' way of life, could not be convinced that their honest old acquaintance had hired cutthroats to murder the king, and in spite of the judge's charge to the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

The attempt to prevent the freedom of the press took the form in England as in America of indictments charging criminal libel. Judges sought to limit the jury to a determination of whether the alleged libel had been published, leaving the judges to decide whether the matter published was indeed libelous. Juries rebelled against this arbitrary limitation of their discretion and eventually, as in the trial of John Peter Zenger in New York, won freedom of the press for posterity.

It may be taken as axiomatic that wherever courts, prosecutors or executives seek to modify or deny the traditional jury trial in cases in which the liberties of the citizen are involved the officials fear that decent humanity will upset their plans.

BUDGET PLAN FOR COUNTIES.

[Danville, Ill., Commercial-News.]

Sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' association, two bills have been introduced in the house and senate of the legislature that are designed to place counties and all other minor political divisions of the state upon a strictly business basis. The central idea is the introduction of the budget system in all such divisions with the view of keeping expenses within the income from taxes. This, of course, would require the adoption of accurate methods of accounting and a periodical inspection of records, and the bills are designed to apply not only to counties, but to cities, towns and villages and all other local governing bodies.

These bills appear to possess considerable merit and are designed to correct slipshod and inaccurate methods of accounting that prevail in many localities. They would introduce the best known systems of keeping public accounts and such systems would be uniform throughout the state. And they would be understandable by the public, a merit that few financial statements possess.

The administration of public funds constitutes the most important aspect of the problem of taxation. The height of the tax rate bears a direct relation to the honesty, efficiency and economy with which the money raised by taxation is handled and expended. And the fact that it is our local governments that expend much the larger part of the money raised by taxation, would demand that taxes be kept at the minimum and be properly accounted for.

One important provision in the bills requires that every county adopt annually in December a budget covering all anticipated revenues and proposed expenditures for the next twelve months. Another provision would introduce the "pay as you go" system and provides a means of taking up old indebtedness by a temporary increase in taxes, thus avoiding the payment of interest, which is a total loss. The bills seek to substitute an annual financing plan for what is now, in many localities, financial chaos.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association has spent more than two years in investigating the subjects of taxation and public accounting and in working out a practical system, and it is believed that the bills in question will help largely to solve many of the vexatious problems that constantly arise in the administration of public funds.

THE DIFFICULTIES OF UNBELIEF

BY THE REV. H. P. ALMON ABBOTT, D.D.
[Rector St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church and Bishop Elect of Kentucky.]

SKEPTICS are constantly advising us of the fact that it is difficult to believe. It is difficult to believe, desperately difficult. When one thinks of the outrageous dogmas which have masqueraded under the name of Christianity, of the extraordinary excrescences which have been tacked on to faith as it is in Jesus Christ, one is not surprised that some men should speak as they do of the difficulty of believing. There is a suspicion that the God of things as they ought to be has focused his gaze upon the ideal and overlooked the vision of things as they really are. It is only natural, then, that the difficulty of belief should be one of the commonplaces of skepticism.

But what about the other side of the question? Let us be quite honest and candid—broadminded in this, as in all else. If belief is difficult, what about unbelief? If faith has its struggles and its trials, is it less true to assert that lack of faith also has its agonies and its bloody sweat? Surely, as thoughtful people we ought to face the hardships of a negative as well as the hardships of a positive position and consider the consequences of the rejection as well as the consequences of the acceptance of Christianity.

Our subject, then, is: "The Difficulty of Unbelief." Take the great cardinal affirmations of the Christian religion and deny them. Then take the affirmation and the denial and ask yourself which is the more difficult to believe. In any case, remember this, for the loose thinker is inclined to forget it—it is not possible to believe nothing. The agnostic has his creed as well as the Christian; the atheist has his creed as well as the theist. You may believe that there is a God or you may believe that there is no God. You may believe that Jesus Christ was the son of God, or you may believe that He was mistaken in His assumptions, or you may believe that the whole matter of His divinity is doubtful and undecided. In any case, however, it is a matter of belief. You simply cannot believe nothing. It is foolish to taunt the believer with the fact of his unbelief, for to disbelieve is to require a portentous amount of belief. Unbelief is belief, just as belief is belief. Let us, then, consider some of the cardinal beliefs of Christianity and realize the difficulties involved in disbelieving them.

There is the fatherhood of God. What does this doctrine suggest? It suggests and affirms that God is spirit; that God, the first cause, the author and architect of all things, is spirit. Behind, beneath, and above all matter is spirit. Mind comes before matter; matter is the product of mind, not mind the product of matter. And this primal spirit has never lost the instincts of parentage; he remains Our Father as well as our God. This was the pronouncement of Jesus when he said, "God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth, for the Father seeketh such to worship Him."

Now, deny this doctrine. God is not spirit—that is to say, the great first cause is not mind at all, but matter. The universe was the creation of blind, unreasoning, unsympathetic, unmoral atoms which began to move for no reason, which flowed together for no reason, which evolved order out of chaos for no reason, and which wrought all the wonders of intelligence, and conscience, and all the splendors of self denial and self sacrifice for no reason. Which do you find the easier of belief—God, who was a spirit, or no God, and so no spirit? For my part, I confess the difficulties of belief in the fatherhood of God, but they are as child's play compared with the difficulties of disbelief in the fatherhood of God.

There is the great central Christian doctrine of the incarnation—God manifesting Himself in human form. Now, no thinking, feeling man, no man who is possessed of any sense of physical proportion or mental perspective, would deny the stupendous impossibility of believing that God, the infinite and the immaculate, took upon Himself the form of a servant and was made in the likeness of man. The bare thought of such an amazing procedure sometimes fills us all, Christians and non-Christians alike, with an amazement which is akin to dread. That the spaceless God should inhabit space, that the ubiquitous God should become localized, that the creator God should Himself suffer creation, conflicts with our deepest reverence even as it meets our deepest needs. But, turn to the other side. Conceive of an infinitely wise and loving God making men and women for the purpose of winning them to Himself and yet never speaking to them in the language which they can understand—a dumb God refraining from speech, a paralyzed God refraining from action, a careless God viewing a world in ignorance, and blindness, and misery, and yet filled with a blissful disregard of the necessity of divine interference.

If I believe in a God at all, I must perforce believe in an incarnate God. The fact, God, presupposes the fact, Christ. It would be possible to continue in this strain almost indefinitely. We might take all the distinctive Christian ideas and face the difficulties which their denial involves. Weigh well the consequences of negation and neutrality, even as you weigh the consequences of positive acceptance of the fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith. Only so may you avoid the laughter of the expert helmsman upon the shore who sees the amateur skipper endeavoring to beat up against the wind with a free sheet—his main sail flapping self consciously in the breeze.

In conclusion, I would note that it is recorded of Jesus that he "marveled because of their unbelief." God manifested in the flesh, the Son of the God who is our father, lived in perpetual astonishment at unbelief. Only once did a man speak to Him in such terms of unqualified belief that he was surprised. On that occasion Jesus said, "I have not found such faith; no, not in Israel." But at unbelief he marveled again and again. He was dumbfounded at the little faith in the world. To Him His Father and His Father's love were the shining realities in a world of shadows. And yet men on this earth, on this earth that was "crammed with God," were wondering as to whether there was a God or no. He knew how natural faith is and how helpful faith is in a life that is replete with complexities and how simple faith is when a man endeavors to do the will of God and when he saw men believing in anything and everything except the one supreme and evident fact of time and common sense, he marveled because of their unbelief. Let us appreciate the quandary of the master and see to it that we do not venture everything upon the life of unbelief until we have at least ventured something upon the life of faith. Surely, it is better that men should marvel at our faith and even scoff at it than that God and Christ and the angels should marvel at our unbelief.

"When the son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?" God grant that he may find faith in you and in me.

That Christ has regarded my helpless estate,
And hath shed his own blood for my soul.

My sin—O, the bliss of this glorious thought—
My sin—not in part but the whole,
Is nailed to his cross and I bear it no more.
Praise the Lord, praise the Lord, O, my soul!

And, Lord, haste the day when faith shall be sight,
The clouds be rolled back as a scroll,
The trump shall resound and the Lord shall descend,
"Even so"—it is well with my soul.

THE PNEUMONIA MONTHS.

FIFTY-TWO per cent of all the pneumonia occurs during the months of January, February and March; 81 per cent of all the severe bronchitis occurs in the same period. If to these three unhealthy months we add December and the latter half of April we get the stretch in which occur almost all of the serious acute respiratory infections.

This is just the period in which there is the least amount of sunshine daily. It is also the period in which the sunshine we do get is poorest in quality. There is cause and effect in this combination. It is also the season for the development of rickets in babies and for the greatest prevalence of measles. There is cause and effect here as well. These facts are well established and undisputed.

There is not the same accord as to the best method of prevention. There is no question as to the efficacy of the vacation method. The people who can spend a good part of this dark season in climates where there is more winter sunshine and where the temperature is high enough to permit of swimming, beach lounging, golfing and other sun exposing games should do so.

There are parents who put their children in schools where they can get the helpful influence of sunshine during these dark months. The more difficult question relates to those who cannot get away for the winter and early spring. In some places the health department, or some philanthropic agency provides lamps for heliotherapy for those who need it and are not able to pay. A great many hospitals and physicians' offices are equipped for heliotherapy on a pay basis. The manufacturers are marketing lamps for use in institutions and in private homes. These lamps are simple in construction, foolproof, easy to operate, and not overly expensive either to install or to operate. They give a reasonable amount of light of reasonably good therapeutic quality. However, among the physicists and physiologists there is a growing tendency to caution against the indiscriminate use of light therapy. Many think it too powerful for use except where it is suited.

Several preparations of activated ergosterol are under trial. This is a chemical substance in which the effective part of sunlight is in a sense fixed in a chemical combination. But here, too, a spirit of caution prevails.

And, finally, the market is now supplied with radiated foods.

BATHTUB FOR BABY.

S. L. R. writes: Is there any baby bathtub I can buy that will hold my baby in the water without the support of my arm?

I am so afraid I may twist his back or arms by holding him wrong, and I am so tired and hot when his bath is over that I know my milk cannot be good for him. I lived on a farm and was taught not to run the cows home before milking; and now my baby has to take one meal every day when I am hot, tired and worn out.

I saw where some doctors said they found so many very young children with twisted backs. I am trying so hard to keep my baby's back straight. I don't hold him on my knee except when I nurse him and then I put him on a pillow.

REPLY.

If there is such a tub I do not know of it. Perhaps some reader can help. Have you tried stores which carry baby clothes and accessories? Why not put the tub on a table? That would spare your back. I am sure you can think of some other simple improvements. I can only suggest another. Take it easy. Don't worry and don't be too strenuous. You will not hurt the baby's back. Nor will you drown him. In spite of all you have heard, a baby, like a cat, is generally able to land on his feet.

SOAK THE ASHES.

W. J. L. writes: I have a question that has caused a great deal of argument in our home. Which, in your point of view, would be most healthful in a home, a dry water pan or one that is overhooded, so that it soaks the ashes.

REPLY:

Soak the ashes and whatever else will help. You will need more than you will get either way.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

REQUIRED BY LAW.

Chicago, March 13.—[Friend of the People.]—Could you inform me as to whether I must have two witnesses in regard to my citizenship papers which I am taking out this coming summer? I am a native of Canada and made application for my first papers two years ago. I have been told that witnesses are not necessary. W. J. D.

The naturalization law requires that a petition for naturalization must be verified by the affidavits of two citizens, each of whom has known the applicant for a period of five years at least continuously, or so much thereof as he has resided in the state in which the petition may be filed and who know of his residence and who can vouch for his character. If he has not lived in the state five years at least continuously, the remainder of the five year period may be proved by the depositions of citizens on notices which will be prepared by the naturalization service.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Naturalization

A DAUGHTER-IN-LAW'S CLAIM.

Chicago, March 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a son died before his father, leaving no children, can his widow put in a claim against the estate of the father, who died recently in the state of Michigan? J. R. F.

Not unless the father leaves a will.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A BANKRUPT LANDLORD.

Chicago, March 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A year ago December I subleased a business site for a restaurant, paying $300 in advance for security on the lease besides $100 for the first month's rent. My landlord rents the location next door to me and is about to go bankrupt. To protect myself, I am not paying the usual $100 per month, but am using up the $300 for the next three months' rent. I am willing to pay the rent in advance, but I want to be sure of my deposit.

1. Can my landlord force me to pay the $300 deposit over again if I continue to do business? 2. Can he serve notice on me to vacate because I am not paying the $100 per month rent at the present time? 3. If he goes bankrupt, according to the law would I lose the $300 deposit? L. K. P.

1. Yes. 2. Yes. 3. You would have to take the dividend of a general creditor with respect to this money which he is holding for you.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DUTY ON HONEY.

Chicago, March 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you be good enough to tell me if there is a duty on honey [in 60 pound lots] which is shipped in from the Canadian provinces. M. P.

Yes, there is. Three cents a pound.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1864.

WASHINGTON.—The review of the Army of the Potomac announced for tomorrow has been indefinitely postponed. Gen. Grant wired Gen. Meade that he should be at Culpeper tomorrow, but added that he had neither time nor inclination for grand reviews. He said he would visit the several corps and if the men happened to be in line he would look at them. The show days of the Potomac army are over. Gen. Grant has work for it to do, and he will stay to see it done.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Several inches of snow fell here. The rebels still continue the most active preparations for their supposed raid into Kentucky. They are seizing horses in every quarter.

CINCINNATI.—Reports from western Virginia state that Jackson, Morgan, and Early are concentrating their forces at Wytheville preparatory to a powerful advance in that section.

CAIRO.—Good news comes from the Red river expedition. Gen. A. J. Smith landed his force a few miles below Fort D'Rusey and the rebel Gen. Taylor promptly marched against him with a large force and attacked him from the rear. Gen. Smith immediately made for the fort. When Taylor realized Smith's intention he, too, raced for the fort, but Smith reached his destination three hours ahead of the rebels and captured the fort with eleven guns, four of them Parrots, one 11 inch and several 32 pounders, and 300 prisoners. This gives Gen. Smith a strong foothold in the country.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1899.

MANILA.—Francisco Valencia, insurgent governor of the province of Cavite, escaped into the American lines and came to Manila, where he presented himself to Gen. Otis. He gave the American general all information he possessed regarding the insurgent forces. There are between 20,000 and 30,000 rebels, armed with Mausers and Remingtons, between Manila and Malolos, Gov. Valencia said. The main force of Aguinaldo's army is at Malolos.

TEXARKANA, Ark.—Reports from Little River county say that seven Negroes have been lynched around the Red river bottoms, and that there may be others, as many Negroes are said to be missing. The wholesale lynching is the result of the murder of James A. Stockton, a planter, by a big Negro called "General" Duckett.

WASHINGTON.—The German ambassador, Dr. von Holleben, visited the state department and it is believed he demanded the recall of Justice Chambers and the American consul from Samoa. Germany not only wants the American officers recalled and also those of the British government, but is willing to recall its own representatives.

CHICAGO.—Eddie "Cannon" Bald, the famous bicyclist, passed through Chicago on the way from San Francisco to his home in Buffalo.

NEW YORK.—The 25 round contest between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries for the heavyweight championship will take place at Coney Island on May 26 before the Greater New York Athletic club. The purse will be $20,000, the winner to take all. Each will receive a one-third interest in the pictures of the battle.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 24, 1919.

LONDON.—The Budapest government is reported to be signing a proclamation acknowledging a state of war between Hungary and the entente, a Vienna dispatch says. It adds that the Czecho-Slovak government is preparing to issue a mobilization order.

COPENHAGEN.—The new Hungarian government has proclaimed solidarity with the Russian soviet government, and an armed alliance with the proletariat of Russia, a Budapest dispatch says. Alexander Gorbai has assumed the presidency of the revolutionary government of workers, peasants and soldiers' councils.

LONDON.—The Chronicle's Copenhagen correspondent says that, according to a Berlin message, the Hungarian crisis may affect the whole of Europe. The new government is said to have admitted the Russian Red army into Tarnopol, near the Galician frontier. Lenin is called the real ruler of Budapest.

NEW YORK.—Henry Martyn Blossom, one of the most successful librettists in the country, died at his home of pneumonia at the age of 53. His first great success in musical comedy was "The Yankee Consul." Then came "Mlle. Modiste," which brought Fritzi Scheff to the height of her fame.

CHICAGO.—Three hundred and fifty criminals—men with records or men under strong police suspicion—were arrested and locked up at various stations in the big police drive against the crime wave. Despite the drive, however, robbers, automobile bandits, and safeblowers went merrily along with their work.

CHICAGO.—Mrs. William Edward Ritchie of Hinsdale announces the engagement of her daughter, Alice, to Alfred Wilson Young of New York.

VOTING BY CANDLE LIGHT.

Chicago, March 14.—It is almost unbelievable that in Chicago its citizens are asked to mark their ballot on election day by candle light. Have you ever enjoyed the performance (as you wait your turn) of a rather large person trying to wiggle the cheesecloth curtain down far enough so as to give the required privacy?

Those who are successful no doubt have practiced it at home or it may come natural from taking treatments on the new reducing machines. Many others are not so well qualified and only get the curtain down far enough so as to give it the appearance from the back that you are wearing one of the new spring ensembles. While the wiggling is going on and the struggle becomes more intense you may be fortunate to save the price of having your hair singed.

This condition and the appearance of some of the polling places, such as cellars, tailor shops, etc., keeps a good many voters away from voting, especially women. Stringing a row of electric lights so as to give each booth a light seems to be a simple and inexpensive improvement that would certainly meet with the approval of the voters.

B. J. ANTOLINI.

FOR RUSSIAN NEWSPAPER SYSTEM.

Chicago, March 12.—Freedom of the press. What crimes have been committed under its sanction! Nowadays it means nothing but a license to the meanest and basest of men to slander better men than themselves because they cannot control them. May God hasten the day when the government will take over the control and operation of newspapers.

You will not publish this letter, of course. If it was written by some poor dupe and told of the nobility and self-sacrifice of the man who fought to establish freedom of the press in the 18th century [whatever bearing that may have on the degeneracy of the press in the 20th century only the dupe himself knows and he failed to tell us] you would feature it. T. P. QUINN.

NEW RACKET VICTIMS.

Chicago, March 14.—I wonder if anyone has ever realized that the service station men of Chicago are the victims of one of the boldest rackets of all. A large number of us men are running stations on a strictly commission basis, with no guarantee of salary whatsoever, and taking our own chances against a fair monthly earning and yet are forced to contribute $3 per month to some kind of a union which makes no explanation. On top of that robbery we now have received orders that the helpers we have relieving us an hour or so per day for meals must also join this union and pay $15 initiation fee plus $2 per month, making a total of $17 which in most cases is more than the helper makes in one month. Aren't we entitled to some relief from such preying? ONE OF THE VICTIMS.

INITIATING THE NEW SUIT.

Chicago, March 15.—I believe it would prove a good idea if a half hour or so were devoted to the study of courtesy in the public schools each day. There seems to be a certain well dressed, mean class which takes it upon itself to insult children who are not so well off in the matter of their appearance.

There are two standard remarks that I recall at present, "You're cheating the barber," and, when a poor child appears proudly wearing a much needed new suit or a pair of new shoes, "Did your father get a raise?"

In my graduating class in grammar school one lad's suit seemed somewhat queer, though it was certainly neat. He was suddenly asked if he had inherited the suit from his grandfather. I am glad to say that every pupil who heard the remark was disgusted.

THEODORE SIMONS.

IT SOUNDS LIKE A RACKET.

Chicago, March 9.—A woman comes around from house to house, asks the name of the party living there, writes it down on a ticket, gives you the stub with a number on it, and retains the part with your name. On leaving she says, "Keep this ticket; it might be the lucky number."

A few days later a man comes around and informs you you've been asked to represent them in the neighborhood to advertise their jewelry concern. One was to pay so much a week and fifty dollars was paid and then one could get anything in the jewelry line.

But there was a drawing every week and I was sure to win out in eight or nine weeks—so he said.

He handed me two tickets and I informed him I could only go in for one but he said it was all right to take the two—that there was no obligation or any more money involved—it just would build up my amounts more quickly.

Well, I fell for it, and when the amount was paid in full I went down to get my merchandise. I was told I had to take the other ticket and pay the other fifty dollars before they would give me any merchandise.

Finally, for the fifty I had paid in they gave me a pearl necklace marked forty dollars, told me they were giving it wholesale (twenty dollars), and when I had it appraised I found it was valued at only eight.

They have kept the balance of my money, have made no effort to give me any merchandise, and ignore my letters.

I only hope others won't be swindled as easily as I was by door to door salesmen. HOUSEWIFE.

HIGH COST OF FEW SHARES.

Chicago, March 11.—I wonder if any of your readers have any comments to make on the large increase in the commissions of brokerage houses and the raising of rates 150 per cent, and if any one agrees with the brokers that this large increase is warranted under the prosperous conditions they are enjoying at the present time. If most transactions in stocks were unprofitable at the old rate, they either would have become bankrupt in half the time or else under the new rate they will become millionaires in less time.

A SMALL INVESTOR.

READY FOR A PENSION.

Chicago, March 15.—One of the most disgraceful sights I have ever witnessed was called to my attention today. Going north on Dearborn street at Monroe two U. S. mail wagon No. 19 drawn by a poor, little, willing lame horse. The post office department should apologize to the community. With all of our wealth it is a shame that a poor sick horse cannot have sufficient leave of absence and medical attention to enable it to recover instead of being compelled to limp painfully through the rain over slippery pavements. HARVEY M. BROWN.

TWO TONGUES FOR AMERICANS.

Chicago, March 13.—In Europe it is customary for most people to speak two languages, their own and that of a neighboring country. In the United States the great masses of the people know only English. Mexico is our next door neighbor, and we treat her as distantly as we do Russia or Japan. We do not learn to know her people and customs by learning the Spanish language. Incidentally, the numerous revolutions in Mexico could be put to an end by the friendly assistance of the American people. RALPH M. PEARL.

REBELS AT STUDENT GOVERNMENT.

Chicago, March 15.—The student council of Austin High school has taken it upon itself to enforce a no smoking law even in one block of the school, thereby depriving the students of one of their rights. This is a great handicap to the students who get a little enjoyment from the smoking. It does not keep the students from smoking, as they go out to the boundaries to smoke. A STUDENT.

LAWYERS OFFER HELP TO DEFEAT JONES DRY LAW

Volunteers Are Leaders Over Country.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—A country-wide, effective method of fighting the principle of prohibition has been born in New York City. Less than ten days old, the personal liberty comittee has grown into a giant killer ready today to joust on a dozen fields with the Jones law ogre as the wets and the drys of the nation are busy mobilizing for the biggest battle since Mr. Volstead's Gargantuan brain child ten years ago leaped full grown from the halls of congress.

A little group of New York lawyers big enough to look past their bank accounts saw red at the thought that, by consuming a drink of liquor, they might be contributing to sending a morally innocent man to jail for five years and pledged themselves to do a bit of dental extraction, free of charge, on the Jones law teeth.

The idea sped over the country like a radio S O S and representative lawyers from Boston, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, and other large cities volunteered their aid in getting their own bar associations to join in the movement.

Join Against Unwelcome Law.

Now, at the close of the first decade of theoretical prohibition, with Commissioner James M. Doran getting ready to spend an extra $3,000,000 and intensive anti-liquor crusades under way in many of the larger cities, the lawyers of the nation are banding together to fight the drastic provisions of an unwelcome law.

Only in the hamlets and smaller communities where it involves social and financial suicide to tilt openly with the prohibition myth are lawyers reluctant to offer their aid.

This is the way it happened. Frederick B. Coudert Jr. and Frederick C. Bellinger, both former assistant United States attorneys here, communicated with a group of their associates, and, like Topsy, a nation-wide personal liberty committee of lawyers just grew and grew.

Rush to Offer Support.

Today these young founders were bewildered by the response their idea brought. Five former federal attorneys here joined them and hundreds of lawyers throughout the country offered their support. Courtland Nicoll; known as a liberal when he was a state senator, and a score of other prominent New York attorneys helped to speed the idea of free legal service to deserving defendants along.

"When they raised the sale of a glass of beer to the dignity of a felony," said Mr. Coudert, "we felt a committee of better known lawyers should consider real aid in preserving civil liberties. Even carrying a glass of beer comes under the same penalty as manslaughter. We thought it wise to assist those who have done nothing condemned by civilized society, and who might be subject to severe punishment.

"A Purely Sectional Law."

"In forming our organization we had in mind the work of the younger members of the New York bar in 1850 after the passage of the fugitive slave law and the Dred Scot decision. That, too, was a purely sectional law, and efforts to enforce it in the north led to widespread opposition. We are following in the footsteps of the lawyers of that time for then, only a few blocks away from this office, they banded together to offer their services to persons prosecuted for aiding the slaves in their escape and the movement spread to all anti-slave sections.

"There is no doubt in our minds that drastic efforts by the government to enforce an unpopular and unjust law is the poorest means of gaining general adherence to it. Apart from the law, the sale of intoxicants is not wrong. While it may be illegal it can not be made wrong by any statute."

Oak Park Conservatory Displays Spring Flowers

Oak Park's conservatory at Garfield street and East avenue, which is being operated by the parks system of the village, was thrown open to the public last night with an exhibition of spring flowers. The conservatory, which was completed recently at a cost of $35,000, has 10 rooms, which includes two show houses and a permanent palm house, with an electrically operated waterfall 10 feet high.

Fireman Killed, Engineer Hurt as Engine Overturns

Orville E. Reed, 28 years old, 7405 Drexel avenue, fireman, was killed and F. W. Keiser, 7814 Kimbark avenue, engineer, was seriously injured last night when the switch engine they were riding overturned after it was derailed in the Illinois Central railroad yards at 87th street. ## JURIST DIES

JUSTICE AAD J. VINJE.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—[Special.]—Chief Justice Aad J. Vinje of the Wisconsin Supreme court died at his home here today after an illness of nearly a year. Justice Vinje was 72 years old. He had served on the Supreme bench 18 years.

Two years ago Judge Vinje, while on a visit to his old home in Norway, was stricken with influenza. He returned to Wisconsin and gradually regained his health so that he was able to resume his duties on the bench, but last spring he was forced to take a vacation and since had been unable to resume his official duties.

Justice M. B. Rosenberry automatically becomes chief justice of the state high court. The appointment of another justice is in the hands of Gov. Walter J. Kohler.

Justice Vinje was appointed associate justice in 1910.

YOUTHS ADMIT HOLDUPS; WOMAN IDENTIFIES ONE

Three youths held at the Shakespeare avenue police station confessed yesterday to fifteen robberies. They are Stanley Osogowics, 20 years old, 2651 Monticello avenue; Alex. Kwasek, 17 years old, 2712 North Central Park avenue, and Stanley Szafraniecz, 18 years old, 3604 North Central Park avenue.

Mrs. Ethel Frogner, 5536 Barry avenue, identified Szafraniecz as the man who dragged her into a passageway between buildings at 3128 and 3120 North Luna avenue on March 19 and beat her with a revolver before attacking her. Miss Hildur Ogren, 19 years old, 4846 Wrightwood avenue, also was beaten by him last Thursday night, she said, when he dragged her into an alley. She saved herself by screaming.

The three were captured Friday morning by Sergt. Joseph McDowell and his detective bureau squad after they had robbed Louis Sanders, 2943 North Artesian avenue, a cab driver.

Paid Husband's Way at Harvard, Yale; Gets Divorce

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—[U. P.]—Mrs. Irene C. Blades Hickman, a high school teacher in McLeansboro, Ill., was granted a divorce in Circuit court here today from Lucien G. Hickman, on her testimony that she paid his way through Harvard and Yale, where he allegedly failed, "and all he learned was egotism." Hickman, who did not contest the suit formerly was professor of English at Bethany college, Bethany, W. V., his wife said.

NINE MILLION ITALIANS VOTE ON DUCE TODAY

Fascists Close Campaign with Fiery Oratory.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 23.—Facing as much of the Roman populace as could be packed around the Marcus Aurelius column in the Piazza Colonna, Secretary Augusto Turati, secretary of the Fascist party, ended the week's one sided electoral campaign tonight with an hour's impassioned plea for the unqualified endorsement of Premier Mussolini's work during the past five years.

Tomorrow 9,000,000 Italians will give their answer when they vote "yes" or "no" on the Duce's hand picked and unopposed 400 candidates for the chamber of deputies. The Fascists can't lose, but the result of the vote may be interpreted as one of confidence or lack of confidence in the premier.

Voting Starts at 7 a. m.

Fascist emblems draped the buildings in all the towns in Italy today. The tri-colored pennants streamed from the trolley cars and street cars, while hundreds of automobiles had signs reading "Si," meaning yes, plastered over their windshields as propaganda for votes of approval of Mussolini's list. There were no speeches, no propaganda, and no representation from the opposite side.

The voting begins at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning, lasting until 7 in the evening, and all votes will be brought to Rome for counting. The result will not be known until Wednesday or Thursday.

Airplanes Fly Over Rome.

Preceding tonight's massmeeting scores of airplanes began humming in the sky over Rome. At 6 o'clock the capital bell, which is only rung at times of national gravity, tolled for half an hour. Then, as the black shirted delegations wearing decorations began gathering, Secretary Turati commenced his speech. Tonight's events also marked the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the foundation by Mussolini in Milan of the Fascist organization.

Louis Legner, Chief Clerk of Marriage Bureau, Dies

Funeral services for Louis C. Legner, for eighteen years chief clerk of the marriage license bureau, were held at his home, 5209 North Glenwood avenue, yesterday afternoon. Interment was in Waldheim cemetery. Mr. Legner, who was 60 years old, was appointed to his position in 1911 by County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer. He remained at his post until several days before his death on Friday, although he had been ill for six months. He is survived by his wife, Matilda, and two sons.

Ice Floe Carries Man Out Into Lake; Rescued

Charlevoix, Mich., March 23.—(AP)—Leroy Sendenberg, Beaver island mail carrier, missing since he started yesterday with a horse and two sleds of mail for the island from Cross village on the mainland, was located today on Garden island, several miles north of Beaver island, in Lake Michigan. He had drifted north on a large ice floe. He was suffering from exposure and from the effects of several plunges into the water during an all night wait in the open for relief.

Moves $25,000 Jewelry; Then Burglars Raid Flat

The apartment of Oliver E. McCormick, treasurer of the Middle West Utilities company, 168 East Pearson street, was found to have been burglarized when Mr. McCormick returned home last night. A checkup disclosed that a fur coat and four suits of clothing had been taken. McCormick told the police that several days ago he had removed jewelry valued at $25,000 to a vault in a bank.

AMUNDSEN LECTURE SLIDES ARE FOUND IN HOTEL WHERE HE LIVED

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Lantern slides for a series of lectures which the late Capt. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole, canceled when he abruptly sailed for Norway on Oct. 25, 1927, were found today during an inventory of salable objects in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, which soon is to be wrecked.

The slides were turned over to the American Museum of Natural History, where Lincoln Ellsworth, Amundsen's companion in the flight across the north pole, will supply them with captions.

A week after his arrival here a year ago last October the explorer hurriedly sailed for Europe. A series of lectures he was to have given were canceled.

Later, from Oslo, came a story that he canceled his trip because his manager owed him $10,000, a story which was denied by his manager.

The controversy ended last summer when Amundsen went out to search for Gen. Nobile after the Italia disaster and never came back.

$20,000,000 ASKED FOR EX-SERVICE MEN'S HOSPITALS

Appropriation of $20,000,000 for the building within the next two years of institutions for the housing and treatment of Illinois' incapacitated, indigent and insane ex-service men was unanimously urged yesterday in a resolution adopted at a conference of representatives of more than fifteen ex-service men's organizations, who met with Rodney Brandon, director of the state's department of public welfare.

The American Legion proposal that $175,000 be appropriated for the enlargement of the Elgin and Jacksonville state hospitals was approved at the conference. Probate Judge Henry Horner then outlined a plan calling for the passing of a $40,000,000 bond issue for building of state hospitals. He suggested the immediate appropriation of $20,000,000 for beginning the work. This suggestion was embodied in the resolution.

TAMMANY OLD GUARD REVOLT CRUSHED BY AL

Smith Tames Tiger That Made Him Famous.

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Tammany is standing today, hat in hand, chastened and subdued, waiting for orders from Al Smith. The tiger has again sulked and refused to obey any one but its old master. There is actually such a thing in New York as a new Tammany.

The old guard of Tammany has strutted for ten days, blatantly boasting that it was going to show Al Smith that he was through; closing in its ranks against outsiders, and insisting that only one of its own number could be chief; declaring openly that it was going to run this town as it chose, and preferably in the old fashioned Tammany way.

The old liners went into their meeting yesterday with the votes and power to make good their boast. Their nerve failed. When the moment came for action, terror seized them. What might Al Smith do? The shadow of the figure which has dominated Tammany for a dozen years cast a gloom over the insurgents. Their courage suddenly wilted.

The spirit of the new Tammany was stronger than the old and the standpatters had to bow to it. The reason their nerve failed was because they knew they could never carry through without jobs. Tammany's foundation rests on jobs.

And so they adopted a resolution naming a committee to wait on Senator Robert F. Wagner, Mayor James J. Walker, Surrogate James A. Foley, and former Gov. Smith to get their advice on the selection of a new leader. The result will be announced at the next meeting.

BARNEY GROGAN, ONCE POLITICAL BOSS, IS BURIED

BY-ELECTIONS PUT BRITISH TORIES IN SAD PLIGHT

See Country Weary of Conservative Rule.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 23.—The miniature general election, caused by a series of deaths among members of parliament, now finished, and by an agreement among the party leaders future vacancies will be left unfilled until the general election fixed for May 30, Five elections held this week, may be taken as indicative of what may happen in the general elections. They are especially significant because they covered all parts of Britain and the constituencies differed widely in character.

The deduction that has been drawn by experienced political observers is that the country is weary of the present Tory government and that nothing but a miracle can save it from overwhelming defeat at the coming election.

In two of the by-elections the Tories held two seats. One of these was in a wealthy suburb of Liverpool which has always been conservative. Henry Hilton, son of Lord Melchett, and an extremely strong candidate, was elected, but his vote fell to 7,000 majority compared to a 16,000 majority at the last general election, while the Laborites increased their vote.

Get Jolt at Bath.

The other Tory victory was obtained yesterday in Bath, the famous district which is inhabited chiefly by retired admirals and admirals and persons of like social positions. If the Tories aren't safe in Bath they are not safe anywhere, but their majority fell from 7,000 in the last general election to 1,400 in yesterday's contest.

The other three elections were overwhelming defeats for the Tories. In Stockport, Jenny Lee, 24 year old miner's daughter, and a Laborite, won the seat which always has been Conservative, from Lord Scone, a member of one of the proudest Scottish houses. In Cheshire and Lincolnshire the Liberals turned out the Tories in the two farming districts by large majorities in spite of the fact that the Tories always claimed the impregnable agricultural districts.

An intriguing feature and a new situation has come back to the Liberals. A few weeks ago none expected they would do more than slightly increase their representation in the next parliament. Then came the smashing attack by former Premier Lloyd George, who plunged into the fray with all his old energy.

He has brought out a scheme by which he declares he will abolish unemployment within two years and he has made an appeal to the farmers with his land scheme. He has apparently made little impression in the industrial districts, where the Labor party is still gaining ground, but has evidently made a deep impression on the farmers, who are turning to the Liberals in large numbers.

Labor Hopes for Majority.

None as yet expect that the Liberals can win or even be second party, but their stock is rising rapidly. The stock exchange betting now gives them about 90 seats in the new parliament while it is crediting the Labor party with 285 and the Tories with 266 seats. The Laborites, however, are now hoping for a full majority of about 40 seats, which means that they will have to win about 320 seats.

Since the present government came into power in 1924 it has been steadily losing ground. At that time party seats were distributed as follows: Tories 415; Labor 151; Liberals 44; and Independents 5. Since then there have been sixty-three by-elections and the seats are divided as follows: Tories 266; Labor 162; Liberals 46; and Independents 7.

DRESSMAKER DIES SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Mada Schweiger, 60 years old, 8250 Ellis street, Winnetka, a dressmaker died yesterday of heart disease, while at work in the Alamo Dress Shop, 568 Lincoln ave., Winnetka.

ASHES OF M. E. STONE PLACED IN CATHEDRAL IN CAPITAL OF NATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Impressive services attended by President and Mrs. Hoover, Vice President Curtis, members of the cabinet, justices of the United States Supreme court, and ambassadors, ministers or other representatives of nearly a score of foreign nations marked the interment of the ashes of the late Melville E. Stone, former general manager and co-founder of the Associated Press, in the Bethlehem chapel of the Washington cathedral here today.

The actual committal of the urn in the crypt of the chapel near the tombs of Woodrow Wilson, Admiral George Dewey, and Herman H. Kohlsaat, another Chicago journalist, was attended only by members of the family, immediate associates of Mr. Stone, and the officiating clergy. Miss Elizabeth Stone, a daughter, with two grandchildren and a niece, brought the ashes from New York, where Mr. Stone died on Feb. 15.

As the catafalque, draped in gold fringed damask and containing the urn was advanced toward the altar, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, bishop of Washington, recited the Episcopal burial service.

ALCOHOL USERS PROTEST SHIFT OF THE CONTROL

Washington, D. .C., March 23.—[Special.]—Manufacturers and legitimate users of industrial alcohol are planning to oppose President Hoover's proposal to transfer responsibility for Volstead enforcement from the treasury department to the department of justice. Announcement of these plans by James P. McGovern, counsel for many large alcohol manufacturers, as well as for a number of national chemical, scientific and trade organizations in a speech at Mobile, Ala., today aroused considerable interest here.

In his speech before the annual convention of the federal and state law enforcement league, McGovern, according to reports received here, declared that if more effective enforcement of Volsteadism is possible, it can be secured without coordinating the enforcement activities of the various agencies involved under an executive assistant to the President.

McGovern asserted it is unfair to expect "honorable business men" to consult about chemical formulas or the proper methods of making soap, varnish or pharmaceuticals with agents of a department organized "not to supervise business but to prosecute criminals."

LITZINGER TRIAL PERJURY QUIZ IS OPENED BY COURT

Judge to Make Own Inquiry of Witnesses.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Walter Farris, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Stanley Winkowski and John Bogalski, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory; Stanley Samborski, Szymund Pulliorah, and Henry Streski, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Angelo Petitti and Andrew Cappellano, kidnaping, sentenced to 25 years each in the penitentiary; Peter Vatcero, rape, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Robert E. Gantzel.

Tony Smith, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge G. Fred Rush.

Judge John P. McGoorty, veteran of the bench, does not intend to allow the acquittal of Virgil Litzinger, notorious police character and alleged mail robber, to go unchallenged, he announced yesterday when he called Deputy Commissioner John Stege to his courtroom and directed that an investigation be made of the defense witnesses and a report be made to him for possible action.

Immediately after the verdict was returned Friday evening the judge directed that the office of State's Attorney John A. Swanson conduct an investigation into charges that three defense witnesses might have committed perjury to win the acquittal of Litzinger by testifying that a mysterious stranger had shot and killed Clarence Glynn in a soft drink parlor three years ago.

May Charge Conspiracy.

Possibility of a prosecution for conspiracy to defeat or obstruct justice was forecast by the steps taken by the judge to conduct his own investigation. State's Attorney Swanson refused yesterday to comment on the acquittal of Litzinger or what steps he would take to carry out the direction of the judge.

In addition to the police inquiry it was reported that the judge has ordered a corps of private investigators to get busy.

While the jury was making plans for his inquiry United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson was preparing to try Litzinger, who was a fugitive for three years, for participation in the Evergreen Park mail robbery of February, 1928. First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who formerly was first assistant to the government prosecutor, is expected to return as a special prosecuter for the government to try the mail robbery case. Litzinger is held under $100,000 bond for this crime.

Claims Witnesses Not Present.

"Commissioner, you testified that the names of these three defense witnesses were not given to you by any one at the time this murder was committed," said Judge McGoorty to Stege. "I haven't any doubt that these three men committed perjury. Their stories were improbable and I would like to have it understood that perjury cannot be committed with immunity in this court.

"It should not be difficult to establish the fact that these men perjured themselves."

"The defense witnesses were not at the saloon when this shooting took place," said Stege.

"I am satisfied that they were not there," replied the judge. "I urge upon you to make extraordinary efforts to bring these men or any one else guilty of a conspiracy to obstruct the orderly course of justice before the bar of this court with competent evidence and they shall be dealt with accordingly."

The defense witnesses were Alfred Boyts, 3809 West 38th street; Homer Provencal, who lives at a fire station, and Edward McDonough, 6306 Artesian avenue. Boyts was found to be working at the Edward R. Litzinger Motor company, as was the missing widow of Glynn. They all said they first told their stories to Fred Litzinger, brother of the defendant, and secretary of the motor company.

HOWARD KAPLAN.

Louis Dolinsky, 17 years old, 2607 Potomac avenue, who accidentally shot and killed another youth during an initiation meeting of a neighborhood club Friday night, was exonerated by a corner's jury yesterday which returned a verdict of accidental death. The victim was Howard Kaplan, 19 years old, 2447 North Haddon street. He was fatally shot when Dolinsky jestingly displayed a revolver and Kaplan made a lunge for it.

FERGUS LOSES ANOTHER ROUND IN REMAP FIGHT

John B. Fergus, veteran battler for reapportionment, lost his latest fight for a just representation in the state legislature for Cook county when Circuit Judge Victor P. Arnold yesterday ruled against his quo warranto proceedings to unseat legislators who have refused to vote for reapportionment. Undaunted by the decision, Mr. Fergus announced through his attorney, Ray E. Lane, that he will appeal to the state Supreme court.

The quo warranto proceedings, filed last January, challenged the right of legislators to hold office because of their failure to reapportion the state. Mr. Fergus asked that the assemblymen be ousted on the ground that they were not elected from legal districts.

"Regardless of how the court feels in the matter, recognizing that we are sitting in Cook county and desire reapportionment, I cannot take that attitude into consideration," Judge Arnold said in his decision. "The court is bound by the weight of authority and by the Supreme court.

"The Supreme court has directed the decision of this court, and I follow this direction as I see it. Much as I would like to have reapportionment in the state, I sustain the demurrers and allow the motion to quash."

CAROL AND MARIE DENY THAT THEY WERE ENEMIES

DINARD, France, March 23.—[U.P.]—Queen Marie of Roumania and her son, Prince Carol, today ridiculed reports that they effected a reconciliation at a dinner given at the seashore palace of the queen's sister, the Grand Duchess Cyril. They explained that reconciliations were unnecessary.

"The grand reconciliation occurred three years ago in Paris," a spokesman for the queen said. "The reason for yesterday's dinner was the same as that for last Sunday's luncheon—merely a mother dining with a son whom she always loved."

Engagement Report Surprises Spain.

MADRID, March 23.—[U. P.]—A Bucharest report that Princess Ileana, daughter of Queen Marie of Roumania, soon will become engaged to the prince of Asturias, heir apparent to the Spanish throne, was a complete surprise here. The health of the 21-year-old crown prince remains so precarious that it was believed the engagement was most improbable.

KILLED BY FALLING BEAM.

Samuel Jensen, 50 years old, 4047 Schubert avenue, was killed when he was struck by an iron beam which fell on him while he was at work in a building at Devon and Oakley avenues yesterday.

NEW CIVIL WAR OPENS IN CHINA; 200 WOUNDED

Nationalists Ask U. S. to Lift Arms Embargo.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

SHANGHAI, March 23.—Officials of the Chinese Nationalist government announced today that both the American and the British governments have been unofficially approached regarding the lifting of the arms embargo toward China in order to enable the Nationalists to obtain arms and supplies in event of a definite outbreak of war between the Nationalist government and the Wuhan faction, which refuses to acknowledge the right of the Nanking government to dominate the affairs of the provinces. The Wuhan faction is led by Gen. Hwang Shao-sjung, governor of Kwangsi province.

Owing to a strict censorship, no definite information pertaining to the war situation is available, but 200 wounded troops arrived here today by train for hospital treatment. The railway officials state that the wounded were entrained at the town of Chinkang, near Kanking, leading to the belief that actual fighting is already in progress along the Honan and Kiangsi and the Hupeh and Anhwei borders.

Officials Deny Battle.

The officials here, including Dr. C. T. Wang, foreign minister, have denied that actual fighting has taken place but state that a definite declaration of war against the Wuhan group is certain unless the orders of the government are respected and the rebellious commanders immediately withdraw to their original stations.

The third national Kuomintang congress today gave the government full power to deal with the situation, at the same time passing a resolution to uphold Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, generalissimo of the Nationalist armies. This resolution was signed by more than 200 delegates.

Coolies Dig Trenches.

The Chinese papers received reports from Hankow today that the Wuhan generals have asked the Hankow chamber of commerce to lend them $5,000,000 to cover their war expenses, and also that coolie labor has been impressed for the purpose of digging trenches around the Wuhan cities.

A spokesman for Marshal Chiang Kai-shek today expressed hope for a peaceful settlement, but declared that the orders of the government must be respected. Otherwise, he said, a punitive expedition was certain.

A representative of the Christian general, Fen Yu-hsiang, whose allegiance for some time has been uncertain, reiterates his previous declaration to support the central government.

Republican Leader Assassinated.

PEKING, March 23.—(AP)—Chi Kung-Huan, provincial government councilor in Peking and long a prominent figure in the republican movement in China, was assassinated in front of his home tonight after alighting from a ricksha.

Peking was deeply stirred by the affair because of the strained political conditions along the Yangste. The political significance of the shooting was felt to lie in the fact that Chi Kung-Huan was long a devoted friend of the late Sun Yat-sen, leader of the republican movement.

No Word from Missionaries.

Philadelphia, March 23.—(AP)—No direct word has been received at St. Vincent's seminary regarding the situation of the missionaries sent from here to Kiangsi province, where communists are reported to have burned all missions, forcing the missionaries to flee to the hills.

The Catholic mission there is in charge of Bishop O'Shea, American superior and coadjutor to Bishop Dumond, who is a French Vincentian. Those who were sent from here included thirteen priests and nine nuns.

Field Museum Picks Nassau as Undersea Photo Base

NASSAU, Bahamas, March 23.—(AP)—Establishment of Nassau as the base for an undersea photographic expedition to the Bahamas for the Field museum of Chicago, was started here today with the arrival of J. E. Williamson, in charge of the expedition. Williamson plans to take a group of pictures of undersea life in color and collect native tropical fish and marine life.

BRITAIN ADDS 5 GIANT PLANES TO INDIA AIR ROUTE

Trip Cut from 3 Weeks to 7 Days.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 23.—Five of the largest and most luxurious air liners will be added to the fleet of the Imperial Airways shortly for the service to India, which starts next week.

Three Armstrong Whitworth Argosys, each seating 25 passengers, one short Jupiter Calcutta flying boat accommodating 18 passengers and the DeHaviland Jupiter Hercules, will be added to the twelve other planes in the Indian service. One group will cover the London to Basle section, another the Mediterranean section and the third the Cairo to Karachi section.

The entire air trip will take seven days. A minimum of three weeks is required by the present methods of transportation. Each day's air journey will begin at dawn, but when experience shows the exact time required for each stage, it is expected that the starting time will be advanced to 9:30 a. m.

Italy Expands Air Network.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 23.—Italy's network of air lines, making a web over the Mediterranean and Europe from the African coast to the big cities of the north, has been extended to 10,000 miles through the Franco-Italian civil aviation treaty, according to an announcement by Signor Balbo, undersecretary of Italian aviation. The treaty increases the Italian air lines by 4,000 miles, and makes the Italian lines nearly equal to the German. The Germans have 15,000 miles of air lines.

Through the pact, new lines are to be established between Rome and Tunis, Cagliari and Tunis, and Palermo and Tunis. These were the only missing links in the complete net of the Mediterranean air communications from Rome. Lines already exist between Rome, Barcelona, Constantinople, Alexandria, Brindisi and Tirana.

Marseilles as Landing Base.

The new air pact also enables Italy to extend her air lines northward, Signor Balbo explained, which she has desired to do for a long time.

Now, according to the treaty, Italy will be permitted by the French to use Marseilles as a landing base, and thus include Paris in the already existing Rome to Barcelona line. Connecting lines also will be established to Milan, Genoa, Turin, and other northern Italian cities. Later, when the big Milan airport is finished, allowing also Trieste, Venice and Turin air liners to land in Milan, there will be established a direct line between Paris and Venice.

On the other side of the bargain, Italy has granted to France the right to use Naples and Castelrotto, in the Aegean sea, as landing bases for the French air liners to Syria. Such direct lines to Syria were impracticable without the Italian landing base.

Pilot and Passenger Escape Death in Plane Smashup

SPRING MUST BE HERE; THE CIRCUS OPENS SATURDAY

While billposters are engaged in placing highly colored lithographs on the walls, sheds, barns, and store windows of Chicago depicting the wonders of the Sells-Floto circus, four hundred men are busy at the winter quarters at Peru, Ind., putting the finishing touches to the many cages and wagons, and preparing for the removal of the big show from its off-season home to the Chicago Coliseum.

The circus train will be loaded and ready to leave Peru on Monday night for Chicago, and it will be the first move of the two hundred runs that will be made during the season. The highly educated elephants, the blue-blooded horses, and all other members of the animal family are ready for the trip to Chicago and await only the cue from their trainers to enter into their first act of the year.

Early Tuesday morning the trains will arrive in the Chicago yards of the New York Central railroad. Less than two hours will be required to detrain and possession will be taken of the Coliseum, where the big circus will open its season next Saturday. The final performances are scheduled for Sunday, April 28.

Sells-Floto will have a number of new features this year. Cliff Aeros, the human cannonball, who is shot from a cannon, and the Neiss troupe of high wire artists are direct importations from Europe. Poodles Hanneford, the original riding clown; the Clarkonians, Miss Mabel Stark, the tiger woman, Jules Jacot and his fighting lions, the Flying Thrillers and Miss Mabel Pelke, aerial gymnast are a few of the outstanding performers.

BOY FALLS IN RIVER; DROWNED.

Beardstown, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Lewis Simpson Jr., 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Simpson Sr., fell off a concrete seawall into the river while playing here this afternoon and was drowned. The body has not been found.

FORBIDS DIVORCEE TO REWED IN FIFTY YEARS, AND IT'S O. K. WITH HER

Richmond, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Dora McLain, petitioning for divorce, is so sure she does not wish to be married again that she expressed herself today in no uncertain words to that effect before Judge G. H. Hoelscher.

"Do you intend to marry again?" asked the court.

"I should say not," the plaintiff said.

"I will have to make an order forbidding you to marry again within the next two years," the judge reminded her.

"It'll be all right with me if you make it fifty," she replied.

"All right, I will," said the judge, and so the decree in the record reads.

Jail Millionaire's Son for Wild Drive Through Town

Omaha, Neb., March 23.—(AP)—William W. Hoaglund Jr., 22, son of a millionaire Omaha lumberman, was sentenced to 15 days in jail today after police officials told of his alleged wild drive through town at 75 miles an hour about 2 a. m. today. The charge against Hoaglund was driving an automobile while drunk.

Many Bitten by Dog; Ask Battle on Rabies

Prussia Warns Agitators for New Government

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 23.—Secret political associations, radicals, all hues of the Fascisti, communists, Hitlerites, and sundry others have been agitating with such vehemence for the overthrow of the present government that Prussia's minister of the interior issued a decree today warning all intriguers, inciters of riots and plotters. It says the police are not being fooled and are in readiness to curb riots and uprisings wherever they start.

COUNTY VOTERS TO O. K. AIRPORTS UNDER NEW PLAN

Boutell Will Recommend Public Referendums.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

A plan to enable the public to decide where the proposed Cook county airports shall be located will be laid before the county commissioners and their aviation advisers next week by Commissioner Frank L. Boutell, it was announced yesterday. Mr. Boutell will recommend that the construction and maintenance of airports, as they are needed, be submitted to the public in referendum, should the county aviation bill pass both houses at Springfield.

The bill, sponsored by Commissioner Boutell, has been reported favorably by the committee on municipalities in the senate. It asks power for the county to acquire and maintain landing fields at various outlying points, notably at Maywood, where the commissioners consider taking over the old mail flying field.

Denies Boost in Taxes.

Commissioner Boutell denied that the provisions of the bill would increase taxes.

As the need for additional aircraft fields arises, he pointed out, "the voters of the county could accept or reject them. The county commissioners at no time contemplated 66 airports and landing fields, as has been reported. We have only considered at most half a dozen to begin with. There will be little or no expense because of the plan to charge those who use the airports a certain fee, making them self-supporting."

Fields to Be Appraised.

The commissioner stated that the Chicago and Cook county real estate boards will be asked to appraise any fields considered desirable for airports.

"If Cook county is to keep pace with the times," he said, "we must anticipate the air facilities which will be needed in the future. As it is, the city is way behind. Our one public airport is dangerously congested with airplane traffic."

U. S. BARGE LINE SUED FOR TEN MILLIONS BY EDWARD F. GOLTRA

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—(U.P.)—The Inland Waterways corporation, government owned barge line, was sued in federal court here today for $10,212,300 by Edward F. Goltra, former lessee of barges and towboats on the Mississippi.

Goltra, one time Democratic national committeeman from Missouri, charged breach of contract on the part of the government in seizing the leased craft.

MILLNER ASKED TO EXPLAIN HIS LETTERHEADS

State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday called Attorney Leroy Millner to his office to demand an explanation as to why he was using a letterhead bearing the designation of assistant state's attorney to send out mail in a political campaign. Attorney Millner, formerly a prosecutor and a committeeman in the Crowe-Thompson political machine, sent out letters in behalf of Murray S. Hogan and Walter H. Hinch, candidates for Portage Park commissioners. Millner resigned from the prosecutor's staff last December, immediately after the election of Mr. Swanson. Last week Mayor Thompson appointed Mr. Millner to the city zoning board.

Fog, Not Flame, Cause of Flyer's Leap, Officials Say

Fog and not fire caused Pilot Paul Kanuit to leap from his mail plane near Moline on Friday, it was stated by National Air Transport officials who investigated the matter yesterday. The plane, they said, caught fire after it crashed to the ground when the pilot, lost in a dense fog, jumped from his ship in a parachute.

Here is a frank discussion of motor car values that will help you decide on your new car this spring

We don't need to tell you that there are, when all is said and done, only two kinds of cars. There are the general run of cars and there are the really fine cars, of which Franklin is one. You know it instinctively.

Now the chances are, that you are planning to turn in your present car against a new one within the next few weeks. Most probably you plan to get something a little higher up the scale—a car with more performance, more size, more looks.

Of course, you would like to graduate into fine car ownership—all motorists would. You have surely wished for the advantages of air-cooling and the different performance it results in.

Now—consider this:—

The new Franklin Expansion Program has made it possible for you to become a fine-car owner for just what you are most likely going to spend—or anyway, for so little extra per month that you wouldn't let it stand in your way if you knew. Model 130—$600 less than any previous Franklin of corresponding size and power, is priced at only $2180. Taking into consideration the turn-in value of your present car and the spread of payments that can be arranged, you will realize how easy its purchase is.

With air-cooling endorsed by aviation, motorists everywhere are becoming more interested than ever in the Franklin engine. Cannon Ball Baker's recent performances—breaking the outstanding American road records in a Franklin, are conclusive demonstration of its power, speed, control, riding qualities, road-holding and reliability.

The Franklin defeats the supposed rule that the finer a car is, the more it costs to run. Any Franklin owner will tell you that the performance of the marvelous pressure-air-cooled engine, traditional Franklin engineering skill in design, and almost unbelievable quality in manufacture and materials, result in operating costs lower, if anything, than those of cars in your present price class.

This year, Franklin engineers have produced a car with a driving "feel" which aviators tell us is approached only by the feel of piloting a powerful plane.

Decide for yourself!

Drop in today, or as soon as you can and see this new Franklin. Satisfy yourself that nothing in America approaches it for smartness of line. Drive it and check on that almost uncanny "airplane feel." Then let us estimate on your present car and arrange a spread of payments to suit you.

The Model One-Thirty
A spacious car of traditional Franklin quality; powered by a high compression, six-cylinder (3¼"x4½") air-cooled motor. Sedan price—$2180 F. O. B. Factory.

CHICAGO GROUP TO BATTLE FOR NEW ALIEN ACT

Ready to Oppose Repeal Move in Congress.

Defenders of the national origins quota immigration law, which becomes effective on July 1, are ready for a fight if efforts to repeal it are made in the special session of congress, it was announced yesterday through officials of the Immigration Restriction association. This association has headquarters in Chicago, with the following officers: A. N. Marquis, editor of Who's Who in America, as president; Frank H. Scott, a lawyer, vice president; Charles S. Lewis, an advertising man, secretary; and Edward K. Welles, a banker, treasurer.

The association's letterhead proclaims it an organization for the defense and extension of the principles of the 1924 immigration act. In addition to the officers named, the following are members of the executive committee: John R. Montgomery, R. E. Wood, A. A. Sprague, J. M. Dickinson Jr., D. L. Shillinglaw, H. A. Jung, Edward R. Lewis and F. R. Dickinson.

Two Leaders Make Statement.

Following President Hoover's criticism last Friday of the law which curtails German, Irish and Scandinavian immigration while increasing that of the British, Mr. Lewis, an attorney, issued a statement in collaboration with Mr. Jung, who describes himself as a descendant of a German immigrant of 1848. The statement said:

"National origins is the only fair, all-American basis for apportioning immigration quotas. The wildest misrepresentations have been made as to what that basis is, and indeed as to every aspect of it. It is said it is based only on the descendants of the 1890 population, whereas the truth is that it merely wants to count those descendants, along with the rest of our population derived from the quota countries.

"In other words, it is based on 89,506,000 people, our total white population in 1920 who came or whose ancestors came from the quota countries. It provides that each quota country can send such proportion of 150,000 yearly immigration as that country has contributed to our population, 89,506,000 in all from the quota countries.

"It gives 81.8 per cent of our immigration to northwest Europe and 15.3 per cent to southeast Europe. It counts everybody in 1920, native and foreign born alike, the descendants of the Mayflower Pilgrims and the latest immigrant in 1920. It is therefore an all-American policy based on all our population.

1890 Basis Is Assailed.

"Opposed to it we have the 1890 foreign born basis, which is based only on the foreign born in 1890, eight million people in all. It says that each country can send 2 per cent of those born in that country counted in our 1890 census. That is certainly not an all-America policy. It counts none of the native stock, and none of the foreign born who came after 1890.

"It is so grossly unfair and discriminatory, so arbitrary in its base that it is clear that it cannot last. If we stick to a foreign born basis, instead of an all-American basis, the newer immigrants are sure to insist that the foreign born basis be brought up to date, to 1920 or 1930, and on that basis the quotas would be even more unfair than under the 1890 basis, since under the 1920 basis southeastern Europe would get 6% per cent of our immigration, although it has contributed only 15.8 per cent of our population.

"If the national origins law is again attacked in congress we feel certain that the American people will learn a little of the inside politics worked in the 1928 campaign against national origins.

Claims U. S. Fighters Ignored.

"The 1890 foreign born basis excludes from the count in determining quotas all the descendants of the Revolutionary forefathers, all the civil war veterans and their descendants, all the Spanish war veterans and their descendants, and all those who served in the world war, save that very small number who were born abroad and came here before 1890.

"A baby born in 1889 and brought to this country is counted, although he may never have become a citizen, but a man who wears the D. S. C. is not counted because he does not belong to that sacred class 'The New Order of Nobility,' the 1890 foreign born.

"That is an unjust and un-American policy and it cannot last."

U. S. COMMISSION WARNS CANADA OF TEETH IN ALIEN LAW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 23.—Parts of the United States immigration laws were quoted in a press announcement here today by H. R. Landis, local United States commissioner, in which he emphasized the difficulties aliens face in attempting to cross into the United States from Canada or, having done so, to remain.

"Any alien who hereafter enters the United States at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officials, or obtains entry into the United States by a wilfully false or misleading representation or the wilful concealment of a material fact, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction, shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year or by a fine of not more than $1,000, or by both such fine and imprisonment."

Another clause provides that conviction will bar the alien from ever entering the United States again, and if he does he will be guilty of a felony. Forty-two new inspectors are being added to the U. S. immigration offices along the eastern Canadian border to enforce the law.

LAWYERS TO MAP FINAL PLANS FOR LEVELS HEARING

Hughes to Open Session Here Tomorrow.

Attorneys who will defend Chicago's right to divert water from Lake Michigan into the Chicago river will meet this morning to make final preparations for the hearing which will open tomorrow before Charles Evans Hughes as special master for the United States Supreme court. Former Justice Hughes will take evidence regarding the time required for the sanitary district to complete its sewage disposal stations before the Supreme court enforces its ruling that water may not be diverted for sanitation purposes.

The attorneys representing Chicago and Illinois will meet in the office of Attorney Edmund D. Adcock and receive the report of the eleven special engineers hired to present data regarding lake levels. Among them will be Walter E. Beebe, attorney for the sanitary district; George F. Barrett, who has handled the litigation for ten years or more; James M. Beck of Philadelphia, former solicitor general for the United States, who is now a congressman, and Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom or his representative.

Six States Oppose Illinois.

Opposing Chicago and Illinois will be the representatives of the six complaining states, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New York, headed by Newton D. Baker of Cleveland, former secretary of war, and Raymond D. Jackson, assistant attorney general of Michigan, and Attorney General Hamilton Ward of New York.

The hearing will be held in the court room of Judge James H. Wilkerson. The Chicago side will present its evidence first. It was understood yesterday they will show that since the first permit for diversion was obtained from the war department there has been a continuous constructive program and disposal plants to care for a population of 1,000,000 are now in operation.

Level Same as 10 Years Ago.

Proof will be introduced to show that, despite the diversion, the lake level this winter was the same as ten years ago. It was explained yesterday that under the recent decision of the Supreme court there is not much latitude given in the matter, the only question involved being that of time.

The Chicago attorneys expect to discuss the financial situation and explain that if the legislature cooperates $27,000,000 will be made available for carrying on Chicago's bargain with the war department. They will endeavor to show, also, it was stated, that the diversion is a vital point in the completion of the deep waterway and that eventually the sewage disposal problem, or at least 90 per cent of it, will be eliminated from consideration.

OPPOSES PLAN TO DELAY CHANGE ON REMAPPING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.] — Reapportionment legislation, according to a statement issued today by Representative C. J. McLeod [Rep., Mich.], should have priority over farm relief and tariff revision in the coming short session of congress.

As long as congress deliberately disobeys the constitutional mandate to redistribute house seats decennially, there is grave possibility, the Michigan member argued, that some citizen or group of citizens may appeal to the United States Supreme court to test "the invalidity of an act of an unconstitutional congress."

"This awakening may begin with the much heralded Jones amendment to the prohibition law, or it may come with a contested tax levy, but it is bound to come," declared Mr. McLeod, who asserted that with more than 33,000,000 citizens denied representation in congress, the executive branch of the government is operating on appropriations voted by an unconstitutional congress, and the President holds office by virtue of election by an unconstitutional electoral college."

China Urged to Levy Tax to Relieve Famine

NANKING, China, March 23.—(AP)—The government's famine relief committee yesterday decided to petition the Nationalist government to levy for one year a 2½ per cent customs surtax, the proceeds to be devoted exclusively to famine relief.

MOTHER OF NINE ENDS LIFE.

Mrs. Francis H. Lemke, 54 years old, 105 South Highland avenue, Arlington Heights, mother of nine children, killed herself yesterday morning by inhaling gas in the kitchen of her home. Despondency over ill health was blamed for her act.

Indiana Ouster Suit Faces Owls' President

South Bend, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—An accounting of funds of the Order of Owls is asked and a restraining order is sought to prevent John Harold Talbot from acting as supreme president in a suit filed here by Ferdinand Desope, an attorney. The suit alleges Talbot has usurped the office by fraudulent elections since 1926.

Illinois Couple Married 63 Years; Celebrate

Spillertown, Ill., March 23.—[U.P.]—Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Atwood celebrated their 63d wedding anniversary at their home near here yesterday.

STATE BUSINESS MEN URGE FIGHT ON PENSION BILL

The legislative policy committee of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce sent out a call to its members throughout the state yesterday to assist in defeating the so-called old age pension bill. The committee charges that the bill would lead on the shoulders of the Illinois taxpayers an increased burden unwarranted by its supposed benefits.

The bill would make mandatory an "outright gift" of $240 to all citizens 70 years old or more who have lived in the state 25 years, if they are unable to work or have an income of less than $300 a year, the committee statement says. Immediate action was urged, inasmuch as the bill has passed the house with a vote of 84 to 50 after having been up for years without success.

Began at Edison's Side 62 Years Ago; to Retire

New York, March 23.—(AP)—After more than 62 years' service with the Western Union Telegraph company, a career that began at a key adjoining that operated by Thomas A. Edison, Robert G. Wilson of Bayonne, N. J., will retire on full pay this week. He is manager of the company's main office at 195 Broadway.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR ABANDONING OLD COUNTY JAIL

Bailiff Killed by Fall During Cleanup.

Plans for abandoning the so-called Temple of Justice building, more familiarly known to the public as the criminal court building, after 60 years of occupancy, were formulated at a meeting of the county commissioners yesterday. The first moving van will probably back up to the old building tomorrow morning to start the task, which will end on April 1 when the courts and prisoners will be housed in the new $7,500,000 building at 26th street and California avenue.

Although the moving days are officially set to start on March 25, the court records will be moved in advance of that day. The vaults are now being emptied and evidence used in cases disposed of long ago is being destroyed by a corps of husky policemen and bailiffs, armed with sledge hammers. All day yesterday the hammers pounded as hundreds of gambling devices, roulette wheels, slot machines, dice tables, etc., were destroyed.

Bailiff Killed by Fall.

Oswald Prosser, 45 years old, one of the assistant bailiffs on the cleanup crew, walked into an elevator shaft in the gloom, plunged three floors to the elevator pit and was killed. The elevator cage, which Prosser evidently believed to be on the third floor level, was stopped a floor above. Prosser's home was at 700 North Christiana avenue.

Among the slot machines, faro tables, roulette wheels, and other evidence, left mouldering for decades in the vaults, was found a half dozen sticks of dynamite, wrapped in a newspaper of thirty years ago. The explosive, crumbling with age and probably harmless, was tossed in the river.

1,300 Prisoners to Move.

The moving of the 1,300 or more prisoners is the task to which particular care is being devoted.

The exact day and time of the moving is being carefully guarded by the authorities so that no attempt at rescue will be made by gangland friends of those waiting trial for murder, robbery, burglary, or rape. The county board yesterday concluded a contract for the hire of large buses to move the prisoners—30 to each load.

All available deputy sheriffs, policemen and members of the militia, if necessary, will be used so that no mishap will occur during the removal of the criminals. Machine gun squads of police will escort every bus over a definite route, with guards placed at intervals.

Secrecy Shrouds Plan.

"I plan to do everything within my power to make the moving of the prisoners as little spectacular as possible," said Sheriff John Traeger, who is charged with the responsibility. "It may be possible for us to perfect the removal and then to announce, without any advance knowledge to the public, that the task has been completed."

The courts will lose only three days as a result of the change in buildings, if plans are carried out according to schedule. Only emergency courts will operate during March 28, 29 and 30. Fourteen vaults loaded with records, exhibits and other data pertaining to the operation of the courts, will have to be moved.

Friends Discredit Report Stewart Will Take Oil Post

E. G. Seubert, president and executive officer of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, declared yesterday that he had no information concerning the future plans of Robert W. Stewart, recently ousted chairman of the board. Reports from New York were that Stewart would accept the presidency of a group of oil companies to be merged into one corporation. Col. Stewart's friends in Chicago declared yesterday that he would not accept such a post, at least for six months or more. They pointed out that most of his wealth is invested still in Standard of Indiana stock, and that if he accepts a position in a competitive oil company, he will forfeit a $40,000 annual pension to which he is entitled.

Branch Manager Wanted

A firm of industrial engineers requires a man in their sales organization having the following qualifications: 32 to 38 years of age, University engineering graduate, production management background, pleasing but forceful personality and appearance, and a proven sales record that will substantiate his ability to close contracts with chief executives for unit sales of $7,000 and upwards. This position offers unlimited opportunities and satisfactory financial arrangements will be made to the individual who qualifies. Our headquarters are in Chicago, with branch offices in a number of principal cities. Our service is an economic necessity to successful business operations and bears the endorsement of many representative concerns. Please submit in your first letter details covering each of the above qualifications and an appointment will be arranged to suit your convenience.

AWAIT FOG LIFT TO SEEK PLANE AND 4 ABOARD

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Airplanes were being made ready tonight for an intensive search as soon as the fog lifts for a plane with four men aboard that left Norfolk for New York and disappeared.

The occupants of the plane were Roy Finucane, wealthy business man of Rochester, N. Y.; Frank Able of Mineola, N. Y.; Pilot Harry Smith of Miami, and Mechanic Robert Boyd of Portland, Me. Finucane and Able were passengers of the flight, which began at Miami Thursday.

At 5:45 a. m. yesterday Smith took off from Norfolk without notifying headquarters of the Curtiss Flying service of his departure. There was a ceiling of 4,000 feet, the air was clear, and a 20 mile tail wind was blowing. The plane, a Sikorski amphibion with two Wasp engines, should have reached Curtiss Field by 9 a. m. yesterday.

85 Williamson County Boys Ask Military Training

Marion, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Although applicants for the 1929 citizen military training camps only have been received since the first of the month, Williamson county already has forwarded to corps headquarters in Chicago blanks for 85 boys who wish to attend. The largest majority of the boys are applying for the first or secpnd year's training at Jefferson barracks, near St. Louis.

300 Acre Urbana Farm Brings $240,000 at Sale

Urbana, Ill., March 23.—[Special.]—Three hundred acres of land adjoining the University of Illinois farm property two miles south of Urbana, brought $800 an acre at a sheriff's sale today. It was bid in by an attorney representing the Lake View State bank of Chicago, holder of a $149,000 judgment against Charles H. Myers and others.

U. S. WILL MOVE TO PADLOCK CLUB AT SPRINGFIELD

Springfield Ill., March 23.—(AP)—United States District Attorney Walter M. Provine today announced he would take steps to close the Mercantile club, raided last week by federal prohibition agents.

"Although no formal report of the raid has been received, I have sufficient information to justify an injunction against the organization," Provine said, "Steps will be taken immediately to close the clubrooms."

Only one arrest, that of John Branch, club steward, has been made although Deputy C. M. Simonson, who made the raid, reported two members of the club dumped liquor from their glasses to the floor when he entered the clubrooms. Branch's hearing has been taken under advisement until March 27.

The club includes in its membership federal, state, county and local officials. It was said that a county official was present at the time of the raid.

DISCONTENT IN SPAIN, BUT NO ONE KNOWS WHY

Difficult to Find the Discontented.

This is the third of a series of articles on the political situation in Spain.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, March 23. — Just what factors have caused the growing discontent with Primo Rivera's dictatorship, it is difficult to determine, and equally as difficult to determine just who are the discontented. Opinion is diverse and chaotic and it has little except rumor to feed on since the censorship cut off the supply of ideas and suppressed the milieu of interest in public affairs. Newspaper circulation has fallen off because of the uniform insanity of the papers, and educated Spaniards buy up the foreign press which is allowed to cross the frontiers in hope of a little intelligence.

Yet, curiously, all admit that the dictatorship has brought prosperity to Spain, leaving it to be assumed that the hankering after a return to constitutionalism is the main bone of discontent.

There are many facts which show the benefits of Primo's régime. The Spanish people are still that curious mixture of sentiment and materialism described by Cervantes; of Don Quixote and Sancha Panza, and, on the whole, ask mostly to be allowed to go 'about their business unmolested.

Always Against Government.

It is perhaps because the dictatorship has hidden its light under a bushel that it is growing unpopular, a Spaniard told me. "Besides," he said, "your Spaniard likes change. It is a feeling of unrest which he has inherited from the hidalgos and conquistadores who sought gold in the New World. In the past the Spaniard has always been against the existing government."

Financial and industrial progress are both marked. Spain gives the impression of wealth. There is work both in the towns and in the country through the fairs, the enormous public works carried out by the dictatorship and because of the high tariff on industrial and agricultural products. No more money is being wasted in Africa. Roads, railways, and public buildings have been constructed. Two big autoroads are planned between Madrid and Valencia and between Madrid and Irun. A bond issue of half a billion pesetas is being floated to finance this and other railroad projects. Foreign capital got a hard jolt in the recent government monopoly of oil and other exploitations but foreign concessions are still granted on condition that the company has sixty per cent Spanish capital.

Industry Burden Lightened.

Better communications is helping to solve the vexing regional problem in Catalonia, Galicia, and the Basque country. The budget was balanced in 1927 for the first time since 1909. Unearned income is taxed now and the burden on industry has been lightened by the elimination of a large mass of indirect taxation. In educational lines, 4,000 new schools have been built, which helps, even though the majority of Spanish children, who get an education at all, acquire it from clericals.

"The director has established a high tariff and government monopolies," a leading Spaniard said. "Living is high because agricultural produce is highly protected. Rising prices will soon cause unrest among the lower classes. For what you could buy a year ago for seven pesetas you now have to pay ten. Yet the tariff on food products cannot be abolished because the big proprietors in whose hands are most of the farm lands would start laying off their men because of slumping profits and unemployment would be augmented. Spain is prosperous, but there are also many poor."

But Primo's ideas in this as in other things are said to be purely eclectic. He is totally unbothered about any kind of philosophy, economic or political. In any given situation of either kind, he works by inspiration and intuition, and his knowledge of the people, knowing well that, unlike Mussolini, he is not dealing with an enthusiastic, excitable, but cooperative race, but with an individualistic, stubborn, indifferent people whose main quality is character and intensity. The dictator knows how to regulate his dose.

The most effective accomplishments under his rule have been under the ministries of public works, finance and labor. The Marques de Guadalhorce heads the public works department. Under him railroads have been improved and an enormous amount of public works and edifices constructed which has given employment to many. Calvo Sotelo, minister of finance has balanced the budget, established a board to control exchange and generally reconstructed public finances. In the ministry of labor is Senor Aunos who has made a lengthy study of Italian corporationism and adapted much of it to Spanish conditions.

For instance he has instituted in Spain the mixed committees of workmen and employers for settling labor disputes under government tutelage which has won for the dictator the warm support of the socialists in Spain. The socialist party in Spain, unlike that in Italy has more or less backed the dictator whose whole policy in this line has been frankly socialistic. In fact outside the Patriotic Union the socialist group is the only party which Primo recognizes.

Church a Powerful Factor.

In justice and religion, Spain has changed but little even under a dictatorship. Education is reactionary in its worst tendency. The religious orders have a large hand in education and they see to it that their pupils are right thinking. Their votaries are sure to find high places in the bureaucracy and government. Clerical colleges have the quasi right of examining and inquiring into the methods and practices of educators. Cases are heard of where teachers are molested for their religious opinions. The church is a powerful factor in Spain, now as in the days when George Borrow was distributing his Bibles. It is especially so in the north of Spain where exalted religious intransigeance runs parallel with electric lights and tramways.

HOOVER MAY RETAIN GEN. FRIES AS HEAD OF ARMY GAS DEFENSE

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Unless President Hoover deviates from the war department policy of limiting chiefs of bureaus to one term of four years, Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service since it was founded, and Maj. Gen. R. H. Allen, chief of infantry, will retire from their present positions on March 26.

In view of the President's reappointment of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett as chief of the bureau of aeronautics, friends of Gen. Fries believe there is a chance he will be reappointed. It is intimated that the President feels the one term policy should not be considered iron clad.

The attention of the President and Secretary of War James W. Good has been called to the fine record made by Gen. Fries during the years he has had charge of the poison gas phase of national defense. There is only one other colonel in chemical warfare service available for the post. This is Col. C. W. Exton, an assistant to Gen. Fries.

Many of the high ranking officers in the department oppose Gen. Fries because of the latter's frequent resort to publicity to build up his branch of the service.

BERLIN, March 23.—"Easter over the Holy Land" is the slogan of the Graf Zeppelin, the world's newest trans-Atlantic passenger airship. Its passengers from four continents are now assembling at Friedrichshafen for the flight which is to take them across sunny Italy, cross over the Mediterranean, then over the Holy Land and Jerusalem, and back to Germany in four days. Capt. Karl Eckener expects to lift the anchor of his silver floating ship on the night of March 31 as close to midnight as possible.

The program of the ship's wanderings over the blue Mediterranean sounds like the announcement of a glorified travelling folder but it is infinetely more than that. It is a new battle in the war between the airship and the airplane for the supremacy of the air. At least that is the way its builder and leader, Dr. Eckener, sees it.

Says Plane is Favored.

In a recent interview he complained bitterly that the airship had been neglected by the German government which he said is lavish in its subsidies to airplane companies but downright stingy when it comes to airships. He points to his flight to America last year as a proof that the airship is a better transoceanic vehicle than the airplane, and he adds, "Our new flight will convince the last of the doubting Thomases."

But Prof. Junkers, the man who constructed the Bremen which Capt. Herman Koehl, Maj. James E. Fitzmaurice and the late Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld flew to America, sneers politely. He tries to keep it a secret, but a careful investigation reveals sensational progress which has been achieved by the airplane experts.

Prof. Junkers has constructed a Diesel engine for airplanes which was up in the air three times in recent weeks and proved a remarkable success. The danger of fire was eliminated entirely by the new engine. It is a 660 horsepower engine weighing only three pounds per horsepower, with 1,400 revolutions per minute. There is no ignition. It works with opposed pistons.

Expert Says It's "Phenomenal."

"Phenomenal" is the word used by a flying expert who witnessed the performance of the new airplane as it took the air, first for fifteen minutes, then for twenty minutes, and then for thirty minutes.

The passengers who will make the airship trip are mostly politicians and officials. Among them are G. Paul Loebe, president of the reichstag, and five members of that chamber. Since England prohibited Zeppelins flying over the Nile, Egypt sent a newspaper man, Abdul Fath, who is a close friend of the Egyptian king, Almed Fuad Pasha. The premier of Prussia, Otto Braun, who was scheduled to fly, was detained by government business and probably will be represented by Minister Koch-Weser. The daughter of Count Zeppelin, Countess Brandenstein Zeppelin, also is among the twenty-four passengers of the proposed Easter trip to the Holy Land.

Deaf Hear Again Through New Aid

Engineer No Bigger Than Dime Wins Enthusiastic Following in Ten-Day Free Trial Offer

After twenty-five years devoted exclusively to the manufacture of scientific hearing aids, the Dictograph Products Co., Inc., Dept. 972M, 180 N. Michigan Blvd., Chicago, Ill., has just perfected a new model Acousticon that represents the greatest advance yet made in the re-creation of hearing for the deaf. This latest Acousticon is featured by a tiny earpiece no larger than a dime. Through this device sounds are clearly and distinctly transmitted to ordinary ears with wonderful benefit to hearing and health alike. The makers offer an absolutely free trial for 10 days to any person who may be interested, and a letter will bring one of these remarkable aids to your home for a thorough and convincing test. Write them your name and address today. (Advt.).

FARMERS ASK HIGHEST TARIFF WALL IN HISTORY

Requests Involve More than 150 Products.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Tariff walls higher than anything suggested in previous years will be erected for the protection of western agriculture if congress approves the requests of farm organizations.

The rates suggested are in many cases twice as high as existing rates and in other a tripling of duties has been proposed. Numerous commodities heretofore on the free list would be made dutiable. More than 150 farm products are involved.

The American Farm Bureau federation and other organizations have taken the promise of Republican leaders to give agriculture complete protection at its face value and have not hesitated to ask for what, a few years ago, would have been considered excessive rates. The house ways and means committee, now engaged in the writing of a new tariff bill, is certain to make sweeping increases in agricultural duties although not in all cases to the extent requested.

Examples of Increases Asked.

Live stock, meats and poultry—Cattle, from 1½ to 3 cents per pound; calves from 2 to 4 cents per pound; fresh beef, from 2 to 5 cents per pound; fresh veal, from 3 to 8 cents per pound; tallow, from one-half of one cent to 2 3-10 cents per pound; sheep, from $2 to $5 per head; fresh mutton, from 2½ to 5 cents per pound; fresh lamb, from 4 to 8 cents per pound; swine, from ½ of one cent to 3 cents per pound; fresh pork, from ¾ of one cent to 5 cents per pound; bacon, ham and shoulders, from 2 to 6 cents per pound; lard, from 1 to 5 cents per pound; live poultry, from 3 to 10 cents per pound.

Dairy and poultry products—Milk, from 2½ to 8 cents per gallon; buttermilk, from 1 to 2 cents per gallon; cream, from 30 to 60 cents per gallon; butter, from 8 to 15 cents per pound; oleomargarine and other butter substitutes, from 3 to 15 cents per pound; cheese, from 5 to 15 cents per pound; eggs in shell, from 5 to 10 cents per dozen; frozen or preserved eggs, from 4 to 11 cents per pound.

Grain and Grain Products.

Grain and grain products—Corn, from 15 to 35 cents per bushel; oats, from 15 to 16 cents per bushel; paddy or rough rice, from 1 to 2 cents per pound; milled rice, from 2 to 3½ cents per pound; rye, from 15 to 30 cents per bushel; wheat, 42 cents per bushel, the same as increased from 30 cents under the fordhe tariff; mixed feeds, from 10 to 20 per cent ad valorem; hay, from $4 to $6 per ton; straw, from $1 to $3 per ton.

Vegetables—Potatoes, from 50 cents per 100 pounds to 1 cent per pound; tomatoes, from ½ of 1 cent to 3 cents per pound; beans, from ½ of 1 cent to 2 cents per pound; celery, from 25 per cent ad valorem to 2 cents per pound; green peas, from 1 to 2 cents per pound; onions, from 1½ to 3½ cents per pound; turnips, from 12 cents per 100 pounds to 1 cent per pound.

Fruits—Dried apples, from 2 to 4 cents per pound; apricots, from ½ of 1 cent to 3 cents per pound; berries, from ½ of 1 cent to 2 cents per pound; cherries, from 3 to 4 cents per pound; figs, from 2 to 4 cents per pound; dates, from 1 to 3 cents per pound; raisins, from 2 to 4 cents per pound; currants, from 2 to 4 cents per pound; lemons, from 2 to 2½ cents per pound; oranges, from 1 to 2 cents per pound; grape fruit, from 1 to 2 cents per pound; olives, from 20 to 30 cents per gallon; peaches and pears, from ½ of 1 cent to 1 cent per pound; jellies, jams and preserves, from 35 to 50 cents ad valorem.

Peanuts and Seeds.

Nuts—Almonds, from 4½ to 6½ cents per pound; peanuts, from 2 to 6 cents per pound; walnuts, from 4 to 6 cents per pound; pecans, from 3 to 6 cents per pound.

Oil Seeds—Flaxseed, from 40 cents per bushel to 1½ cents per pound; soy beans, from ½ of 1 cent to 2 cents per pound; cottonseed, from 1-3 of 1 cent to 3 cents per pound; vegetable oils, from various specific rates to 45 per cent ad valorem.

Field and Garden Seeds—Grass seeds and alfalfa, from 4 to 6 cents per pound; clover, from 2 to 3 cents per pound; timothy, from 2 to 3 cents per pound; radish seed, from 4 to 8 cents per pound.

The National Wool Growers' association, with the support of the American farm bureau federation, has asked for an increase in the duty on wool from 31 to 40 cents per clean pound. Southern cotton growers have asked that long staple cotton be made dutiable.

One of the principal controversies affecting a farm product will center at the request of the farm bureau federation and live stock interests for a duty of 45 per cent on hides, now on the free list. The shoe manufacturers, in opposing this request, contend that it would increase the cost of shoes by from 90 cents to $1 per pair.

Agricultural groups have asked for duties on various competitive commodities. Chief among this class are bananas and jute. Apple and other fruit growers, supported by the farm bureau, have argued for a duty of 75 cents per bunch on bananas on the ground that an enormous importation of cheap bananas tends to curtail the market for domestic fresh fruits. Cotton growers in the south have sought an increased duty on jute and jute products in order to encourage the use of cotton for bagging and similar purposes.

Hemp Growers Have Troubles.

Wisconsin farmers, who were encouraged a few years ago by the University of Wisconsin and the department of agriculture to grow hemp, have asked for relief in the form of an increased duty on hemp fiber. On behalf of the Wisconsin Hemp association, it was stated that the present condition of the American hemp industry is critical, due to imports from Russia and Italy. A few years ago there were about 20 centers of hemp production, and mills in Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, and California. Only six centers and six mills remain, most of these being bankrupt.

Some of the requests for increased duties on agricultural products will be opposed by domestic interests, and others by foreign interests. The domestic soap and paint manufacturers are against the proposals for higher duties on vegetable oils. Textile interests object to requests for higher rates on wool, cotton and jute.

Canada, Latin America, and European countries have expressed dissatisfaction over various proposals for increases.

NORTH SHORE PARK BOARD ACCUSED OF HIDING ITS RECORDS

A writ of mandamus against members of the North Shore park district to compel disclosure of the records of the board was asked yesterday of Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg by Thomas F. Meyers Jr., publisher of a Rogers Park community newspaper, through Attorney Maurice T. Weinshenk. The petition names James P Ward, president, and Robert J. Murphy, Harold E. Leopold, and William A. Patterson, members of the district, and A. M. Rycoff, alleged to be a favored contractor.

The petition intimates that an examination of the books of the district will reveal a waste of funds. The members are charged with holding secret sessions in an effort to keep their expenditures a secret.

Meyers is leading a fight for a group of candidates for commissionerships at the April 2 election. The candidates are Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the American Legion; Hyman Kinzelberg, a banker, and Attorney Frederick H. Chetlain. Another ticket supported by Building Commissioner Chris Paschen is also in the fight for control of the board.

RULING UPHOLDS FIRE MARSHALS' RIGHT TO JOBS

Nine division fire marshals, whose appointments were attacked recently on the grounds that the promotions were not made from a legal civil service eligible list, are entitled to serve in their present positions until a new list is posted, Acting Corporation Counsel James W. Breen held yesterday. After the new list is posted the nine men must take the examination for marshal with other candidates, Mr. Breen said.

The validity of the nine appointments came under scrutiny following the resignation of Division Marshal John Smith. Battalion Chief Thomas Kenny, who headed the civil service eligibility list, made a formal demand on Fire Commissioner A. W. Goodrich to be installed as Smith's successor. In an opinion Corporation Counsel Ettelson held that the eligible list had expired on Oct. 2, 1923, two years and a day after it had been posted.

Attorneys for Kenny contended that if the list had expired the nine division marshals, who were appointed after the expiration date, are holding their posts illegally. This contention was refuted by the opinion given yesterday to the civil service commission.

Father of Evanston Fire Fighters to Mark Birthday

Justice of the Peace Samuel Harrison of Evanston, organizer of the Evanston fire department in 1873 and its first marshal until 1901, will celebrate his seventy-sixth birthday today by entertaining the only two surviving members of the suburb's former volunteer fire brigade at a dinner in the home of his sister, Mrs. Esther Wooldridge, 943 Wesley street, Evanston. After dinner Justice Harrison and his two guests, Charles Turner and Henry Witt, will visit the Evanston city yards, where Speed and Bob, two old firehorses, have been cared for since the fire department was motorized.

SECRET ROSTER OF PROHIBITION AGENTS BARED

325 Names on Dry Pay Roll Here.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Reports reluctantly submitted by the treasury department and the federal civil service commission in response to a senate resolution, and made public today, disclosed for the first time the complete roster of the prohibition bureau's field enforcement staff. The reports, revealing what have heretofore been most carefully guarded secrets, showed that on March 2 there were 4,129 persons on the dry bureau's pay rolls—3,349 of them holding their places by appointment under civil service regulations and 780 temporary appointees.

The latter have drawn $2,138,539 in salaries since Oct. 1, 1927, when civil service was first applied to selection of Volsted enforcers.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator R. F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] and adopted just before the end of the last session, called upon the treasury department and the civil service commission to list all persons on the bureau pay rolls, either as merit system or temporary appointees, with the salaries paid the latter, and to explain the secrecy which surrounds prohibition bureau eligible lists.

According to the report, a total of 325 persons, including 270 permanent appointees, 14 temporary appointees and 41 storekeeper-gaugers and warehouse watchmen, were attached to the Chicago headquarters on March 2, when the reports were prepared.

Since March 2, Frederick D. Silloway, then deputy administrator, who charged Chicago police with complicity in the Moran gang massacre, has been dismissed. Alexander Jamie, chief of the special agents operating in the Chicago district, is carried in the reports in a special classification under "special agents force" with George E. ("Hardboiled") Golding, whom he replaced when Golding's terroristic enforcement methods caused the latter's transfer to another district.

Names of Employes.

Without distinguishing undercover agents from others, or identifying each person listed according to his particular activity, the reports show the following persons as civil service appointees under the general heads "administrative and legal" or "agents, inspectors, investigators and chemists" on the Chicago headquarters payroll on March 2.

Administrative and legal:

FIRED MISSOURI PROFESSORS KEEP UP SEX INQUIRY

Students Plan to Raise Fund for Them.

Columbia, Mo., March 23.—[U. P.]—Despite an official edict suspending two University of Missouri professors for circulating a "sex questionnaire," which provoked an academic rebellion, it appeared virtually certain today they would continue their labors here in sub rosa fashion.

A project has been launched by members of "the family," taught by Dr. Harmon O. De Graff, to raise a fund to finance a private downtown office for him, where he can confer privately with them, and where also he may finish a book on sociology now in preparation.

A Famous Psychologist.

Meanwhile, Dr. Max F. Meyer, the other ousted professor, an internationally famous psychologist, made the following announcement:

"Although the mentality of the Missouri legislature will prevent me from ever again leading my classes as official instructor, it cannot stop me from supervising the work so that it will continue properly as long as I remain in Columbia.

"While I will not be officially in charge any more, the person who will direct the course will consult with me while I am in town."

Say Farewell to Classes.

Both ousted professors participated in dramatic leave takings with their classes yesterday. Dr. De Graff, obviously laboring under an emotional strain provoked by the cheering of male students and the frank weeping of co-eds, said:

"I have supreme confidence in the youth of America. The principles of 'the family' and of modern youth . . . to these I dedicate my life. I am certain that in time even the conservative element will come to realize that I have been doing something worth while here and will commend me for it. I feel I will be vindicated."

Bannockburn Residents Vote to Form Village

Residents of Bannockburn, embracing an area of two square miles adjoining Lake Forest, Highland Park, and Deerfield, voted at a meeting in the Bannockburn Country club yesterday to incorporate the village. There were sixty-two votes cast, 46 for and 16 against, of a total population of 140 persons. It was resolved at the meeting to keep the village an exclusive residential community with roadhouses and lunch stands prohibited.

REORGANIZE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF CHURCHES WITH NEW OFFICERS

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal church, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, today announced the complete organization of the council for the next four years.

Dean Luther A. Weigle of the Yale divinity school was elected chairman of the administrative committee, and former attorney general, George W. Wickersham was named chairman of the committee on international justice and good will.

Other committee chairmen included: Evangelism and life service, Bishop A. R. Clippinger, Dayton, O.; church and race relations, George C. Clement of Louisville, Ky.; commission on relations with religious bodies in Europe, Kenneth D. Miller, Madison, N. J.; editorial council of the religious press, Paul S. Leinbach, Philadelphia, Pa.; general committee on army and navy chaplains, Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, Washington, D. C.; relations with the eastern churches, the Rt. Rev. Charles H. Brent; committee on good will between Jews and Christians, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

GRANT NEW TRIAL TO RAILROAD IN $50,000 BEE SUIT

The famous bee trial during which opposing lawyers sought for more than a week to determine the cause of death of 48,000,000 bees that died in transit from Pike Road, Ala., to Morris, Ill., in 1927, will be reopened next fall. Superior Judge John Prichs yesterday granted a motion for a new trial brought by attorneys for the Rock Island railroad.

Several weeks ago a jury awarded J. W. Cunea and Ezra Ross, Morris bee farmers, a $6,300 verdict in their $50,000 damage suit charging the railroad with neglect during shipment. During the trial the railroad produced a number of experts who testified the bees' death was due to reasons ranging from suffocation to cannibalism.

On this testimony attorneys for the railroad based their plea for a new trial. They asked that the case be set for the fall after the busy season for apiarists.

DEATH RISK GIRL RECOVERS; HER FATHER IS JAILED

Michael Tallon, father of [illegible] year old high school girl who swallowed liniment on Friday in their home at 1336 Raleigh court to avoid him into sobriety, spent last night in a cell at Marquette police station.

The girl, taken to the County hospital by neighbors, has recovered and will be returned to her mother this morning, according to hospital authorities. Her father believes she is dying because of him.

"And he must be allowed to continue to think it," said his wife, [illegible] young blue-eyed mother, who has been keeping the family together by washing dishes in a chain store. "Perhaps this may make him think a little."

Mrs. Tallon yesterday swore out a warrant for her husband's arrest, charging habitual drunkenness. The case will be heard tomorrow morning by Judge Francis B. Allegretti.

A New Dairy Product In the Form of Cheese

For the recipe of the VELVEETA ROLLS, and for other choice recipes, send to Home Economics Dept., 401 Rush Street, Chicago.

As digestible as milk itself

HERE is a new delight for the lovers of good cheese—Velveeta. It is a new milk product in the form of cheese that for high food value, smooth velvety texture and exquisite flavor leaves nothing to be desired.

For Velveeta represents the contribution of science to the art of cheese making. Through the aid of scientific research, special methods and equipment, we combine more Vitamins, Lactose (milk sugar), Calcium and other minerals of whole milk in making Velveeta than ever we were able to obtain before. The addition of these precious food elements in Velveeta greatly enhances its food value and makes it as digestible as milk itself.

Velveeta is made with the utmost care from a blend of choice mellow American and ripe old Canadian cheddar cheese. It tastes like cheese, looks like cheese, but because of its greater food value it should be called a super-cheese.

It slices when chilled

You can use Velveeta the same as you would use any cheese. It spreads like butter or it can be sliced when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends so readily with other foods that for cooking purposes its superiority is at once apparent.

Besides its exceptional appetite appeal, Velveeta is an invigorating dairy food that anyone can eat freely and often. Try a package, for if you like cheese, you will love Velveeta, and it will become a welcome addition to your daily fare. Your dealer has it.

Child Health and Growth

depend on these two food elements Vitamin A and Calcium

Child Specialists Recommend It

Children are especially fond of "Philadelphia" Cream Cheese and joyfully welcome it as a regular part of their daily diet. And now that it is known to be so rich in these two vital food elements—Calcium and Vitamin A—it is being freely recommended by Child Specialists, Doctors and food experts as a particularly valuable food for children.

One Nutrition Expert says: "When baby emerges into childhood, its diet too often is over-rich in meats, sweets and starchy foods. Such foods lack bone-making calcium, so important at this period of growth and in the formation of permanent teeth. 'Philadelphia' Cream Cheese plus green vegetables, fruit and milk should be freely used to correct such dangerous dietary deficiencies."

Salads of all kinds take on a new savoriness to tempt the childish appetite when served with "Philadelphia" Cream Cheese. It is a fine dairy product, pasteurized for purity and its creamy richness is wrapped in small tinfoil packages for further protection. It is never sold in bulk.

Men—Women Boys—Girls!

To enable those who have not yet started this fascinating new series of Movie Star Crossword Puzzles to enter, the Tribune today reprints the first 6 Puzzles which appeared in the DAILY Tribune during the last week. You can start with these. They will count. Then get the next puzzle in Tomorrow's DAILY Tribune.

THE RULES:

1. Every week-day for 42 consecutive days (not including Sundays) the Chicago Daily Tribune will print a Movie Star Crossword Puzzle. Each puzzle will contain the name of the Movie Star whose picture appears in it. You are invited to solve the puzzles and name the stars.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. Note: This means that you do not necessarily have to solve each of the 42 puzzles completely to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

3. The prizes are as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1st Prize | | $1,000.00 |
| 2nd Prize | | 500.00 |
| 3rd Prize | | 250.00 |

| Next 100 Prizes, | 10.00 each | 1,000.00 |
| Next 310 Prizes, | 5.00 each | 1,550.00 |
| 430 Prizes Totaling | | $5,000.00 |

4. This offer is open to every one—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Puzzles are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Crosswords," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight, 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

6. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. With each entry a letter must be sent giving your name and address and telling in 50 words or less which of the 42 Movie Stars you like best and why. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

8. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

CHICAGO'S GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM ON DRESS PARADE—LEAVES FOR NEW YORK FIGHTS TOMORROW

GEORGETTI AND DEULBERG WIN SIX DAY BIKE RACE ON POINTS

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

The Italian-German team of Franco Georgetti and Franz Deulberg won the six day bicycle race which ended at the Coliseum at 11 o'clock last night. The French combination of Alfred Letourner and Paul Brocardo was second and the New Jersey team of Grimm and Lands was third.

Georgetti and Deulberg and Letourner and Brocardo were tied in mileage, but the German-Italian combination piled out 107 points in the sprints against 114 for the French team. Grimm and Lands were third, one lap behind the leader combinations. Debeste and Beckman were fourth, four laps back. This combination was tied in mileage with McNamara and Horan, the American team, which led the race at various times.

Other teams were strung out until Stockholm and Winter brought up the rear, ten laps behind.

Took Lead Friday.

Georgetti and Deulberg went into the lead in the race during the jamming Friday night. The combination piled up two laps on the field and held its advantage until the final shot was fired to close the last six day bike race to be held in the Coliseum. As the race was staged, the German-Italian team was the class of the field. Each can sprint and they stood the wear and tear of the jams.

Georgetti was the watchdog in the last hour of sprinting. He never permitted himself to be caught at the tail end of the field when any rider neared the pack. The little Italian added speed when it was necessary and he was always in the front of the leading fields.

Deulberg gave Georgetti excellent support. The German is a plugger and a fairly fast sprinter. He kept himself free of the relief riders when he made pickups and he whirled around the circuit whenever he had a clear track.

Letourner Is French Star.

The French combine of Letourner and Brocardo rode a splendid race. During the final hour of sprinting the Frenchmen tried to jump the field, but either Georgetti or Deulberg was at their wheel. Letourner especially rode a great race.

Grimm and Lands, a strong combination, stabbed for laps several times during the final hour. The field chased them, but neither was able to get away. Debeste and Beckman and McNamara and Horan, who finished four laps behind, rode very well during the six days.

The building was practically filled when the shot was fired to send the riders into the final hour of racing. The race was one of the most successful ever held in Chicago.

It was a quiet night as far as jamming was concerned. Shortly after 9 o'clock Debeste started a jam and the teams of Grimm and Lands, Letourner and Brocardo, Georgetti and Deulberg, and Debeste and Beckman gained a lap on the field. The race was stopped when Letourner and Brocardo fell in making a pickup.

Referee Frank Kramer ruled that the ten teams which had lasted through the long grind should start in the final hour of racing.

Before the final hour of sprinting 279 laps had been gained. In the recent New York race 503 laps were stolen. This is a record for six day bike races.

The riders will leave today for Newark, where the outdoor season will open next Sunday.

The results of the sprints from 10 to 11 o'clock follow:

FIRST—Won by Georgetti; Beckman, second; Petri, third; Zucchetti, fourth.
SECOND—Won by Winter; Georgetti, second; Brocardo, third; Belloni, fourth.

CHICAGO'S FINEST LEAVE FOR N. Y. BOUTS TOMORROW

Golden Gloves Team Ends Hard Training.

Fights on Air

WGN, The Tribune's radio station, will broadcast a round by round story of the great intercity battle between the Golden Glove champions of Chicago and New York next Wednesday evening. Quin Ryan will tell the story of the fights as they take place in Madison Square Garden.

Chicago's great team of Golden Glove champions leaves for New York tomorrow.

The inter-city battle, in which the finest amateur boxers of the middle west, will be pitted against the finest amateur boxers of the east, takes place in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night. Twenty-three thousand will pack the Garden from floor to rafter when the first bout starts.

The Chicago boys, who tapered off training yesterday and will pack their bags today, are the champions and runnersup of the Golden Gloves tournament held by The Tribune last month. Out of an entry of 600 they emerged victorious after four days of brilliant fighting.

Now they're out to humble the pride of New York, and win honors for Chicago.

Nineteen Boys on Team.

Nineteen husky youths comprise the invading army of the west. Sixteen of them are sure of bouts. Three are substitutes.

All of the 19 took workouts yesterday at Barry's gymnasium. Some of them stepped about with professionals in front of hundreds of fans. For instance Johnny Ross, The Tribune's hard hitting middleweight, mixed it fast and furiously with Leo Lomski, and Ed Wills, light heavyweight, won the crowd's plaudits in a workout with Mickey Walker. Some of the Chicago team worked out with one another.

All members of The Tribune team were outfitted with the trunks and sweaters they will wear in Madison Square Garden. A pair of golden gloves is inscribed on the left leg of each trunk. White sweaters with the word Chicago on the back will be worn by the boys. They will wear white trunks with a blue belt and stripes down the sides.

Jackie Fields vs. Jack Thompson, 10 rounds.
Danny Delmont vs. Spug Myers, 8 rounds.
Hasken Hansen vs. Mike Sauro, 5 rounds.
Jimmy Mellette vs. Andy Sattile, 5 rounds.
Al Greenfield vs. Louis Avery, 5 rounds.
Fay Kosky vs. Soldier Dombrowski, 5 rounds.
Johnny Sherrod vs. King Levinsky, 5 rounds.

Jackie Fields and Young Jack Thompson are ready for their world's welterweight championship bout at the Coliseum tomorrow night.

The national Boxing association will recognize the winner as the world's welterweight champion. Joe Dundee, the present champion, failed to post a forfeit of $10,000 to defend his title, which led Paul Prehn, president of the N. B. A. to rule Dundee's title vacated.

Last summer Thompson stopped Dundee at White Sox park in two rounds. Dundee was fighting over the welterweight limit and did not lose his title. Shortly afterward, the colored fighter went to the coast, where Fields beat him in ten rounds. Thompson claims he was not in his best condition at that time.

Tomorrow's bout should be a battle between two of the best left hand fighters in the game. Fields is fast and shifty. He shoots a left hand straight and follows with stinging right crosses. He always is weaving and is hard to hit with solid punches. Thompson is a wicked right hand puncher. He has a stinging left jab and hook. He knows how to execute the one-two punch and he can take care of himself at close quarters. In his fight with Dundee, he wore the champion down with straight lefts to the face and body.

Thompson is considered a second Joe Gans, one of the greatest colored fighters in history, who held the light welter title at one time. Veteran boxing fans have remarked that Jack has a style similar to that of the old master, who was noted for his cleverness and ability to block punches in the air.

Fields Favored in Betting.

Fields is regarded as the best Hebrew fighter since the days of Bennie Leonard, retired lightweight champion. Some claim Jackie is faster and hits harder with his right hand. He has a large following in Chicago.

Fields has been made a 7 to 5 favorite in the brisk wagering. His supporters claim that it is only a matter of history to name the fighters who fail to win over opponents in return engagements.

Old Johnny Dundee Hangs K. O. on Mexican

Stadium Card

Tommy Loughran vs. Mickey Walker, 10 rounds.
Leo Lomski vs. Tuffy Griffith, 10 rounds.
Jack Gross vs. Big Boy Peterson, 6 rounds.
Al Fay vs. Frank Cawley, 6 rounds.
George Kervin vs. Jackie London, 6 rounds.

Mickey Walker, sometimes called the toy bulldog of Indiana, came to Chicago yesterday in quest of the world's light heavyweight championship.

He gets his crack at the title at the opening of Paddy Harmon's new Chicago stadium Thursday night. If Mickey's welcome when he crawls through the ropes to battle Tommy Loughran for the crown is noisier than the one which welcomed him as he came off the Broadway limited the roof of Mr. Harmon's huge new building may be blown into Madison street.

Mickey appeared even better as he stepped through his first local gymnasium work during the afternoon. He boxed six rounds. They were rough, tough rounds. He took on Tom Kirby and Tom Jones.

Capacity Crowd Likely.

Walker looked more sturdy and stronger than on any previous stopoff in Chicago. He is not as tall as Loughran but looks every bit as rugged. He had all his speed in yesterday's drill despite his long trip from the east.

Mickey is ready for the fight of his life. There is no doubt about that. Whether the middleweight champion can punch the light heavyweight champion of the world into submission is the issue which promises to draw a record Chicago indoor fight crowd to the new stadium.

It was indicated yesterday, after Walker's arrival became generally known and had spurred the ticket sale, that the crowd at the Loughran-Walker struggle will be close to capacity of 25,000. If the attendance reaches that figure, the fans will pay around $300,000 to see the combat.

Satisfied that Loughran will make the weight of 175 pounds by next Thursday afternoon, followers of the Philadelphia battler made considerable more noise yesterday. There was plenty of Loughran money everywhere, but Tommy's backers didn't care to put it out at 7 to 5, the odds which Walker followers were demanding.

Griffiths, Lomski Ready.

Tuffy Griffiths and Leo Lomski, light heavyweight challenger, who are meeting in the other major bout of the night at the same weight, 175 pounds, said last night they would be fit to fight the battle of their lives for the honor of boxing later for Paddy Harmon against the survivor in the Walker-Loughran match.

Promoter Harmon has these two bouts backed up with an interesting preliminary card.

San Antonio, Tex., March 23.—[Special.]—Don't count out John McGraw. A fair sample of what the thriving Cubs are going to contend with during the impending National league conflict was staged for the benefit of some 5,000 Texans and the White Sox today. The Giants thumped and pitched their way to a 5 to 2 triumph.

The Giants have punch and pitching. Seven scattered hits off Hubbell and Benton comprised the entire Comiskey attack. Errors figured in the only two runs the Sox made and no inning found them making more than one hit. Welland and Adkins were good pitchers, but they stumbled. Loose fielding by the south siders did not aid.

The Giants are in excellent condition. Both clubs enjoyed the warmest day either has had this spring.

A combination of circumstances sent Terry Comes Through.

the McGraw men off to a good start in the opening session. Welland experienced some difficulty finding the plate and clipped Welsh on the leg with a pitched ball. Reese fanned. Lindstrom's grounder skipped past Cissell either because Spider Bill tripped on Jackson's glove or because it was too warm for him to handle. Anyhow it was good for a two base hit.

With the stage set, Ott whiffed. Terry blasted one over second for a single that scored both Welsh and Lindstrom. Welland walked Jackson

TIGER HURLERS GO TO PIECES AS CUBS STAGE BOMBARDMENT

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—Seeing as how the weather was bitter cold and the series between the Tigers and the Cubs stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Chicagoans, our boys weren't chagrined when they went into the ninth trailing 8 to 4. Then somebody made a snippy remark about the National league.

Thus outraged the Cubs went into conference and decided to win the fourth straight despite the fact Emil Yde had been retiring them in order for several innings. The Cubs stepped out and made themselves 7 runs in the final frame and thereby hung up the fourth straight against the American leaguers, 11 to 8.

Considering the importance of the rally it seems fitting to recite this closing episode, so here goes.

The Big Rally.

Wilson walked and so did Stephenson. Grimm singled to center, scoring Hack. Stevie pulled up at third. Hartnett batted for Grace and struck out. Taylor batted for Horne and walked, filling the bases. English walked, forcing in Stephenson. Yde was yanked and Whitehill went in to pitch for Detroit. McMillan singled scoring Grimm and Taylor, the latter with the tying run. English scored on Cuyler's sacrifice fly. McMillan stole second went to third on Hornsby's infield hit. Wilson, up the second time, singled, scoring McMillan and putting Hornsby on third. Stephenson singled to left, scoring Hornsby and putting Wilson on third. Grimm was called out on strikes.

The first inning saw plenty of activity on both sides. For the Cubs, English walked and stopped at second when McMillan singled to center. Cuyler walked, filling the bases. Hornsby sent a sacrifice fly to deep center, scoring English and putting McMillan on third. Wilson struck out. Cuyler stole second and Catcher Shea threw to center in a belated attempt to catch him. As a result McMillan scored but Ki stayed on second. Gehringer threw out Stephenson.

Tigers Tie Score.

In their half of the first the Tigers tied the count and went one better due largely to brutality in their attitude toward the steam fitting Mr. Grampp. Stone hit the first ball pitched for two bases. Rice was hit by a pitched ball. Gehringer flied to Stephenson. Alexander singled to right, scoring Stone. In an attempted throw to third Cuyler hit the dugout thus enabling Rice to walk to third and Alexander to second. McManus then doubled to left, scoring Rice and Alexander. Grampp struck out Fothergill and forced Scuble to lift gently to Wilson.

In the Cub third McMillan and Cuyler were easy infield outs but Hornsby came up with his homer to tie the score. The Tigers were retired on three infield outs.

Shea opened the Tiger fourth with a double to left. Prudhomme and Stone walked, filling the bases. Shea scored on Rice's sacrifice fly. Prudhomme and Stone moved up on Gehringer's infield out and came home ahead of Alexander, when the big rookie first baseman from Toronto dropped the ball in the right field bleachers. McManus popped to English. The score now was Tigers, 11 Cubs, 7.

Horne Starts Pitching.

The Cubs went in order in the fifth and Trader Horne went in to throw to the Tiger batsmen, the first of whom was Fothergill, who knocked the ball over the left field wall.

DEMPSEY LEAVES HOSPITAL AFTER MINOR OPERATION

New York, March 23.—[Special.]—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, and promoting partner in the fight business of Humbert J. Fugazy, today underwent an operation for fistula in the Polyclinic hospital. Dr. Robert E. Brennan performed the operation which he described as of minor consequence. It was Dr. Brennan who performed a similar operation on Dempsey in 1923 following the former champion's battle with Luis Angel Firpo.

ST. STANISLAUS AND DE LA SALLE PLAY FOR TITLE

Advance to Final of Loyola National Tourney.

Tourney Results

QUARTER FINALS.

De La Salle, Chicago, 22; Cathedral High, Indianapolis, 8.
Decatur Catholic, Decatur, Ind., 23; St. Michaels, Union City, N. J., 16.
Spalding, Peoria, 16; St. Xavier, Cincinnati, 15.
St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis, Miss., 22; Columbia, Dubuque, Ia., 22.

This is the story of how one basketball team proved that there's something in a name and how another broke a jinx that had followed it through every national Catholic basketball tournament since the first one in 1924.

The first team is De La Salle institute of Chicago, which bore out the saying that there is magic in the name De La Salle in the national tournaments. The second team is St. Stanislaus High school of Bay St. Louis, Miss., which has participated in every national meeting at Loyola university, but never has been able to go past the quarter final round in any of them.

Title Game Tonight.

Last night these two teams won their semi-final games in two of the most thrilling games ever seen on the Loyola floor and thereby earned the right to battle for the national title at the north shore gym at 9 o'clock tonight. Preceding them at 8 o'clock will be the game for third place between the two teams they vanquished last night, Decatur Catholic High school of Decatur, Ind., and Spalding Institute of Peoria, Ill.

The scores of last night's games were: De La Salle, 17; Decatur, 15, and St. Stanislaus, 32; Spalding, 31. Those figures practically tell the stories of the two games.

Back of that St. Stanislaus victory lies the story of a school which has sent a team to the tournament every year, good teams, colorful teams. The fans remembered them last night and when big Ladner pushed in the basket which decided the game with five seconds to go, they gave him and his teammates an ovation that might have come from hometown folk.

Spalding Takes Early Lead.

And last night it seemed they were not going into that final game. Spalding, led by Harding, Vogele, and Peters, jumped into an early lead and held it at the half, 16 to 10. Both teams were concentrating on offense making at least one out of every four shots count.

At the end of the third period, the red headed Harding and the lanky Peters had raised the lead to 8 points, 27-19. Then the burly Ladner and the two midget forwards Toce and Collata, got down to business. Finally they drew up to within a point on Collata's ringer from the free throw line. Then Manning, Spalding guard, dribbled through the southerners, hooked one to put his team 3 points ahead at 31-28.

Tiny Toce then dropped another one in to match Manning's toss. The score was 31-30. The fans seemed equally divided in their applause, a Peoria delegation cheering Spalding. Then it happened. Out of a scrambled mass of players under the basket Ladner's arm shot up and pushed the ball in for the 2 points that brought his team into tonight's game.

De La Salle Is Improved.

The De La Salle team, coached by James Gregerk, was not the same one that lost the Chicago Catholic league championship to St. Mel's. The team composed of Ray Boland, Jim Hoey, Jim Ladner, and the Krause brothers, Ed and Phil, seemed like a new one. They showed something besides basketball class when they broke up Decatur's stalling game in the last two minutes and then went on to take the game. All played fine games, but the honors to Ed Krause and Ray Boland, both of whom were in the thick of it at every stage of the game.

The Decatur defense prevented the Chicagoans from following the system they had used throughout the tournament, that of building up a lead in the first half. Jim Hoey's two field goals put the south siders ahead at the end of the first period, 4-3. Then the brothers Krause came through and the score stood 9 to 6 at the half. Boland held Decatur's great forward, Gass, to one basket and that a distance shot during the first half.

In order to go into the semi-finals, St. Stanislaus defeated the plucky Columbia academy team of Dubuque, Ia., 23 to 22. The Iowans overcame a 9-0 lead at the quarter, made it 12-12 at the half and then tied the southerners in the third period at 16 all. Led by Berkley, a fiery little guard who scored five baskets, Columbia took a one point lead near the end of the game only to have Collata clinch the game for the southerners with a last minute short shot.

De La Salle Wins Easily.

De La Salle found the quarter final going easier, winning over the diminutive Cathedral high team of Indianapolis, 22 to 8. The Hoosiers, handicapped by their lack of height, resorted to long shots, but scored only a pair. At that they gave De La Salle plenty of trouble, and it wasn't until the last quarter that the Boland-Krause combination began to function.

Spalding contributed the surprise of the afternoon by overturning the strong St. Xavier machine of Cincinnati, O., 16 to 15, in another thriller. The Ohioans were one of the strongest favorites in the tournament, following their defeat of De La Salle at Joliet last year's national champions, and their first round game in which they rolled up 46 points, enough to win the Powell trophy for the highest number of points scored in the opening round.

Decatur eliminated the lone eastern survivor of the tournament, St. Michaels of Union City, N. J., 23 to 16, in the roughest game of the tournament.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

INTERCITY BOXING.

CHICAGO'S best amateur mitt slingers, winners in THE TRIBUNE'S recent Golden Gloves tourney, will display their prowess Wednesday night in Madison Square Garden before the hostile eyes of New York partisans and against the hostile gloves of representatives who survived the New York News elimination tourney.

One year ago New York boxers came west for the first of these intercity affairs. They and their sponsors were chock full of a confidence which amounted to condescension, almost pity. We'll never forget their expressions of surprise and dismay as Chicagoans took an early lead, promising to win the tourney which eventually ended in a tie with eight victories each. That tie so far as pride was concerned was equivalent to a defeat to the prematurely cocksure invaders.

We are informed New York has "loaded up" this year. The Wake is not participating in the acerbities between Sporting Editor Maxwell of THE TRIBUNE and Sporting Editor Gallico of the News, so it is only hearsay with us that New York has combed New England, the middle Atlantic and south Atlantic states for talent to establish a victory, if possible.

Nominally, the east should have an advantage, on paper at least, in a contest of this kind. First, it has a far greater number of candidates from whom to make selections, but more important, boxing has been recognized and encouraged there for many years while legal bouts in Illinois are a comparatively recent privilege.

The Wake concedes those advantages in advance, but we do not concede victory. It is not our province to make predictions on this event, especially as we were away when the Chicago tests were held. But we always have had a high regard for middle western courage and stamina as shown on the football field and in all other competitive sports. We know what courage and stamina mean in the ring. We know that our "kids" will fight "over their heads," as the vernacular goes. When you have a bunch of that type you're pretty likely to come home with your shields and not upon them. We'll not be surprised if New York receives another surprise.

Froebel Takes Track Title in Northwestern Prep Meets

Two new champions were crowned and another successfully defended its title in Northwestern university's seventeenth annual interscholastic track, swimming and wrestling meet held in Patten gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Froebel High school of Gary won first place in the track events with 18½ points. Oak Park was second with 13 points and Northeastern High of Detroit third with 11. Twenty-five of the 45 teams entered in the track meet figured in the scoring column.

For the second successive year Highland Park High school of Detroit ran away with the swimming meet, piling up 34 points. Chisholm, Minn., nosed out Schurs for second place, with 16 points, the latter taking third with 15.

Tulsa, Okla., with a well balanced team which placed men in six of the ten final bouts, won the wrestling tournament with 41 points, Fort Dodge, Ia., state champion, was second with 34 points, and Harrison Tech third with 126 points.

Two meet records were broken and one tied. Eugene Beatty, Negro hurdler from Northeastern High of Detroit, broke the 60 yard hurdle record of 14 years standing when he negotiated the distance in :07 9-10, knocking one-tenth of a second off the old mark made by Butler of Rock Island, Ill., in 1915.

Beatty also equaled the 60 yard low hurdle record of :07. Victories in these two events, together with a fourth place in the 50 yard dash, gave Beatty high point honors for the meet.

The other record to go by the boards was the 220 yard medley relay swim, which Highland Park High won in 2:04 6-10, breaking its own mark made a year ago by almost three seconds.

Froebel's victory in the track events, which incidentally broke the long reign of Detroit schools, was surprising since the team did not win a first place. However, Coach Olsen's boys counted four second places, two third places, and one fourth. Summaries:

SWIMMING EVENTS.

160 YARD RELAY—Won by Highland Park, Detroit; Schurs, Chicago, second; Chisholm, Minn., third; Northern, Detroit, fourth. Time, 1:19 4-10.

220 YARD SWIM—Won by Fidler, Highland Park, Detroit; Ericson, Chisholm, Minn., second; Brock, Whiting, Ind., third; Murphy, Maine, fourth. Time, 2:36.

CHAMPAIGN BOWS TO JOHNSTON CITY IN BASKET FINAL

Champs Rally in Last Period; Win, 30-21.

BY HARLAND ROHM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Champaign, Ill., March 23.—The Big Red basketball team from Johnston City, a coal mining town of 7,127 population in bloody Williamson county, tonight won the high school basketball championship of Illinois, whipping the Champaign High school team, 30 to 21, in the University of Illinois gymnasium in the final game of the state tournament which began two weeks ago with 739 teams entered.

Coming from Egypt unheralded, the Johnston City lads swept through the tournament like a leisurely prairie fire, but it was not until the final quarter that they could safely count the title theirs. For the first three-quarters the game was truly a championship battle, with two fine prep teams trading shot for shot and point for point.

After the first few minutes in which Champaign scored six points and then Johnston City scored six points to tie, neither team got more than three points lead until that final eight minutes. The score at the end of the first quarter was 10 all. At the half, Johnston City led, 14 to 13, and it led at the end of the third quarter, 19 to 18. But in between times, Champaign was in front by a point or so just as much as the Egyptians.

Change to Faster Game.

It was in the last quarter that the class of these Johnston City lads showed. They had changed somewhat from their usual very much delayed offense. In their first game in these state finals they led Lincoln, 2 to 1, at the half. That's their style of game. Yet, when Champaign got the jump on them they refused to get excited, but changed to a faster breaking game, pulled up and fought. When the punch was needed in those final minutes, Johnston City had it.

Behind all this is another tale, for early last season the Johnston City coach, Larue Van Meter, had difficulty with his boys because of the advice they'd been getting from "downtown coaches."

His retort was to fire all the seniors off his squad and start over with his third string team of sophomores and juniors. That team became the state champions.

Sport 236 Pound Star.

There has been much mention of Albert Feduris, 17 year old, 236 pound sophomore, who jumps center and drops back to back guard. And a sweet guard he is, but there is more to this championship team. Ralph Davidson, forward, is a beautiful floor man and Hubert Pearce, the other forward, is the deadliest hook shot this sports writer has seen in prep basketball. Nor count out Tony Blazine, Captain Hubert Groves, of the regulars and Dwight Hafeli, Marshall Ellis, Charles Hafeli, William Pollokiats and Stanley Sudosky. Groves is the only senior among the regulars.

Pearce led in the final game scoring with five baskets. Albert Hall, center, led Champaign in scoring with four baskets and a couple of free throws. He and Bill Hagerman, forward, were Champaign's best.

Champaign scores three quick baskets before Johnston City knew what happened. Blazine began Johnston City's scoring with a free throw and Davidson added two more. Davidson caged the victor's first basket and, fouled on the shot, added one of the free throws to make the score, 6 all.

Quarter Ends 10-All.

They alternated in scoring to the half. The quarter ended with the score at 10-all. Both teams slowed their offenses in the second quarter. Johnston City led, 14 to 13, at half time.

Feduris replaced Blazine in jumping center and on a major part of the jumps tapped the ball, grabbed it and heaved his huge bulk free. Johnston City still was ahead, 19 to 18, at the end of the third quarter.

Then came Johnston City's great spurt. Feduris took the ball off the back board and virtually every Champaign shot, but there was always two or three red shirts at hand to help him.

Johnston City played rings around Champaign. The big red lads held the ball by perfect passing, every now and then starting a fast dribble, but the dribbler didn't shoot unless he had better than even chances. Champaign resorted to long shots, but after each one Johnston City took the ball and killed more precious minutes in passing. The score was 27 to 19, and Hafeli added a free throw, Hagerman hit with a long shot, but Blazine brought Johnston City's score to thirty before the seven thousand spectators who packed the gym charged on to the floor at the final gun and carried the Johnston City boys to their dressing rooms on their shoulders.

Makeup International.

Incidentally, Johnston City, like so many prep basketball teams, is another of these junior league of nations. Feduris is a Lithuanian, Blazine an Austrian, Davidson an Englishman, and the other two Americans.

In the first game, Freeport took third place from Peoria Central, 27 to 15. Freeport played well. Peoria was listless and could neither pass nor shoot. It showed only one flash and that after Freeport, by taking the tipoff and driving through for short shots, had run up a lead of 21 to 4 midway in the third quarter. On long shots by Livingood and Soper, the Peorians began to pull up as Freeport stalled, but they didn't get far.

CAMBRIDGE CREW DEFEATS OXFORD BY 7 LENGTHS

Evens Long Rivalry in Centenary Race.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 23.—Cambridge evened up its score with Oxford in the annual boat race when the Cambridge shell finished seven lengths and 15 seconds ahead of that of Oxford at the end of a gruelling four mile struggle on the Thames river this afternoon. As the dark blue boat slipped across the finishing line behind the light blues the successful Cambridge crew, P. D. Barr, the Oxford bow, who rowed although suffering from influenza, collapsed and remained unconscious for a full half hour.

The Thames, between Putney bridge and Mortlake, seemed to flow between living banks, for every inch of space was occupied by sightseers who began to arrive as early as 8 o'clock this morning to see England's classic water sport. Barges were anchored along the course and on them places to see the race were sold at fabulous prices.

Airplanes Follow Shells.

The rest of the river was denuded of all available small craft which followed the two shells, crammed with passengers who paid from $2.50 and up for the privilege of following the university oarsmen. Even planes were impressed into service and Handley-Page air liners took race fans into the air for a bird's-eye view of the contest.

Today's was the centenary race, although only the 81st actual race. The contest was first rowed in 1829, but war and other interruptions prevented its being held on certain years. Up to today the record was 40 wins for Oxford and 39 for Cambridge, with one dead heat, but now the score stands at 40 even and Oxford has won only one of the ten races since the war. This is the sixth consecutive Cambridge victory.

Although Oxford gained the initial lead of a quarter of a length, the superiority of Cambridge was evident from the beginning. The light blue crew rowed as one man with a steady stroke, covering practically the entire course with a stroke of 28-29, against Oxford's feverish 31-32. The course was covered in 10 minutes 24 second, 13 seconds more than the record.

A Great Day of Sport.

Among many explanations offered today to account for Cambridge's evident increase in superiority in sports is the fact that Oxford alone is co-educational and has presumably become feminized. But the correspondent of THE TRIBUNE got another explanation. Three of the men of the Cambridge crew bore hyphenated double names which were once the sole property of Oxonians, while Oxford boasted only of one. The dark blues were simply outclassed.

It was a big day for sports in England. Besides the Oxford and Cambridge boat race there was a "head of the river" race this afternoon over the same course with 50 metropolitan crews starting ten seconds apart and rowing against time, making a two mile procession of crack crews.

Both the Scottish and the English semi-final soccer football matches were played off today, while the Army trimmed the Navy at Rugby football. Cambridge took the measure of Oxford again during a track meet.

Besides these sports there was a France and England tennis match, an England versus Ireland hockey game, a France and England cross country run, and the regular horse races, the most important being the wind up of the hurdle and steeple chase meeting at Liverpool where the Grand National was run yesterday. English sport fans will from now until fall devote their main attention to flat racing.

WINS ON TRACK, TOO.

STAMFORD BRIDGE, England, March 23.—(AP)—Despite the efforts of two Americans, Oxford's track and field team went down to decisive defeat before Cambridge in the 61st annual meeting of the two famous English universities here today. The score was seven firsts to four.

Outclassed on the track where it could capture only one race, Oxford scored three firsts in the field events to bring its score to a respectable total.

COLLINS REPELS WALGREN; TAKES CUE MEET FINAL

Milwaukee, Wis., March 23.—(AP)—Percy Collins of the Illinois Athletic club of Chicago successfully defended his national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard title her this afternoon, winning the final game of the tournament from H. C. Walgren, Pacific coast champion, 300 to 262 in twenty-four innings. Walgren scored the high run of the match—67—in the twenty-third inning, but it was not enough to overcome the lead piled up by the fast playing Chicagoan.

SUMMARY.

WALGREN—13, 0, 17, 0, 15, 8, 1, 6, 8, 15, 13, 0, 1, 0, 9, 21, 11, 1, 8, 4, 0, 28, 7, 25—262.

COLLINS—24, 24, 0, 54, 1, 0, 23, 21, 1, 11, 2, 16, 0, 25, 8, 2, 23, 2, 24, 19, 7, 16—300.

Eight Fighters Emerge Central A. A. U. Champs

Eight fighters were crowned Central A. A. U. champions last night as a week of boxing finals staged at the Garfield Park Eagles club. Titles are emblematic of the championships embracing Illinois, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

Team championship went to Hippodrome, Chicago Stadium and Belle Plaine A. C. team representatives tied for second place.

PRINCIPALS IN CHICAGO'S TITLE FIGHTS THIS WEEK

Tommy Loughran prances through Garfield park, hurdling a bench in his path as he prepares to defend his light heavyweight championship against Mickey Walker at the new Chicago stadium Thursday. He has to make 175 pounds, hence his arduous labor.

Mickey Walker looks tough when he desires, and he'll glower when he climbs into the ring with Champion Loughran. Mickey also can smile, for he displayed that when he was given a noisy welcome yesterday.

Jack Thompson forms a formidable obstacle in Fields' path to recognition as welterweight champion. He also has designs on the prize and fame that will reward tomorrow's winner.

Paddy, Born Near Gas House, Builds a $6,000,000 Stadium

BY DON MAXWELL.

Fifty-one years ago Paddy Harmon was born on Vedder street, near the gas house, where his father worked. Both the father and mother were Irish folk from Kerry. There were nine other children in the family. The Harmons were poor, their home was poor, their neighborhood was poor.

That was how and where Paddy Harmon started life.

Next Thursday evening a red faced, heavy set Irishman, his stiff bosomed shirt gleaming under 30,000 watts of light, will be introduced from the center of a ring in the largest sports stadium ever built. It cost $6,000,000. The Irishman will grin and wave a hand, and 25,000 spectators will applaud.

And the fellow who waves his hand and acknowledges the applause will be Paddy Harmon, who was born on Vedder street near the gas house.

Voice Sounds Feeble.

Paddy bulks large sitting or standing. But his voice is a feeble thing. Once it may have been high pitched and clear. Now it is husky and wheezes. His words tumble over one another so rapidly it is difficult to follow a sentence through.

"I never went to school, very much, that is," says Paddy, "but when I did it was to the old Burr schoolhouse. You see, there was ten of us kids, and when I was five my father got hurt at the gas house and was an invalid for many years. My brothers and I had to work or go hungry.

Paddy grins continually—and that's why, you may be sure he'll be grinning under the 30,000 watts next Thursday evening. Talking excites him. His red face grows redder and he runs a pencil nervously through the locks grown gray on the trip up from Vedder street.

Takes Up Amusements.

"So, you see," he continues, "there wasn't much chance to do a lot of learning. When I was seven I began peddling papers around North and Milwaukee avenues. When I was nine brother Martin (he's dead now) and me got a contract to snuff the gaslights in our district. It was a good contract. We got sixty dollars a month for snuffing 900 lights a morning. Ran from light to light and put 'em out with a stick we shoved up through a hole in the bottom of the globe. Usually we got through by six o'clock. Then came the papers.

"We turned the money over to mother and she kept the home going.

"When I was 14 my brother and me got a news corner at North and Milwaukee. One of the best corners in town, and we made money. Well, that went on for two years and then I went into the amusement business.

Friends Fall to Show.

"You see [Paddy says 'you see' a thousand times an hour] in those days us young folks had one cheap amusement. It was dancing. When I was 16, one Sunday a crowd of us engaged Walsh's hall, at Noble and Milwaukee avenue, for a dance. The rent for the evening was $40. I was chairman of arrangements and when the time came to pay the rent I passed the hat joshing the young fellows and kidding their girls. I collected $32. The janitor saw how much I had, and he said, 'Young fellow, why don't you rent the place steady and run dances? You'll make a lot of money.'

"My mother was against it, but when I was determined she named my dancing club the Victorias. Mother once worked in an English shop where the queen got her hats and so thought the queen was the grandest woman in the world.

"Well, you see, the first Sunday night I opened none of my friends showed up. There was exactly $8.30 worth of customers there. The admission was a dime for ladies, 15 cents for gents. But on the next Sunday I enlarged the band from three to six pieces and started a waltz contest. It took and before long the hall was crowded. On the final night of the contest I found the judges were ruling off a good waltzer named O'Connor because they wanted another lad to win, and I stopped the contest and put O'Connor back on the floor and he won.

Roller Skating Next.

"I believed in treating the folks square. Always have and always will.

"Well, about two weeks later the management canceled my lease; thought I was making too much money, and I was out on the street. O'Connor come to me and says, 'Paddy what can I do for you?' I says, 'Well, there's only one thing. Next Sunday afternoon when you call the quadrille you just say, 'Ladies and gents, the Victorias has moved to Central Turner hall on Milwaukee avenue.' O'Connor made the announcement and next Sunday I had all the customers and not a single couple danced in Walsh's hall.

"I was started off successfully.

"Folks believed in me.

"My next big venture was roller skating. I bought and paid for the first 300 roller skates the Richardson company made, and before I got through I had half the young folks in town rolling along.

Owners Buy Him Out.

"Well, I went rolling along, too, and finally got in the concession business at Riverview. Made a lot of money there on my dance hall. Used to have 14,000 admissions paid on Sundays. Finally the present owners bought me out.

"Then, in 1912 I put on the first bike race at the Dexter Park pavilion. A few years later I bought Dreamland dance hall, and then the Arcadia.

"Everybody always said before I started anything that it couldn't be done. But Paddy did it. For three years I been trying to build this sports stadium. Twenty times I thought I had everything all set only to get knocked down. But I kept getting up, and next Thursday night the folks who said I couldn't are invited to come out on West Madison street and see the building Paddy built."

Career Full of Punch.

And that is an abbreviated autobiography of Paddy Harmon. From peddling papers to snuffing gas lights—from Walsh's hall to Riverview and from Riverview to Dreamland—from Dexter park and a bike race with 1,000 customers on passes and 50 paid admissions to the Chicago stadium and a $300,000 opening night.

Rickard had the color of the mining camps and the Yukon. Harmon lacks it. Rickard gambled in big figures. Harmon built a fortune on dimes from ladies and 15 cents from gents.

The story of the promoter who went from Goldfield to Madison Square Garden always seemed romantic. The story of the Irishman who went from the neighborhood of the gas house to Madison street may seem drab.

But whatever it lacks in color, it makes up for in punch—this story of the boy who was born on Vedder street, and built the grandest sport stadium in the world.

Culver Track Stars Capture Academy Title

Madison, Wis., March 23.—[Special.]—Winning first in four events, including the medley relay, a powerful Culver Military academy team captured the national academy track title here this afternoon with a total of 37 points. The Indiana athletes had a lead of 16 points over their nearest rivals, Mooseheart, Ill.

The point totals for the other teams were: Mooseheart, 22; St. John's of Delfield, Wis., 19; Shattuck school, Faribault, Minn., 17 1-3; Central Y. M. C. A., Chicago, 10 1-3; Milwaukee University school, 3; North Shore Country day, Wilmette, Ill., 1½.

Two Meet Records Fall.

Shattuck, the defending champion, won firsts in the shotput and 440 yard run, but was outclassed in most of the remaining events.

Only two records fell during the meet. Haslett of Culver and Fairhall of St. John's tied for first in the pole vault at 11 feet 6 inches, 3 inches higher than the old mark, last year by Fairhall.

Stoner, Chicago Y. M. C. A. hurdler, set a new record of :05.5 in the 40 yard high hurdles, eclipsing the mark of :05.6 set by Rockaway, present Ohio State university star, when he was at Culver in 1928.

Dickey Wins Mile.

The performance of Capt. Dickey of Culver in winning the mile run with a lead of 1¼ laps, or 180 yards, was the feature of the met. Sowers of Mooseheart was a high point man with 9 markers. He won the low hurdles, was second in topping the high sticks, and took a third in the 40 yard dash.

The other schools in the meet finished as follows: Racine [Wis.] academy, 5; Elgin, Ill., 5; Milwaukee University school, 3.

Summaries:

MILE RUN—Won by Dickey, Culver; Gold, St. Johns, second; Linen, St. Johns, third. Time, 4:43.5.

RUNNING HIGH JUMP—Won by Lawrence, Mooseheart; Moon, Shattuck; Mansfield, Chicago Central Y. M. C. A., and Wells, North Shore, tied for second. Height, 5 feet 9⅝ inches.

SHOT PUT—Won by Strasburger, Shattuck; Howell, Milwaukee university school, second; Lawrence, Mooseheart, third. Distance, 45 feet 10.5 inches.

HALF MILE RUN—Won by Devitt, Culver; Van Epps, St. Johns, second; Singer, St. Johns, third. Time, 2:10.4.

440 YARD DASH—Won by Reddick, Shattuck; Richards, Culver, second; Smith, Chicago Central Y. M. C. A., third. Time, :53.3.

POLE VAULT—Haslett, Culver, and Fairhall, St. Johns, tied for first; Dillon, Culver, third. Height, 11 feet 6 inches [new record].

BROAD JUMP—Won by Sendrix, Mooseheart; Fairhall, St. Johns, second; Rhu, Culver, third. Distance, 21 feet ¼ inch.

40 YARD DASH—Won by Peckham, Culver; Bibbs, Culver, second; Sowers, Mooseheart, third. Time, :04.5.

40 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Stoner, Chicago Central Y. M. C. A.; Sowers, Mooseheart, second; Mazer, Mooseheart, third. Time, :05.5 [new record].

40 YARD LOW HURDLES—Won by Sowers, Mooseheart; Stoner, Chicago Central Y. M. C. A., second; Hendrix, Mooseheart, third. Time, :05.5.

MEDLEY RACE—Won by Culver [Richards, Bibbs, Walker, Dickey]; Shattuck, second; St. Johns, third. Time, 7:10.3.

Prouty, Elgin back stroker, set a new meet record in the 100 yard event with a time of 1:03.3. Prouty set the old record last season at 1:07.5.

High point honors went to Lewis of Culver, who won the 100 yard free style and 40 yard dash events and was a member of two winning relay teams.

CANTON DEFEATS MALDEN, 21-9, IN WESLEYAN FINAL

Bloomington, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—Canton won the Wesleyan invitation basketball tourney tonight, trouncing Malden in the final game, 26 to 9. The winners drew away after the first quarter and coasted in to an easy victory. University High school won third place with a 30 to 10 victory over Lodi. Coleman of Canton won the individual trophy.

ROCHESTER STAR ROLLS TO A. B. C. ALL-EVENTS LEAD

Cincinnati Team Topples 3,019 Pins.

The Potter Shoes team from Cincinnati knocked over 3,019 pins last night at the A. B. C. tournament and reached second place. The Potters started with a mark of 1,008, slipped backward to 975 in the next game, and come through with 1,036 in the final frame. H. Stewart toppled the greatest number of pins with a series of 212, 216 and 247.

The St. Francis Hotel quintet of St. Paul, rated as one of the best in the country, failed to get going and finished with a score of 2,732.

A. Buonomo of Rochester romped into first place in the all-events with a score of 1,932 in nine games.

W. Daniels and C. Knuths of Milwaukee rolled 485 for a single game score in the doubles yesterday. It stands as the highest mark since the play started.

Jeff Davis with 723 still leads for the individual title. A 704 by Cass Grygier of Detroit landed second place.

The Dunlap Tires of Cleveland, O., rolled 2,989 and took fourth place in the five man standings. They had counts of 949, 1,069 and 971. The Justin F. Flint Laundry team of St. Louis rolled 2,970 for fifth position, turning in 956, 984 and 1,030.

ILLINOIS SWIM TEAM DEFEATS IOWA, 40 TO 31

Iowa City, Ia., March 23.—[Special.]—Illinois university swimmers defeated Iowa here today, 40 to 31, to maintain a two year record of unbroken triumphs in dual competition.

Liddle, Iowa free style ace, scored the only first place recorded by the Hawkeyes when he captured the 50 and 100 yard free style events.

Iowa forfeited the water polo game, 1 to 0. In a telegraphic dual meet, Hawkeye freshmen defeated Illinois yearlings, 33 to 29. Summaries:

200 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Illinois [Grob, Sweetman, Kieding, Webster]; Iowa, second. Time, 1:42.7-10.

200 YARD BREAST STROKE—Won by Holbrook [Illinois]; Hoegh [Iowa], second; Williams [Iowa], third. Time, 2:50 6-10. Schroeder of Illinois finished first but was disqualified because of using one hand on the turns.

50 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Liddle [Iowa]; Grob [Illinois], second; Crookham [Iowa], third. Time, :25 2-10.

440 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Kieding [Illinois]; Lloyd [Iowa], second; Lowell [Iowa], third. Time, 1:53 7-10.

100 YARD FREE STYLE—Won by Liddle [Iowa]; Webster [Illinois], second; Crookham [Iowa], third. Time, :57 7-10.

300 YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Won by Illinois [Snocks, Schroeder, Webster]; Iowa, second. Time, 3:25 8-10.

ENGLEWOOD WINS STATE Y. M. C. A. BASKET CROWN

Springfield, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—Englewood Y of Chicago won the state Y. M. C. A. basketball title here tonight, defeating Oak Park, another Chicago entrant, 41 to 31.

Both teams displayed clever passing and floor ability. At the half the victors led, 25 to 17. Young featured the winner's attack, chalking up 13 points. Birks starred for Oak Park with 14 points.

In the battle for third place Naperville defeated Galesburg, 65 to 27.

Bad Weather Forces Nurmi's Plane Down

Salt Lake City, Utah., March 23.—(AP)—Paavo Nurmi, the flying Finn, lost a race today—but it wasn't on the cinder path. The runner was held up here by bad weather on an aerial dash to Los Angeles to compete in a special mile feature race this afternoon at the University of Southern California-Occidental college meet.

CRANE TECH FIVE LOSES.

St. Louis, Mo., March 23.—(AP)—Basketball representatives from Crane Technical High school of Chicago went down to defeat in a stirring intercity clash with Soivan of St. Louis, the final count being 23 to 21.

Golden Gloves Boxers Await New York Trip

the Daily News A. A. medical staff watched New York's intercity Golden Gloves team workout tonight in the Pioneer club gym. When the training session was over the doctor predicted a decisive victory for the Gothamites in their test with the Chicago TRIBUNE'S team of champions at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

"Figuring that Chicago is 75 per cent better than a year ago," the physician in charge of the team said, "our boys will come through in all but two or three bouts."

"Do you mean that this year's New York team is that much better than the 1928 outfit which broke even in Chicago?" he was asked.

"Not a doubt about it," was the doctor's reply.

McGrail Has a Cold.

Freddy McGrail, team captain and middleweight champ, was the only man on the squad who didn't work out tonight. Fred was annoyed with a stuffy head cold and didn't feel much like training. Dr. Denaouley looked Freddy over, told him the cold was nothing to worry about and that it would in no wise interfere with his preparation for Wednesday night's doings.

FIREMEN IGNORE EVEN ALARM BELL FOR HANDBALL

Miller and Courtney Bat Way to Title.

Four men were playing last night for the handball championship of the Chicago fire department while the cheers of the packed gallery were ringing in the rafters of the engine houses at Des Plaines and Boston.

In a flash the cheering stopped. The alarm bell was echoing through the hall.

"Keep your seats," called a white haired captain. "Keep your seats, everybody."

Then swiftly and without confusion the men on duty slipped through the crowded aisles. A moment later came the roar of the great engines, the shriek of the siren, and "Play ball!" called a voice from the gallery. The game was on.

Enjoy Every Wallop.

Our Chicago firemen play handball in a way all their own. They don't play it as the tired business man plays golf for exercise or for indigestion or high blood pressure. They play it because they get a thrill out of every wallop.

And the spectators seemed to get the same thrill last night as Fred Miller and Pat Courtney swatted their way to the handball championship of the Chicago fire department, beating Lieut. James Biggy and James Wade, 19-21, 21-11, 13-21, 21-16, and 21-10. After the battle they received the Goodrich trophy, a big silver cup donated by Fire Commissioner Goodrich.

Problem Finally Solved.

And the firemen who couldn't get to the game because of duty, were there nevertheless in spirit. Directions were asked in one fire house and the men replied as a citizen of Louisville would reply if you stopped him on the morning of May 18th and asked the way to the Kentucky Derby.

"What does a fireman do when he's not going to a fire?"

He plays handball.

K. of C. League Quintets Play Quarter-Finals

Today's Games

2:15—Madonna vs. De Soto.
3:15—Hennepin vs. Aquinas.
4:15—St. Patrick vs. Oak Park.
5:15—Setters vs. Marquette.

Qualifiers for the semi-final round in the Knights of Columbus basketball league championship play will be determined this afternoon when the eight survivors clash in a quartet of contests at the 123d regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Indications are that the largest crowd which ever has seen a basketball game in Chicago will be present, shattering the old mark of 7,500 set several years ago by the K. of C. league in its title round.

The Aquinas-Hennepin and Marquette-Setters contests are the headliners. Aquinas qualified for the quarter finals by eliminating Peres, South division champion, in its first round game.

Setters is the West division champion, while Marquette holds the North division title. The north siders are one of the favorites to cop this year's league honors, but Setters is likely to present an obstacle with an air tight defense and a pair of fine forwards in Riley and Rintelman. Marquette will depend on Seplak, Mehalek, Smith, Hooker, and Krause, a quintet that has brought it three league championships in the last five years.

St. Pat's, holder of its sectional title, and Oak Park should also put on a close battle, while the Madonna-De Soto affair likewise is a tossup.

BOSTON HOCKEY TEAM REACHES PLAYOFF FINAL

MONTREAL, March 23.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins went into the final rounds of the playoff for the world's hockey championship tonight by taking their third successive game from Les Canadiens of Montreal. The score was 3 to 2.

Albert Leduc and Aurel Joliat gave Les Canadiens a two goal advantage midway through the first period, scoring on individual efforts only ten seconds apart. At the start of the second session the lighter Canadiens began to tire. In less than six minutes of the latter part of the period Boston scored three times and won the game.

Borotra Wins 3d U. S. Indoor Tennis Title

JEAN BOROTRA.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Jean Borotra, a Gallic whirlwind in a blue Beret, won the United States indoor tennis championship for France this afternoon. Raked by furious racquet fire, he fought off a gallant closing rally to defeat America's second ranking player, Frank Hunter, by scores of 6-4, 6-0, 4-6, 8-6.

By winning the title for the third time the veteran of the French Davis cup team, who already holds the covered courts crown of his own country, gained permanent possession of the big silver trophy offered by the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Jean now has won this championship every other year beginning in 1925 and his countryman, Henri Cochet, holds the United States outdoor crown, also won in a memorable duel with Hunter.

American players gained some slight consolation in the doubles final when Hunter and his partner, Bill Tilden, who did not enter the singles play, defeated Borotra and Watson Washburn of New York, 6-4, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

Trailed by two sets to love, Hunter carried the third at 6-4 by the power of his inimitable will backed up by the crushing force of his vicious forehand drives.

As the sharply contrasting pair came back for the fourth set—the dapper Frenchman in his jaunty cap, cream-colored trousers and clinging shirt, the stocky American with his jaw set stubbornly—there were many in the crowd of 3,500 who believed that Hunter could down Borotra from behind as he had in the outdoor championship last September.

This hope increased as Hunter broke through the Basque's service in the opening game to the tune of three perfect placements drives, but Borotra pierced the American's service at love in the fourth game and went level at two-all.

Leading by five games to four, Borotra twice stood at match point in the tenth game on Hunter's service but both times he punched the ball beyond the side lines.

SMITH'S 289 WINS RICH TOP PRIZES IN LA GORCE GOLF

Dudley, Los Angeles Pro, Finishes Second.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Horton Smith of Joplin, Mo., won the $15,000 open La Gorce golf tournament here today with a 289 for the 72 holes. Smith scored a 289 for the tournament, registering 36 for the first nine this afternoon and a 37, one over par, for the final nine holes.

Smith's bid for the $5,000 purse and the gold plate valued at $1,000 posted for the winner was threatened through the afternoon round and it was not until Ed Dudley of Los Angeles took his six on the seventeenth hole and dropped from consideration for a split of first money, that the Missourian won the event. Dudley finished with a 291 total.

Al Espinosa of Chicago, Walter Hagen of Detroit and Harry Cooper of Buffalo, N. Y., were tied next with 292. Next were Jimmy Thomson, Knoxville, Tenn., Billy Burke, Westport, N. Y., and George Christ, Rochester, N. Y., and Davenport, Fla., all with 293.

Before coming to Florida this winter, Smith won the Catalina open in California, the Oklahoma City open and placed in the money in all the championships this season.

Gar Wood Barely Misses World's Speed Boat Mark

Miami, Fla., March 23.—(AP)—Gar Wood late today barely missed by seven-tenths of a mile an hour breaking the world's straightaway speed boat record with his tri-motored craft Miss America VII. His average over the Indian river course was 92.12 miles an hour. The previous record, 92.838 miles an hour, set at Detroit last fall, was by Gar Wood's brother, George.

New York to Hold A. A. U. Indoor Swim Meet April 2

New York, March 23.—(AP)—The National A. A. U., indoor swimming championships for men will be held in the pools of the New York Athletic club and the Brooklyn Central Y. M. C. A. April 2 to 5, it was announced today.

Ohio Prep Champions Out of National Tourney

Columbus, O., March 23.—(AP)—Stivers High school of Dayton, state basketball champion, was refused permission to enter the national tournament in Chicago when the board of control of the state high school athletic association tonight voted 4 to 2 against it.

Chicago Polo Team Wins in N. Y. Tourney

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Making its first appearance in the Class C. National tournament, the 124th Field Artillery indoor polo team of Chicago, representing Illinois, swamped Fort Hamilton's trio, army representatives, by a score of 12 to ½ here tonight.

The Chicago outfit, starting with a one goal handicap, easily piled up 5½ points in the opening chukker on shots by Gossett and Ferguson. These westerners also added four goals in the second chukker. The individual work of Gossett featured the superior teamwork of the westerners. The Chicago star accounted for eight of his team's points.

HARVARD COLLEGE CHAMP.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Harvard's crack polo trio captured the intercollegiate title at the national indoor championships tonight by defeating the defending titleholders, Penn military college, six and one-half to six.

Briggs Realtors Win Central A. A. U. Title

Briggs' Realtors were crowned Central A. A. U. basketball champions last night, defeating B. R. R. Yarmos' cagers in the tournament final at De Paul university, 30 to 14. The O'Berta five finished in third place. In a preliminary, a girls' team from the Illinois Women's Athletic club defeated a team from the American College of Physical Education, 22 to 9.

Penn State Boxers Capture Eastern Title

State College, Pa., March 23.—(AP)—Penn State tonight regained the title it held in 1924 and 1927 in the intercollegiate boxing association championships by a margin of 23 to 13 over the Navy. The Penn State team duplicated the Middies' feat of winning the championship three times. Navy had won the meet in 1925, 1926 and 1928.

Begin War on Crows Now, Becker Urges

BY BOB BECKER.

If one pair of crows will destroy the eggs in two robins' nests within half an hour, a record which is authenticated, Illinois' excessive crow population is responsible for the death of thousands of song and game birds every year. Sportsmen who are interested in increasing the number of game birds in this state and the bird fans who want to see the songsters do well can afford to give the crow a little attention at this time of year when our songbirds are coming up from the south and the nesting season is close at hand.

Spring is an ideal time for a concentrated drive against the black "pirates of the air." The crow nests early in the season before heavy foliage covers the trees, so it is easy to locate their large bulky homes and riddle them with a charge from a 12 gauge shotgun.

The use of a shotgun to kill old birds and the season's crop of young birds which are potential destroyers of song and game birds is the safest method that can be recommended for farmers, sportsmen, and every one who wants to reduce the crow population.

Experienced game keepers will tell you that poisoned eggs placed in the crotches of trees and around ponds in wood tracts occupied by crows is an especially effective method of decimating the crow population. Hen eggs "loaded" with a small amount of strychnine is the bait used, and it is a deadly one because the nest robbers can't resist an egg.

Martin Hogan of Barrington, Ill., who has had many years experience in directing vermin control campaigns in England and Ireland, tells us that gamekeepers find this egg set up effective.

However, the use of poison in killing noxious birds and animals has many dangers unless it is handled by experienced persons. Most of us had better stick to the shotgun or the trap in our spring crow campaign.

Before many more months one may expect the state to establish an active vermin control bureau which will take care of the crow problem, but then all sportsmen and bird lovers should help fight the battle in behalf of our song and game birds.

Chicago Gymnast Wins Intercollegiate Meet

Philadelphia, March 23.—(AP)—Sixty gymnasts, defending champions of the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastic league, divided first place honors with Massachusetts Institute of Technology in the annual meet held here, each team winning two firsts. One first place winners were Arthur Gould, Dartmouth; John Mosier, University of Chicago, and J. H. Wheeler, New York university.

Panama Negro Whips Bernasconi in Madrid

MADRID, March 23.—(AP)—Al Brown, slender Panama Negro, easily outpointed the Italian, Bernasconi, in a ten round bout here tonight. Brown had Bernasconi in distress on several occasions but the Italian held on so tightly that Brown could not shake himself loose for a finishing punch.

DRIVE A CHRYSLER

DURING

"Learn-the-Difference" MONTH

Beginning Today in Every Chrysler Showroom in Cook County

Chrysler is eager for you to learn the d-i-f-f-e-r-e-n-c-e!

Starting today, and lasting four weeks, all Chrysler dealers in Cook County are holding a "Learn-the-Difference" Month—a rare opportunity to become automotively up-to-the-minute—Chrysler-wise, Chrysler-enlightened!

We want you to drive a Chrysler and learn the difference between Chrysler performance and any other with which you are familiar.

A Special Feature YOU Shouldn't Miss

It is of particular interest to every prospective purchaser to ask any Chrysler dealer or salesman about the Special "Learn-the-Difference" Gift Card.

For there is a difference—an overwhelming difference in the things Chrysler does, and how it does them.

But there is only one sure way in which you will know how decisive this difference actually is: That is to see, and feel and experience—to ride in and drive a Chrysler car, whether a "65," or "75," or Imperial—you doing the driving.

Then, and then only, will you know how wide a margin separates Chrysler from all other cars!

Take advantage of Chrysler "Learn-the-Difference" Month at once. Go to your nearest Chrysler salesroom—see the unmatched features—experience the unprecedented performance.

Do Not Miss This Opportunity

Remember—every Chrysler dealer in Cook County is participating in this great event—everyone is eager and anxious to have you put all Chrysler claims to the test, to learn for yourself what a vast difference there actually is in performance, appearance and value between Chrysler and other cars.

Once you drive a Chrysler and learn the difference, you will never be content with any other car. Your judgment will insist that you own a Chrysler!

$70,000 STAKE TOPS ARLINGTON PARK PROGRAM

Track Offers Chicago Its Richest Turf Card.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The most elaborate racing program ever offered in Chicago and one of the richest presented in the world was announced yesterday for the mid-summer season at Arlington park.

ROY CARRUTHERS.

It is to be the first meeting conducted by the reorganized American National Jockey club. The added money for the 29 days beginning July 1 and ending Aug. 3 will be $450,000. Another $50,000, made up in the nomination and starting fees of eleven stakes, will make the total prize money gross $500,000.

The headliner for this elaborate turf presentation will be a 3 year old special to be known as the American Classic. It will carry an estimated value of $70,000 and has been arranged to match the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes. The first American Classic will be run July 13. If it is captured by the winner of the Kentucky Derby, American Derby, Preakness or Belmont stakes, $10,000 extra will be added to the purse.

Two Stake Events Each Week.

With 11 stake races, ranging in value from the $5,000 Cherry Circle claiming stakes to the $70,000 American Classic, sandwiched into the 29 days of sport, the program will call for the running of at least two stake events each week. During one week of the meeting, there will be a stake event on the program every second day.

Entries for the 11 events will close May 11. The complete stake program follows:

FOR THREE YEAR OLDS AND UPWARD.

Stars and Stripes handicap, $15,000 added, mile and a furlong, July 4.

Cherry Circle Claiming stakes, $5,000 added, seven furlongs, July 10.

Arlington handicap, $20,000 added, mile and a furlong, July 20.

FOR THREE YEAR OLDS.

American Classic, $60,000 added, mile and a quarter, July 13.

North Shore handicap, $7,500 added, mile, July 27.

FOR TWO YEAR OLDS.

Post and Paddock stakes, $10,000 added, 5½ furlongs, July 6.

Lassie stakes [fillies], $5,000 added, 5½ furlongs, July 17.

Joseph McLennan of Chicago, who has been named racing secretary and clerk of the course, arranged the program. He announced that overnight handicaps and condition races designed to bring horses of the first class into competition will be offered on each day's program. The value of these events will range from $1,500 to $2,500.

Eight Races July Fourth.

The Independence day program illustrates the character of the racing to be offered at Arlington. The Stars and Stripes handicap with $15,000 added will be run on the holiday. There also will be an overnight handicap carrying a $2,000 prize. Another handicap worth $1,500 will be on the program aside from five $1,200 races.

The organization which will conduct Arlington Park is representative of Chicago's leaders in sportsmanship. Charles A. McCulloch is chairman of the board; Otto W. Lehmann is president; Laurence Armour, Roy D. Keehn, Weymouth Kirkland and John R. Thompson Jr. are vice presidents; Roy Carruthers is secretary and executive director, and Leopard S. Florsheim, treasurer. The executive committee is made up of John D. Hertz, chairman; Leonard S. Florsheim, Otto W. Lehmann, Charles A. McCulloch and John R. Thompson Jr.

"This new Chicago organization has bought and paid for Arlington Park and all that pertains to it," Mr. Carruthers, executive director, said yesterday. "The obligations of the original organization have been discharged in full. Our new club starts with a clean slate to conduct racing for the improvement of the breed of horses as racing always has been conducted at Saratoga and Belmont Park.

No Dividends to Backers.

"If anything, racing at Arlington Park will from this time be conducted on lines more altruistic than the racing at even Saratoga and Belmont. Dividends might be declared by the Saratoga and Westchester associations. There can't be dividends at Arlington Park. After a sum large enough to reimburse the organizers of this new enterprise for money advanced has been earned, all gains will go back into improvements and purses. The charter provides for this."

8—Golden Prince, Hydromel, Schmitar.
9—Clermont Jr., Just Beau, Rockbomb.
10—Alto, Billy, Paiolo.

New Orleans, March 23.—[Special.]—The Bell Farm stable's Adamas brought his performances at this track to a conclusion in a blaze of glory when he captured the Shadow Lawn handicap at Jefferson Park here today. It was the concluding day of the meeting and the final day of sport in this city this season.

The victory of Adamas was scored in a terrific drive and makes three consecutive firsts for him in four starts. In the other start he ran second to Sister Zoe. Today Adamas won by a head from Comet and led Sister Zoe by a length and a half.

Adamas Reverses Form.

The five year old son of Wrightone-Finery came here from a tour of the Pacific coast without a winning performance to his credit. Making two starts at the Fair Grounds, Adamas experienced no better luck, but a switch to the Jefferson Park racing strip made for a startling change. The big fellow finished second behind Sister Zoe in a nick and neck finish and then clicked off three victories.

Pays Even Money.

He carried top weight of 118 pounds and was conceding from 12 to 18 pounds to all the others. His time was 1:47 2-5 for a mile and a sixteenth over a fast track. Adamas was the favorite and paid $4.30 for a $2 ticket.

The secondary feature was the Bay St. Louis handicap and went to Mrs. W. J. Potter's Genuine, which has been in the money in ten of his thirteen New Orleans races.

McQueen, Bradley Cager, Wins Little 19 Distinction

Peoria, Ill., March 23.—(AP)—Clyde McQueen, Bradley center, today was voted the most valuable player to his basketball team in the Little Nineteen season of 1929. Coaches assisted the Peoria Transcript in making the selection. The award carries the Journal-Transcript trophy.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 23.—There is a growing need for the organization of a cauliflower Kiwanis or some organization of that sort to uphold the ideal of service in the prize fighting industry and preserve the fair name of the game from the misdoing of individual members.

It is agreed among those who were present at the recent battle of the home loving young husbands in Miami Beach that the ideal of service was severely knocked about on that evening, to the annoyance of the customers and the general detriment of the entire prize fighting trade. William Stribling, an old offender, was largely responsible for the esthetic failure of the performance, for he was lacking in diligence and showed no disposition to give the customers a dollar's worth of fighting, or even 3 cents' worth of fighting, for a dollar.

Notwithstanding William's cynical disregard for the rights of the customers, he was paid at the rate of $2,000 dollars a minute, and notwithstanding this, his only remark was not an apology, but a demand for a return bout on the same, or better, terms.

Supposed Ruminations of a Disappointed Customer.

If I had been a customer instead of a professional witness on that evening I should be inclined to ponder the matter of William's desire for a return match and to wonder where I got off. I would have paid $25 already to see William fight Jack Sharkey and I would have an active sense that he had obtained my money under false representations. I might even feel that in the event of their fighting a return bout I would be entitled to a free ticket upon the presentation of the stub of the first one, on the theory that William still owed me a fight.

Obviously if there had been a cauliflower Kiwanis club, the leaders of the industry would have felt compelled to take steps for the protection of the customers. They would have haled him before the committee on business discipline, ethics and practice on a charge of malfeasance and would have ordered him to fight a return match free of charge. Refusing to do so, he would have been expelled from the organization and forbidden to wear the insignia of the cauliflower Kiwanis on his bathrobe or boxing trunks.

Of course, the great Kiwanis organization might be slow to accept the idea of a cauliflower branch but this would be due to old prejudice and a misunderstanding of the prize fighting industry. It might be necessary to present the books of the large prize fighting firms to convince the Kiwanis that prize fighting is indeed a robust industry owning important property in the larger cities and having bankers, stock brokers and the like on its boards of directors.

Fight Industry Has Come a Long, Long Distance.

The industry has progressed far from its old surroundings in barren dance halls, abandoned car barns, and burlesque show theaters. In New York, Chicago, Boston, and Los Angeles it does business in large amphitheaters especially designed for its purposes, and its patronage, as the late Tex Rickard was so fond of boasting, is drawn from refindest dam people in the country.

The cauliflower industry seems ripe and eligible for Kiwanis, and the customers yearn for the observance of the ideal of service.

In several years of more or less attentive observation of William Stribling's career I have seen a mounting obligation on William's part toward the customers. At a rough estimate I should say he owes the customers of the New York region about two hundred thousand dollars' worth of prize fighting to date. At Miami he left the ring owing the customers about $59,850 worth of fighting, and if there had been some idealistic organization in charge of the affair he would have been paid $150 for his efforts and the remainder of his purse would have been diverted to more worthy objects.

It might even have been returned to the customers, with the apologies of the management, although that idea seems a bit extreme. The money back principle has been adopted by many industries, but I doubt that the prize fighting trade is ready for it yet. It is a direct violation of the basic principle of the fight promoter, the fighter, and the fighter's manager, who found their whole business practice on the notion that the customer's dollar, like a fumbled football, belongs to the one who falls on it first.

Jack Sharkey Also Seems to Be in Public's Debt.

Mr. Sharkey also is somewhat in arrears in his obligations to the customers. I recall one prize fight of his in the new Garden two or three years ago which was so bad that the prize fight commissioners haled him before them to give an account of himself. On the theory that nobody could fight that badly without a conscious effort they accused him of betraying the ideals of the sport. This placed Mr. Sharkey in a curious position. His pride and his purse were at stake, and one or the other had to go. If he admitted that he had not fought his utmost the commissioners would withhold his purse. If he insisted that he had fought his best he would condemn himself as one of the worst prize fighters of his time.

Mr. Sharkey met the situation boldly. "You men have got me all wrong," he explained. "You think I am a great fighter. As a matter of fact, I am a punk fighter. That was a great fight for me."

So he received his money and relied on the customers' great capacity to forget.

The details of the cauliflower Kiwanis would have to be worked out gradually and the committee on business discipline, ethics, and practice would have to exercise great forbearance and patience with the boys for a long time. They are children of nature, and their sense of business morality is delightfully primitive. William Stribling and his father and his mother express the whole business ideal of the prize fighter in demanding a return match for $60,000 in order that William may prove to his faithful following that he was not fighting his best the first time he got $60,000.

PIONEER DAYS ECHOED IN 4,500 MILE CANOE TRIP

Montreal Man to Span Canada in Frail Boat.

An echo of the pioneer spirit of the days of Sir Alexander Mackenzie is the announcement that a young Montreal man will attempt to cross the dominion from coast to coast, a distance of 4,500 miles, in a 24 foot canoe. Long portages, dangerous rapids, lonely, uninhabited stretches of barren country and the fickle impulses of the elements all will be encountered in the daring enterprise.

Paul Paquin, 27 year old Montreal road contractor, conceived this plan some time ago and began to lay his plans. He mapped out a route similar, though not exactly the same, as that over which the intrepid pioneer of Canadian history, Sir Alexander Mackenzie, carved his way to fame and a niche in the annals of Canadian explorers by his unprecedented feat in 1792 when he almost crossed the continent in a canoe. Sir Alexander was interrupted in his journey.

Tendered Farewell Banquet.

With his plan still new, Paquin met Dick Lesage, one of the runners in the C. C. Pyle cross continental derby last year. Lesage was interested in the plan and became Paquin's manager in the proposed canoe enterprise.

The first official action was taken Friday when a farewell banquet was tendered the canoeist. Final arrangements were made and toward the end of March, Paquin and Lesage will entrain for Vancouver.

There they will purchase a 24 foot canoe and will be met by a government photographer who will be Paquin's companion on the trip. Lesage will not make the trip in the canoe, but will keep in close touch with the participants. Two Indian guides also will be taken on the long journey.

The financing of the trip will be arranged through grants from both the provincial and federal parliaments, and several companies will lend their aid. The objects of the trip, as learned from Lesage, are scientific research, historical significance and the sporting element that the hazardous undertaking holds forth.

Hazardous Trip Through Rockies.

The route will commence near Vancouver and will take its way northward, slanting inland toward the forbidding and almost impassable Rocky mountains. After passing Kamloops, the hardest part of the journey will start. As the heart of the mountains is approached, the task will assume difficulties which may prove almost insurmountable. The streams become narrower and eventually are mere trickles, necessitating arduous work of lifting the canoe and its contents long distances to the next short stretch of navigable water.

Once the Rockies have been crossed in safety, the rest of the trip will be made with comparative ease.

BEST CLUBS OF N. L. TRAINING ON COAST, IT SEEMS

Californians Can't "See" Teams in Florida.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 23.—It is the feeling of baseball dopesters in California that none of the teams training in Florida this spring has a look in for the National league pennant.

JOE McCARTHY.

This is not altogether California propaganda against the rival orange and climate boosters, for baseball visitors to these shores, who deal out weighty opinions in regard to the national pastime, concede that one of the strongest contenders has been encamped at San Antonio, which is in the state of Texas. At Cub headquarters in Los Angeles no effort is made to cover up the respect the club has for the New York Giants, late of San Antonio, and the Pirates, late of Paso Robles, Cal. Virtually no conversation bears on what the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds have been doing way off in Florida.

There is more than modest reticence behind the manner in which the more experienced Cubs discuss their chances to cop the National league championship. The fans in Chicago, of course, have been sniffing at the rest of the world ever since Rogers Hornsby was added to the fold. The Cubs themselves are optimistic, but several of the athletes, the old heads particularly, are putting the soft pedal on pennant claims.

Cubs Behind in Training.

Simultaneously with announcements from San Antonio that perfect training weather had moved the Giants along faster than ever before came the statement from Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs that his players, on breaking camp at Catalina island, were far behind their conditioning status at the same juncture in the training program a year ago. Upon visiting Los Angeles McCarthy's theory seemingly got immediate substantiation, for in the first game after the closing of the training camp the Los Angeles Angels scored 10 runs against the Cubs, and in the second game the Angels beat the Chicagoans 13 to 12.

The wailing this occasioned was somewhat abated, however, in the third game of the series when the Cubs ran wild and got their first pitching of the year. The score was 17 to 0, Hack Wilson leading the Cub attack with three homers and two singles, good for ten runs.

In considering their National league enemies the Cubs have proceeded on the theory that both Waner brothers eventually will be brought into the Pittsburgh fold. But the feeling hereabouts is that, while the Pirates will be one of the toughest teams to top, the Bush mob isn't comparable to the Giants, principally because the Pittsburghers aren't assured of getting the class of pitching the New Yorkers reasonably may expect.

Pitching Is Chief Problem.

Chicago partisans aren't worrying, as many fans seem to think, about the third base assignment nearly so much as they are about the pitching. Even if Root and Carlson return to their old time form and Blake, Malone, Nehf, and Bush duplicate their successful performances of 1928, there still would be room for another A1 pitcher if the pennant dream is to be realized. There are several fairly good rookies with the club, but none is likely to set the league on fire.

Fight Move for Stricter Badger Eligibility Rule

Madison, Wis., March 23.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin athletic department is fighting a move by certain members of the faculty to raise the eligibility standards at the Badger school. The showdown will come at the next faculty meeting, April 1.

Wisconsin athletes now must achieve .8 of a grade point per credit. One grade point is given for marks of from 77-84, two from 85-93, and three for 93-100. The present system makes it possible for a man to score between 70 and 77 in one subject and still remain eligible.

Prof. Paul A. Rauschenbush of the economics department is the champion of the plan to make the athletes achieve one grade point per credit. His chief ally is Prof. Walter Sharp a political scientist.

New York Pitchers Stop Chicago's Attack.

and the bas were filled when Cissell bobbled Leach's grounder. A nice one hand catch of Hogan's drive averted any further difficulty.

Hubbell's southpaw shoots were so well directed in the early stages of the combat that the extent of the Sox attack was confined to two singles and an impressive triple by Metzler. These were useless, however.

The Giants added another run in the third when a feeble pop-up by Lindstrom bounced out of Kamm's glove. Lindstrom reached second on Terry's infield out and scored when, with two down, Jackson bounced a single past Kerr.

The Sox were four runs in arrears at the conclusion of the fifth inning. Reese scored for the New Yorkers when he doubled to right center, moved to third on Lindstrom's infield out and trotted home on a long sacrifice fly by Ott.

Metzler Scores First Run.

In the sixth the Sox broke through for a run with the assistance of an error. Metzler's second hit, a single to left, put him on first. Kerr rolled to Hubbell, whose throw to second for the force out went astray when nobody covered the bag. A double steal followed and Metzler counted the first Sox run when Shires was out, Terry to Hubbell.

The run that New York made in the seventh on singles by Reese and Ott and Barrett's fumble was matched by one that the Hose manufactured in the eighth. Another error by Reese figured in the second Chicago marker. It was Metzler again who scored and who provided a single to center that aided materially.

It probably will be Thomas against Fitzsimmons tomorrow.

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question F. G. Mueller, 4531 North Paulina street, was awarded $5.

The Question.

What teams do you think shape up best in the two major leagues?

The Answers.

Charles Vanier, 399 East 54th street, elevator man. — I believe the Athletics will win in the American league, because of the strength of their pitching staff. They also have a fast infield. The New York Giants seem strongest in the National league, for they are the best all around team. The Cubs have some good players, but the Giants are superior to them.

Arthur B. Rosenberg, 716 Buckingham place, drapery salesman.—The Yanks are the best in the American league. It seems to be the popular expression at the end of each season to say the Yanks have reached their peak, but this year they are stronger than ever. Huggins' team is the strongest in both leagues. The Cubs will [illegible] nant in the National league, since they acquired Hornsby.

Jerome Streska, 2210 South [illegible] Park avenue, [illegible] — The Cubs are strongest team in the National league, the Yanks in the American league. The Cubs may be [illegible] upon because they have Hornsby, and the Yanks because that team seems to be in better shape than ever. Their players are coming back in shape, they have everything a winning team needs.

William De Vries, Norwood Park, Ill., machinist — I would say the Yanks and the Cubs. One thing about the Yanks is that Babe Ruth is with them. The Cubs have Hornsby, who will be a big help and a well balanced lineup.

Roy Peterson, 8414 La Trobe [illegible] Niles Center, Ill., clothing cutter—[illegible] they have Hornsby [illegible] Cubs ought to cop the National league [illegible] If Babe Ruth is [illegible] ting on all six, the New York Yanks will win in the American league.

Purdue Adds Earl Martineau to Grid Staff

Lafayette, Ind., March 23.—[Special.]—Earl Martineau, all-American half back at Minnesota in 1923, and for the last five years head football coach at Western State Teachers' college at Kalamazoo, Mich., was signed today as assistant football coach at Purdue university, completing the gridiron staff.

Martineau's addition to the Purdue staff was particularly pleasing to Coach Phelan, for the former Gopher star, in addition to being recognized as a great player on his own part, has demonstrated his coaching ability at Western State, where he has lost only eight games in five years.

8 IN-LINE

Buy an EIGHT

. . . . . and be sure it's an Eight-in-line

There is no finer motor car performance than that which the Eight-in-line motors have made possible.

As the eight has swept to the crest of public preference, Gardner, a pioneer of the Eight-in-line principle, has been favored by those who demand the utmost in performance.

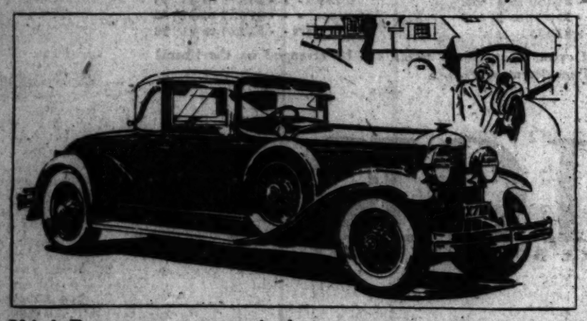

If it is Power you want most in the next car you buy—the new Gardner Eight-in-line will give you surplus power.

If it is Smoothness—few cars can equal the smoothness of the quiet Gardner Eight-in-line motor.

Perhaps quick Acceleration is all-important? Then your next car will be a Gardner.

Style, of course, will influence your selection—and in this Gardner proudly boasts a mode of its own. A happy blend of dash and dignity. A really SMART motor car.

As to Price, Gardner has lifted the barrier for those who have wanted a quality eight of highest performance at moderate cost . . . Ownership can be had for the price of the average six.

Thirty minutes in one of the new Gardner Eight-in-line cars will give you a new conception of the pleasures, comfort and safety to which every Gardner owner points with pride.

Straight-Eight Power is easy power

That's why Marmon Straight-Eights are setting new records for long life

THE work of propelling an automobile is the same to its engine whether there are four, six or eight cylinders, the difference being in the amount of work done by each cylinder.

That's why straight-eight power is easy power. Two extra cylinders take 25% of the work off the other six and divide it up among themselves. Power impulses are lighter—less shock and wear to each part. Eight impulses instead of six mean more frequent power strokes, which melt or merge into a silky stream of power. Effortless operation. Remarkable flexibility. Gear shifting reduced fully one-half. Easy on the engine.

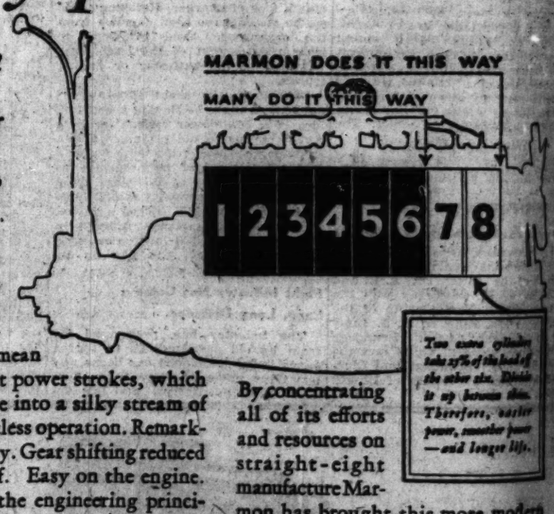

These are the engineering principles which Marmon put to work in the New Marmon 68 and 78 which in the hands of owners have established enviable records of economy, dependability and long life.

By concentrating all of its efforts and resources on straight-eight manufacture Marmon has brought this more modern type of transportation within the price range of those who formerly contented themselves with sixes.

Prices—New 68, $1485. New 78, $1795. Prices at factory. Deluxe equipments extra. Attractive and convenient income-purchase plan.

G. M. Williams, President, Marmon Motor Car Company, under whose direction this company has concentrated on the straight-eight for more than two years, making it a practical, economical and long-lived car for all to own.

MOTORS — TRAFFIC — HIGHWAYS

SUMMER TO SEE SLIGHT CHANGE IN AUTO STYLES

Producers to Concentrate on Big Volume.

Detroit, March 23.—Few automobile [illegible] are building for the near future of the motor car trade, it has developed here in the past few weeks, which some of them plan changes as early as this summer. One or two models of eight cylinder cars are nearly ready for announcement and several innovations are scheduled for fall. In the main, however, the producers are proceeding on a policy of making and selling the 1929 output as is, and so far as volume is concerned little change may be expected before 1930.

Those interested in a new car with a front wheel drive, which was scheduled to make its appearance early in April, must wait a few months longer because of delay on the part of the engineers. They realize the car must be perfect to pass muster in the market, and tests made of advance models did not meet requirements.

Makes 8,066 a Day.

Ford appears to be doing everything possible to satisfy demands for Model A. One recent day's production was 8,066. Of this number 6,286 were for domestic trade. The remainder were for foreign shipment, which included 187 produced in the Canadian plant just across the Detroit river.

Automobile activities in Europe and England are given impetus by announcement that Ford has more than doubled the stock of his German company, formation of expansions in Holland, Poland and England, as well as its enlargement of the German company, and acquisition by General Motors corporation of the Opel automobile works in Germany. Official announcement of the latter, however, has not yet been made, but it is expected any time.

With these industrial giants in active competition in Europe it cannot do other than act to the financial benefit of automobile buyers in those countries. Ford will probably confine himself to the low price field, while General Motors will be able to furnish a car in any of the various price ranges.

Accessory Makers Busy.

Parts and accessories and rubber dealers are being favorably affected by the comfortable position in which manufacturers now find themselves, and producers in these allied industries are working fast to supply the ever increasing demands made upon them, and a majority of plants have orders booked for weeks ahead.

Production is being increased rapidly by tire makers to care for the volume of original equipment orders, with present facilities being inadequate to handle these and replacement business as well.

Promise is given by present conditions of a continued heavy demand for cars and trucks much later in the season than is normally the case. The commercial vehicles, especially the truck branch of the industry, continues a steadily upward trend, with manufacturers supplying the demand with but little delay.

What Price Racing?

Question by interested public: "What benefit, if any, are the speed trials at Daytona Beach which cost the lives of a pilot and a photographer?"

Answer by automotive engineers and heads of research departments: "None whatever. Such an automobile, built at great expense, in no way benefits the present-day automobile or those that are to be built in years to come. Types of cars, such as the Golden Arrow and Triplex are constructed for the purpose of creating new speed records, after which they are useless for any other purpose. They are part automobile and part airplane—mechanical monstrosities."

NEWS AND VIEWS

Hudson-Essex, in its new factory program, is marketing 176 color combinations and 225 different types of cars, and is manufacturing them in mass production with the same speed and resultant economy that ordinarily marks the production of cars which are precisely alike in color and design, the factory announces. Under its present movement the company is delivering 1,900 cars a day and assembles the 40,000 parts which go to make them up from an area five miles across with remarkable precision. The achievement of turning out a highly complicated machine in a variation of colors and types to the number of 1,900 a day in a plant built to handle 900 cars a day, is considered one of the marvels of modern motor car building.

Jordan, according to factory announcement, tripled its February production records this year and has on hand more unfilled orders than at any time during the past three years. Edward S. Jordan has concluded arrangements with the new distribution organization known as Jordan Distributors, Inc., and headquarters have been established in New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

H. T. Ewald, president of Campbell-Ewald, Detroit, announces appointment of C. Halstead Cottington as New York art director. He will be located in the New York office to purchase art, but his services will be utilized by the entire Campbell-Ewald organization.

The entire passenger car manufacturing facilities of the Chrysler Motors plant in Highland Park at Detroit has been taken over for the exclusive production of the De Soto six, according to an announcement by company officials.

Hupmobile will stage its greatest single driveaway of straight eights from Detroit on April 17 and 18. This driveaway is to provide for the delivery of more than 150 cars to purchasers from the Chicago territory. The Hupmobile distributor in Chicago is the Gambill company.

"All previous production and sales records for Stuts and Blackhawk cars were broken in the last three weeks and the season's peak is by no means reached," E. R. Parker, vice president and general sales manager of Stuts, asserts.

The manufacturing facilities of Chevrolet, numbering sixteen plants, are rapidly approaching the volume of output necessary to meet this year's revised annual quota, which calls for 1,850,000 passenger car and truck units, it was signified when W. S. Knudsen, president, announced to C. L. Alexander, Chicago zone manager, that March production would reach 140,000 units.

Willard McAllister, on automobile row for the last fifteen years, has been made manager of the used car department of the Bird-Sykes company, Graham-Paige distributors. Mr. McAllister returns to an organization with which for five years he was formerly identified.

MOTOR OFFICIAL SEES 1929 AS BEST IN HISTORY

February Production Set New Record.

Announcing a 10 per cent gain thus far in 1929 compared with the same period in 1928, Alvan Macauley, president of the National Automobile chamber of commerce, speaking before the body recently at Detroit, indicated that this would be the best year in the motor industry.

The February production of members, estimated from shipping statements, was reported as 342,344, as against 320,822 in February, 1928. The total is exclusive of Ford. With the latter figures added, it is clear that the month's total will be the largest February on record and may prove to be the largest month in the history of the business.

Looks Like Best Year.

"The gains in business this year as compared with last are gratifying, not only because they show progress but also because they indicate a conservative advance in production operations," Mr. Macauley said.

"The industry may look forward to the best year in its history, based on increases in general prosperity both here and abroad, as well as on a more intensive use of motor transportation in a wide variety of carrying operations.

"Industry is always in the healthiest condition when it is making consistent steady progress, which is the situation indicated for this year.

Cars Follow New Roads.

"In the United States highway construction is going forward at the rate of 40,000 to 50,000 miles of hard surfaced roads per year. As rapidly as these roads are built, bus lines are being installed and high grade commercial vehicle delivery service is being instituted.

"Passenger car trade is continuing active, because the cars in all price classes are being offered at the best values in the history of the business.

"Export trade was close to 550,000 vehicles during the last year, and each car owner is, by his example, a salesman for motor transportation. Experience in the United States has shown that the more cars there are in the field the better is the market. That is true not only because of replacement demand but also because the convenience of motor transportation is its own best advertisement."

SHORTENING OF HIGHWAYS SAVES TIME AND MONEY

Relocating of Roads Is Economical.

Relocations of highways attendant with the laying of pavements, save both the motorist and the government considerable sums of money, highway records reveal.

Samuel Eckels, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania department of highways, asserts that in the last few years relocations brought about by new highway paving, have shortened Pennsylvania roads by 210 miles. Mr. Eckels estimates that this travel distance saved is worth more than ten million dollars annually to the users of Pennsylvania highways.

Relocations, highway authorities point out, are not always feasible but frequently new alignments can be made that make for straighter and safer travel. For instance, Colorado has just completed a 73 mile concrete pavement between Denver and Colorado Springs—an up to date highway that is not interrupted by a single railroad grade crossing. Five of the original thirteen crossing were eliminated simply by relocation of the highway.

Thorough Study Needed.

Efficiency highway building now calls for a thorough study of all conditions and circumstances before the pavement is laid. Modern highway builders, in considering the location of a pavement, no longer take the original right of way for granted. The roadway is surveyed and if practicable it is shortened. Hundreds of miles of travel are wasted daily because of round about routes and "happenstance" engineering of other days.

Professor T. R. Agg, nationally known highway engineer of Iowa State college, after conducting a lengthy study of wasted travel, declares that tremendous savings are possible by making travel more direct.

Good Economy.

His figures show that if a highway carries about 1,000 cars a day, or a total of 365,000 tons of traffic a year, each foot of distance saved to traffic will justify an expenditure of at least $60 for road shortening. That is to say it would be strict economy to spend $316,800 to shorten a road by one mile.

So, in addition to the regular benefits pavement projects also bring the likelihood of shortening the roadway the least possible distance. This to the least possible distance. This means money saved to the motorist, who is also the taxpayer, and to the government through lowered maintenance and construction costs.

DULUTH GAS MEN FIGHT MOVE TO BAN CURB PUMPS

A fight to retain their gasoline pumps by tire and battery dealers in Duluth looms if the city council fails to reconsider its action not to renew curb gasoline pump licenses upon their expiration on April 30.

This was the decision arrived at by twenty-five operators, most of them tire and battery dealers. The operators are protecting their own rights in a matter that involves a large investment in pumps, tanks, and labor required in installing them. A committee was appointed to head the fight.

Data will be gathered by the committee concerning curb pump legislation in other cities to prove that while other cities might prevent the issuance of licenses for additional pumps, they did not cancel permits for those already established and thus confiscate property. At the meeting it was brought out that there are 164 curb pumps in operation in Duluth.

KEEP GEARS MESHED.

There is excessive wear on the gear teeth if a car is driven with the gears only half meshed. The result of this habit is that the transmission may develop the annoying habit of slipping into neutral.

MINNESOTA PLANS STATE MOTOR TRAFFIC POLICE

A state traffic patrol, as a means of curbing reckless driving and reducing accidents will be recommended to the legislature by C. M. Babcock, Minnesota commissioner of highways.

"A state traffic patrol is the only way we can get uniform enforcement of the traffic laws," says Mr. Babcock. "Several counties have some excellent traffic officers. The visible presence of a uniformed patrolman on a highway has a very marked effect on reckless drivers. But it is noticeable that many who drive carefully on a road where they may meet an officer forget their caution when they cross the line into a county having no officers. Arrests made by officers hidden in the roadside have little if any more effect than no enforcement at all.

"If there were just a small number of uniformed state traffic officers scattered over the state highways, not limited by county lines, it would have a very marked effect in curbing reckless drivers. Such a force should consist of trained, courteous, and carefully selected men. The aim should be to prevent accidents and keep traffic moving. There should be no arrests for harmless technical violations of the traffic law, but vigorous action against the comparatively small number of drivers who endanger all others using the highways.

"A traffic patrol should have no other duties than enforcing the traffic laws and protecting the highways. Protection of the highways against damage by overloading would probably save enough in highway maintenance to pay the whole cost of a state patrol."

Highways in Florida Now Rate with America's Best

Highways in Florida are now rated among the finest in America. Auto tourists, who, a few years ago, found such deplorable conditions, now ride over wide ribbon-like highways of concrete that stretch for miles ahead.

MAY INAUGURATE GREAT HIGHWAY IN CUBA IN 1930

Official inauguration of the 700 mile $75,000,000 central highway of Cuba on Feb. 24, 1931, will be celebrated by a triumphal procession led by President Gerardo Machado and his official family from the western end of the highway to Santiago de Cuba in the east.

The department of public works announced that work on the highway is progressing much more rapidly than expected and that an effort would be made to complete the road before Oct. 10, 1930, in which case the inaugural ceremonies would be moved forward to that date, Cuba's independence day.

LUBRICATION IS CHEAP.

The entire chassis of a car can now be lubricated for a small sum.

Brookhart Claims Toll Bridges Are Huge Graft

In the belief that toll bridges constitute one of the biggest grafts in the United States, Senator Brookhart of Iowa has announced that he is preparing a bill to have the government take over all pay bridges. The cost of the purchase would be $500,000,000 or $600,000,000 on those already constructed and proposed. Since automobile traffic has become so heavy, he said, the toll bridge evil has grown tremendously, especially on interstate roads and over navigable streams like the Mississippi river.

TRICK DEVICES IN SOME STATES CREATE DANGER

Texas Has Bumper Gates and "Dips."

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

Through use of model traffic codes, standardized methods of highway construction, uniform signal devices and the like, the ordinary features of motor travel do not vary in general character throughout the country. Yet local customs and local road characteristics do have some puzzling elements for strangers, and in some positive danger exists for visiting drivers.

One of the really hazardous conditions now to be found in America is in Texas. To the native the condition is of little importance because he knows where to find it and what to do about it. To the visitor it is a serious matter. This is the system of "dips" constructed in the paved highways. The "dips" consist of a depression in the pavement to a depth of four or five feet and for a distance of forty or fifty feet. They were built in the paved routes all through Texas, south of Dallas, under design adopted by the state highway department.

Runs Over Road.

The designers of this trap specified the depressions as a means of clearing away surface water after the sudden downpours of rain which are frequent in that locality. The theory of construction was to most easily dispose of this storm water without damage to grades or pavement. The dips occur most frequently near the bed of a stream. While a culvert bridges the stream it was found that the volume of water was so great at times that it could not all get through the culvert and unless some additional outlet was provided might wash the road away.

Therefore a way was made to let part of the collected water run over the road. Experience proved that in the case of a majority of the overflows, the water would clear away in an hour or two, if extra flowage way was provided.

Escape Auto Lights.

From a driving standpoint, however, the depressions offer a distinct danger to those unacquainted with their exact locations. Sending a car across one at fifty miles an hour may result, and frequently does, in tearing the rear end of the car loose from the chassis, or at least breaking springs. If a driver, at this clip, escapes rear end breakage, the chance of the car getting completely out of control is favorable.

Driving at night the best of lights will fail to show the depression for more than 100 feet ahead and even in the daylight the defect is not visible for more than 150 yards.

Because of numerous accidents the state highway department has altered the design for all new work and is rebuilding the pavements as rapidly as possible to do away with the hazards.

Bumper Gates.

Another peculiarity of driving in Texas is the so-called "bumper gate." On the highway from San Antonio to El Paso, through the vast grazing area, there are more than seventy bumper gates. These consist of swinging gates across the highway which may be opened by moving the bumper of the car up to them and driving through. The gate is weighted so that it closes by itself. The gates are installed for the purpose of keeping range cattle from straying from one ranch property to another, the land not being fenced parallel with the highway, but only on lines which cross the highway.

While the device seems simple enough in practical use, a considerable amount of skill is necessary to drive through them safely. This is because the gates are weighted so heavily that they spring back with great force, and if a car is only partially through when the gate returns it will be struck a severe blow, with a possibility of the running board or side equipment being sheared off. Natives know the trick of applying power so that the gate is opened with a sharp push and then, in low gear, the car is shot through before the gate has reached its point of greatest distance and starts back.

Water, Water Everywhere.

In Mississippi and also in Arkansas there frequently occur sudden rains which back up small rivers and creeks and overflow the highways. The overflow is seldom more than a couple of feet and those who know the roads and water conditions are able to drive through without much inconvenience.

The stranger, however, faced with a broad expanse of water and no particular information as to the line of the road, is stumped. Unless other cars are passing through, cars which he may follow, the adventure of a passing is difficult to contemplate. In such places natives generally rally at either end and tow or guide for a consideration. At one such ford in Mississippi recently the pilot of a tow car said that the one day rain had netted him nearly $200. He was in favor of more and heavier rains. Especially are the inconveniences of water covered roads emphasized by the approach of nightfall, as the task appears more nearly insurmountable when surveyed by head light illumination.

Mountain driving in the eastern states, at least, has lost most of its terror. On practically all the main traveled routes pavements are complete over all rises of importance and all a tourist needs to do is to keep his car going and not let it overheat. On all modern mountain roads nowadays frequent parking spaces at the roadsides have been built to serve cars which need to stop to cool off engines, so that they will not interfere with traffic.

AVERAGE USE OF GAS.

An average of 500 gallons of gasoline is used annually for each automobile in the United States. Georgia, with an average of 780 gallons, leads all other states. Cars in Iowa use the least, with 404 gallons per annum.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

DOES HE WANT TO?

Chicago, March 19.—Why Dr. Robertson wants to build a super-highway on Fulton street instead of a straight, direct highway to the loop is more than I can understand. It is at the curves and turns that time is lost and the most serious accidents occur. Also it lessens speed. I wonder if the doctor ever owned a car and drove one. Give us a straight run to the loop. I am one property owner who will not support a crooked highway. In my opinion it is a waste of money and furthermore I'll not vote for any bond issue until I know where the road is going to be. HARRY L. COLLICOTT.

HOPES FOR AWAKENING.

Chicago, March 18.—I wonder how much longer Chicago people will sleep on the problem of proper roadways to accommodate auto traffic. THE TRIBUNE can wake them up and put over a deal with the railroads who have the only real solution for relief in the construction of steel structures over their tracks, thereby giving the steam roads the necessary cash to electrify her lines. The newspapers can put this over by waking the people up.

C. P. EVANS.

A WISH GRATIFIED.

Chicago, March 18.—I wish to protest against Putney Haight's article on the west side elevated highway. He says that more than 2,500 west siders debated the proposition of building this highway and a resolution was passed indorsing the project. I was quoted as opposing the measure because it would increase taxes.

The truth is that the place was packed with west side employés, who were forced to attend. People started to leave the hall the minute the speaking began, and when the resolution was passed only a few hundred were left.

In my talk I condemned the method in which the west park board spent the 10 million dollar bond issue of 1927 and objected to indorsing a proposition which, according to Dr. Robertson himself, might end up by costing 100 million dollars instead of 20 million dollars. I spoke for the Greater Robey Street Property Owners' association and the Crawford Avenue District Taxpayers' association, the two largest property owners' organizations in the west park district, whose combined membership exceeds the attendance at this meeting more than fifteen times.

MANUEL GOLDBERGER.

WASTED EFFORT.

Chicago, March 18.—In driving north on Kedzie avenue I noticed it had been paved northward from Bryn Mawr, and so, urging my gasoline charger onward, I made for the direction of Lincoln avenue only to get to Peterson road—an impassable mud hole—with a beautiful stretch of concrete on the other side. Turning back to Bryn Mawr, I drove to Lincoln and then northwesterly on Lincoln and as I got to Kedzie I noticed that no connection had been made between the splendid pavement on Kedzie at Lincoln.

Here is another one of those cases where a taxpayer's money is used to no purpose. A couple of carloads of cinders and a few men leveling them off would make Kedzie avenue a short cut to Lincoln avenue for the northwest side, but apparently the work on Kedzie avenue had been wasted for there are no residences on Kedzie between Bryn Mawr and Lincoln and the road is impassable for through traffic because of the mud hole at the Peterson avenue and the Lincoln avenue intersections.

EDGAR L. SCHNADIG.

DOLLAR A WEEK DRIVING.

Chicago, March 20.—Last night I read another lesson on the advantages of the drivers' license bill now before our legislature. With the pious purpose of allaying the fears of those timid souls who, like myself, and in spite of the vast flood of propaganda loosed upon us, are unregenerate enough to see in this proposed law a possible instrument of official oppression or political coercion, they tell us that the bill is to be so amended that no driver may have his license taken away except "on conviction by a court." By this holy means do they restore our faith and give assurance against all our fears, but observation of actual human experience is hard to overcome.

My friend, W. K., lived in New Jersey and drove a car both for business and pleasure. One day he incurred the enmity of a crossing cop by being right when the cop was wrong. The cop told him he would get him for being too smart. Later W. K. was driving home from business, was crowded by a bus and his car tipped over a pedestal traffic target. The cop arrested him, took him to the station and booked him on a charge of "reckless driving while intoxicated." [W. K. never takes a drink.] A shyster doctor connected with the racket examined him, pronounced him drunk. He was "convicted by a court" the next day. They took his license away and while he continued to live in New Jersey, he was obliged to pay $1 a week to a local politician. This permitted him to drive as long as he paid.

We all know that corrupt things like that might be done in New Jersey, but could never happen in Illinois in general or in Chicago in particular where rackets are entirely unknown and political graft never indulged in. Just the same, I am a little jumpy at the prospect of one day becoming a "dollar a week" driver. J. KENTNER ELLIOTT.

ONLY 7 STATES HAVE NO ROAD SIGN LICENSES

A survey of state laws governing commercial advertising signs along public highways made by the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture, it was found that such laws range all the way from the most general of rules and regulations to certain well defined stipulations. Only seven states are without state regulation—South Carolina, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Wyoming.

Connecticut, Massachusetts and Vermont have the best defined and most rigid laws. Before an agency can erect commercial advertising signs in these states, it must be licensed by state authorities at certain annual fees, and if it does not reside in the state a bond must be furnished. Each license must show a number and the date of expiration.

GRAND CANYON BRIDGE OPENED TO AUTOMOBILES

The Grand Canyon bridge, said to be the highest highway bridge in the world, has been opened for travel. It spans the Colorado river close to Lee's Ferry, some 130 miles almost due north of Flagstaff, Ariz. It is the only bridge across the Colorado in a stretch of approximately 600 miles between the junction of the Green and Grand rivers in the north, the beginning of the Colorado proper and the bridge at Topock, Ariz.

The steel span, opening traffic to automobiles across the Colorado, is 833 feet in length. The main span is a big arch of 615 feet, center to center of end pins. The whole structure carries a reinforced concrete roadway with a clear width between curbs of eighteen feet. The entire bridge is of structural steel and reinforced concrete.

Opens Vast Areas.

When it is considered that this is the only crossing for hundreds of miles, the importance of this route may be visualized. It is the only north and south route to Arizona connecting the state with Utah and points north. It opens up vast vistas of wonderful scenery in the country north of Colorado in Arizona and Utah and it is believed will expedite the building of a fine highway for many miles on both sides of the river crossings.

The road through this route from Flagstaff to Fredonia is passable except during the most severe rainy season, but for the most part it is similar to the usual desert roads.

The country traversed is said to be among the most scenic in the west. It opens up the stretch of painted desert between Flagstaff and the bridge, and on the north side of Bryce Canyon, the Kaibab National forest, Cedar Breaks, Zion National park and other magnificent outdoor spectacles are brought into reach of the motorist.

Bridge Cost $300,000.

In addition there is the scenic beauty of the canyon itself, which is so vast that the great steel bridge seems but a spider web stretched between the mighty walls.

The new bridge is some sixty miles north of the old Lee Ferry. This spot was named Lonely Dell by John D. Lee, who came there in 1872 and acquired the ferry rights formerly possessed by the Mormon church. Later the ferry and all rights were acquired by Coconino county, Ariz., which operated it under toll.

A bridge was proposed at the present site many years ago by the Denver and Rio Grande railroad. In 1923, such a plan was brought before congress. A preliminary appropriation of $100,000 to be matched by state funds was made by congress that year, and in June, 1927, the work was started. The bridge cost approximately $300,000.

Orlando, Fla., Entertains at Its Traffic Light

Impatient motorists, who might otherwise "cuss out" the main traffic tower at Orlando, Fla., when the red light flashes on, do not mind the delay so much since four huge amplifiers were installed to broadcast entertainment and the traffic cop on duty gets a cheery wave from drivers instead of stony stares.

AUTOS HIT TRAINS IN ONE OUT OF 4 GRADE ACCIDENTS IN CANADA

In one out of every four grade crossing accidents it is the driver who runs into the train rather than the train which runs into the driver, according to figures collected by the Canadian National railways, which show that during 1928 more than 25 per cent of these mishaps were so caused.

A total of 314 accidents took place at grade crossings on the Canadian National during the year. Of this number 239 were brought about when the driver of an automobile, truck, wagon team or other vehicle drove into the side of a moving or stationary train.

U. OF PITTSBURGH HAS SCHOOL IN TRAFFIC CONTROL

A course in traffic control engineering has been added at the University of Pittsburgh.

Under the direction of the school of engineering, classes in traffic control will be held each evening in the Oakland town branch of Pitt, where engineers, city officials, and others interested may study.

The course was established to meet a demand from municipal and highway officials. It will be conducted by Prof. L. W. McIntyre, a vice president of the National Highway Traffic association.

OWNERS OF AUTOMOBILES.

Of the 27,500,000 families in the United States about 15,317,500 families, or 55 per cent, own motor cars. About 2,750,000 families have two cars.

SMOOTH and QUIET AT EVERY SPEED

TAKE OLDSMOBILE out and try it—in the swift press of traffic and on the open road. You'll find dazzling acceleration, as smooth and stageless as the pick-up of an electric motor. You'll find exhilarating speed, with freedom from noise or vibration throughout the entire range. You'll find a tireless, effortless flow of power, with a tremendous reserve for steep hills and hard pulling.

Oldsmobile's big 62-horsepower engine is smooth and quiet at every speed. It rests on sound-deadening, vibration-absorbing rubber mountings of special design. The chassis, too, is rubber-cushioned wherever cushioning should be used. Fabric beading, where metal would otherwise meet metal, eliminates annoying body squeaks. And a special sound-insulating material between the body and the chassis creates a silenced interior.

In keeping with its smoothness, quietness, and brilliant all-round performance, this finer Oldsmobile is easy to drive and comfortable to ride in.

Controls are conveniently arranged. Both the front seat and the steering wheel are adjustable to suit the driver's individual preference. Gears mesh easily and silently. Clutch action is light and smooth. Fingertip steering provides handling ease in traffic and simplifies parking. And Oldsmobile's quick-acting four-wheel safety brakes respond to the slightest pressure.

Interiors are luxuriously comfortable, with wide deep-cushioned seats, and plenty of head room and leg room. And four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers assure restful riding ease on any road.

Come, take a drive in this finer Oldsmobile. Learn not only what it does, but how it does it. Experience thrilling, powerful performance that is smooth and quiet at every speed. Match it against other cars in its field. Then . . . compare its value!

CHECKERBOARD AIRPORT PLAN FOR U. S. ASKED

Would Have Fields Ten Miles Apart.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

America, a checkerboard of landing fields, is the latest aim of the Guggenheim foundation for the promotion of aeronautics, in its campaign for safer highways for the air.

In a memorandum submitted to the federal government Daniel Guggenheim, president of the foundation, recommends that lines be drawn from east to coast and border to border and that landing areas be set aside by the government ten miles apart at the intersection of these lines.

Mr. Guggenheim's argument seems rational. He points out that the land required for the project would be only 1 per cent of the average given to railroads in land grants. It would require, according to his figures, only 1,544 square miles to carry out the program he submits to the government. He compares this figure with the estimated 50,050 square miles now occupied by the railroads and highways.

Always Near a Field.

The fifteen hundred odd square miles of area would be sufficient, he states, to construct intermediate fields with runways of the same type now used by the air mail and to sprinkle the nation with them in such a manner that the flyer would never be more than 7.1 miles from a safe place to light.

That such a project would have a tremendous reaction on the safety of flying and bring a wider use of the airplane, both for commerce and pleasure, is unquestioned. It points to the day when the skies will be dotted with aircraft and Mr. John Public will take his Sunday afternoon spring in the full sense of the word.

"Aviation in America, measured in terms of aircraft factories and airplanes in operation, very greatly exceeds the aggregate of the rest of the world, Mr. Guggenheim states in his letter.

No Government Subsidy.

"This development has taken place without government subsidy and in the typical American manner of enterprise. Commercial air transport has reached its present comparatively satisfactory state without the use of the hundreds of millions of dollars that the railroads enjoyed from federal and state aid in their pioneering days and without the hundreds of millions of acres of land granted to them.

"There is, however, a growing need for indirect assistance by the government, particularly in airports. If airports were located throughout this country at intervals of ten miles in each direction, an airplane would rarely be out of gliding distance in flying at an altitude of 4,000 or 5,000 feet. The amount of land which this would require is insignificant in comparison with the area devoted to railroads and roads of the country.

Reduced Landing Runs.

"As against this area, amounting to a total of 50,050 square miles, landing fields of normal intermediate size—100 foot runways—as used by the air mail, placed ten miles apart all over the country, would require only 1,544 square miles, or about 3 per cent of the other figures. Even if, for the sake of a complete presentation of the picture, we consider an airport of the maximum size set up by the department of commerce—class A airports with 2,500 feet runways in all directions—this would only require an area of 6,720 square miles devoted to air transport as compared with the 50,050 square miles given over to roads and railways. The smaller area of 1,544 square miles would adequately care for the airplane's requirements as it exists today, without consideration of wheel brakes and other developments in airplane design and construction which are greatly reducing landing runs, and therefore the field lengths needed. Looking forward just a little in aviation, we can visualize the reduction of this total landing field area to insignificant figures.

Fields 400 Feet Square.

"For example, in the Guggenheim safe aircraft competition one of the conditions for qualification is that the plane shall glide into the field over an obstruction thirty-five feet high and come to rest within a distance of 500 feet from the base of the obstruction. There would seem to be little doubt among eminent designers and constructors that this condition will be met.

"If we assume landing fields 400 feet square, then only 171.6 square miles would be required for landing fields ten miles apart over the entire country.

"One has but to fly over even the most thickly populated areas here in the east to realize how comparatively easily and cheaply land could be made available for a nation-wide system of landing fields. Following close on the heels of the realization of such a system, flying would be the safest means of rapid transportation and become universal in America with its concomitant economic and social advantages. America's great resources and huge undeveloped territories should make the inauguration of such a plan of especial appeal to Americans."

GUIDING THE AIR MAIL

Radio Technician F. E. Gray looking at equipment which has been installed in National Air Transport air mail planes. The set received signals transmitted from ground stations located on the New York-Chicago line. The pilot, listening through ear phones, is guided to the airport, the nature of the radio signals telling him when he is on his course or to the right or left of it.

QUESTIONS

Questions relating to aviation are answered in this section by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, famous world war flyer, who formerly held the world altitude record. Inquiries should be addressed to the Aviation Department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Q.—Is the lifting power of an airplane a vacuum above the wing?

Richard Brannon, Chicago.

A.—In simplest terms the lifting power of an airplane is due to the difference in pressure on the lower and upper surface of the wing. The air is "packed" in below the wing and in flowing over the curved upper surface produces a semi-vacuum or suction above. About 70 per cent of the total lift comes from the suction above and the remaining 30 per cent from the pressure underneath.

Q.—Do they still make Spad airplanes? During the war what company made them? Which is the most powerful motor, the Liberty or the Hispano-Suiza? What is the most powerful motor today?

Joseph M. Ashbury, Chicago.

A.—Spad airplanes are no longer manufactured. During the war they were turned out from a standard governmental design by a group of French factories. The Liberty engine with 420 horsepower is more powerful than the Hispano-Suiza. The largest motor turned out commercially in this country comes from the Packard Motor Car company. It has 24 cylinders and is water cooled, developing 1,300 horsepower at 2,700 revolutions per minute at sea level.

Q.—Could you please tell me the salary of an air mail pilot, the experience necessary to be one, and if positions are open for air mail pilots?

James Manz, Arlington Heights, Ill.

A.—There is no standard salary for an air mail pilot. It depends on what company he is working for, on the length of his route and whether or not he must do night flying. An air mail pilot must hold a transport license from the department of commerce calling for a minimum of 200 hours solo. Regarding a position, you should communicate direct with the managers of various mail lines.

Q.—What is the salary of a transport pilot? What does barnstorming mean? What is the world's record for flying speed? What are the requirements to join a first class army aviation school?

Eddie Lagona, Chicago.

A.—The mere possession of a transport license does not carry a salary with it. The pilot and his employer agree on his wages, usually from $250 a month on up, depending on the amount of actual flying. When a pilot takes his plane from field to field, picking up whatever work he can get in the way of carrying passengers or freight or by giving exhibitions and displaying advertising he is said to be barnstorming. The world's speed record is held by a British military plane and is about 351 miles an hour. The Army Recruiting office at 537 South Dearborn street will give you full information.

AIR MAIL TAKES $24,000,000 TO WALL ST. DAILY

Much Interest Is Saved by Speed.

Twenty-four million dollars wings its way daily into Wall street by air mail, according to figures compiled by the American Air Transport association.

This figure represents the face value of checks sent from all over the country to New York correspondents for deposit, loans on call, and other purposes, the association states. Use of the air mail makes it possible to deliver capital and negotiable securities at the New York clearing houses from one to three days ahead of ordinary mail.

In a year capital arriving in New York by air mail is estimated at $7,200,000,000. If only 2 per cent is saved thereby the amount involved amounts to $144,000,000, according to the association's estimates.

Fort Worth to Chicago.

An example of the service which the air mail lines are giving daily is reported by Prescott, Wright, Snyder company, investment firm of Fort Worth, Tex. On Feb. 10 the firm completed negotiations with a banking house in Chicago for the issuance of bonds to be offered Feb. 14. Late the same day, Friday, the copy for the circulars was forwarded to the Chicago financial institution. The circulars were printed in Chicago before noon Saturday and were delivered to the Fort Worth firm early Monday morning. The air mail was used to and from Chicago.

Day by day a wider diversity of commodities are going through the air in mail planes. In one month shipments out of Chicago included goods ranging from bread and ice cream to pawn tickets and jewelry. The air express carried a 317 pound casting needed by a firm in Wichita, Kas.

Used by Film Companies.

The largest users of air express are film companies. The banks and bond houses come second. Jewelers and advertising agencies also use the air mail to a large extent. Alert buyers scour the New York market for the latest in fashion and each night the westbound plane from New York carries models of hats, gowns, and lingerie.

There are spare parts for a threshing machine in Nebraska to save the pay roll an idle crew would receive; a present from a forgetful husband who delayed purchase of a wife's birthday gift until too late for the regular mail; a belated package for a traveler about to board ship; photographs of important news events, and so on through a wide variety of shipments.

WOMAN PLANS FLIGHT.

BRUSSELS.—(AP)—Miss Suzy Lippens, daughter of the controller of the ministry of transport, plans to fly her own plane to the Belgian Congo. She was the first Belgian woman to obtain an air pilot's license. The flying courses at the Antwerp Aviation school are popular with women of the Belgian aristocracy.

HOW VALVES GO WRONG.

Motor valves seldom wear out—burning or warping because of improper adjustments is the most frequent cause of replacement.

ROHRBACH ROMAR PLANE IS BUILT FOR SEA TRAVEL

Tri-Motored Flying Boat Can Cruise 2,500 Miles.

This is the fifth of a series of articles in describing the 1929 line of American and foreign made airplanes. Another make of plane will be described next Sunday.

Recent flight tests at Berlin, Germany, have introduced to the world a new flying boat, built for long range flying and heavy sea duty. It is a Rohrbach Romar, a tri-motored monoplane, equipped to carry twelve passengers and a crew of five in its hull. Three of these ships are being produced for the German Luft Hansa for establishing a route between Europe and South America.

The three pusher type motors, mounted high above the wings to prevent high seas from washing over them, generate a total of 2,160 horse power. When riding on the water surface the engines are 20 feet above the water line. The motors drive four-bladed propellers.

Can Lift 22 Tons.

The Romar is designed to carry a pay load of 11¼ tons and lift a gross weight of 22 tons. Its cruising speed is 120 miles per hour and its maximum speed 140 miles per hour. With full tanks the plane has a cruising range of 2,500 miles. This wide cruising radius is provided in order that the flying boat may be tested as a transoceanic air cruiser.

During the flight test the boat took off and landed in waves 15 feet high and a cross swell of eight feet.

The hull, the wing, and tail surfaces, and all important parts are constructed of duralumin. All exterior parts are varnished to provide protection from bad weather and the sea. The structural framework, interior walls, and engine supports are made of metal plates.

Watertight Doors.

Watertight compartments are constructed in the bottom of the hull so that the boat will not sink if one or two of these compartments leak. Four or five of these compartments must run full before the boat will capsize. All entrances to the cabin are locked watertight.

The ship's bow is built at sharp angles and stands high above the water. With its sharp keel it cuts the waves and offers minimum resistance to air or water. Two large floats are suspended by steel rigging from either wing and the wings themselves are fitted to the fuselage at an angle and rise higher at the tip in order to avoid dipping the wings in the water.

Equipped for Freight.

The passenger compartment is heated and ventilated. Leather covered adjustable chairs seat 12 persons. Tables fold out from the walls. There are racks for luggage and small compartments for hanging clothes. The cabin may be stripped of its chairs and used wholely for carrying merchandise.

In addition to the passenger cabin there are freight rooms with strongly built floors so that the flying boat may carry both passengers and a quantity of freight at the same time.

The cockpit for the crew is fitted with dual controls. Pedals operate the vertical controls.

Besides the Romar, Rohrbach builds a two engined flying boat called the Roetra. This type of flying boat is of the same model and range, but of half the size of the Romar.

GIANT, MIDGET OF AVIATION IN DETROIT EXHIBIT

DETROIT, Mich.—The midgets and the giants of American aviation will come together here when the All-American aircraft show opens in convention hall April 6 under auspices of the Detroit board of commerce and the aeronautical chamber of commerce of America.

The wide range of models turned out by the aircraft manufacturers of the country is strikingly presented in a comparison of dimensions of the largest and smallest ships among the 107 to be displayed.

The midget of the show will be the Super Parasol. It is a true flivver type, 16 feet 9 inches in length, with a wing spread of 25 feet. It is of open monoplane design, and is built for the man who proposes to fly his own, and it could rest snugly under a wing of one of the giant transports to be shown. These transports are 50 feet long, with a wing spread of 79 feet 3 inches, and carry 14 passengers. The midget sells for less than $1,000. The giant is in the $50,000 price class.

GOTHAM-FRISCO AIRWAY SOON TO BE ALL LIGHTED

When installation of beacons on a short stretch of mountainous country between Salt Lake and San Francisco is completed next month, the New York-Cleveland-Chicago - Omaha - Cheyenne-Salt Lake-Oakland-San Francisco air mail route will be lighted from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Beacons are placed every ten miles to light the course for the mail-passenger plane pilots who speed along this stretch of prairie and mountains night and day.

Illumination on this 2,700 miles span consists of twenty-four inch revolving beacons. Beacons are set to revolve six revolutions per minute, the beam sweeping three degrees above the horizon, using a special 1,000 Watt bulb.

STABILITY

STABILITY in an individual, a company or a product cannot be measured in material terms, dollars and cents, price or temporary appeal.

Stability like that of Jordan is a natural growth originating in many thousands of agreeable hours which Jordan owners have known in happy companionship with Jordan cars.

It represents the inevitable reward paid to those who have the courage to adhere consistently to an ideal.

It is the sum total of all the years of gratifying service which Jordan owners have known.

It is founded upon confidence.

The frank return of Jordan to the original Jordan idea has inspired the warm approval of Jordan owners everywhere.

The strong financial position of the company and the rapidly multiplying group of dealers who find profit and satisfaction in selling such a product is the most convincing proof of the inherent soundness of the Jordan idea.

A PAIR OF GOOD SIZED NORTH SIDE BUILDING PROJECTS

The six story mercantile building on your left is the new Lincoln avenue store of Goldblatt Bros., told about in this section recently. It will be L shaped, with an eventual frontage on Belmont avenue of 100 feet. Alfred S. Alschuler is architect. F. O. Tupper-White of that office made this picture. Details are given in another column.

On your right is a fourteen story apartment building to be erected at 2920 Commonwealth avenue from plans by Maurice L. Bein. Edgar L. Bloomster made the sketch shown. It is being erected by the 2920 Commonwealth Avenue Building corporation and will contain twenty-five apartments. The Greenebaum Sons Investment company has underwritten a $700,000 first mortgage bond issue. More is told in another column.

CHICAGO AFTER DARK BECOMES ENCHANTED CITY

Glowing Picture by Lighted Towers.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Downtown Chicago after dark is taking on the appearance of an enchanted city as its lofty towers and buildings more and more are being illuminated by concealed flood lights. Standing out against a black sky these illuminated towers give an impression of added height and convey a feeling of mystery to their beholders. And they provide another reason for makers after the beautiful visiting the city.

This matter of floodlighting buildings has experienced its greatest development here in the years following the great war. And the planning of towers to secure effective lighting has become an important consideration in the minds of architects and builders.

Standing on the Monroe street viaduct after a strong northeast wind has cleared the city of smoke and fog, one may obtain a most inspiring view by looking to the north. Tribune Tower, with its turrets and flying buttresses flooded in an amber glow, gives the impression of a fairy castle.

Beacon Adds Dash of Color.

The Wrigley building, white from top to bottom, presents what many consider to be its most attractive aspect. Its revolving beacon adds a dash of vivid color to the scene. One gets a slight glimpse of the lighted tower of No. 333 North Michigan, while the colorful lighting of the huge domed roof of the Pure Oil building gives the effect of a giant jewel.

Then looking south along Michigan avenue, the illuminated pyramid atop the Straus building, surmounted by its beehive, is imposing in its bath of white light. Farther down the street the floodlights illuminating the top of the Standard Oil building and the superstructure atop the Stevens hotel add a picturesque touch to the vista.

One of the most inspiring sights in all Chicago is that of the Methodist Temple. To get a proper view of it one must walk to Michigan and Washington, or, better still, to Clark and Monroe. The spire of the world's tallest church edifice appears lacelike in its light when viewed against a darkened sky.

Another Stirring View.

Then another of the most soul stirring vistas to be obtained anywhere on this old earth may be had by looking over the loop district from the railing along the river in front of the Wrigley building. The airplane beacon atop the Roanoke building, with its beam of white light sweeping over the horizon, enhances the beauty of the spectacle.

From this point of vantage, one gets good views of Tribune Tower and "333." Incidentally it is learned that various colors, including green, were considered for Number 333. None of the colors proved satisfactory, however, and white was selected. The shadows in the illumination of the tower, which have aroused favorable comment, were the result of accident rather than design, it was learned, as in planning the lighting it was originally proposed to flood the entire top with a white light.

Farther north on Michigan, the old water tower, condemned by some as an atrocity and lauded by others, becomes a thing of beauty when night settles over it and it gets its bath of light.

More Lighting Planned.

And Chicago after dark is to have other additions when towers on which construction is under way are completed. There is the Palmolive building, which dominates the lake end of Michigan avenue. Some 270 lights of 500 watt power will illuminate its tower.

A scheme of lighting is being worked out for the new Opera House tower and the top of the Board of Trade building will be illuminated. While nothing definite has been arranged, light effects are being considered for the Willoughby tower, the Union club's tower, the Foreman National bank's tower and the Carbide tower.

In telling about Chicago after dark nothing said would hardly be complete without some reference to the municipal airport. There, when the two huge flood lights which illuminate the field for airplanes are on, one gets the impression of a strange, fantastic world—perhaps of another planet. These lights are so strong that it is impossible to compute their strength in candle power. They are the second strongest lights in the world, being exceeded only by similar lights at Dijon, France. Emplacements are in for two more if the city ever gets around to enlarging its facilities at the airport. One can easily read a newspaper a mile away from this position.

A visit to the airport at night is well worth a visit, for it gives a picture of Chicago after dark that will long be impressed on the minds of any seeing it.

Start at Once on Big Lincoln Avenue Store

Maurice Goldblatt, president of Goldblatt Brothers, announced yesterday that work will start immediately on the first unit of a six story department store that will eventually have a frontage of 250 feet on the east side of Lincoln avenue and a frontage of 100 feet on the south side of Belmont avenue.

The firm recently purchased the Struve store and the Fields Furniture company store on Lincoln, near Belmont, as previously reported in this department. Small buildings between these stores are to be torn down to make way for the new unit which will connect the former Struve and Fields establishments.

Alfred S. Alschuler drew the plans for the new unit, which will be of steel construction, faced with terra cotta. A tower, faced on all sides, will hide a water tank and other paraphernalia usually scattered about a roof.

It is stated the first unit will cost about $250,000. When the entire new building is completed it is stated the construction investment will be in excess of $500,000.

The Lincoln avenue store is the fourth in the Goldblatt chain, others being located at 1609 West Chicago, 47th and Ashland, and 91st and Commercial. The firm started in business fourteen years ago in a twenty-five foot shop on the site of their main establishment at 47th and Ashland.

NEW HELLO HEADQUARTERS FOR EVANSTON

This is the first unit of a proposed eight story $3,000,000 project to be erected at 1540 Chicago avenue, Evanston, by the Illinois Bell Telephone company from plans by Holabird & Root. It will be of Bedford stone, with a granite base. The two story section, with foundations for six more stories, will be equipped with dial phone switchboards and ready for use in about two years. It will front 132 feet on Chicago avenue, according to R. A. Carey, district superintendent.

RIVERSIDE'S OLD GREEN BLOCK TO BE REJUVENATED

Riverside's historic old Green block, near the Burlington station, built five or six decades ago, has been placed in the hands of architectural beauty experts and is being rejuvenated to the tune of a reported $60,000. The exterior walls will be of stone for the first floor, with the old brick work remaining above and a roof of variegated slate. Coen & Baldwin are the architects.

Richard Smykal, son-in-law of Joseph Holpuch, and Carl C. Lindquist, bought the property last month from Charles Lindquist. Mr. Smykal, a contractor, living in Hinsdale, is remodeling the property. It will have an "L" shaped arcade cut through from Riverside road to Quincy road. The Cody Trust company has made a $100,000 loan on the property. It is claimed that the total investment in land and building will be $225,000.

FOREST PRESERVE GETS TEN ACRES ON IRVING PARK

Georgios N. Nikolopulos has given a quit claim deed to the forest preserve district on a tract of ten and a fraction acres on the north side of Irving Park boulevard and on the east bank of the Des Plaines river. The indicated price was $53,500. The tract is located in Robinson's reservation.

RECORD AMOUNT OF GRANITE USED IN LOOP EDIFICE

What is said to be the largest amount of polished granite ever used in a modern business structure has been incorporated in the forty story home of the Foreman National bank, nearing completion at the southeast corner of La Salle and Washington. Both the La Salle street and Washington street fronts of the structure have been faced with granite up to the sixth story. The rest of the frontage is made of Indiana limestone. Some 7,900 cubic feet of granite, weighing 828 tons, was used. The stone came from Au Sable Forks, N. Y.

Syndicate Leases Clark and Grand Ave. Corner

The northeast corner of Clark and Grand, 40x70, was leased from the Henry C. Durland estate by Gust Mavrokos, Peter Briskas and Christ Bekiaris at a reported net annual rental of $7,000. The four story building is to be remodeled. Cerf & Ehrenhalt were brokers.

South Water Skyscraper Is Now 95 Per Cent Rented

Collins & Inglis, photo engravers, have leased space in the new twenty-four story 65 East Water street building for nine years. Harmon L. Waterstone of Frankenstein & Co., broker, reports the building is now 95 per cent rented.

OAK PARK BANK BUYS MADISON-AUSTIN CORNER

The Prairie State bank, now at 11 Madison street, Oak Park, has bought the property to the east, at the southwest corner of Madison and Austin, 85x125, improved with a building containing seven stores, four flats and sixteen offices. According to President H. R. Dow the bank will occupy the corner in modern banking rooms to be constructed at once. The bank will move into its new quarters on July 1. Schreiber & Wenisch are architects.

Pays $15,200 Annual Rent for Store in Medinah Club

Details of the lease by Joseph I. Childs of the north store in the new Medinah Athletic club, closed some weeks ago, were made public yesterday by Paul C. Loeber & Co., renting agents. The term is ten years and the total rental will be $152,000, plus a percentage of the gross sales. Mr. Childs will operate a drug store.

Garage to Replace Movie Landmark in Hyde Park

The 55th and Lake Park Building corporation is to erect a three story fireproof garage, 150x150, at the southwest corner of Lake Park avenue and East 55th street, on the site of one of Hyde Park's oldest movies. The Callner Construction company has the general contract.

MAKES $155,000 PROFIT ON EAST 71ST STREET PROPERTY

J. F. O'Brien yesterday sold 125 feet of vacant property on the north side of East 71st street, half way between Crandon and Paxton avenues, to Miss Genevieve C. Roney for a reported $225,000 cash, or at the rate of $1,800 per front foot.

He bought seventy-five feet of this land eight years ago for $200 per front foot and the remaining fifty feet he purchased two years ago at $1,100 a foot. This means he made a profit of approximately $155,000.

According to Thomas E. Kay & Co., brokers in yesterday's deal, Miss Roney contemplates erecting a $150,000 terra cotta front store, office and flat building, work on which will start within thirty days.

Title & Trust Official to Give Talk on "Air Rights"

Herbert G. Becker, vice president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, will speak before the Real Property Institute of the Cook County Real Estate board at 100 North La Salle street next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on "Air Rights." Mr. Becker recently handled the title end of the air rights covering the big Marshall Field Merchandise Mart now going up at Wells, Kinzie, Orleans and the river. M. M. Oehs will speak the same evening at 7 o'clock on "Dower."

Chicago Firm Designs Three Soviet Plants

Officials of soviet Russia in this country have just completed negotiations with a Chicago firm, Frank D. Chase, Inc., engineers and architects, for the erection of two large foundries to be used in the manufacture of tractors. Some time ago the same firm received an order for the erection of a foundry for use in making sewing machines.

One of the foundries is to be erected near Leningrad. It will have a capacity of fifty tractors a day. Another is to be built at Stalingrad, South Russia, which will have a capacity of 150 heavy tractors a day.

The two plants together will involve an expenditure of about $3,000,000. The Chicago firm in its contract with the soviet officials is given the task of planning the layout, equipment, and design of the plants.

Mr. Chase reports that his firm has completed the plans for a sewing machine foundry to be erected near Moscow at a cost of $1,500,000. This plant will have a capacity of 400 sewing machines a day.

A staff of five engineers will be sent by Mr. Chase to Russia to superintend the erection, equipment, and operation of the three plants.

V. I. Meshlauk, vice chairman of the supreme council of national economy of the U. S. S. R., United States of Soviet Republics, is now in this country. He has invited Mr. Chase to visit Russia, which the Chicagoan plans to do next September.

MATHER TOWER REPORTED AS 75 PER CENT RENTED

The office portion of the Mather tower, 75 East Wacker drive, is about 80 per cent rented, according to Baird & Warner, agents for the building. The entire lower level is rented and 80 per cent of the stores on the first floor have been taken. Renting of the shop floors, from the second to fifth, has not been successful, the agents report. Taken as a whole, the building is about 75 per cent occupied.

Trio of Acre Tracts Near Naperville Change Hands

I. T. Myers, manager of the Plaza hotel, has bought the 117 acre Reidy farm on the east edge of Naperville. Mr. Myers also purchased the forty-eight acre Hobson farm nearby. These properties will be marketed in five and ten acre estates. George D. Allen of Oak Park bought five acres across from the Naperville Country club for his country home. The George R. Hemingway organization was broker.

Fred W. Grapperhaus to Address Realty Class

Fred W. Grapperhaus will speak on "The Market for Apartment and Business Property" before the Chicago Real Estate board's realty class at the Central "Y" on Tuesday evening.

NEGOTIATE FOR LARGE SITE AT OAKDALE AVE.

Will Remain on the Shore Drive Till '30.

BY AL CHASE.
[Real Estate Editor.]

Unless the entirely unexpected happens Chicago's famous old Gold Coast seat of learning, the University School for Girls, founded by Miss Anna R. Haire, A. B., more than three decades ago and still under her directing hand, is going to be housed in a new, modern four story structure at the southeast corner of Sheridan road and Oakdale avenue. The present quarters at 1106 Lake Shore drive will continue to be used by the school until the completion of the new building next year.

The location of the new school building has not yet been officially announced by either the school or the owners of the land. It is known, however, that the present restrictions, which bar schools, churches, etc., from the two blocks bounded by Diversey parkway, Sheridan road, Commonwealth avenue, and Oakdale avenue, have been ironed out so smoothly that erection of the University School for Girls practically is assured.

The new site for the school fronts 185 feet on Sheridan road and 150 feet on Oakdale avenue. It is owned by Milton Callner. The latter, by the way, heads a syndicate which a year or so ago bought from the Lehmann estate the entire block bounded by Sheridan, Oakdale, Commonwealth, and Surf. This syndicate still controls most of the block.

Plan De Luxe Dozen.

Rosenthal, Mayer & Lewis own the 100x100 at the northwest corner of Surf and Commonwealth, purchased from the Callner syndicate some time ago, and contemplate a "super-twelve" de luxe apartment building for a dozen millionaires, each big bank balance family to have one entire floor. This project, however, is still in the preliminary stages of development.

Just north of and adjoining the site of this proposed de luxe dozen stands the twelve story apartment building erected some time ago by Rosenthal, Mayer & Lewis. Just across the alley from this latter building, to the north, is the site of the fourteen story structure told about in this department on Feb. 16, 1929, and pictured in the adjoining column on this page.

This structure was designed by Maurice L. Bein and is owned by the 2920 Commonwealth Avenue Building corporation, headed by I. H. Burnstine, president; Nicholas M. Brasy, treasurer, and Irving J. Schreiber, secretary. Others interested in the project are Mr. Bein, Gustave Frankel and Paul Wahl.

Well, He Can Take a Bus.

Either the gentlemen behind this project are shy on arithmetic or else they know positively that one of the twenty-five tenant families cares little or nothing for motoring. For although the building will have twenty-five apartments, there'll be only space for twenty-four cars in the garage, which will be for the exclusive use of the tenants.

It's needless to go into details of the modern conveniences contemplated; there'll be mechanical refrigeration, cedar closets, enclosed shower stalls, with glass doors, and all the other contraptions dear to the heart of the 1929 housewife. The owners also announce two large recreation rooms, connected with folding doors, for the tenants.

We nearly forgot to give the size of the before mentioned twenty-five suites. There'll be eleven of nine rooms and three baths each; eleven of seven rooms and three baths; and two duplex apartments on the two upper floors each with ten rooms and four baths.

And in addition to all these heavily bath equipped spacious suites is the announcement "and one four room apartment." Perhaps this modest flat is for the family without a car.

Investment of $1,125,000.

Upon completion this project, it is stated, will represent a total value of $1,125,000. The Greenebaum Sons Investment company has underwritten a first mortgage bond issue of $700,000 at 6 per cent.

The new Gold Coast district north of Lincoln park and east of Sheridan road, a triangular stretch of land, comprises eight city blocks and a tiny triangle at the north end occupied by the stone Stout residence. As already stated, the two blocks bounded by Diversey, Sheridan, Oakdale and Commonwealth are restricted against schools, hospitals, churches, etc. All the rest of this district is restricted to one family residences.

Formal details of the new University School for Girls, at Sheridan and Oakdale probably will be officially announced by Miss Haire later on. The school has had an interesting history. It was founded in 1897. The first home of the school was on Bellevue place, but in little more than two years it had outgrown this building and in February, 1900, found itself on the corner of the Lake Shore drive and Cedar street, where it remained until the building it now occupies on Lake Shore drive was erected.

HOME BUILDING AND REMODELING

HOUSE DESIGNED TO OCCUPY SITE ON SIDE OF HILL

Picturesque Appearance, Moderate in Cost.

(Next week will appear an article, "Let There Be Light—and Correct Lighting—in the Remodeled Home.")

BY LOUISE BARGELT.
[Home Builders Editor.]

Designed for a hillside, where for the sake of both economy and appearance it was felt that advantage should be taken of the rolling nature of the site, the excellent proportions and pleasing details found in the house before us today have combined to make a veritable gem of a four room home. The garage is attached. The architect is J. T. Pomeroy, Orland, Ill.

The main walls are of masonry; concrete up to the grade line and stucco on hollow tile above, with patches of native stone here and there to add variety. The gables and the south wall, however, are of wood frame construction finished with rough clapboards. All exposed woodwork is of redwood. The roof is of slate and the windows are steel casements. As grass fires are not infrequent in the vicinity, the low eaves along the upper side are given only a slight projection beyond the wall and this, together with the fireproof materials of the walls and roofing, renders this fire hazard practically negligible. Note also that the principal exposure is south and that the north wall is sheltered by the hillside.

The ample chimney, combined with the side gable, gives the required importance to the main entrance, the door posts and lintel of which are carved with simple patterns. The wrought iron chimney anchor and the lantern are practical features decoratively rendered. Opening from the first floor level on the south side of the house is a stone paved terrace with a pergola of rough timbers above it. The attached garage adds to the apparent size of the house, as well as to its convenience.

A Convenient Entrance.

The entrance is midway between the two floor levels—really onto the stair landing—with short flights of steps leading up to the second story or down to the first. Opening from the landing is the bathroom which is thus made equally easy of access from either upstairs or down. The landing has a flagstone floor and the bathroom is tiled. A built-in corner cabinet in the bathroom provides for towels and bathroom supplies, and there is a clothes chute through the wall to the small laundry space below.

Descending to the lower floor; there is a living room of moderate size at one end of which is a stone flagged inglenook containing a huge fireplace flanked by wide seats, one of which is really a wood box, roomy enough to contain logs for the fireplace. At the other end of the room are wide French doors leading to the terrace which may be used for dining purposes in agreeable weather.

The kitchen opens from the living room and is large enough to serve as a dining room as well; for this purpose one of the folding dining sets, like those that are popular in modern apartments, is built into the wall separating the kitchen and the boiler room. The sink is built into a wide counter or work board with storage cabinets below. Above the counter is a wide window flanked by built-in cases for dishes, and so forth.

Exposed Wood Ceilings.

The ceilings of the living room and the kitchen are of exposed wood; redwood timbers supporting heavy factory flooring of fir, the underside of which forms the exposed ceiling. All of this woodwork is finished with oil and wax. The floors throughout the first story are of cement and the walls of the living room and the kitchen are covered with insulation board finished with plastic paint.

The boiler room is down four steps from the kitchen, which allows for head room under the entrance and the bathroom, and also provides for the hot water return mains for the heating system. The installation of an oil or gas burner for the boiler will remove the necessity for the fuel room which will then be useful as a cellar for the storage of fruit and vegetables. The boiler room is made fireproof by walls of masonry all around, with a reinforced concrete slab above.

Laundry in Garage.

An entry leads from the kitchen to the garage and also to the lower yard. The entry also contains the refrigerator with a built-in cooling cabinet above. The garage is made wide enough to serve also as a workroom, and at the inner end are laundry tubs and space for a washing machine and ironer. When not in use the laundry space is closed off from the garage with folding doors.

Upstairs are two bedrooms, each of which is provided with generous wardrobes that contain separate outside windows. Each bedroom has cross lighting and ventilation, and additional storage space is provided under the roof slope. The compact hall contains three closets; one for linen, one for extra bedding, and one for brooms and so forth. All of the upstairs walls and ceilings are finished with insulation board, papered.

BUYERS OF REALTY WARNED TO AVOID CONTRACT RAIDERS

"Contract raiders"—unscrupulous operators who inveigle persons buying subdivision lots on contract into dropping their original purchases after a few payments to enter another transaction—are termed as one of the worst types of real estate racketeers in a recent warning of the Chicago better business bureau of real estate.

Victims of contract raiders are people who have purchased subdivision lots on contract and are paying for them in monthly payments. Their names are secured from salesmen formerly in the employ of other real estate dealers, or purchased from some one in the office who has access to the records.

The bureau describes the scheme as follows:

"A person who is buying lots on the partial payment plan receives a call from the agent of another real estate company. This salesman states that the land the purchaser is buying is 'not so good,' but that his company is in a position to handle it, and will allow the purchaser full credit for what he has paid in as down payment on another and usually more expensive lot. The purchaser takes him at his word and turns over his first contract, signing a new contract for another lot. The contract raider scraps the first contract—it means nothing to him, because he has added the price of the land to the allowance made for the first lot.

"There are variations to this scheme, but the results are all the same. The contract raider has defrauded the purchaser. He may even find himself faced with the necessity of fulfilling two contracts.

"The better business bureau has created a real estate department and is cooperating with reputable real estate companies to protect the public. Its services are free to the public. It does not give advice, but supplies fact information. Its warning is 'Before You Invest—Investigate.'"

SPACE GIVING EQUIPMENT ADDS TO HOMECOMFORT

Space-giving equipment in the small home is, if possible, even more important a consideration than in the large one, for space is usually at a premium and one room often has to perform the duties of two.

Hence the value of sofas convertible into beds and built-in furniture, such as beds, wardrobes, bookcases, cupboards, dining nooks, and the like.

No superfluities, but all requirements, and each and every one contributing as only modern space-giving equipment can contribute to the spaciousness of the house and the comfort of the dwellers therein.

PLANS 30 FLAT BUILDING AT ESSEX AND 77TH

Sigfrid Monson bought the vacant southwest corner of Essex and 77th, 117x125, for a reported $40,000 cash and will build a thirty flat building, containing three, four, and five room suites, according to J. Ronsley, broker.

Apartments on Dorchester and 70th Figure in Trade

In a trade Della M. Marsh exchanged her six flats at 6934-41 Dorchester avenue with Rudolph Stickel for the latter's fourteen apartments at the northeast corner of 70th street and Union avenue. Charles G. Cross & Associates were brokers. Perry TenHoor and Frank Moland were attorneys.

Textured Wall Covering Which May Be Had in Rolls

Recently a new texture wall covering has been introduced which comes in rolls like new wall paper. This is not only an artistic wall covering but is washable, durable and noncracking as well. It may easily be applied over plaster, wall board or other surfaces.

A DEVICE WHICH TAKES SLAM OUT OF GARAGE DOORS

If you have garage doors which swing outward—swing too much in the wind sometimes and bang, and slam to—there is a strange control which is inexpensive, easy and simple to instal, which will hold them open when they should be open and keep them shut when they should be shut. Also with this control, when one door is opened the other is automatically opened too, and when one door is closed the other closes automatically also.

This control is far from elaborate. It consists of channel iron arms which are attached to the tops of the doors and operate on pivots from two segment gears. A sturdy steel spring is attached to the arms so that it oscillates from front to back of the axis of the segment gears. The tension of this spring comes into play in back of the axis or in front of it. When one door is pushed or pulled the spring moves past its point of greatest tension and then, taking up the load, opens or closes the doors automatically and holds them in position.

PLANS 16 FLATS AT NEW ENGLAND AND CASTELLO

Lewis and Anna E. Paul have taken in part payment for the three flats at 908 Eastwood avenue, which they sold to Max and Emma Leibelt, the vacant southeast corner of New England and Castello avenue, opposite Rutherford park. According to N. V. Greenlee, who represented Mr. Paul, the latter intends erecting a sixteen flat building on the corner. Fred Frees of Edward W. Turk & Co. represented Mr. and Mrs. Leibelt.

NEW BRUSHING LACQUERS AID SPRING CLEANING

The possibilites of interesting new spring decorative schemes have been considerably increased with the advent of brushing lacquers into the building field.

This material, instantly drying, comes in color form and finished appearance similar to varnishes, paints and enamel.

Its lasting quality assures protection to any woman wishing to use it for interior decorating purposes.

Originally lacquer was developed for application by the spraying method. Now one applies the brushing lacquers much as one applies paint.

Garage Doors That Slide Are Blessing in Winter

Garage doors which slide open and shut are a comfort in winter. They cannot blow shut and damage a fender; nor can snow, piling up in front, keep them from opening. Sticking and sagging is eliminated and as the hardware is inside, they won't rust.

Old Age Arrives.

CHICAGO.—Our home was twenty-three years old and was beginning to show the usual earmarks of old age. There were the wooden sink, a dilapidated and temperamental hot air furnace, pine floors in the bedrooms that shed huge slivers, an ugly bathroom, dark wallpaper, packed clothes closets, and dripping gutters. It was either move out or rejuvenate! Our neighbors were old friends, and our garden had flowers which had belonged to my mother and grandmother, and the location was desirable. So we undertook the task of fixing everything, which took exactly three months of hard work and patience.

Upstairs new oak floors were laid, the woodwork enameled white, a linen closet was built, and gay colonial wallpaper was hung. One large old clothes closet was converted into a dressing room, with a wardrobe built in for hats, clothes, and shoes, and a little dormer window was cut in the north wall to give cross-ventilation to the bedroom.

Downstairs the floors were scraped and varnished, woodwork made old English oak, cream colored wallpaper was hung. In the rear of the house, where an entrance to the basement had been, a small sunroom was made and a porch was built. The kitchen was made most attractive, with putty colored walls and soft green woodwork. Enough paint from the woodwork was left for the kitchen furniture.

The combination gas and electric fixtures were changed for some brass and pewter colonial lights, with little glass chimneys.

We could not have enjoyed any of these changes had it not been for the installation of a most comfortable hot water heating system.

We can scarcely take ourselves away for our usual walks in the evenings. It has been like nursing a sick child and suddenly seeing her become beautiful and fairly beaming with health. LEONA H. O'BRIEN,

Shingles Win Over Paint.

BLOOMINGTON.—My house is an old one and large. The paint was blistered and scaling off, some of the clap boards were loose and warped. Something had to be done. I solved the problem by shingles, and the transformation is wonderful.

The paint had to be burned and scraped off, while the first cost of shingles is a little more than paint, the furture upkeep is much less, about a fourth of what it would cost to put on two coats of paint. The work was completed the first of December. In this short time I noticed the difference in heating the house.

Heavy waterproof paper between siding and shingles provides insulation. It will also make the house cooler in summer.

Stained shingles retain their color from four to six years—sometimes longer—all that is needed then is a brush coating of shingle stain, which any man can do. With new spouting, new paint on windows, doors and porches, my home has taken on a new lease of life with added comfort and value. Any house owner expecting to paint should investigate shingles. MRS. C. R. CARR,
707 N. Main street, Bloomington, Ill.

FEW SUGGESTIONS ON PROPER HANGING OF PICTURES IN HOME

There is no question that when building a new home or remodeling an old one, an important feature to be considered is that of adequate wall space for those pictures which make of the house a true home.

For instance, in the living room most important, perhaps, is the space over the mantel where a landscape or fine portrait or other decorative picture will be adequate as the center of attention. Or over the davenport or the piano or above the table.

The hallway, the library and the bedrooms, too, need pictures and mirrors and the house owner who watches these details will be rewarded by not only a more cheerful home but a more artistic one.

For this reason many people prefer walls of neutral shades, whatever their finishing. The choice of wall finishings is vast today. But whatever one chooses, care should be taken not to spoil this finishing by improper placement and hanging of the pictures.

Usually a picture should be hung on the level of the eye.

Give every picture the best possible light.

Above all, remember that with pictures one can create the loviest of color harmonies—or ruin a room otherwise cleverly and harmoniously decorated.

INSTALLATION OF SCREENS IN HOME DESERVES STUDY

Should Look Well Besides Being Just Useful.

BY HOMER GRANT.

Since screens are an integral part of our homes for a good many months of every year, they should not be regarded as pure incidentals, things to be shoved into place at the last minute and installed in the easiest and most haphazard manner.

A new attitude is developing towards screens in general. This attitude considers the screens in relation to the architectural contour of the house as well as to their duties as protectors against insects.

There are experts in the screen field just as there are in the weathe stripping and plumbing, flooring, and heating fields. There are men who spend all their time the year 'round designing screens and fitting them, keeping in mind that every opening in a home is an individual problem.

There is no denying that poor, improper, illy fitting screens can mar the appearance of a house, and in the same measure good screens, blending with their surroundings, can enhance the home's beauty.

The man who is building a home will do well, if he can afford it, to have his house completely equipped with screens before he goes into it even though it is fall when he moves in. This eliminates the future bother of workmen around the house. They also protect the house against the onrush of flies and other insects at the lookout for a place to spend the winter. Screens will furthermore protect the interior finish from damage by insects during its drying process.

The prospective home owner should not decide on the type of screens he is to install until he has investigated the rolling screens which roll up into housing in much the same manner that a window shade rolls up.

These screens have many points in their favor. When wanted they are always in place, and when not wanted they are entirely out of the way and yet fully protected. They do not need to be put up each spring, painted anew perhaps, and repaired; they do not need to be taken down in the fall and storage facilities found for them.

There are many things to take into consideration in screening a home. Types of openings, frame details, color schemes and interior decorations.

Choosing frame work and screen cloths made of long lived materials, selecting hardware which contributes to ease in operating, deciding on color finishes to harmonize with the interior finish, and engaging expert labor for the installation; all these steps in the screening of one's home make for long life, artistic effect, and mechanical accuracy of the screen service.

HARRY CUTMORE EXPLAINS NEW TAX LEVY SYSTEM

Forecasts Assessments Will Be Reduced.

The manner in which Chicago property is being revalued in order to secure a basis for fair assessment is explained clearly by Harry S. Cutmore in a recent communication sent out by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. The system used is similar to that employed in Cleveland, Detroit, Fort Worth, Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Antonio, Denver, Reading, Pa., and Jamestown, N. Y.

If enough people failed to pay their taxes on the basis that assessments were unfair, a city could go broke, but businesslike methods of computing taxes will fill government coffers and reduce tax rates at the same time, says Harry S. Cutmore, explaining the Chicago situation.

Under the system now in operation any citizen with a pencil and paper can assess any property anywhere, says Mr. Cutmore. Formerly in Cook county, whether assessments were high or low, the property owner did not have the least idea how the figure handed to him was arrived at. Now he can not only figure his own assessment but he can also figure his neighbor's.

Front Foot Values.

The old system in Cook county computed front foot values on a depth basis. Therefore, because the depth of lots varies, so values varied in different parts of the city. Though admitting that assessments should be made on a uniform basis, the city officials were actually making them on a very individual basis. If property is assessed in an equitable way with a man in one part of town paying taxes on the same basis as a man in another part of town, then the same unit for figuring both assessments should be used, says Mr. Cutmore. Taxes can only be equitable when assessments all over a city can be compared and found to be equitable and assessments can only be compared when the same yardstick is used for every property.

Therefore the old depth rule has been discarded and the Chicago system is predicated on a uniform standard unit foot, which is a strip of land one foot wide and 125 feet deep, located in the middle of an imaginary block without corner or other influences. Lots of greater or less depth than the standard unit are graded according to a standard depth table and uniform rates for calculating corner, alley, or any other enhancing or detracting influence are provided. The result will be that properties exactly alike in different parts of the city will be treated precisely the same.

"Practically every branch of our municipal government has kept pace with the march of science and progress except the important branch that raises money to run our government," said Mr. Cutmore. "In 1927 the assessor's office continued to do business on the same basis as it did fifty years ago. With the matter of municipal taxation becoming increasingly important, the second largest city in America a year ago was assessing property on the old township method.

Caused Buying Hesitation.

"Arbitrary assessment made in an office, and guesswork, often backed by inexperienced judgment, distributed the tax burden unfairly, made many people hesitate to purchase homes, and held up tax receipts from those who felt they had been wrongly assessed.

"Every modern municipality is about a year behind in the collection of its revenues. If one could conceive a city just starting out with funds in its treasury on which to run for a year, then such a city would always be paid up. But a city starting without funds must wait almost a year until revenues are due, and this is the position in which most American cities find themselves. They therefore borrow from the banks, on what are known as 'tax anticipation notes,' that is, they borrow against the taxes they expect to receive, and when these taxes are collected they are turned over to the banks to take up the loans and the city borrows again on the next batch of expected taxes.

"It is easy, then, to see what happens if a great many taxes are not paid and if property owners who feel they have been dealt with unfairly drag out their cases in the courts. The city does not receive sufficient funds to take up the tax anticipation notes and these notes must be extended, further interest paid or additional money borrowed elsewhere, if this can be done. It is possible to conceive a city in the situation where hundreds of thousands of property owners were holding up payment of their taxes and where the banks would not advance any more money. Such a city would go broke and chaos would result.

"In the work in Chicago the city is divided into 44 districts. Committees of real estate men enter on maps, provided by the assessor, values they believe are fair for land in the district. This is done on the assumption that such men who have done business in these localities for many years know more about the fair valuation of land than any one the city officials could consult.

Chance to Study Figures.

"These figures will be presented to the board of assessors, who will review the work of the real estate men and probably approve the price they establish. Then these prices will be published in pamphlet form and distributed in each district as tentative unit prices for the land, and taxpayers generally will have the opportunity to review and judge whether or not these prices are uniformly correct. Heretofore, the property owner wishing to compare his assessment with other assessments had to visit the assessors' office and examine the tax rolls.

"Now, after the publication and distribution of the tentative values, complaints can be made at the assessor's office or at community meetings before the final unit prices are established.

"But it is in the work of assessing the 'improvements,' the buildings on the land, that has so greatly puzzled the layman and it is in this work that the Chicago system is so highly developed.

"Not because it looks like the house in which the assessor's cousin lives in Peoria, but because it contains so many square feet, because it cost so much to build, and would cost so much to reproduce today, because it can be expected to last so much longer or because it has a porch, it is worth exactly so much now.

A Host of Workers.

"Eight hundred and fifty skilled men are traveling up and down the streets of Chicago, examining with experienced eyes the many buildings that are being reassessed. These are men who have been in the building trades, and appraisers and engineers who know little about politics and a great deal about valuation.

"First come the measurers who calculate the dimensions of each structure and enter their figures on cards that are passed on to the 'pricers,' the appraisers and engineers. The pricers work from a 'manual' prepared as part of the Chicago system, which contains carefully selected illustrations of typical properties, ranging from modern office buildings to modest cottages. For example, on one sheet of this manual are six photographic examples of two flat buildings, from very high grade and elaborate structures to the most simple type.

"The pricer works on forms, copies of which are distributed to the public. He will stand before a particular building, verify the measurer's work, and then price the building according to the class in which it belongs. Then, based on simple rules that are fair to the extreme in favor of the property owner, the pricer applies all the fine shadings and gradings of construction, materials, use, location, environment, and probable life that can make a difference of a dollar and a half in two houses that look alike as two peas.

How Reduction Is Made.

"There are special considerations that render a building less useful or desirable than the standard structure for its size, location and type, and these considerations may reduce the fundamental normal curve of value from zero to twenty-five per cent, and in exceptional cases probably more. In this connection, where such a special treatment is awarded, the pricer must indicate definitely upon the property record for his reason for this additional allowance and he is held responsible for applying such factors.

"This system that will assure the public that the prices registered in the assessor's office represent the composite community opinion as to the fair value of land and buildings, by equalizing values, will automatically lower the tax rate from around $5 to $3 in the Chicago area," says Mr. Cutmore.

The tax expert points out that under the old system, even though some properties were taxed on too high assessments, the total number of assessments did not represent 100 per cent valuations throughout the county. The old haphazard, and unequal method actually yielded only a part of what an efficient system could yield. It is expected that the new uniform method of assessing will, by reason of its uniformity, yield much larger tax revenues if the same tax rate is used. But taxes are raised to correspond with a city's budget and Chicago has already indicated that the revenues expected from the old system are sufficient for her needs, says Mr. Cutmore. Therefore, if the new system brings in more money, the tax rate can be reduced to fit its revenue, the city keeping only what it hoped to secure from its antiquated methods.

SUBURBAN APARTMENTS

The Oak Leaf apartments—a fifty-one flat building which is to be erected at 417-27 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park. Henry J. Apfelbach is architect and is also president of the building corporation which will own the structure. Lackner, Butz & Co. are financing the enterprise. And Edgar L. Bloomster drew this picture.

51 FLATS TO RISE AT 417-27 SOUTH TAYLOR, OAK PK.

First Floor of Concrete as Fire Measure.

Plans have been completed for an imposing two court, three story flat building which is to be erected at 417-27 South Taylor avenue, Oak Park—just missing being in the fairly well known city of Chicago by a slight matter of two blocks. The structure, which will be called Oak Leaf apartments, is to contain fifty-one flats ranging in size from three and a half to six rooms.

The Oak Leaf, designed by Henry J. Apfelbach, will be of Georgian architecture. All street elevations will be of face brick, with polychrome terra cotta used for ornamentation. Iron balconies and copper downspouts and gutters also will add a decorative touch. Both courts will be landscaped and each will have a fountain.

Interesting is the treatment of the first floor which is to be of reinforced concrete construction. Inasmuch as many fires originate in basements this measure of fire prevention is worthy of special consideration. Both the second and third floors will be of semi-fireproof construction.

All the rooms in the apartments are to be spacious so as to give nervous husbands or wives plenty of space in which to do their pacing. As to the conveniences here are some—white enameled stoves, electric dishwashers, electrical refrigerators and mechanical ventilation. And it was just thirty years ago that steam heat and hot water were the baits offered by apartment owners to secure tenants.

There will be a playroom for children in the basement and in addition laundries with most modern equipment. Thirteen garages will be located in the back of the building.

The lot is 164x172 feet. The owner is the Oak Leaf Building corporation of which Mr. Apfelbach, the architect, is president. It is stated the investment will be $510,624. Financing is by a $325,000 bond issue underwritten by Lackner, Butz & Co. It is hoped to have the building completed in time for fall occupancy.

DIVERSEY PARKWAY LEASE.

Jacob B. Ternic has leased the store at 549 Diversey parkway from William H. Hess and John F. Yokem, through Liepold & Hicks, for a leather goods store.

Buys 10 Flats, 5 Stores at Corner of Clark-Wallen

Mrs. Katie Clesen bought from William I. and Ann S. Russakov the ten flats and five stores at the northwest corner of Clark and Wallen. She gave in part payment 153 feet of vacant at the northeast corner of Asbury and Mulford avenues, Evanston. B. A. McLaughlin of William P. Brennan's office was broker.

New Add-a-Shower Spout modernizes old bathtubs

Greatest Convenience for Home Owners—Helps Rent Old Apartments—Increases Hotel Room Revenues

No remodeling
Easy installation
Reasonable cost

HERE'S mighty good news for owners of homes, apartments, hotels, etc., who have longed for a real, substantially built shower that could be installed quickly, permanently and inexpensively.

The ADD-A-SHOWER SPOUT is a complete unit—a combination bathtub filler and shower that takes the place of any ordinary over-rim spout. No remodeling is required—simply remove old spout, screw in new spout, erect supply pipe, screw in wall flange at top—the shower is ready for use INSTANTLY!

Two new practical features are included—a shower face plate that comes easily off in a few seconds . . . a diverter valve for shower on the spout that positively prevents that exasperating experience—an unexpected shower.

New—attractive—beautifully nickel plated or chromium plated—built to last a lifetime—a genuine boon to everyone who has longed for a shower but have put off buying one because of cost, inconvenience, etc. A great opportunity for home owners to increase their bathing facilities—for apartment owners to make their buildings up-to-date and increase their revenues and rentability—for hotels to satisfy public demand for showers and likewise enjoy greater popularity and more profit per room.

Spring time and summer time will soon be here—the times of the year when a nice, cool, refreshing, stimulating shower enables you to start or end the day just right. Don't delay—consult your architect—ask your plumber—phone or write us for full particulars about this remarkable device which instantly converts old bathtubs into combination showers.

Shower face plate removed by loosening center screw with screwdriver, face plate. Screw cannot drop out. Off without a screw—a feature that will be appreciated by everyone who has tried to remove an old-fashioned face plate.

SIEBEL PLANS TO BUILD AT STATE-GRAND

New Structure to Rise on Old Kinzie Tract.

E. H. Siebel, president of the Central Products company, has purchased the property at the northeast corner of Grand avenue and State street from Alice M. Sexton and Michael Philbin, representing the Philbin estate.

This corner, which measures 100x100 feet, is now occupied by four old residences erected shortly after the fire. The new owner contemplates tearing down the old buildings and replacing them with a modern structure two or three stories high, with stores on the ground floor and offices above.

The price Mr. Siebel paid for the property was not disclosed, but he bought it subject to a ten year mortgage of $27,300.

The property forms a part of a tract once owned by John Kinzie. Later it passed into the hands of Thomas Makin, a contractor, who erected the four residences which now might be said to bear a somewhat worn appearance. Louis Sudler, who represented the sellers in the transaction, informs us that Mr Makin "may be remembered as building the once fashionable Revere house, still standing on the corner of Clark street and Austin avenue."

When the new improvement is to go through has not yet been decided.

A. N. Weeber of Sudler & Co. represented the purchaser in the transaction. Elmer E Jackson was attorney for Mr. Siebel and McMahon & Chenry acted for the sellers.

Lease All of Main Floor of New Oak Leaves Building

The entire first floor of the new Oak Leaves building at 1136-42 Lake street, Oak Park, has been rented, according to the Cummings & Foreman Real Estate corporation. Two of the four leases already have been announced. The quartet comprises the Washington Shirt company, the Walk Over Shoe company, the Cutler Shoe company, and Andy's Chocolate shop. The agents state that all are at an average of more than $5 per square foot and in addition two are on a gross percentage basis. The building will be completed about Sept. 1.

EAST ADAMS STREET LEASE.

Herman Mutter has leased the 16x80 store at 35 East Adams for a term of years and will occupy it with a woman's shoe shop. A. E. Ohlsen, of Hecker & Sloman, was broker.

CALUMET CITY CINEMA

George H. Buckley is architect of the above theater building which, he states, is to be erected at the southwest corner of 155d place and Wentworth avenue, in Calumet City, by a syndicate of which A. L. Jacobstein is president and John Carroll, cashier of the Calumet City Trust and Savings bank, is a member. Mr. Buckley says work will start July 1 and will be completed May 1, 1930. He states that the Great States Theater corporation has leased the 1,500 seat playhouse. This sketch is from the brush of Charles Morgan.

TWO WOMEN BUY FLAT BUILDING AT 5406 WINTHROP

The Florence, a four story apartment building at 5406 Winthrop avenue, has been sold by an undisclosed seller, for whom the Chicago Title and Trust company held title, to Alice M. Sexton and Mildred Philbin for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $132,000. The structure contains forty-seven apartments of one, two, and three rooms. A. N. Weeber and Louis Sudler of Sudler & Co. were brokers.

Frank De Lugach Sells 300 Lots Within 4 Hour Period

An interesting sales record was made recently by the Frank DeLugach company which is reported to have sold more than 300 lots between the hours of 9:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m. The lots sold were in the Kedzie-Beverly Hills subdivision, bounded by 103d, 107th, Kedzie, and Utica, and the action took place on a Sunday.

"Quarter in Slot Photo" Shop for 115 North Clark

The Photomaton Operating corporation has leased from Arthur Bernstein the store at 115 North Clark street where it will open a studio specializing in "quarter in a slot photos." Cerf & Ehrenhalt were brokers.

FRED D. SADLER TO MARKET TRACT IN ESTATE AREA

Fred D. Sadler of the firm of Sadler, Patton & Co., brokers, has purchased from Andrew J. Maloney, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Iron and Coal company, a tract of ninety-five acres in the country estate section west of Lake Forest for an undisclosed consideration. The property, in Vernon township, is located on an unnamed road a half mile south—practically on a dead line—of the former Armour residence on Mellody farm. It lies within an area bounded by Town Line and Everitt roads, Milwaukee avenue and Waukegan road.

The property is to be known as Orchard Hill Estates. It will be divided into parcels of five and ten acres and marketed by Milledge D. Bullard & Co.

REBUILDS BURNED LAUNDRY.

The South Shore Wet Wash laundry, whose laundry at 7261 South Chicago avenue recently was destroyed by fire, is being rebuilt by the Austin company of Cleveland. The construction is steel frame and fireproof.

REJUVENATING AN ANTIQUE

This is Riverside's famous old landmark, the Green block, at Riverside and Quincy roads, across from the "Q" station, as it will look when its new owners, Richard Smykal and Carl C. Lindquist, get through rejuvenating it. Coen & Baldwin are architects of its youthful lines. Details are given in another column.

Now Old Homes can have complete, Modern Heating Comfort

—and it pays for itself

Make your Heating Equipment Complete—put a Balsam-Wool Blanket in the attic—it keeps the heat in

Just because you are living in an old home is no reason you need be behind the times in heating comfort and heating economy.

Nor need you get a new furnace. Quite probably your present heating equipment is more than adequate. All it needs is to be made complete—with Balsam-Wool the heat saver.

Here's how it works

Much of the heat your furnace makes leaks out through the roof—costs you money, does you no good. A Balsam-Wool Blanket in the attic will stop it—keep it inside where it belongs.

Balsam-Wool is a thick, flexible insulating blanket. It tucks into every nook and cranny—a real heat saver. Balsam-Wool is made to accomplish just one thing—and does it. It is not a substitute or "combination" material—not to be confused with thin, rigid insulating boards.

Saves its cost

A Balsam-Wool blanket in your attic will quickly return its cost in the fuel it saves—whether you burn coal, oil, gas or wood. It pays big dividends in comfort and health as well.

It makes a home that is not only warmer in winter—but cooler in summer, often making upstairs rooms livable that are now unbearably hot.

Any Carpenter can Install

Putting in Balsam-Wool is not a difficult job or a long one. Does not muss up the house. Ask any carpenter to call and give you an estimate. Be sure to tell him that it's Balsam-Wool you want. Or phone your lumber dealer.

EXCHANGE FOR REALTY ISSUES MOVES FORWARD

N. Y. Real Estate Board Pushes Plan.

Final details have been worked out by the New York Real Estate board for the real estate exchange which is to deal exclusively in real estate securities in the same way that the regular exchanges handle industrial securities. The new New York exchange is being established with the hope of making realty securities more marketable and therefore more desirable for investment.

For the present membership in the New York Exchange, Inc., as the organization is to be known, will be limited to 500. The initial price of each seat will be $5,000. Dues are to be $300 annually and if a member transfers his seat the newcomer must be approved by the membership committee and in addition pay an initiation fee of $1,000.

Purchases or sales of securities for the purpose of affecting the market will be prohibited. Hours of business will be between 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. The unit of trading in bonds will be $1,000 par value. In stocks selling at fifty cents a share and over the unit will be 100 shares. In stocks selling at less than fifty cents the unit will be 1,000. The date for the opening of the exchange has not yet been set.

Careful Home Buyers Insist on Insulation

HOW much better it is to think of insulation before you build or buy than to be reminded of it later by wasteful heat-leakage; dampness, chill and draughts!

And how quickly you realize that uninsulated houses are out-of-date when you visit homes that resist the passage of heat . . . that help keep furnace warmth inside during winter and scorching sun heat outside in summer! Celotex, more than any other material, brings these advantages of insulation to American homes. It saves 25% or more on fuel bills, protects health and increases comfort all the year.

As a heat-stopper, Celotex is three times as effective as wood, eight times plasterboard, twelve times brick and twenty-five times concrete. Its effectiveness is proven by the fact that it is used in thousands of refrigerator cars and household refrigerators, as well as in more than 250,000 homes.

Celotex is the only insulation made from the long, tough fibres of cane. It comes in big, strong boards, 4 feet wide, 7 to 12 feet long and 7/16 inch thick. These boards withstand all kinds of weather and add structural strength to buildings when used as sheathing.

Celotex is also used for insulating roofs; for lining basements, attics and garages; for making comfortable extra rooms out of waste spaces.

And for plasterbase there is Celotex Lath 18 inches by 48 inches, and 7/16 inch thick. It is especially designed to reinforce against plaster cracks and eliminate lath marks . . . to give finer, smoother plastered walls plus insulation.

Ask your contractor, builder or architect for further information on Celotex—and send in the coupon below for our free booklet.

FARM AND GARDEN

FARMERS LACK BRAIN FOOD, SURVEY SHOWS

Books Scarce as Hen's Teeth in Country.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Book starved rural America has left farmers in a quandary. They have a shortage of brain food, though they raise more crops than they can eat or sell. Farmers are faced with the predicament of not knowing a practical way of avoiding the production of crop surpluses or what to do with an oversupply after it is produced. Would the situation be different if farmers had an abundance of brain food made available through country libraries?

Getting a book to read in some rural communities is almost as difficult today as it was in Abraham Lincoln's time. The American Library association's survey shows that eighty-two per cent of the rural population of the United States do not have public library service, as compared with six per cent of the urban population who do not have such service. There are 5,954 public libraries in the United States, but comparatively few of them are available to farmers.

In the 3,085 counties in this country, 1,135 do not have public libraries. The association estimates that 45,069,897 people are without public library service, and 43,153,291, or 93 per cent, are people living in the open country or in places having less than 2,500 population.

Even Central West Denied.

Free book service is not only denied farmers and ranchers in out of the way places but rural people living in the central west, one of the richest agricultural regions of the world, are without public libraries. In Illinois, for example, where more than seven million people live, there are approximately one and a half million people without public library service. Ten of the 102 counties in the state do not have a single public library, including Calhoun, Clinton, Effingham, Gallatin, Hardin, Henderson, Jasper, Pope, Pulaski, and Putnam counties, according to the library survey.

The knowledge starved people of the 1,135 counties could be "fed" all the books they want through public libraries on an appropriation averaging about $1 for each person in the county.

Rural Extension Work.

The establishment of country libraries has been encouraged throughout the country by the library association's rural extension work during the last few years. The headquarters of the library is usually at the county seat. This acts as a reservoir, supplying books, magazines, pamphlets, and often maps, music and pictures to people in all parts of the county.

According to association workers, county libraries are springing up in various parts of the country, especially in communities where people realize how inexpensive, effective and valuable the service can be made to schools and homes. These libraries are being operated successfully in various parts of the country.

The association finds that county library service is organized in forty-six of California's fifty-eight counties. Nine out of twenty-one counties in New Jersey have them. There are between 200 and 300 county libraries in the country and more are being established each year. A majority of the states have laws providing for county libraries as soon as the counties demand them. Warren is said to be the only county in Illinois where there is a county library.

Demand for Books Grows.

The radio, hard roads, speed trucks, automobiles, and various other agencies are wiping out rural isolation and bringing farmers into contact more and more with their neighbors in other rural communities and in cities and towns. This is stimulating among rural people a greater desire to learn and consequently there is a growing demand for books. Rural leaders are recommending the county library as one of the best ways to get books into the hands of families on farms and in small towns. The plan is found practical, economical and flexible enough to be adapted to various needs.

In some counties the library sends out a truck or automobile loaded with books and the driver calls at neighborhood centers periodically, carrying books to farm homes widely scattered over the county. While the books are kept in a county library, branch libraries are usually located at convenient points throughout the county. Schools, churches, stores, filling stations, club centers, and homes are often used as substations in distributing the books. The rural library movement is expected to grow steadily during the next few years. It already has reached thirty-three states.

BOOKS FOR FARMERS

This truck is used in Ohio counties. The county library and trucks used in distributing books is one plan educators are using to get literature into the hands of some of the 42,000,000 rural people that do not have access to a public library.

AGRICULTURAL
Questions and Answers

HOME BUILT WINDOW BOX.

Please give me instructions for constructing window boxes, preparing the soil, planting and caring for the plants in them. I should like to use combinations of primroses and maidenhair or asparagus ferns, or nasturtiums or geraniums and English ivy.

REPLY.

Cypress is one of the best materials to use in making window boxes. Make the boxes about 8 inches deep and not less than 6 inches wide. Window boxes are easier to handle if they are not longer than 5 feet. Bore twelve or fifteen holes in the bottom of the box, cover the bottom with broken crockery or coarse cinders, and fill it with rich, black dirt. A little sand and leaf mold will help to loosen the soil and enrich it. If plants are used set them slightly deeper than they were originally. Soak the soil thoroughly immediately after the plants are set. In watering the plants always give the soil a good soaking instead of sprinkling. A fork may be used effectively in breaking up the crust that forms on the surface of the soil from time to time.

Flower specialists at the Iowa station have picked out these flowers for boxes that are in the sun most of the day: Geraniums, heliotrope, nasturtiums and petunias. Petunias are favorites in Chicago. Coleus and croton, foliage plants, need plenty of sun. For trailing plants use English, German or Kenilworth ivy. Boston ferns, cordyline, silk oak, small palms and red and tuberous begonias are recommended for shaded boxes.

Basement Library Is Known to Gardeners Over Nation

Several years ago in the basement of her home at 2140 West 107th street Mrs. A. C. Watson started a garden library by collecting various pamphlets, circulars, and leaflets from the agricultural department of the government and extension service stations of state universities and colleges. The library proved to be so valuable to the floral division of Morgan Park Woman's club that it was made an educational exhibit at last year's Chicago Garden and Flower show and was subsequently reviewed by this department. Her library is known among gardeners throughout the country.

Mrs. Watson has continued to revise and expand her library until there are nearly 200 publications in her collection. The exhibit contained full and comprehensive information on almost every phase of floriculture. All of these bulletins and circulars are available to the public, most of them free of charge. Those from the midwest agricultural college experiment stations are listed below, with the name and address of the institution publishing them preceding each group.

LEADERS MEET TO PROMOTE LIBRARY WORK

Educators and librarians from different parts of the country will be here Tuesday to attend a conference at the Union League club for the purpose of adding momentum to the movement to put more books into the hands of people living in rural districts. C. B. Lester, chairman of the American Library association's extension committee, called the meeting.

A plan to promote library extension service for rural communities was started in 1926 and leaders meeting here this week will discuss ways and means of expanding the work.

WILLIAM J. COOPER.

William J. Cooper, the newly appointed United States commissioner of education, will speak at the conference. He will tell about the place county libraries have in rural education. Milton J. Ferguson, librarian of the California state library, who has just returned after making a survey and plan for the development of libraries in South Africa, will also speak.

Others who will attend Tuesday's meeting include Miss Linda A. Eastman, president of the American Library association; John D. Willard, Amherst, Mass.; Carl H. Milam, Chicago; Dean H. W. Mumford, Urbana, Ill.; J. H. Kolb, Madison, Wis., and C. H. Lane, Washington, D. C.

J. O. Modisette, chairman of the Louisiana library commission, will preside.

LOOKING BACKWARD

To March 24, 1919; 10 Years Ago Today

The Frederick Ayer building at the southwest corner of Monroe and State streets has been leased from the Ledyard trustees by the Orpheum Theater company, owned and operated by Jones, Linick & Schaefer, for fifteen years from May 1, 1922, at a rental which, with the taxes and insurance, will, it is said, aggregate about $3,000,000. The building is five stories and basement high and occupies a lot with 120 feet of frontage on both State and Monroe streets. John Dorr Bradley of Aldis & Co., represented the trustees, while E. F. Keebler & Co. represented the lessees.

[Moffett Photo.]

Mary A. Ryan, widow of Timothy E. Ryan, sold to C. Hollenbach the attractive residence property at the southwest corner of Sheridan road and Thorndale avenue. The lot fronts 100 feet, with a depth of 150, and is improved with a three story fourteen room dwelling. The property is said to have been held at $85,000. Madden brothers were brokers.

To March 24, 1909; 20 Years Ago Today

Charles G. Dawes, president of the Central Trust company, purchased through Robert S. Clark from former Judge Oliver H. Horton the Dr. Robert Sheppard residence at the northwest corner of Greenwood boulevard and Sheridan road, Evanston, comprising one of the handsomest and most valuable homes in the suburb. The lot has a frontage of 328 feet and a depth of 298 feet. The house contains seventeen rooms. It is understood Mr. Dawes paid around $100,000 for the property. Mr. Horton took title to the property in August, 1906, in a quit claim from Dr. and Mrs. Sheppard and it was understood to have been conveyed to liquidate the indebtedness due to the Garrett Biblical institute by Dr. Sheppard.

CHARLES G. DAWES.

The St. Joseph building at 331-35 South Dearborn street, between Van Buren and Harrison, was purchased by F. W. Mathiessen of La Salle, Ill., from Jacob Franks of this city for $175,000 cash.

To March 24, 1899; 30 Years Ago Today

The lease by A. C. McClurg & Co. of the Ayer building at 215-21 Wabash avenue for a term from May 1 at a rental of between $30,000 and $40,000 was closed last week. The building is nine stories high, fronts east eighty feet in Wabash avenue and has a depth of 160 feet. It is midway between Adams street and Jackson boulevard. The ground under the building is owned by Frederick T. Haskell and is under lease to Frederick Ayer for 99 years at a rental of $12,000 annually for forty-nine years and $14,000 for the balance of the term.

FREDERICK AYER.

George W. Maher is working on plans for a residence which Rollin A. Furbeck will build at Home avenue and Pleasant street, Oak Park. The house will be two stories and attic high. It will cost $15,000.

$1,000 SPENT TO GIVE A LIBRARY AN ANTIQUE LOOK

Francis P. Sullivan, Washington architect, in a recent communication of the American Institute of Architects, scoffs at architects and interior decorators who overdo themselves in putting an antique flavor to their work. Mr. Sullivan says there "is danger that the vulgarity of shininess will merely be replaced by an equally objectionable vulgarity of slovenliness."

Mr. Sullivan then tells of an amusing experience he had with an interior decorator.

"There called on me recently a man calling himself an interior decorator who showed me numerous photographs of rooms he had furnished, among them a library in limestone and oak. There were chunks knocked out of the moldings and holes gouged in the paneling. Every surface was dented and every arris nicked.

"He explained how by application of various mordants and the expert use of a file, a poker, a yard of iron chain and a shotgun, a workmanlike job of stone cutting and joinery had been given the equivalent of four hundred years' wear. A thousand dollars, he boasted, was spent on this room alone to give it an antique flavor."

25 Apartment Building for Berwyn; Cost $160,000

A twenty-five apartment building is to be erected at the northwest corner of Stanley and Wisconsin avenues, Berwyn, by the Stanley-Wisconsin Building corporation. Apartments will have three and four rooms and will have electrical refrigeration. E. J. Ohrenstein and Hild are architects. The cost will be approximately $160,000.

Louis Mintz Buys 4 Stores, 2 Flats at 4207 Broadway

Arnold and Sarah Matheson sold to Louis L. Mintz of the National Tea Company the property at 4207-09 Broadway, containing four stores and two apartments, for a price reported to be in the neighborhood of $100,000. The lot fronts 80 feet, with a depth averaging from 198 to 234 feet. The National Tea has a grocery store in one of the stores and plans to put a meat market in one of the others.

Woman Sells Granville Avenue Business Block

The three stores, five offices and fifteen shops at 1120-26 Granville avenue were sold by Myrtle Goldberg to Herbert Decker and David L. Golden for a reported $150,000 through M. Maisel & Co.

LONDON'S CHIEF WORRY IS WALL ST., IT SEEMS

Markets React to Credit Situation.

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 23.—Politics, the uncertainty of the monetary situation, the approaching holidays and fears of further developments in Wall street, are the chief factors influencing the restriction of business on the London stock exchange. Hesitation is dominant, resulting in a substantial reduction in the speculative commitments.

The real worry here over America's situation is chiefly the anxiety arising from the maintenance of the loan rate in New York at high levels, the failure of sterling to make a sustained recovery and continued rumor that a general advance in American bank rates is highly probable. One bright spot here, however, was the purchase of a large amount of gold by the Bank of England this week, but was not regarded too satisfactory in that for the fifth consecutive week the Bank of England was compelled to bid above its statutory buying price in order to secure the gold.

This operation was necessary, however, owing to the threat of exports to America, the result being that for the five week period an aggregate of over fourteen million dollars has been purchased, thus raising the gold holdings of the Bank of England to largely $752,000,000, compared with about $714,000,000 on the day the bank rate was raised to 5½ per cent.

Gold Movements.

As a matter of fact, rather mysterious movements of gold are presently occurring without affecting the position of the Bank of England's reserve, which movements are believed to have corrected the position of the foreign exchanges which in some cases appear to warrant the gold exports from continental countries to London. These recent gold movements include the importing of nearly $10,000,000 from Holland.

France believes in selling dollars against purchaser's sterling, and, a large amount of gold has been moved from Germany to New York. However, if the Bank of England continues to acquire metal at the rate it has during the last few weeks the position should be quite strong here in a few months. Much — almost everything, however—depends upon the course of events in New York.

Although certain insiders continue to persistently support the special industrial securities, there are no signs of revival of public activity. Despite the prevailing conditions a new issue boom still continues, but it is not surprising that an arrangement of underwriting is being found difficult for some of the ultra speculative propositions which at present are being placed to the public.

Setback Occurs.

The better tone in the gilt edged section experienced earlier in the week gave place to considerable irregularity. This was partly due to the week-end profit taking, and there was a decided setback occurring in some British funds, chiefly war loan fives, which went down to one hundred and one and three-eighths, with conversion also dropping more than a point to ninety-five and one-eighth.

The adverse effect also appeared to be caused by the outburst of Sir George Paish earlier in the week forecasting that the world will be in financial crisis shortly, though his remarks were not generally taken too seriously, especially as they were said to have political flavor.

Considering the present conditions the foreign market is making quite an interesting showing, and, with the possible advent of the Labor government in the coming general elections, there appears to be an increasing demand for the better class foreign sterling loans which give more attractive yields than most of the gilt edged stocks here.

Unusual dullness developed in the rubber market this week after the recent boom let up. From thirteen and three-eighths pence per pound early in March the price of this commodity has steadily fallen to eleven and one half penny per pound at the close this week. The market was naturally weakened since the publication of the increased American consumption figures for January and February.

Among the influences causing the setback was the circulation of rumors of another synthetic process discovery which may revolutionize the industry, also reported experiments by a well known inventor for extracting rubber from weeds.

PARIS BOURSE FIRMER

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 23.—Although the bourse put in a gloomy week, it was considered that the tone is considerably firmer than last week, due chiefly to the confidence of Premier Poincare having been newly assured of remaining his office until next fall.

The belief of reparations experts that the deliberations are taking a more settled turn also proved an optimistic factor. The general sagging is attributed largely to the approaching Easter recess. At the same time the uncertain monetary situation in the United States and Great Britain and the indifference of the French public is also interpreted as factors in the present depression.

The amount of business done was extremely small this week. The opening tendency was more cheerful, with conditions hardening and prices were maintained through Tuesday. Wednesday, however, the market slumped after a buoyant opening and slackness continued for the remainder of the week.

Feminine Rule of Finance Is Seen for 2025

BY SCRUTATOR.

One of the real dangers faced by the male half of the human race is that all our wealth may in a few score years be in the hands of women. The tendency today is in that direction, and one statistician has estimated that if it continues with unabated speed a financial matriarchy, holding control of all capital in the United States, will be reached in 2025.

Attention is called to feminism in finance in a report prepared by Lawrence Stern & Co. Their statisticians estimate that 41 per cent of all the income of the nation is directly received by women. Government tax figures are quoted to show that in 1926 women making individual returns paid taxes on $3,297,527,000, while all the men making individual returns, including heads of families, paid on a total of $4,741,136,000.

In the same year 139 women paid on incomes exceeding $100,000 each and 44 on net incomes of more than a million. Men making individual returns were only 123 in the $100,000 class and 42 in the select million a year group. Leaving out of consideration the fact that still larger returns were made jointly by husbands and wives, and that it is fair to assume that the men have control of these to a great degree, feminine wealth in the United States is something to marvel about.

Inheritance Great Factor.

This concentration of capital on the distaff side comes about in numerous ways. Obviously not many of the large money accumulations were gathered by the work of the women who hold them. Inheritance is a great factor. Women are beneficiaries, it is stated, of 80 per cent of the 95 billions of life insurance in force. They receive 70 per cent of the estates left by men and 64 per cent of those left by other women, according to the report.

The important fact is that they have it; not how they got it. What are they doing with it?

They are investing it. The Investors' Guide department of THE TRIBUNE reports an increasingly large proportion of the thousands of inquiries received monthly come from women. They display a fondness for sound, conservative stocks and well secured bonds. The United States Steel corporation has, it is said, 50 per cent of women stockholders, as has American Telephone and Telegraph. National Biscuit company, the Pennsylvania railroad, Westinghouse Air Brake all are pointed to as having more women as partners than men. General Electric has nearly as many and 54 per cent of the preferred stockholders of Standard Oil of New Jersey are feminine.

Not so long ago brokerage houses generally objected to handling women's accounts because they were hard losers. Now it is different. One firm on the New York stock exchange has a special department for women, and the report mentioned above asserts that inquiries at other leading houses disclosed that more than a third of their customers were female, with the percentage steadily going up.

Women in America.

Matriarchy is nothing new in the history of the human race. Some of the races in the distant reaches of time were governed by women who passed on their royalty to daughters. The early French settlers found that the Indian tribes, although headed by male chiefs, placed the descent of the chieftainship in the female line, the son of a sister of the passing chief succeeding him.

The shift to masculine leadership came and has lasted for thousands of years. But it is significant that in the United States, most highly industrialized of nations, women play a more important part in affairs than in any other country. Twenty per cent of the wage earners of the country are women, some eight million, by the last census figures. We have more than a quarter of a million of them operating their own farms, 8,300 of them conducting their own factories, more than 700,000 acting as teachers.

There is something of grim humor in the possibility that this vast enginery of commerce may finally take away all the profits from the half of the race that promoted it and give them over to the matriarchy of money. It may not happen by 2025. It may never happen. But it could happen, and the trend seems to be in that direction.

FORD OF CANADA LOSES NEARLY 3½ MILLIONS IN 1928

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 23.—Ford Motor company of Canada, Ltd., reports 1928 net loss of $3,400,851.63, after receipt of $1,182,836.21 in dividends from affiliated companies. This compares with a net profit after taxes of $171,022, or $2.45 per share in 1927.

Net loss from operations of the Canadian factory and branches for 1928 was $4,583,487.74 after deduction of all charges for manufacturing, selling and general expenses including depreciation. Surplus of $27,855,336.41 as of the close of 1927 was reduced to $24,454,484.88 as of December 31, 1928. These changes in the profit and loss statement reflect the interruption of manufacture and the heavy costs incidental to the change to production of model A and AA cars and trucks respectively.

Total sales and other income for 1928 amounted to $47,083,132.75. Assets total $50,922,20.83, including Dominion of Canada government bonds carried a market value of $2,903,097.50, and plant accounts of $24,132,487.90. The latter item was increased by $2,073,388.20 during the year on account of the change in model.

New York Banker Will Address Institute Here

C. Alison Scully of New York, vice president of the National Bank of Commerce, will deliver the opening lecture on "Why Appoint a Corporate Fiduciary?" before the Life-Trust Institute of Chicago next Wednesday evening in the Insurance Exchange.

PUBLIC BOND OFFERINGS DROP TO $63,515,000

Many Issues Carry Stock Privileges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—A total of $63,515,000 of new bonds, of which $47,000,000 consisted of foreign and domestic investment corporations' securities, was publicly offered in the week ended today, compared with $190,362,700 last week and $114,892,000 in the corresponding week of last year. A large proportion of the bonds now reaching the investment market are of the class that carries stock purchase warrants or stock conversion privileges.

Offerings by Groups.

The offerings of this and last week follow:

| | This week. | Last week. |
|---|---|---|
| Investment corp. | $41,000,000 | $ ..... |
| Industrial | 7,750,000 | 3,358,700 |
| State and munic. | 6,765,000 | 7,946,000 |
| Foreign | 6,000,000 | 10,000,000 |
| Public utility | 2,000,000 | 57,500,000 |
| Railroad | ..... | 111,858,000 |
| Total | $63,515,000 | $190,362,700 |

The largest issue of the week was $35,000,000 of 5s of the Eastern Utilities Investing corporation, an organization which has extensive holdings in a diversified list of public utility companies. Also in the investment corporation group was an issue of $4,000,000 of bonds of the Southern National company, while the foreign group also contributed $6,000,000 of investment corporation financing, with an issue of $6,000,000 of 4½s of the Great Britain and Canada Investment corporation.

On Moderate Scale.

Aside from these activities, new offerings were on a moderate scale, although the investment demand was adequate to absorb the securities that were placed on the market. The principal financing in the industrial group consisted of $7,000,000 of debentures of the Warner-Quinlan company, while the largest state borrower was West Virginia, with a $5,000,000 award. The only activity in the public utility group was an offering of $2,000,000 of 5s of the New York Steam corporation.

Cadillac Motor Co. Plans 5 Million Building Program

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 23.—A $5,000,000 building and equipment program, involving six separate projects, has been announced for the Cadillac Motor Car company during the next two years by Lawrence P. Fisher, president of the company. Fisher said that when the program is completed the Cadillac plant will have an annual capacity of 60,000 cars, a 50 per cent increase over the present capacity, and will make possible a yearly business volume approaching two hundred million dollars.

N. Y., O. & W. Orders Ten Heavy Locomotives

The New York, Ontario and Western railroad has placed an order for ten heavy mountain type locomotives with the American Locomotive company. The engines will weigh 182 tons each. The order is valued at $1,000,000.

WILL START ANOTHER PROXY ATTACK UPON OFFICIALS OF LOFT CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Another appeal for proxies has been sent to stockholders of Loft Inc. by the stockholders' committee headed by Louis E. Spellman, as chairman, which is seeking to wrest control of the company from George W. Loft and his son, George Leon Loft.

This committee was thwarted temporarily in its fight against the management when Douglas Frisby, secretary of the company, ruled on Thursday that no quorum was present at the annual meeting of stockholders. The meeting was adjourned until next Thursday.

The new appeal of the insurgent stockholders says: "Officers of this corporation, in the endeavor to perpetuate themselves in office and to retain lucrative salaries, solicited proxies in favor of George W. Loft and Thomas F. Flynn and secured, we are advised, a number of those proxies, but far less in amount than those secured by this committee. These proxies were secured upon the implied, if not the express representation that they would be submitted to the stockholders' meeting and voted.

"Upon the submission of this committee's proxies, the secretary of the corporation, by and with the connivance of officers, directors, and attorneys for the corporation, made arbitrary and frivolous objections to a sufficient number of this committee's proxies to reduce them to an amount of 362,865 shares—an amount insufficient to provide a quorum for the transaction of business at this meeting."

CHICAGO BANK STOCK MARKET UNSETTLED; PRICES ON DOWNGRADE

The Chicago bank stock market this week has been unsettled, with prices for the most part downward.

Chicago Trust was under pressure and lost 15 points, closing at 565 bid, offered at 570, ex-dividend. Central Trust company of Illinois was neglected at 575 bid, with stock offered at 980. National Bank of the Republic, after improving to early sales at 268, reacted to a close of 249 bid, stock offered at 252, off 5. State Bank of Chicago was heavy and receded 20 points to 837 bid, 842 asked. Straus National continued in demand at 385 with stock offered for sale at 390. Union Bank of Chicago declined 5 points—sales being recorded between 440 and 450.

Continental National Bank and Trust, ex the April 1 dividend, changed hands between 685 and 690; while Illinois Merchants was traded between 1,370 and 1,380. Peoples Trust and Savings was without interest at 520 to 530. Foreman National was an exception to the general trend, rising 10 points to sales between 1,000 and 1,005, ex dividend. First National eased off from early sales at 922 to a closing market of 916 to 920. Northern Trust was 5 points easier, being in supply at 595.

There was no special interest in the miscellaneous group and prices moved within a narrow range. Aviation Securities declined 3 points to 38 bid, stock offered at 38¾. Early sales were recorded in Chicago Title and Trust at 627, but prices did not hold and at the close stock was offered at 622, with 618 bid.

STANDARD OIL DIVIDENDS SET QUARTERLY MARK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—A new high record has been established in dividend distributions by the various companies comprising the old Standard Oil group in the first quarter of this year; payments totaling $63,379,618, exceeding the aggregate in any previous quarter, regardless of the special and extra distributions made by some companies in recent years.

The high figure now reached compares with dividend distributions aggregating $62,050,357 for the final quarter of 1928, and $48,927,670 in the first quarter of last year, according to a compilation by Carl H. Pforzheimer & Co., specialists in Standard Oil securities.

Increased payments in the first quarter of any year in comparison with the final quarter of the previous year are exceptional, because of the unusual distribution of extra and special year-end dividends.

Contributing to the unusual expansion in the first quarter of this year is a heavy increase in payments by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. This company paid a total of $15,977,877 in the quarter now drawing to a close, compared with $8,077,597 in the final quarter of last year.

STOCK OFFERING TOTAL FOR WEEK IS $80,329,000

New York, March 23.—(AP)—New financing through public stock offerings this week totaled $80,329,000, exceeding bond offerings by nearly $20,000,000. Total bond offerings since Jan. 1, however, holds a small lead over stocks, being $979,981,000, against $964,422,000. However, last year at this time bond offerings exceeded stock issues by $1,360,000,000 and stock issues so far in lead of the total of $203,341,000 brought out in the corresponding 1928 period, indicating no diminishing in the popularity of shares. The week's stock issues exceeded last week's by a little more than $5,000,000.

RALLY MILLIONS FOR RELIEF OF CHICAGO ISSUES

Generous Offers Are Revealed.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Chicago corporation heads and wealthy individuals rallied yesterday to the aid of the Chicago stock market. Large definite sums were made available for loans on stocks and there were promises of many additional millions if needed.

Following a conference between officials and governors of the Chicago stock exchange and representatives of the big banks on Friday night, plans were laid to alleviate the tight money situation by several methods. Heads of several corporations whose stocks are listed on the Chicago exchange announced they would withdraw money that they now have loaned in the New York call money market and make it available for loans on Chicago stocks. The Wextark Radio and Sonatron Tube companies pledged $1,000,000 and $600,000 respectively. The Grigsby-Grunow and Zenith Radio companies also were considering similar action.

"While the credit situation in Chicago is uncomfortable, it is not at all desperate and not as bad as rumors have painted it," R. Arthur Wood, president of the Chicago exchange, said last night. "Temporarily, the banks are pretty well loaned up and are under pressure from the federal reserve bank to reduce their borrowings.

No Money Pool.

"In this emergency, which we believe will not be prolonged, Chicago brokers and stock exchange members are urging the heads of big Chicago corporations, who have made their own fortunes here and whose companies have grown and prospered in this section, to bring their surplus funds back to Chicago, instead of lending them elsewhere.

"There will be no big money pool, as we have plenty of assurance that our brokers will be able to finance themselves through their own affiliations. Most of the houses have relations with our large corporations and wealthy individuals and they are arranging to make their own loans. Then they will be able to help the banks by reducing their bank loans. It is just a matter of coöperation and it is working out even better than we had expected."

Mr. Wood gave as example the fact that a Chicagoan now vacationing in the south had called him by telephone and offered to lend $2,000,000 on Chicago stocks. L. Montifiore Stein, head of Stein, Alstrin & Co., said another wealthy man had offered a big loan.

"I told him we didn't need any money that our customers and banks couldn't furnish," Mr. Stein explained. "But it was a fine thing to do and shows the spirit of Chicagoans."

Another Plan.

Another way of easing the credit situation will be for Chicago brokers who are carrying New York stocks for customers to borrow on these securities in New York and relieve the Chicago banks from carrying such loans. While the brokers might have to pay a higher interest rate than the Chicago banks are making, it would be charged against customers and it is believed they would make little objection.

Brokers reported that heads of several corporations had made individual arrangements for loans on their securities without recourse to the banks. One method is to get investment trusts and wealthy individuals to make loans at 5 per cent plus an option to purchase stock at a fixed price some time in the future. This "call" on a block of stocks would offer a chance for large profit if the price should advance.

The stock exchange governors will endeavor to get an amendment to the Illinois usury law, which sets 7 per cent as the maximum interest rate, exempting call loans on securities. This would remove the advantage now held by New York, to which call loan rates of 8 to 12 per cent attract funds.

Committee Members Sail to Confer with Sir Hugo Hirst

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Thomas L. Chadbourne and Herbert Bayard Swope of the American stockholders' committee that obtained a postponement of the exclusive sale to British subjects of 1,500,000 new shares of stock of the General Electric company, Ltd., of Great Britain, scheduled for last Monday, have sailed for London on the Aquitania for conferences with Sir Hugo Hirst, managing director of the company. The American committee will hold its activities in abeyance until the result of the conference is known.

Pullman Co. Cuts Expenses; Boosts Profit

In spite of an unusually dull period in railway car building, Pullman Incorporated had one of the best years in its history last year. Net earnings were $16,396,696, equivalent to $4.35 a share on 3,375,009 shares of $50 par capital stock. After paying $4 in dividends, a balance of $2,904,512 was carried to surplus, which now stands at $109,432,360. Net income for the eight months of 1927 during which the present corporation was in existence was $11,502,246.

"Gross revenue of the common carrier subsidiary, the Pullman company, closely approximated the 1927 results," President Edward F. Carry says in his annual report, issued yesterday. "The decline amounted to less than one-half of 1 per cent, but as the result of reduction in expenses, net revenue from cars shows an increase of 5.6 per cent over the previous year.

"Railroad purchases of freight car equipment in 1928 reached the low point since 1921, and more than half of these orders were placed so late in the year that they did not figure in 1928 shipments. Purchases of passenger equipment were somewhat larger than in 1927, but the combined volume of freight and passenger car business available for the Pullman Car and Manufacturing company was less than in any year since the separate incorporation of that company in 1924 and the earnings from that department of the business showed a decrease of about 43 per cent from the annual rate reported for the last previous fiscal period."

Some interesting traffic statistics are given. The average passenger paid $2.42 and traveled 411 miles. Net revenue per passenger was 32 cents. The average number of passengers per car was 12.08. The cars covered an average of 365 miles per day and net revenue per car was $3.46 per day. Total revenue passengers last year were 33,923,920.

Phelps-Dodge Net Profit Is $3,681,685 for 1928

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—The report of the Phelps-Dodge corporation and subsidiaries for 1928 shows a profit of $10,077,451 after expenses and depreciation but before depletion, equivalent to $20.15 a share earned on 500,000 shares outstanding last year and to $5.04 a share on the new capitalization of 2,000,000 shares. The profit in 1927 before depletion was $3,623,582, equal to $7.25 a share on the old capitalization. After deducting $6,395,766 transferred to depletion reserve in 1928, the net profit for the year was $3,681,685, equal to $7.36 a share on the old capitalization and to $1.85 a share on the new stock. In 1927 the company after depletion reserve of $4,822,680, reported a net loss of $1,199,098.

Debits for Week Increase, Reserve Bank Reports

Debits to individual deposit account reported to the Chicago Federal Reserve bank for the week ended March 20, 1929, by 249 banks in 38 leading clearing house cities in the Seventh federal reserve district aggregate $1,932,877,000, an increase of 18.7 per cent compared with a week ago [$1,627,890,000]. Compared with the corresponding week of last year [$1,670,713,000] an increase of 15.7 per cent was shown.

Insurance Co. Shareholders to Vote on Stock Increase

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—The extent to which bullish confidence has been undermined by developments of the last few days bearing on the credit situation was evidenced by further declines throughout the lists in the abbreviated week-end session today. Virtually every group was under steady pressure and numerous issues sold off sharply.

Some of the chief losers were stocks which are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange in addition to the big board here—a reflection of the psychological effect on sentiment here of the credit flurry in the western city. Peoples Gas, for instance, dropped 17¼ points on a comparatively light turnover, declining to 270 at the close.

Another Meeting.

Nervousness among the trading element was also increased by Washington dispatches telling of another meeting of the federal reserve board to consider "some situation" which had evidently not been disposed of at yesterday's all day conference. The natural inference was that the discount rate question would be taken up at the new meeting.

As in the case of numerous other scares, there were the usual assurances that there probably was no cause for alarm. There was a very recent "promise" by the governor of the board himself, on record, to substantiate such confidence, but the rank and file was convinced that "where there is so much smoke there must be at least some fire." So they continued to get rid of their commitments against a possible emergency.

Broad Sweep.

The selling movement assumed a broad sweep from the outset, embracing seasoned dividend payers and pivotal industrials as well as the less seasoned descriptions and the volatile specialties.

Not even the coppers, with a new increase in the price of metal, escaped the pressure. Anaconda held out longest in this group, but a deluge of offerings was much worse than its supporters figured on and the price crashed more than five points before any degree of stability developed. Another quarter of a point melted from the price before the close was reached. Other members of the group suffered in proportion.

Radio went to a new low of 87¼ on the break, selling off more than four points today. At the final figure today the stock was down more than 20 points from the peak reached about a week ago.

United States Steel dropped 2¼ and Bethlehem about the same. There was little activity in the railroad section but what changes there were were toward lower levels. The turnover amounted to about 2,142,300 shares.

SUBSTITUTES FOR COPPER APPEAR AS PRICE RISES

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Three successive 1 cent advances in the copper market this week carried electrolytic up to 24 cents a pound delivered in the Connecticut valley. Foreign consumers continued to absorb all metal allotted for their needs, and domestic fabricators renewed buying for nearby delivery, although it had been reported that they had about covered their requirements up to July.

Insistent demand as a result of the high rate of consumption has led to expectation of further decreases in supplies. With producers operating at capacity there is said to be no outlook for an expansion of supply for another six months. However, a development that is attracting some attention is the increasing demand for copper substitutes as a result of the high price for electrolytic.

The strength and activity in copper appeared to have a stimulating influence on most of the other non-ferrous metals, and price advances were recorded in lead, zinc, and antimony.

N. Y. CENTRAL TO RUN TWO NEW TRAINS HERE

New trains in special color combinations have been announced by the New York Central lines. One, the Motor Queen, coach train, will operate between Cincinnati and Detroit over the Big Four and Michigan Central railroads, making the trip in seven hours. The other, the Niagara Falls De Luxe, will be operated between Buffalo and Chicago, via Niagara Falls, over the Michigan Central.

The Niagara Falls De Luxe will have a combination baggage car and club smoker with wicker chairs and carpetted floor, de luxe coaches with double rotating seats and rubber slate strips, dining car of standard type, and coach observation car with wicker chairs. Both trains will be placed in operation April 28 at the beginning of the daylight saving period.

Another new train will be the Knickerbocker between Chicago, St. Louis, Boston and New York. The Knickerbocker will arrive in New York at 12:50 p. m. and in Boston at 3:30 p. m., and will leave Chicago at 3 p. m. and St. Louis at noon the previous day.

Class "A" Stock

Costs About $60.00. Yields at least 10%

10% stock dividends are being paid, 2½% quarterly, which can be quickly converted into cash if necessary.

Class "A" stockholders have received very valuable "rights" in addition to regular 10% dividends.

Extra annual cash dividends have been paid for two years and will probably be paid in future years.

Company is financed chiefly through 4½% bonds, hence can afford to be liberal to Class "A" stockholders.

This company is now growing faster than ever under the same strong management, therefore Class "A" stockholders are very comfortable as to the future.

Although the hog market fluctuated wildly on some sessions last week, prices averaged $11.70, highest of the season and 10c above the previous week, being above the corresponding weeks in 1928 and 1927. Only two corresponding weeks were higher since 1920.

There was another gain in the average weight, which was estimated at 240 lbs., heaviest since early November, and 12 lbs. above a month ago. Many attribute the heavier weight to the fact that many sections that have been snowbound are shipping hogs that were ready to come a month ago. Loins were off 2c at the close, but are 5@5c above a month ago and 5@9c above two months ago.

Meager Supply.

Hogs ruled steady to 10c lower yesterday, despite the meager supply available after directs had been deducted from receipts. Extreme top moved down to $11.35, with general average showing 5c decline at $11.60, comparing with a top of $12.10 and an average of $11.90 the previous Saturday.

Sales were largely in line with the low spot Friday, some houses placing bids even lower. Shippers bought 2,000 and local packers 2,800, with most of the 3,000 left at the close being held off of the market on orders from the country in hopes of smaller supplies the forepart of next week.

Beef in Demand.

A decidedly better demand for beef at prevailing prices, coupled with continued small cattle receipts boosted the general average for live steers to $12.35 last week, the highest since week ending Jan. 12.

Cattle a year ago averaged $12.85 and two years ago, $10.70. About 330 steers sold at $14.25 and above, against 278 a week ago and 122 two weeks ago. Yearlings topped the list at $14.50, while best medium weight steers brought $14.25. Heifers reached $14.10, highest since last December. Cattle receipts are running smallest for March since 1895.

Sheep Receipts Small.

Sheep receipts last week were smallest of the year at 54,300, due to the small movement of Colorado and Nebraska stock following the recent break in prices. Colorados totaled only 17,000, against 47,000 the preceding week. The market scored a fairly sharp recovery on meager supplies. Fresh lamb brought the highest prices since middle of January and increased the local demand for live lambs. Prices averaged $16.95, against $17.05 the previous week, being 35c above a year ago and $1.75 above two years ago.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 17,000 cattle, 50,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep, against 16,916 cattle, 45,246 hogs and 5,454 sheep, a week ago and 10,368 cattle, 72,206 hogs and 13,991 sheep, the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 40,000 cattle, 155,000 hogs and 75,000 sheep, against 45,419 cattle, 186,941 hogs and 65,793 sheep a year ago.

STOCKS HERE ARE UNEVEN; LOSSES ARE MODERATE

Grigsby-Grunow Loses 3 More Points.

Chicago stocks drifted lower in moderately active trading in yesterday's weekend market.

Although there were some sizeable declines in the early trading, prices rallied toward the close and net losses were moderate. Total transactions were 114,000 shares.

In the radio group, Grigsby-Grunow sagged three points further. Ceco, Raytheon, Ken-Rad, and American-Mohawk lost a point or so. On the other hand, American Tele-Television rallied nearly a point, while Stainite and Q. R. S. gained a point or two, and U. S. Radio closed unchanged.

In the automotive group, Auburn and Bendix declined 2¼ points each, and Houdaille-Hershey B lost a point. On light trading, Pines Winterfront fell five points, and Perfect Circle was off 1½. Borg-Warner made a fractional gain. The company reported earnings of $618,631 for February, which was equivalent after provision for preferred dividends to slightly more than $1 a share on the common stock. For two months this year net earnings were $1,148,430, equal to about $1.85 a share. Earnings for the first two months of last year were $1,093,975. Winton Engine advanced 2¾ points.

The fifty most active stocks traded in last week had a market value of $70,878,958 yesterday, compared with $111,126,676 at the close of the previous week, according to a compilation by Logs & Company. This represents a decrease of $47,499,520 or 5.17 per cent.

Logs & Company's analysis further shows that only nineteen of these stocks were listed and traded in last year. These nineteen stocks had a market value of $473,805,391 at the close of business Saturday, as compared with $230,155,681 on March 24, 1928. This is an increase of $193,649,710 or 69.12 per cent.

BANK OF FRANCE MAY SEEK TO REPLEVIN GOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 23.—Counsel for the Bank of France considered today the question of bringing to trial the action for replevin it brought against the Chase National bank and the Republic Trust company a year ago to drive from them a $5,000,000 shipment of gold received from Russia. The Bank of France's case received a severe setback on Friday when Federal Judge Goddard denied all but one of its motions to have the defenses raised by the Stainite and Q. R. S. gained a point or two, and U. S. Radio closed unchanged.

In the automotive group, Auburn and Bendix declined 2¼ points each, and Houdaille-Hershey B lost a point. On light trading, Pines Winterfront fell five points, and Perfect Circle was off 1½. Borg-Warner made a fractional gain. # WHEAT PRICES BREAK SHARPLY IN GRAIN MART

Expected Crop Scare Fails to Materialize.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Drastic liquidation was on in the wheat market yesterday and prices dropped 2¼@2¾ cents from the finish of Friday and at the inside showed 1@1¼ cents under the best figures of the previous week.

Uncertainty regarding the money situation, which has been such a factor in the stock market, has also had considerable influence in grain and other comomdities. The close was at net losses of 1¾@1¾c, with March at $1.18⅝, May at $1.22, and July at 1.24⅝@1.25.

Corn showed stubborn resistance to pressure, although selling of wheat against purchases of corn to close spreads had some effect, but the close was ⅝@⅝c lower, with March 92¼c and May 84⅝@84¾c. Oats were off 1@1c, the latter on March, which finished at 48c asked, while May was 46⅝@46¾c. Rye lost 1@1¾c, with March $1.05 and May $1.05¾.

Grains Lower for Week.

Expected crop scare failed to materialize in wheat, and with fairly general liquidation in evidence later all grains broke sharply, and at the finish on Saturday wheat was 6¾@7¼c; corn, 4¼@5¼c lower than a week ago. Lard lost, 22½@25c; ribs, 40@42½c, and bellies, 25@55c for the week.

There was nothing in the general run of the news to account for the decline in wheat values, but the character of the crop comments from the winter wheat belt were not of a kind to bring in aggressive buying, and there was more or less uncertainty as to the outlook for business, incident to the tightness in money. This had more of a sentimental effect than anything else, although with 188,000,000 bu of all grains in the visible supply, considerable money is naturally tied up and cannot but help having some effect on the general financial situation.

Open Interest Increases.

Despite the heavy liquidation which has been on during the last few days, there has been a steady increase in the open interest in wheat, which is now 161,032,000 bu, a new high record, showing 927,000 bu in excess of Thursday, and compares with 148,930,000 bu a week ago. Winnipeg was weak and 1⅝@1¾c lower for the day, while Liverpool was ⅝@1d lower, failing to fully reflect the break in North America on Friday, although good rains were reported in Victoria Buenos Aires finished unchanged. The seaboard reported 300,000 bu wheat sold in all positions.

Corn was firmer at the start but eased later with wheat, although holding within a range of ⅝@1¼c, the finish being at intermediate figures. Shipping demand was less active and there was 85,000 bu booked to come here from outside markets. Buenos Aires was ¼c higher at the close.

March oats were offered down ⅛c to 46c without attracting buyers, and that price was asked at the close. Trade in the deferred futures was fair, and despite the break in wheat values, failed to get into new low ground for the season, meeting with local and commission house support on the break. Weather conditions over the belt were generally unfavorable for field work. Rye declined in sympathy with wheat. Trade was not large.

SMALL LOSSES IN COTTON

The Chicago cotton market will be the only one open on March 30, as trading in grain will be on as usual and the cotton department is always open in conjunction with that in grain.

Saturday's market was moderately active with a fairly steady tone considering the break in stocks and cotton. Weather conditions over the south were unfavorable, with a great deal of rain in some sections, which will further delay preparations for planting. Liverpool was weaker and lower, with the close at net losses of 8 to 10 points and spot sales 5,000 bales.

In Chicago, futures were 2 to 5 points lower, with other markets off 1 to 10 points. New Orleans leading. Spot cotton in New York lost 5 points to 21.05c; with sales of 1,461 bales. New Orleans lost 10 points to 19.80c, Galveston was 20.05c, with sales of 1,021 bales, and Houston 20c, with sales of 2,343 bales.

And when they were come unto a place called Golgotha, that is to say a place of the skull. . . . they crucified him. . . . Then were there two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left. . . . Matthew xxvii., 33-38.

In the Delightfully Contrasting Homes of ## Mrs. Frederic Cameron Church Jr. of Newport AND Mrs. Joseph Leiter of Washington

MRS. JOSEPH LEITER, a woman of rare tact and unusual charm is a favorite Washington hostess. Her sumptuous Dupont Circle home is the scene of many smart functions during the season.

"DUDLEY PLACE" is the Newport home of Mrs. Frederic Cameron Church Jr., (the former Muriel Vanderbilt)—an old Colonial house occupied by Lord Dudley in Revolutionary times.

With rare taste Mrs. Church has enhanced its historic charm, preserving the fine old wood panelling, and furnishing the house with genuine early American antiques of mellow beauty. Priceless old hunting and riding prints hang on the walls, and hooked rugs add gay spots of color.

A charming contrast is Mrs. Joseph Leiter's mansion in Washington's exclusive Dupont Circle. Decorated in an age of extravagant taste it is filled with precious bibelots, brocade-hung walls, satinwood panelling, and exquisite murals by François Boucher.

For each of these homes—so charming yet so widely differing—the choice was beds, springs, and mattresses by Simmons—the world's foremost manufacturer of bedroom equipment.

Mrs. Church chose quaint Simmons "spool beds," No. 1850 finished in maple, which, to quote her, "harmonize perfectly and are exceedingly comfortable." Her Beautyrest Mattresses and Ace Box Springs are covered in rose damask in an all over pattern.

Mrs. Leiter, too, is enthusiastic about her Simmons equipment. She chose beds No. 1581, with rounded headboard and low footboard, to harmonize with the room. Of her mattresses and springs she says, "And the marvelously comfortable Beautyrests and Ace Box Springs are as smart as one could wish! I chose the beige damask cover in contrast to the soft blue of beds and hangings."

In all better furniture and department stores you will find them—the Simmons Beautyrest Mattress, $39.50 and the new Simmons Ace Box Spring, $42.50. Simmons Ace Open Coil Spring, $19.75. Simmons Beds, $10 to $60; No. 1581, $32.75; No. 1850, $37.50. Look for the name "Simmons." The Simmons Company, New York, Chicago, Atlanta, San Francisco.

EARLY AMERICAN GUEST ROOM in Mrs. Church's Newport home, with the fine old panelled doors and mantel that date back to Revolutionary times when Lord Dudley occupied the house. The chintz hung walls in vivid blue and orange and the blue painted woodwork are daring but delightful notes in a room furnished with early American pieces. Mrs. Church chose quaint "spool beds" No. 1850, from Simmons, finished in maple. This bed also may be had in walnut, green-and-ivory, and gray-blue finishes.

LAVISHLY DECORATED GUEST ROOM in Mrs. Leiter's Washington home. Elegance and magnificence characterize it, from the blue brocade hung walls and matching blue hangings, to the taffeta skirted dressing table, topped by a gorgeous gilt framed mirror. The beds by Simmons, No. 1581, are painted blue-green with apricot trim, and the spreads are of Alençon lace and flesh silk. This bed also comes in peach, mahogany and walnut finishes.

SIMMONS ACE OPEN COIL SPRING—the perfected open spring—wonderfully resilient, low in price. Light weight, with coils close together, affording individual freedom of action. Smooth finished border protects sheets. $19.75

SIMMONS BEAUTYREST MATTRESS and ACE BOX SPRING, supreme achievements of the Simmons Company, world's largest manufacturer of beds, springs and mattresses. The Beautyrest has hundreds of individually pocketed fine wire coils which extend all the way to the edges, affording the utmost in resilience. Upholstered with thick layers of felt. The new Ace Box Spring, equally resilient and long wearing, has the same stitched sides and neatly taped edges. Both covered in damask—two patterns, six pastel shades.

Cool summer breezes from Vast snowpeaks

...and the boundless blue Pacific

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA is a summer vacation land that is free from humidity, free from rain, free from thunder and lightning! Nights are so cool that people dance indoors; nights demand blankets for comfortable sleeping.

What a climate background for this summer garden spot of really wonderful things to see and do! From broad Pacific beaches a few hours will put you on a pack horse climbing into the snow-peaks of the High Sierras! A few miles from Los Angeles, Pacific Coast metropolis, you are in the "citrus belt" where over half the oranges used in this country are grown the year 'round!

In every direction are novel things to see and do. Off Los Angeles harbor—where ships sail for Hawaii and the Orient—fascinating islands rise from the blue sea. A thirty-mile sail and you are afoot on Catalina! From Santa Barbara to San Diego—270 miles—runs an ocean boulevard much of which is close to the placid Pacific! Miles of beach are of easy access. Luring beach cities, with fine hotels and beach clubs, urge your visit.

Each hour, each day gives a new vacation happiness, for there are so many attractions—all within a few miles or a few hours of your hotel or bungalow. And that means day and evening, for summer night entertainments are many.

You will keenly enjoy evening concerts in the Hollywood Bowl, the Pilgrimage Play and the Mission Play. Smart hotels and cafes are numerous. Los Angeles theatres rank with the finest in the country. Hollywood is part of Los Angeles. You may be fortunate enough to be here for the premiere of a great picture.

Play or relax—do as you like; here is everything or nothing to do! In all America you will find no such freedom in summer from "weather," from the conventional vacation, from things that waste vacation hours. Los Angeles County is fascinating in itself. Think of billion dollar oil fields and agricultural products amounting to $95,000,000 yearly!

SHOT FROM THE CANNON'S MOUTH, Cliff Aeros, who with justifiable pride calls himself the human cannonball, offers a spine-tickler at this year's Sells-Floto circus. For the information of children only, it might be added that the circus will open on Saturday at Chicago's Coliseum.

AT THE CIRCUS—A lot of grandmothers will have to have funerals, and many dads will find excuses for sneaking an afternoon off, if all the kids of Chicago take to the circus as readily as these do. The group represents typical boydom, even if it is a flock of juveniles in Hollywood.

SALAD SUPREME, with crabmeat dressing—Flake the contents of a tin of Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat and mix with mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing, to make crabmeat sauce. Season to taste, being careful not to lose the delicious flavor of the crabmeat. Use this sauce with vegetables you may have in refrigerator—cold asparagus tips, string beans, beets, tomatoes. Serve on crisp leave of lettuce. One ¼-pound tin of crabmeat will serve 6 persons.

With this

SUPERB

crabmeat you can make a variety of delightful Lenten treats

Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat comes in large whole meaty pieces, free from annoying bits of shell. It is cooked, ready to serve simply, in all of its delicate flavor. Or with it you can make a number of more elaborate dishes to add tempting variety to the diet during Lent.

Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat is meat of the Taraba-Gani . . . huge deep-sea crabs found only in the icy waters of the North Pacific Ocean. As soon as the crabs are taken from the sea, their meat is packed in parchment wrappers and sealed in lacquered tins of approximately ½-pound and 1-pound sizes. This is done on the fishing grounds at sea, so that Three Diamonds Brand Fancy Crabmeat comes to your table in its original tender white texture, with all its matchless flavor. The entire process is controlled by the famous Mitsubishi Company of Japan. Your grocer sells this crabmeat or he can easily get it for you. Mitsubishi Shoji Kaisha, Ltd., New York.

says charming ANNA PAVLOWA

"Cutex Liquid Polish gives them sparkle and vivacity"

ANNA PAVLOWA—world-famous artist of the dance—who began her career in the brilliant Imperial Ballet of Old Russia . . . has fingernails whose sparkle, thanks to Cutex Liquid Polish, gives emphasis to every beautiful gesture of her famous hands.

THE AUDIENCE has collected—hushed and expectant. Around the stage hangs a great, dark curtain. Then, the music begins and suddenly a tiny, exquisite figure appears. It is Anna Pavlowa, the great artist.

First, she moves to measured, stately rhythms . . . a silent swaying flower. Now she is Pierrette, whirling and gay, happy or immensely sad. Now she is the snow-white swan, sailing, dipping, preening, drooping.

Always her hands express the poignant beauty of her art—Pavlowa—whose hands are known as the most beautiful in the world.

Of her graceful hands the great Pavlowa takes the most exquisite care. Sparkling, vivacious finger tips attest her keen interest in perfection of detail.

The great Pavlowa not only cherishes her love of beauty . . . she practices it! Her hands are superbly cared for!

Like Pavlowa . . . discerning women everywhere know the effect of suave perfection is in great part due to beautifully cared for hands. They say that Cutex is indispensable. For it intelligently simplifies the problem of keeping the most recalcitrant fingernails shapely and shining.

For nails eloquent of good care you need only three things

First—the Cuticle Remover to remove dead cuticle, to whiten the nail tips, soften and shape the cuticle, bringing out the beauty of the half moons.

Second—the Polish Remover to remove the old polish, followed by the flattering Cutex Liquid Polish, that sparkles undimmed for a week.

Third—apply Cutex Cuticle Cream or Cuticle Oil around the cuticle and under the tip to keep the cuticle soft . . . Cutex preparations 35¢ each. Polish and Remover together 50¢. Northam Warren, New York, London, Paris.

What Pavlowa herself says of the flattering new Cutex Liquid Polish

Here in her own words is the great Pavlowa's own account of the care she takes to keep her nails exquisitely lovely. Of the new Cutex Liquid Polish she says:

"I always use it to 'make up' my hands, to keep each fingernail shining, looking truly soigne. Indeed it is used a great deal in Paris—the French women know how it flatters and improves the finger tips. All the Cutex preparations are needed, however, to make the hand ready for this brilliant finish. Cuticle Remover and Cream to keep the ovals smoothly rounded and the under nail tips immaculately clean."

Smart women find the flattering new Cutex Liquid Polish indispensable

"HERE DWELLS YOUTH"

Breakfast in the Diner

By W. E. Hill

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

"Yes, sir, you'll like it in Albuquerque. They certainly treat you fine in that town. Boy, I wish you could see the big turquoise ring a waitress from the station lunchroom gave me!" Just a glassware salesman and an aluminum tank salesman getting better acquainted over eggs and coffee in the diner.

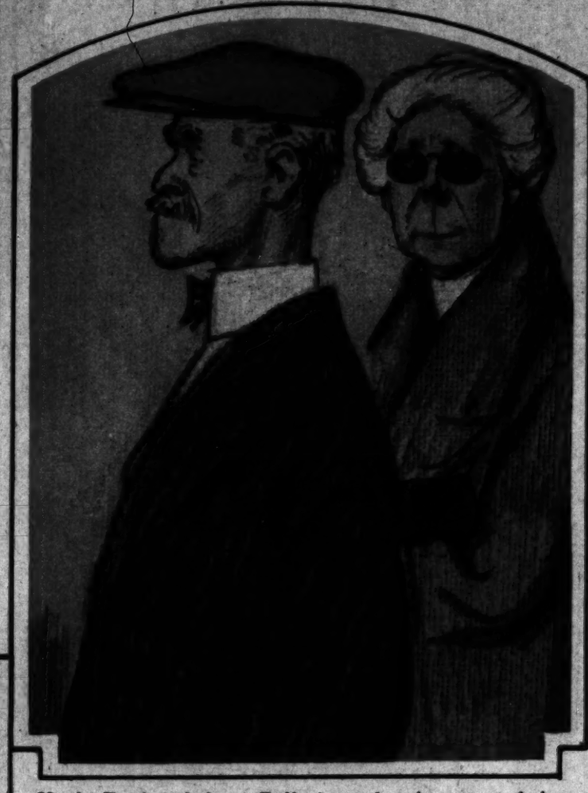

Uncle Fred and Aunt Belle have drawing room A in sleeper Harriet Beecher Stowe. They are on their way to the diner for a little breakfast. Aunt Belle didn't sleep so well. At 6 she got up and packed the small valise. At 6:30 she was up and dressed, and here she is with Uncle Fred all set for the day.

"Do you think my hair looks well enough, Frances? I have a better transformation in my suitcase, but I thought this old one would do for the sleeper." Frances and her Aunt Nelly are traveling to the coast.

Among those waiting for seats in the breakfast diner no one will be gladder of a cup of coffee than Mrs. Frank Ink, who is traveling via sleeper jumps from Rochester, N. Y., to Wichita, Kansas, with her three dear little girls, Ina, Ebba, and Jessie Mae. They occupy a section back in sleeper Livonia. Ina, Ebba, and Jessie Mae are all darlings, but they work better out in a great big yard than in a section on a sleeper.

"Why, Arthur, I thought you simply loved oatmeal!" Arthur has spied a swell breakfast across the aisle—pancakes, a sausage, and a coffee ring!

There's nothing like a sudden start or a bump of any kind attendant upon changing engines to break the conversational ice between strangers. Like as not some one who has been glum as an oyster will brighten right up and say, "Goodness, I guess we must have started too suddenly," or "Something must have bumped us," and from then on it's a party.

"Can't nobody wait on everybody at once! Only got one pair of hands!" Archie, the busy waiter, muttering over a grievance.

Mr. Gracious, steward of the diner Olin T. Hooey, is signaling gayly that one more choice seat is vacant.

Cousin Betty brings as much of her hand luggage as is feasible right into the diner. Doesn't trust the railroad personnel on any line since the time one road failed to retrieve a new pair of step-ins left behind on a sleeper.

Value beyond dispute

' ' ' because it is instantly seen

The unprecedented value of Fisher Body is entirely beyond dispute, because it is apparent at a glance.

The advantages which Fisher Body enjoy over all others do not need to be recited because they can instantly be seen in each and every Fisher Body car from Chevrolet to Cadillac Fleetwood.

The eye reveals at once a richness of quality and an artistry of design which give these cars an unmistakably greater monetary value, to say nothing of a wealth of greater beauty, convenience and comfort which cannot be found in cars outside the Fisher Body group.

This superior beauty and quality and value are possible only to the Fisher Body group.

The reason for this is plain. Compared with the vast resources of Fisher Body, other body operations dwindle into insignificance.

Every Fisher superiority—in exterior finish, in upholstery, in cushioning, in hardware, in roof and frame construction, in durability, in safety, and in every other attribute—goes straight back to Fisher manufacturing advantages and Fisher resources. Thus, Fisher Body cars continuously heighten quality and at the same time hold down price.

This is one of the chief reasons why thousands of men and women today believe it is only the part of obvious wisdom to confine motor car selection to General Motors cars, listed below—all with Body by Fisher.

We invite you and we urge you to compare any Fisher Body car with any other car in its price class, in every feature of body structure, style, workmanship and materials. Such comparison proves, unmistakably, the far greater body value and quality which is inseparably a part of every car with Body by Fisher.

A BIRDLAND PARADISE

WATERFOWLS' PARADISE — Pintail and mallard ducks form a mighty aerial fleet hovering over a pond in the 88,000-acre bird preserve near Grand Chenier, La.

A MALLARD LUNCH COUNTER — A fair visitor inspects a giant oak which annually provides many meals of acorns for the ducks on the Rockefeller wild life refuge in southwestern Louisiana. Beyond the trunk of this moss-draped monarch of the marshes may be seen the swamp extending to the gulf coast, six miles away.

LUNCH TIME — Mr. and Mrs. Mallard snapped while gathering and disposing of a meal at their outdoor cafeteria in the southern swamplands.

LOOKS LIKE A NATURE FAKE, but it isn't. This tabby of the marshes adopted a litter of muskrat babies, thereby once more disproving the ancient belief in the instinctive hatred between cats and rats.

HE'S A BIRD COP—David Y. Doland holds down the job of Louisiana's warden and policeman at the Rockefeller refuge, where many thousands of birds use the feathered fairyland as a winter resort.

OFF FOR A FISHING TRIP—A flock of pelicans leave the beach on the Rockefeller refuge for a few hours of sport. The pelican consumes large quantities of small fish.

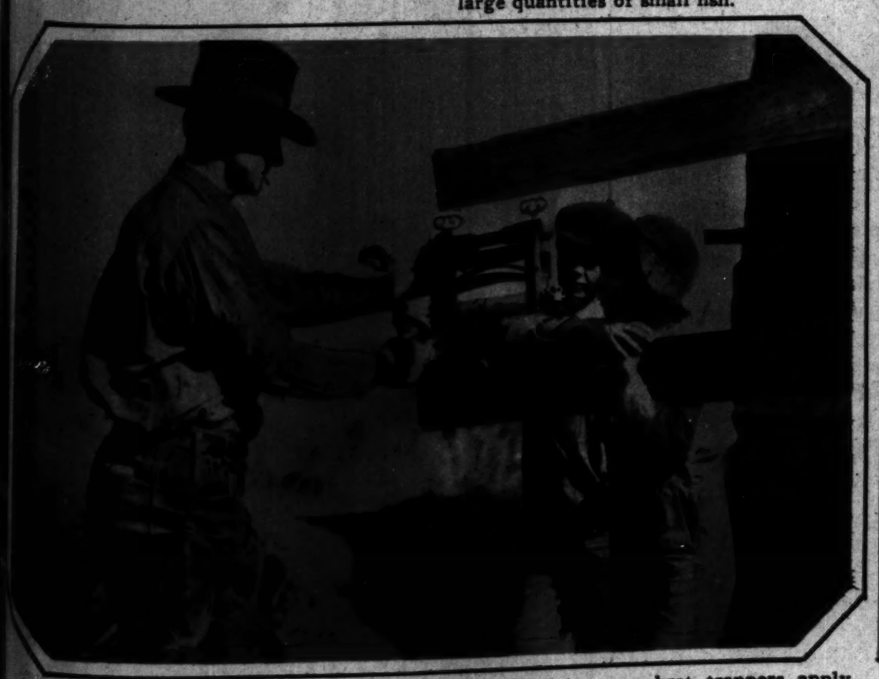

NEW USE FOR A CLOTHES WRINGER—Louisiana muskrat trappers apply high speed mechanical methods to the work of cleaning pelts. They run them through an ordinary laundry wringer to remove excess fat and flesh from the skin.

MUDHENS ON PARADE—These birds, along with pintail and mallard ducks, find food and safety in a shallow pond in the Rockefeller sanctuary.

(All photographs from Bob Becker.)

THE INVINCIBLE THREE—Director Frank Borzage, Janet Gaynor, and Charles Farrell form the "lucky star" combination that has put over such box office successes as "Seventh Heaven" and "Street Angel." A Tribune photographer found them at work thus at the Fox studios in Hollywood.

INFORMAL, decidedly, was the pose of Gary Cooper when the Tribune camera snapped him in his dressing room on the Lasky lot. A few years ago Paramount started out to make him a star of westerns. He switched over to "straight" drama, and now he's one of the industry's best bets.

GOOD LUCK?—Sue Carol doesn't need a four-leaf clover to bring her success in Hollywood. When she left her home in Chicago she planned to make only a brief visit with a girl friend in Los Angeles. A director gave her a screen test, and she was skyrocketed toward stardom. (All Tribune photographs.)

Assembled for the Ball

AN EIGHTEENTH CENTURY ASSEMBLY AT AN ENGLISH MANOR HOUSE

THE Squire and his Lady with grave and simple step opened the evening with a minuet . . . eyes drooped, smiles flashed, and many a pretty compliment was turned. Pink hunting coats moved merrily beneath the candles in a jolly gavotte. The ladies gasped with pleasure in the rollicking of a Sir Roger de Coverley and the evening ended as the company romped through many a country dance.

To any gay event this fine old ginger ale brings pleasure

The merry atmosphere of the fox hunt ball is still carried on . . . and naturally associated with such scenes of pleasure is "Canada Dry"—the champagne of ginger ales.

Keen as the thrill you get when the fox breaks cover . . . refreshing as the run across country in pursuit . . . vigorous as taking a five-bar gate . . . mild and mellow as the clear autumn air . . . this is "Canada Dry."

A quality and flavor which are inimitable

The basic excellence of this fine old ginger ale rests on absolutely pure ingredients. To them is added Jamaica ginger of the highest quality. Blended and balanced in exact proportions, "Canada Dry" is then delicately carbonated by a secret process.

The result is such a distinctive ginger ale that it has won the approving nod of connoisseurs the wide world over. For it is "dry" . . . it has a bouquet like that of some rare old wine . . . and a delightful flavor.

The purity, as well as the healthful qualities of "Canada Dry," recommend it to parents. It is served in the leading hospitals of this country and Canada; and many leading physicians prescribe it.

Capture the thrill of drinking this fine old ginger ale. Its zest, its sparkle, its gaiety make a pleasant meal more pleasant. To the fun of entertaining friends add the jollity of "Canada Dry." Order it when you dine out. Give it to the children. Good spirits bubble in its crystal depths. It is a finer, purer, more delightful beverage.

Have Trouble Going To Sleep Nights?

Now An Utterly DRUGLESS Way To Instant Sleep . . . Boundless Energy The Next Day

PLEASE ACCEPT 3-DAY TEST
NOTE COUPON BELOW

THIS new way not only induces almost instant sleep, but rebuilds your wasted tissues while you sleep. On doctors' advice, people are flocking to its use. It is as free of drugs as the bread you eat or the milk you drink.

Please accept a 3 nights' test. Doing so has made a great difference in the lives of thousands of nervous people.

What It Is

It is called Ovaltine; a scientific food concentrate developed in Switzerland by a scientist of world-fame. You take it in a cup of warm milk at bedtime; a super-delicious drink.

First it induces sleep; sound, natural sleep. The kind that rebuilds and rejuvenates.

Then while you sleep, Ovaltine re-supplies your system with the energy lost the previous active day. For it contains practically every building element necessary to life and energy, in a form which the human system can easily absorb while you sleep.

You can take it night after night and not only not form a habit, as with drugs, but build up your health as well.

Do you wonder then, that people are flocking to its use? New to America, Ovaltine is being recommended by over 20,000 doctors. Used for 30 years in Europe, its use has spread to over 50 different nations. It marks one of the most important scientific findings of its time.

Accept Test

Doctors urge it not only for sleeplessness, but for all nervous and run-down conditions. They recommend it, too, for nervous, underweight children. Thousands of busy people take it during the day to relieve fatigue. A few week's use will make an amazing difference in the way you feel. Believe or not what people claim for Ovaltine. Try it. Obtain at any drug or grocery store, or use coupon for special 3-day test.

smart new sunburn shades for her spring ensembles...

Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish Morris, née Madeleine White, in whose keeping is the social heritage of one of the most illustrious of New York's original Knickerbocker families. Mrs. Morris' gracious charm as a hostess and her unfailing taste in dress combine to give her an enviable place in Long Island's younger smart set.

"I adore shopping for my clothes in Paris. What fascinating and smart frocks . . . hats . . . shoes . . . jewelry one sees in the salons on the Faubourg St. Honoré . . . at the Place Vendôme . . . on the Rue de la Paix.

"But when it comes to hosiery, I feel I do not have to travel so far. I find French color subtleness . . . French clarity and sheerness in Holeproof Hosiery.

"I sensed the perfection of Holeproof shades the first time I saw them. They are French-born . . . the creation of Lucile of Paris who epitomizes for me true color harmony in fashion.

"This Spring I have made my choice from the subtle, clever sunburn shades in Holeproof. They are perfect with my new Spring ensembles."

Madeleine W. Morris

AGAIN and again the smart Parisienne and the American elegante are turning to Holeproof for the Lucile-created hosiery shades that correctly interpret the mode. In America's smartest shops and stores, these piquant colors appear simultaneously with the Paris openings.

And now for Easter and the Spring, Holeproof presents an enticing array of the new sunburn shades . . . perfect counterparts of the season's sun-tan complexions . . . tonal echoes of the new colorings in the smartest fabrics and shoe materials. Created by authority and approved by authority, Holeproof assures you for your Easter costume, or that of any smart occasion, the true Parisian accent.

HOBBIES of national figures at Washington are illustrated here. Riding is Vice President Charles Curtis' favorite amusement. As a boy he was a jockey.

A RACQUETEER is Henry Lewis Stimson, the new secretary of state. Tennis is his favorite, but he also likes the sport of kings.

COLLECTOR of art works, Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, has the means to enable him to indulge as fancy dictates.

ROD AND GUN are the favored implements of Attorney General William DeWitt Mitchell, who hails from Minnesota, "land of ten thousand lakes."

YACHTSMAN, and known as one of the foremost amateurs in his line, Charles Francis Adams is right at home as secretary of the navy.

PROUD of his kitchen knowledge, Postmaster General Walter Folger Brown is adept at cooking chicken paprikash, a complicated delicacy.

A DIRT FARMER is Arthur M. Hyde, and he works at it when he isn't Hooverizing as the new secretary of agriculture.

Bon Ton Lingerie Plastique

858B—soft, smooth, lustrous . . . a delight to the slender figure. Just slip on your frock and you are smartly costumed for afternoon occasions. Price $3.50

870B—This featherweight silk milanese garment with deep decollete back and your fitted evening gown will make your figure fashionably supreme. In black, beige or pink, $12.00

One sheer silken garment, without bones or elastics, that replaces your underthings and molds your figure to the fashionable silhouette.

In answer to Fashion's demand that the figure must be molded to achieve the modern feminine lines, Lingerie Plastique is created for the slender woman, the youthful active figure.

Lingerie Plastique combines all the charm of a featherweight lingerie garment plus the molding qualities of a corset . . . the only foundation of its kind that combines these two desirable features.

Try these exquisite garments . . . so supple, soft and silken . . . you'll never know your figure is being molded, smoothed and uplifted to perfection. Does away with girdle, vest, panties and brassiere . . . lessens the bulk. Laundered as easily as your silk stockings.

Every Sunday, James O'Donnell Bennett Adds Another Chapter to His Story of Chicago's Gang Wars—in Your Sunday Tribune

IT began when someone murdered Dean O'Banion, the florist, back-slapper and killer, while another man shook his hand. The series continues through the reigns of half-a-dozen beer-running, high-jacking, quick-shooting chieftains, and sees each of them exiled or dead. It witnesses automobiles careening side by side through darkened streets, while a stream of fire and lead pours from one into the other. It follows riddled men—in caskets covered with flowers—to the gunman's grave.

It is James O'Donnell Bennett's "Gangland," the true yet incredible tale of what has happened in the underworld of Chicago during the last five years. The story of a war—and a war in which no one asks nor gives quarter—it tells of spies, of snipers, of scouting parties, pitched battles, a massacre!

Nothing more absorbing has come from James O'Donnell Bennett's versatile and expert pen. Read it every Sunday—when you have lots of time to read—in your manager and producer, is the man behind W-G-N's dramatic productions. He is now directing the Tribune station's weekly dramatization of "Gangland," James O'Donnell Bennett's true story of Chicago's gangs, now appearing in the Sunday Tribune. Each Saturday at 8:30, the Spingold Players broadcast a dramatic episode adapted from the chapter which will appear in the Sunday Tribune the next day. Mr. Spingold also sponsors John Oliver's dramatic readings, and he has directed other special Tribune features, including the revival of old-time musical comedies, and the production of one-act plays and playlets.

is W-G-N's "Music Master." For three years, he has broadcast piano lessons to radio listeners at 5:00 o'clock every Friday evening. During that time, over 15,000 pupils have registered for his courses, including inhabitants of thirty states and five provinces of Canada. He has given the beginnings of a musical education to many who could not otherwise obtain such a training. Anyone can become one of Mr. Barry's pupils simply by sending name and address to him at station W-G-N, Chicago. All necessary music will be sent to pupils free. As the talented piano soloist of W-G-N, Mr. Barry has made over three hundred appearances on the air.

natural comedians and humorists, are the principal characters in W-G-N's German Band. Every night the radio audience tunes in the "Hungry Five" to hear this comical group out of pre-war days play old-fashioned music on battered instruments, and carry on the story of their adventures and misadventures in a rich German dialect. Herr Louie and the Weasel are both the authors and the actors in this popular W-G-N feature. The Weasel, who recently disappeared, has returned and now, reunited, the band has moved into new quarters that present new and funny difficulties.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underneath skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty.

To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines we recommend a face lotion of unusual merit. One ounce powdered saxolite and one-half pint witch hazel.

CANDY IS AN ENERGY FOOD

"I eat six pieces of Mrs. Snyder's candy at every performance"

says Pauline Frederick

PAULINE FREDERICK, famous star, has been eating Mrs. Snyder's candy at every performance of "The Scarlet Woman" for over a year. When asked whether she did not think so much candy was fattening, Miss Frederick said:

"I eat six or seven pieces of candy at every performance of THE SCARLET WOMAN. *It is so necessary for an actress to keep her figure and you may be sure I wouldn't eat candy if I thought it made me fat."

Miss Frederick's attitude is supported by modern dietetic knowledge. Contrary to the old superstition, candy has no unique fat-producing qualities. It is a "quick-energy" food that is almost ready to be burned as fuel in the body as soon as eaten.

Those who are reducing find that a little candy prevents fatigue, nervousness and the "headachy" feeling that often result from an attempt to reduce by cutting down one's food allowance. The absence of enough sugar in the blood is the great cause of fatigue.

Reduce if you will but don't neglect your candy!

*Miss Frederick was not paid for making this statement.

Hursen Funerals Seen Everywhere in Chicago

THE greatest funeral establishment in America is "Hursen's" in Chicago. The people themselves have made it so. For years, they have increasingly shown their preference for Hursen funerals. The reason lies in the surpassing elegance, unusual environment, unusual attention, unusual method and service, unusual automobile equipment, and unusually reasonable charges which are all features of every Hursen funeral, no matter how large or small it may be.

There are 3 Hursen funeral-homes in Chicago, one each on the North, West and South sides—each of them excelling anything of the kind ever seen in this country. They serve every part of Chicago and its far suburbs. No matter where you live, there is a Hursen funeral-home which can serve you with better organized attention than you secure anywhere else.

In every Hursen funeral-home you find the environment and the facilities of home itself. There is beauty. There is inspiration. There is absolute privacy when desired. Each has chapels of super-elegance, the lasting admiration of all who visit them. There is no charge whatever for the use of any of these chapels.

Hursen automobile equipment is not equaled anywhere in America. The entire fleet of automobiles was specially built from Hursen designs,—each a Hursen-Lincoln masterpiece of riding comfort, size and beauty. With all this, the charge for Hursen funerals is but a fraction of the charges made elsewhere. So, call Hursen, of course!

The one function of a dentifrice is to clean the teeth. No dentifrice can cure pyorrhea; no dentifrice can correct an acid condition of the saliva. These are things only a dentist can do. Any claim that any dentifrice can do them is misleading. The highest dental authorities support this statement.

This penetrating foam CLEANS TEETH BETTER

Scientist discovers that Colgate's has lower "surface-tension" . . . hence greater power to cleanse tiny crevices where decay starts.

TOOTH decay begins, says modern science, in the tiny crevices where no toothbrush can reach and where food particles and mucin deposits collect.

Ordinary toothpastes fail to get down into these hard-to-clean places. Hence, the real test of a toothpaste's power to clean is its ability to penetrate deep into these tiny crevices.

A scientist recently made a remarkable discovery. He found that Colgate's has a greater penetrating* power than any of the leading dentifrices on the market today.

When brushed, Colgate's breaks into an active, sparkling foam. This foam possesses a remarkable property (low "surface-tension") which enables it to get deep down into every minute pit and fissure. There it softens and dislodges the impurities, sweeping them away in a detergent wave.

In this foam is carried a fine chalk powder . . . a polishing material prescribed by dentists . . . which polishes the enamel safely, brilliantly.

Think what this means to you . . . By using Colgate's you can clean your teeth thoroughly, scientifically, exactly as your dentist would have you clean them . . . restoring the natural loveliness of teeth and gums.

If you have never used Colgate's you will be surprised and delighted with its wonderful cleansing action. Mail the coupon below for a generous trial tube and an interesting booklet on the care of the teeth and mouth.

How Colgate's Cleans Where The Toothbrush Cannot Reach

Greatly magnified picture of tiny tooth crevice. Notice how ordinary, sluggish toothpaste (having high "surface-tension") fails to penetrate deep down where decay may start.

This diagram shows how Colgate's active foam (having low "surface-tension") penetrates deep down into the crevice, cleansing where the toothbrush cannot reach.

Marie Earle

A charmingly simple way to always care for your skin

WOMEN of the sort who are too busy to bother with frills, too exacting to tolerate anything less than extravagant quality, these are the women for whom the Marie Earle Preparations are made. And this is the simple Marie Earle Basic Treatment they all follow—

Cleanse, first, with the Essential Cream. This has a texture surprisingly like honey instead of grease, and is the most luxurious cream in the world. You apply this same Cream again, add a little Cucumber Emulsion (right over the Cream) to increase absorption, and smooth these into your skin to nourish and soften it. Wipe away what remains, and finish with a dash of Soothing Freshener Lotion. And that's all, with a whirl of the new Powder by Marie Earle, of course.

A full and complete line of the Marie Earle Preparations may be obtained at all smart down-town shops.

ORIENTAL RUG LUXURY AT American Rug Prices

The Gulistan Rug de Luxe

Trade Mark

A PRODUCT OF

KARAGHEUSIAN

NOT a mere selling claim!

But a new type of rug loomed in America which is selling on sight!

Selling to those who see at a glance that the beautiful sheen and lustrous, deep pile of Oriental Rug luxury is now truly within their reach!

Placed there by honest, creative technical advance by a leading American manufacturer of fine rugs.

You feel the richness of the rug.

Every moment of observation amazes you as you see the sheen and color glance and gleam from different angles of light and shadow.

You realize that any room can now be made into a dream of luxury with Gulistan de Luxe.

Let your favorite store show you Gulistan de Luxe today. You will never want to look at old-type dull, flat rugs again.

These stores instantly realized that this new kind of Rug is the sheen-type that you will henceforth insist on having, instead of the dull, flat fabrics of old.

One of the largest American fine rug manufacturers, Karagheusian, happens also to be one of the biggest makers of Oriental Rugs. They determined to reproduce the beauty and luxury of their foreign high price products on their great battery of looms in their American plants.

The Gulistan de Luxe, after fifteen years of effort, is the result. Oriental experts are amazed at the similarity. People who see Gulistan de Luxe placed side by side with expensive Kashans and Kermans are astounded to see exactly the same sheen.

All the wools are the same as have been selected for years by the House of Karagheusian for its Oriental rugs. They are the qualities, especially imported from the East and China.

More than sixty pounds of the best wool in each 9' x 12' Gulistan de Luxe Rug is why Gulistan is actually superior in wearing qualities to many of the popular types of Oriental Rugs.

Three Gulistan de Luxe Rugs were used for the Model Home organized by the Hartford "Times." More than 85,000 people trod them.

This is practically equal to a lifetime of home wear. The rugs were then washed and people judged them to be new.

Gulistan Rugs come in many sizes, all the way from 27" x 54" to 11' 3" x 21'. You can have them as Scatter Rugs, Room Rugs, Hall Runners or Stair Carpets. There is a large choice of patterns and color combinations.

The designs come from those of fine Oriental Rugs, many of them museum pieces of great priceless value.

$150

At this price you can now buy a 9 x 12 ft. American Rug that has the luxurious sheen and beauty of a true Oriental, and which makes over any room into a dream of beauty.

The Dressmaker's Suit Is Sponsored by Fashion

Black and White and Bright Blue and Citron Are Smart Colors Used in Its Development

By Lolita.

NEW YORK.—(Special Correspondence.)—"What's all this talk about dressmaker suits?" asked a friend of mine the other day. "To hear people rave you might think that here was something Edison had invented—a brand new kind of suit with all the latest patents involved. Instead of that—why, I've been looking at suits like these ever since I got out of my perambulator."

And it's quite true. These costumes to which the word dressmaker has been applied are no wild, dizzying meteor. They are, in fact, just about as phenomenal as an English sparrow or a dandelion. They've been running wild this season a year and the only novelty about them is their name. When the stylists got out the old word "dressmaker," dusted it off carefully and draped it about this classic form of dress, they did something worth while. They invented a slogan around which timid and lukewarm spirits might rally. They really are responsible for the vogue of the dressmaker suit.

Yes, it's quite true. A robe by any other name would not sell as swift. Nevertheless, I myself have the temerity to suggest another classification. If I could exert any influence upon sartorial thought I should call these costumes the travel agencies. For that, you see, is really what they are. If you're going to tour Europe this summer here is the one daytime costume of which I know which will take you through all the ordinary exigencies of a foreign day.

We are showing today a group of dressmakers' costumes which illustrate the chief characteristics of the mode. The pliable materials, the casual, informal manipulation of jacket and skirt, the feminine possibilities of the accompanying blouse—all these are here to define the cleft between our dressmaker's suit and the tailored mode.

This is preëminently a season of black and white. All the great French couturiers played with these tones, both individually and collectively.

This being the case, I myself prefer the dressmaker suit in black with the accompaniment of white blouse. And certainly, if one accepts the dressmaker suit as a travel agency, one will act most wisely by choosing either black or navy. It need hardly be repeated that the latter tone shares the prestige established by all the blues and, as a matter of fact, many of the more elaborate of the dressmakers' costumes stress the new blues. Speaking of the new blues, let us not forget the one to which has been applied the name linen. This describes the blue launched by Lelong, and one finds it today in all the smartest shops.

Among the materials most emphasized in the creation of this type of suit, flat crêpe is like one famous Ben Adhem. Its name leads all the rest. Yet other crêpes are involved, both silk and wool. Also does one encounter rep and twill, as well as satin and crêpe back satin. Indeed, the only demand made upon the material for this suit is that it should fall readily into the feminine mood of the silhouette.

Now, this is a cape spring. Think of all the assembled capes you have ever seen. Italian officers with swords clasping through the long, picturesque folds of their blue mantles! English highwaymen of the early nineteenth century falling upon stage coaches in one of the most becoming uniforms of crime ever invented—the tight fitting coat with the little shoulder cape! German students standing on the deck of a boat with the wind billowing their voluminous, shrouding capes! Add to these all the pictorial associations of the world and you can still hardly get an idea of the extent to which we have gone cape.

Beware the Inch-cape F-rock! Not a bit of it! These little penny capes, fitting tightly about the shoulder—these affairs of just a few inches—are one of the outstanding touches of the spring mode. And when the dressmaker's suit includes a long jacket, these shoulder capes are exceedingly effective.

Prints have a decided place in the styling of the dressmaker suit. Sometimes they are introduced merely in the blouse and less frequently they achieve the suit itself. Among the most delightful of the former treatments is the costume of black crêpe worn in company with a white crêpe blouse printed in black, and in our first drawing we illustrate the charm of a brown crêpe suit, in connection with a blouse of printed crêpe, a brown background bringing into relief a design of brilliant yellow. This same figured silk is used as the cuffs, lapels and scarf of the jacket, a courtesy returned by the blouse in the form of a scalloped rever of the monotone fabric.

Now for the reverse of this formula. Third from the left we find a printed suit featuring a plain blouse and it comes as no great shock to anybody to encounter yellow again as a predominant color. The truth of it is that the yellow peril grows more menacing every day. All sorts of yellows are used in all sorts of combinations. Among the most vivid of such alliances is that of lapis lasuli blue and absinthe yellow. In fact, if you wish to cut a real dash in your dressmaker suit, you can embody these very colors. Your suit may be of crêpe or satin in jeweled blue and your blouse of the fashionable green yellow.

But to go back to our printed suit. Here a small design in yellow is distributed over a black ground and the crêpe blouse matches the design. A telling touch on the latter consists of narrow bands of black crêpe applied to form a bosom effect.

A great many people predicted last winter that the lamp shade silhouette would be thrown completely into the shade by spring. There was, however, no basis for such optimism. All sorts of frills about the hips in all sorts of costumes are here to make mock of any lady weighing more than 125. They go around a great deal after dark, but these peplum effects are also a feature of our jackets, our coats and our daytime frocks.

Second from the left we show one of these peplum jackets in a black flat crêpe model combined with crêpe blouse of either white or citron. This is associated with the draped skirt which is so often substituted for the plaited model in costumes of this character, and it articulates clearly the thoroughgoing feminization of the suit.

Transparent velvet capes are out in force for evening wear, especially green ones. There's a new circular creation from Cheruit which is ideal. Green is also a favorite tint for evening gowns. Indeed, we're getting as confirmed in our taste as katydids. We just will be green. And, speaking of that element in the mode, there is the charming daytime wrap at the right of our page—one made of a glorified new velveteen in a green tone and indicating its entire sympathy with the dressmaker régime.

CENTER. A brown silk suit trimmed with the printed crepe of its blouse displays on the latter a rever of the suit material. Brown felt hat, brown suede bag and belt are the completing details. Second, a suit of black flat crepe with peplum jacket is worn with a blouse of citron crepe.

Next, a black crepe printed in yellow appears in the society of a yellow crepe blouse banded in black crepe. Last, a charming dressmaker's coat adapted from Boulanger is made of olive green velveteen and features a fitted yoke below which the wrap flares smartly, thanks to the influence of tiny inside tucks.

RIGHT PANEL. A charming set takes its cue from a white felt hat banded in a printed material featuring black, white and gray. The scarf of white crepe is bordered in the same figured material and a bag of black suede introduces it once more in connection with mounting of gray composition.

The Last Word in Paris Fashions

The Smartest Coats Attract Interest by Godets, Plaits and Petals in the Back

By Bettina Bedwell

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—Paris is busy accumulating back interest, now that spring is, fictionally at least, with us once more. As you and I know, back interest in fashion is not a financial matter. No matter how much the clothes cost, interest is a special importance placed on some part of the garments themselves. It is this special interest that makes new styles in this streamline epoch, and this spring the interest is collected, to a great extent, at the backs of coats and dresses.

Paris has made tentative stabs at creating a supreme interest in the backs of the clothes we wear for the last several seasons. It is, however, this season, that Paris has evolved backs which are so smart that all of us must take notice of them in a singularly personal way. None of that 1830 stuff, with modernized bustles, big puffs, etc., etc.! There may be a stray evening dress here and there in Paris which hews to the 1830 line, but that more important group of styles—day clothes—doesn't, not so you could notice it.

Paris creators have got the backs of daytime ensembles and their two halves, the coat and dress, spruced up in a really modern flowing line manner which makes them far more suitable to Miss 1929. Such items as petals, panels, plaits which flare slightly, yokes, little capelets, and godets are the things used to give our clothes the back interest that makes them something new, feminine and intriguing.

All of these details are, in a measure, familiar to you by themselves, but their application to the backs of coats particularly is new. In supplement to this, Paris is creating a new coat silhouette by placing slight flares at the back, usually rather low, well below the hipline, and by drooping the coatline in a gentle curve, in back.

Some of the Paris houses show us a new type of coat with three rather stiff flaring godets beginning just above the knees at the back. More popular, and more sure to be in the general style swim are coats that are treated to inverted plaits at the back, these plaits being spread so they flare either from shoulder yokes, from the hipline, or just above the knees. Plaits such as I have described are seen on ultra smart tweed coats for general wear and travel.

A most important part of the spring mode is the soft coat of some supple fabric, either silk or woolen, which is given its own type of back interest. Naturally, inevitably and unescapably the cape, or cape effect would be one popular way of getting becoming and wearable interest into the back of a coat. But, it isn't so new, and so those who want always to be ahead of the style bandwagon want something else.

Paris gives them this something else in the form of panels and ruffled inset pieces, and by applying irregular petals over the backs of coats. None of these things are allowed to give the back anything but a supple and flat appearance—the aspect so necessary to a youthful silhouette. There is the one exception of the flaring line at the knees which I have mentioned above, and this certainly has no ageing effect.

All of these novel backs are special style features of the full length coat, but the shorter one that is so important in Paris has its flares as well, only they are usually very simple things like gathers and plaits let loose, or scarf effects.

The purpose of the back interest is just one thing and that is to add graceful novelty to coats that are essentially simple, for no coat that is fussy can be called chic. At the same time it mustn't be dumb.

Excellent types of spring coats are shown in our sketch, and the first model illustrates how particularly attractive the new Paris petal arrangement can make a coat back. Bechoff, who is a master coat maker, makes this model of black crêpe marocain, which you call crêpe canton over there. Its lines are slender, and the irregular petals that are applied to the back serve only to give more grace of movement. The upper petal panel merges into a scarf that falls in front.

This coat is part of an ensemble with a slightly flaring skirt of black crêpe marocain and a knee length tunic blouse of white crêpe marocain. Such tunic blouses are smart, indeed, as part of new springtime ensembles, and the color combination of black and white is another item of chic.

Our second figure illustrates another Bechoff coat with a slight droop at the hemline and flares at the sides of the back, both of these features being achieved by panels that are attached at the hipline in back. These panels, which are rounded and petaled at the hemline, really begin at the shoulders, but they are not allowed to flare until they are safely past the hipline. Quite as interesting is the front of this coat, with its sort of fichu drapery that is really a vestee of self material very loose and drapey and becoming around the crossed closing.

This coat, and the dress that accompanies it, are made of string colored flat crêpe. The cutting of the coat is intricate and grande couture, and the sleeves are unusually graceful because of the floating short panels at the backs below the elbows.

Our last two figures should be considered together as they represent an ensemble of dress and coat, and the dress is shown by itself on the fourth figure. This is one of the new transparent woolen ensembles which are among the best Paris spring fashions. The material is a sort of wool voile, with dots of white on its black surface.

The coat of this ensemble, like a good many of the most fashionable ensemble wraps of the new season, extends to a point slightly above the knees and ends there in a plaited ruffle. This particular coat length is a bit more exclusively chic, and also considerably more becoming to the average figure than the hip length jacket.

Germaine Lecomte, who designed this ensemble, has cut the sleeves in one piece with a shoulder yoke at the back and front, and back interest is added by small shirrings which flare the line, and by the scarf ties which are worn thrown over the shoulders.

A sweetly feminine touch is given to the frock by the vestee and double collar of white georgette. You get merely a glimpse of the former underneath the waist. Clever flaring of the straight line of this frock is achieved by three plaited ruffles placed over a godet at the front and back.

Second, this Bechoff coat of string colored crepe has a graceful draped closing, novel sleeves, and a charming panel arrangement in back, which achieves a drooping hemline.

Third, this is one of the smart printed ensembles from Paris, with a short coat, which is flared by plaited ruffles and shirring in back. Model from Germaine Lecomte.

This frock, shown last, accompanies the short coat shown next to it. The white vestee and collar set off the black and white wool crepe of which the dress is made.

Pet Economies

Tell us about your pet economy or an odd economy of some one you know and we'll pay you $1 if we print your letter. Address Economy, Sunday Tribune.

Hurting Business.

My pet economy is making over things. I never see an old garment but I think how it could be used some way. I don't know why this has a fascination for me.

I once almost lost a good place by this. I was in charge of a ladies' furnishing department in a small town. One day a woman came in with a piece of fur, to see if I would make her a small hat to match her neck piece. I of course was enthused and made a ritzy little hat that suited her wonderfully well.

I found out later, [what I did not know then], that she was the leader in the town and, what she had, everybody wanted.

Well! all the old fur I saw was a plenty!

The men I worked for was furious, of course, for there stood our new hats unsold. Who could blame him?

I learned economy is sometimes no economy at all, especially if one wishes to sell something. S. K.

His Gift to Them.

A wealthy man had spent most of his loafing time in our home for a number of years. He was stingy as the deuce, but we were always nice to him, and made him more than welcome.

Just before Christmas he asked each of us what we most wanted. He could have strung us and the Christmas tree with ropes of real pearls and it wouldn't have made a serious dent in his bank account. It is public information that he is worth more than a million.

We chose candy, knowing that if we mentioned what we really wanted he would say we were grasping or something, and believing that candy is an appropriate gift as well as a welcome one.

He gave us candy—yes. We each got a five cent chocolate bar from him in our Christmas stocking, and that's no joke. T. E.

Poetry Lover.

An acquaintance of mine used to write poems, chiefly for her own amusement. Her pet economy was to save every newspaper or magazine containing a poem.

The family finally decided to sell the old home. Rather than part with her beloved poems, she spent weeks in the attic cutting out every poem from the piles of papers, thus getting them in compact form so they could be taken with her.

The only reason she could give for saving them, was that she could not bear to see a poem destroyed, knowing how much effort it meant on the part of the poet. E. H. B.

$5 Apiece for Bright Sayings

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune.

Little Robert was anxious to earn some money, and after a snow storm he took a little shovel and going to one of the neighbors, asked for a job cleaning off the snow.

"O no," said the lady, "you are too young, you will have to wait until you are older."

The next day it snowed again and he surprised her by appearing again. "Why, dear," said she, "you were here yesterday."

"Yes, I know, but I am older than I was yesterday," he said. M. Mc. D.

Bobbie, a little neighbor, came in to see our new baby and as he stood looking, the youngster let out a lusty yell.

"O, gee!" exclaimed Bobbie, laughing heartily. "I'll say his crier works all right." E. C. C.

Best Parties

Tell us about the nicest party you ever attended and we'll pay $1 for each letter printed. Address Parties, Chicago Tribune.

Remembered.

One of the nicest parties I can recall happens to be a birthday party. My work took me away from home much of the time, and finding a room in a small town was not always easy to obtain. At this particular time I was living at a hotel.

One day at the office, while making out a receipt, I stared at the date. I had written, realizing it was my birthday. Until that instant it had slipped my memory. During the afternoon I was invited to a friend's home for dinner that evening. Unsuspectingly I accepted gladly.

Imagine my surprise when I opened the door of my room and found the coverlet of the bed completely covered with gifts, it seemed, from everyone I knew in town, even to the waitresses in the hotel. I was so overcome I sat down and cried.

The invitation to "dinner" turned out to be a real party, and it certainly left a warm spot in my heart. And to this day it still remains a puzzle as to who discovered it was my birthday. F. C. L.

The minute you put your feet in a "Tiz" bath you feel the pain being drawn out and comfort just soaking in. How good your tired, swollen burning feet feel! "Tiz" draws out the poisons that cause tender, aching feet. Takes all the soreness out of corns and callouses, too. Get a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store for a few cents and keep your feet fresh, sweet and comfortable.

Practical and Fancy Needle Work By Clotilde

If the Beginner Will Master These Stitches She Will Find Herself a Long Way on the Path to Success as a Maker of Embroidery

What is your sewing problem? Do you have trouble in following a pattern? Do you find difficulty in making a skirt hang evenly or making a sleeve that doesn't twist? If there is anything you would like to know about these or other problems of needlework, write to Clotilde, The Tribune, Chicago, inclosing a stamped addressed envelope if a personal reply is desired.

YOU may find it useful to cut this and next week's needlework articles out, and keep them for reference when embroidering, and the following stitches that are described are among those used most.

The outline stitch is one of the simplest, but sometimes very useful. It can be made to follow any direction. Start at one end of a line and make a short backstitch. Throw the thread to the left of the needle, and bring the needle out to the right of the thread, and just touching the stitch you started with. Continue in this way, keeping the stitches the same length except where a curve is used, and in that event the stitch will have to be still shorter.

Fagoting is used to join two pieces of material, and the edges to be joined have to be first basted on stiff paper an even distance apart—say from ⅛ to ¼ inch. Then after fastening the thread just under an edge at one end, keep the thread under the needle and take a short stitch parallel to the edge, close to the edge, with the point coming towards instead of away from you. Then do the same on the opposite edge of the material, keeping spaces and stitches even.

Featherstitching is decorative and may be done in single, double or triple stitches. It is really a buttonhole stitch, worked toward you, and can be made to follow any direction.

The seed stitch covers a large surface in a short time, and consists of rows of small backstitches a short distance apart, the stitches of each row being taken in between instead of opposite those in the previous row. The seed stitch is effective used in filling in the petals of flowers.

The Roman cut work is seen on some lovely pieces of embroidery and is interesting to do. The design should first be outlined with short running stitches, and then you work over this, outlining in close together, small buttonhole stitches. Where bars are indicated, fasten your thread in an edge of the buttonholing, and bring it across, back and forth, several times — always fastening carefully. Then cover the bridge thus made with buttonholing, close together and take care not to catch in the material underneath. After the work is finished, use small, sharp scissors and cut the material away underneath.

The satin stitch is started by first outlining the part to be embroidered with a small running stitch, and then fill in the space with a chain or outline stitch, keeping the filling heavier towards the center, and always taking these stitches at right angles to the embroidering stitches. Then begin at one end of the figure and cover with evenly taken over and over stitches, covering it closely and entirely.

The chain stitch looks like a link chain, hence the name. It is done by putting the needle in the bottom of the last loop made, and bringing it out a little lower than where it went in, say one-sixteenth or one-eighth of an inch.

Answers to Beauty Queries

By Antoinette Donnelly.

What's your beauty ill? Too fat? Too thin? Shy on hair? Oily hair, oily skin, freckles, pimples, or blackheads? Flat-chested or flat-footed? Write to me. I have a tonic, a diet, or a set of exercises for what ails you, and you're welcome to them and to all the advice I can give you. If you wish a personal reply, send a stamped, addressed envelope. Address Antoinette Donnelly, The Tribune, Chicago.

D. B.: NO, EXERCISE WILL NOT correct the condition of knock-knees. An operation would be necessary.

SIXTEEN: YOU WANT TO DRINK plenty of milk to build you up for a few years hence, when you will be a young woman. Get as much exercise in the open air as possible.

L. T.: TO PROMOTE THE growth of eyebrows rub yellow vaseline into them every night. Brush them night and morning with an eyebrow brush or a fine tooth brush to train them into shape and promote their gloss.

MISS F. J.: THERE ARE SOME people who can keep their nails in excellent condition by home treatments, but most of us require a manicure by a professional manicurist occasionally, in addition to the daily care we give them. Suggestions for proper treatment of the nails may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

MAY: THE DEVELOPMENT OF the bust is accomplished by exercises which require the movement of arms and shoulders. Every exercise that moves these parts—swinging Indian clubs, rotating arms, moving shoulders—will benefit the bust. You may have exercises for a stamped, addressed envelope.

She left me . . . then I overheard her whisper "B.O." (Body Odor)

"JUST the faintest murmur . . . but I caught it.

"B. O. . . . what could she mean? What was Helen saying about me . . . behind my back? How cool she had acted lately. How reluctant she had been to accept my invitations to the club parties. And that silly excuse of hers for leaving me on the porch and going inside.

"B. O. . . . and suddenly . . . like a flash in the dark . . . the truth burst upon me, Body Odor!

"That explained it all . . . the girls dropping me . . . my troubles at the office. Body Odor! The truth hurt. But I'm thankful that I did overhear. Body odor isn't a handicap to me now."

Now . . . so easy to prevent body odor

Many people, both men and women, miss out on popularity and success in life . . . because of body odor.

They think they're safe—when actually science says no one is immune from this unpardonable offense. We can't tell when we offend, for our own sense of smell becomes deadened to familiar odors. But others always know—and criticize us behind our backs.

We can't help perspiring. It's natural, healthful. Even on a cool day we perspire as much as a quart of odor-causing waste. And in summer, warmer weather and greater activity cause more perspiration than ever.

Keeps pores purified

This the safest thing for every one is to be on guard . . . always. And the easiest, pleasantest way is to prevent the odor by using lifebuoy regularly. With its gloriously refreshing and abundant antiseptic lather, Lifebuoy deeply deodorizes all the pores. Doesn't hide the odor . . . or merely neutralize it . . . but actually removes its cause, giving bath-to-bath freshness of body.

Lifebuoy protects health, too—its mild antiseptic lather removes germs. Fine for delicate skins! You'll learn to love its pleasant clean scent, which tells you Lifebuoy purifies, and which vanishes as you rinse.

TIME TO RETIRE.

[Chicago society woman, in an interview, insists that the rough and giddy flapper is giving way to the sweet and quiet type of girl.]

Felice has sworn off with a pledge strong and hearty;
No longer she shines as the life of the party.
Her manner is one of demure reservation,
Which gives her, I fear, an unearned reputation;
In truth she found out—so at least run the rumors—
That sliding down banisters ruins the bloomers.

OCTOBER ENCOUNTERS APRIL.

[The aging Bohemian to a bachelor friend.]

Jealous? Yes,
When Seventeen came in
And stirred your shopworn bachelorhood
With youth,
You danced her off her silken feet
With grace and charm matured,
Assured,
Engaging,
Gay.

But jealous now?
When I have seen your face—
At heavy Thirty-five,
When Seventeen,
Slim, daring, fleet,
Dove deep into the shining pool
And left you blue and doubtful
Looking down,
To stand, disturbed and cold,
Stopped
At the springboard's edge?

A FRIEND IN NEED

by Sally Joy Brown

You Can Bring Much Comfort to Others if You Will Pass on the Garments You Are No Longer Using.

I want to be the medium through which the friends in need and the friends in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy and you would gladly give it. Write to me and I shall be happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send article to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

TO THE more fortunate among us, springtime brings thoughts of new clothes, new clothes for ourselves and the younger ones, as well. But, while doing so, let us remember the outgrown and discarded things and the tremendous amount of good they will do when given to those who need them.

And we can help easily. Many of us have new clothes. What are we doing with the outgrown ones? I'm certain you'll find among these garments many that still have long life in them when frayed edges are turned in, and they are made serviceable again.

These things will be just the thing to make springtime a time of happiness for men, women and children who need clothing greatly but cannot afford to buy it.

This time of overhauling wardrobes has unearthed a tremendous amount of discarded and outgrown clothing. So please let us apply this supply to the need and put them all to service this week.

Daughter's Plea.

"Have you a reader with a couple of hours to spare on Tuesday afternoone from 1 o'clock to 3—one who has an automobile and would drive an old lady to the hospital where she goes for an X-ray treatment once a week? This woman is my mother and she is too weak to ride on the street car and we cannot afford a taxi.

"Mrs. V. B."

If you have a car and a little time on your hands wouldn't you like to put them to real service by driving this woman to her destination once every week? It would be time well spent.

Wants a Piano.

"Catherine, 10 years old, has been ill for almost a year. The doctor has forbidden her to go to school during this time, and since she is not sick enough to remain in bed nor well enough to play with the other children she is very lonesome at times. Her mother is a widow and her only income is a small pension she receives, so she is barely able to supply her family with food and clothing. Now Catherine wants a piano—she could learn to play it while she is at home. Has one of your readers an old one she could have? J. B."

Already, Catherine has been promised music lessons free of charge from an excellent teacher. Can you supply the much wanted instrument?

Fixing Up a Room.

"I am a young art student, and I have a small studio room. I need a number of things to make it more attractive and comfortable, and since I cannot afford to buy them, I wonder if you can get some of them for me. I would like some dishes, draperies, an iron, screens, rugs, frames, hanging shelves, odds and ends of furniture, cushions and a bookcase. I would be so thankful for any of these and if they are not in good condition I could fix them up myself. E. S."

A number of the articles E. S. is asking for are things all housewives are replacing and discarding from time to time. If you can donate any of them it will help a great deal to make this studio home a cheerful and inviting abode.

Clock Won't Work.

"My clock is out of order, will not run, and I cannot afford to buy a new one. I am a working woman, 50 years of age, and a clock is quite necessary to me. Has one of your readers a good one they no longer want which I might have? Mrs. L. B."

Indeed, when one is a business woman too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of time. I hope some one will come to this woman's aid with the much needed time piece.

Ten Year Old Needs Clothes.

"My son, 10 years old, who has been ill for the last five months, is coming home from the hospital in a few days and I should like to have some new clothing for him. He needs a suit, blouses, underwear, and stockings and, with the expense we have been meeting, I cannot afford to buy these for him. Mrs. G."

Mrs. G.'s small son has been an extremely brave boy and quite a cheerful patient despite the illness and suffering he has endured these many months. I am sure he deserves a new suit and if your boy is discarding one in good condition he'd be happy to have it.

Teacher's Request.

"I am trying to get a blackboard of pretty good size for a study class. I am having so much trouble trying to locate one, I wonder if a reader has one stored away which I may have. V. D."

Do you remember the blackboard the children played with on rainy days? I am sure you'll find it tucked away in some corner of your storeroom just waiting to be taken out again. This teacher could make splendid use of it.

Beauty in the Good Old Days—and Now

Then It Was Enough to Have a Pretty Face and Figure; In 1929 One Must Have Talent and Personality Besides

by Antoinette Donnelly

One question arising was whether a Langtry, or a Lillian Russell, who was a contemporary in years and a rival in beauty of the Jersey Lily, if living today and in her prime, could have achieved such outstanding reputation for dazzling beauty—whether, with the attractiveness per square foot of the stage, screen, and highway, characteristic of our immediate day, they might not have been lost in the shuffle of popular acclaim.

The question, no doubt, shall remain as indefinite of disposal as that of the greater morals of grandmother's age. It's all in the point of view and age of the disputants. The young generations must be stirred to laughter at the enthusiasm of a limping old great-uncle over the good old days when a beauty was a beauty and a figure was a figure. It would be unreasonable to expect them to look upon photographs of forty years ago of ample-bosomed, tight-waisted, and bulging-hip beauties with anything but amusement.

But what we get out of the comparison of past beauty and present is the obvious change in the attitude toward it. The attitude of woman, herself, and the world's.

Mrs. Langtry is said by most reviewers who knew her or had her stage record at their finger tips, never to have been recognized as a great actress. She adorned the stage as a dazzlingly beautiful woman. Her high social contacts were accomplished, it is recorded, from the same vantage point. Lillian Russell's beauty always outshone her acting ability.

Beauty May Have Hampered.

It must be said in fairness, though, that their beauty reputations may have been a handicap. It may have been then, as is sometimes the case today, extremely difficult to convince a public that brains and beauty can be synonymous. Perhaps with Gautier, man thought a woman who had the wit to be beautiful could earn enough encomiums without surfeiting her with praise for ability of mental order.

Now if you take a list of our present day leading women of the stage with Jane Cowl, Ina Claire, Ethel Barrymore, as quickly chosen examples, you have beauty plus brains, energy, accomplishment. Looking over the list again you haven't one Langtry, one Russell, but you have a score of them—women with superlative physical charm, magnetism and individuality. It need not be a professional list. Total up the lovely ones of social status. While perhaps business life for its very draining hours where great success is gained, may not crowd the ranks of prize winning beauties, still it can contribute some splendid looking creatures to the sum total of American pulchritude.

But the controversy, boiled down, is the simple one of whether any girl or woman alive in the world today could become the toast of two continents for her beauty alone. No single name occurs to you. To a gold digger's, a vamp's—yes, you might fasten on a name that is known above other names for its bearer's skill at wheedling gold and marriage licenses. But great, great and greater physical charm than any other known woman remains a crown looking for a wearer. The inscription on it, we fear, will have to be changed to read "for beauty, brains, personality," unless it is to go rusty forever. Even so, the crown would be useless since there'd be too many thoroughly qualified girls to claim it.

A co-worker hints that these are great days for the plain Janes. They are, because there needn't be any plain Janes.

It would be stupid to say that any woman can be a beauty. She can't, any more than she can be tall and slender if five feet and a tendency to curves and dimples are her lot. But any Jane can be made attractive; rather, can make herself attractive if she looks after her hair, her teeth, her complexion and if she develops a shrewdness about color and line of dress. In fact, you can set it down as an indisputable fact that sixty-five per cent of the thing we call "attractiveness" in women seen around today is bounded by these simple dimensions of personal care and dress and the wit to keep them up to the highest level of chic and charm.

There Were Many Dowdy Gals.

You cannot help but feel that the great majority of women of Langtry's prime were not smart women, as we recognize the meaning of the word today. They were dowdy, if anything—dowdy about their clothes and the personal items referred to above as the plain Janes' saving graces. So, if beauty struck such a shining place in the sun then, it was because of the comparison with the great average run of the sex. Which is what reduces real beauty in our immediate era from a shining pinnacle to fairly commonplace acceptance. There just isn't the old contrast.

I wouldn't go on record as saying that encomiums today are given women for what they are—nor for what they look. It isn't true. There's less tolerance than ever there was toward virtue garbed in dowdiness, or character dressed with slovenly care. But women certainly do not have to be Langtrys to be admired nor to be thought "darned good looking."

All of which might well put heart in women who nurse the old fashioned illusion that you have to be born to physical distinction. Some are, it is true. But those who acquire it far outnumber the gods' favorites.

And that ought to set you to creaming your complexion and giving your scalp an extra twinge with the hair brush! For of such is the kingdom of today's beauty heaven.

Babies Need Loving and Sympathy

Physical Care Alone Won't Develop an All-Around Child

by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

IT WAS just the thing to catch a baby's eye. Some one took it out of a jar of bonbons on the table and gave it to her. It was a fat, heartshaped chocolate wrapped in bright red tinfoil, as many of the foreign chocolates are. The light from the fire caught it, and it gleamed.

The baby was sitting on a comfortable lap, and we were sitting on the floor in front of her. When she dropped the fat, red heart candy the interested boy who sat at her feet crawled under the sofa, recaptured it for her, and perched it on the arm of the chair.

The baby reached for it and accidentally pushed it to the floor. It rolled and rolled and another groveling under the sofa took place before it was restored to the arm of the chair again. The next time the baby reached for it she deliberately pushed it off the arm of the chair so it would fall. Of course we all laughed.

Again the boy put it back, and again the fat hand pushed it off. At this the baby's young friend, whose face was near hers, laughed aloud. The baby looked at him hard a moment—then laughed her toothless baby laugh. Now when the heart was restored she pushed it off with added vim and looked immediately into the boy's face to laugh with him.

"Aren't we having fun!" she seemed to say. Again and again this happened, with her eyes quickly seeking his face for the companionable laugh.

Food and Drink to Them.

Things like these, aside from diet, sleep and fresh air, are food and drink to a baby. Play, laughing with some one, sympathetic intercourse—these are not decorations but spiritual necessities in the development of a child all inextricably, mysteriously tied up with his physical development.

There is a great difference between the babies who live in this atmosphere and the babies who don't. Of course, it all was observed officially some time ago by doctors in caring for babies in baby hospitals or institutions. They were puzzled because with the most approved care, sun rooms, studied routines and diets, the babies did not thrive. At last it was forced into their consciousness that something more was needed than physical care. First and foremost, the play instinct was starved, and simultaneously their bodies wilted.

They came to realize that some vital force grew when that spark of play was fanned as it is by a mother and a father, or the older children in a family. And when there was no special interest shown in each baby, when it had no individual life, no quick sympathy from the adult in care of it, it did not flourish. And even the actual mortality was too high.

So then they tried boarding the babies out. Few of the homes available were ideal, many far, far from it—but how those babies thrived! Here, then, is nothing you can put your finger on—but like many of the intangible, mysterious things in human relations, how powerful it is—how absolutely essential!

Treated Like Vegetables.

I know of a few cases where babies in families were treated about as one in a home might be. One in particular, as far as I could perceive, never was given the spontaneous interest, the warm expression of affection, the baby play that most mothers and fathers instinctively have for their children. It was fed, bathed, slept, put in a play yard for hours at a time away from the house, and treated very much like a form of vegetable life.

And I assure you there was something lacking in that little child. It wasn't an only child—it was one of several. I think the mother must have had an idea that babies didn't begin to be individual human beings until they could walk and talk, or something of the sort. And, of course, it was the easier way—vegetables are much less demanding than sentient beings.

All along the line there is this need of a child for the interest and responsiveness of his parents. [And, of course, you know I'm not talking about the purely demonstrative side of loving. I think you'll almost always find that the most intelligent, the most interesting, the most vital children are those who have always had this, from the beginning.]

This is not to say that the baby must not have his long hours of quiet, of sleep, his contented quiet times, and his full quota of physical care. It is not to say that he must be constantly stimulated. It is not to say that the walking and talking child or the threes and fours can't play either quietly together, or independently alone. But it is to say that the baby and the little child thrive on interest and response. They develop in a balanced, all around way under it. It quickens them.

Don't Become Mechanical.

So, in following routine with your baby, don't become mechanical, even with your little baby. And when your very young boy or girl calls, "Mudder, see the house I've built," or "Mudder, come quick and look at Teddy," or "Daddy, come to the window and see my Eskimo house," realize that all fun can't be thoroughly enjoyed or accomplishment savored alone, and dry your soapy hands or snatch the bacon off the stove or leave your newspaper to give the satisfying response that means so much to a child.

Babies and children are not so different from adults. Triumphs, laughter, sorrow, experiences, need to be shared.

The Built-In Book Shelves and Old Fashioned Fireplace Lend Charm to This Quiet Room

WillElla de Campi will be glad to assist the homemaker in any problems pertaining to home furnishings. Address your letter to WillElla de Campi, The Tribune, Chicago. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for personal reply.

By WillElla de Campi

IN the library, that room which is set aside for the enjoyment of quiet reading, writing, or studying, furnishings as well as decorations should be of a peaceful, restful nature. The early American style is particularly well suited to this type of room.

Today's illustrations show two views of a library done in this style. The fireplace end of the room is paneled in pine and left in the natural color, which has a warm, mellow glow. The remaining three walls are done in a block paper, in pale grayish green. This type of paper gives a pleasing textured background. A moulding around the room, and the wainscoting and built-in book shelves match the paneled end of the room.

The arrangement of the furniture is most livable and comfortable. A sofa is placed along the wall space near the fire. At one end is a little fire screen, with a small stand to hold smoking accessories. A butterfly table at the other end of the sofa holds a lamp with a parchment shade and a selection of current magazines. Burnt orange linen velour upholsters the sofa, and there are extra cushions of deep green rep.

Companionably drawn up at the other side of the fireplace is a large wing chair. This is upholstered in glazed chintz, with clusters of flowers in shades of orange, blue, cream and green grpund. A wrought iron lamp beside the wing chair has a parchment shade, and there is a convenient tray for smoking accessories.

The second illustration shows a knee-hole desk, between two windows. This kind of desk is especially useful as plenty of drawer space is afforded. An old pewter inkstand, a colonial lamp with a parchment shade and a vase filled with flowers are placed on top of the desk. All of the most useful reference books are kept in the open book shelves directly above. More frivolous literature, and the books which are not so frequently called into use, are placed on the shelves at the other end of the room.

Casement windows opening out are well suited to this type of room. No glass curtains are used here, but the long, straight draperies are made so that they may be drawn together. These draperies are of glazed chints, matching that on the wing chair, and they are lined with ecru sateen.

At the opposite side of the room from the fireplace there are two more windows. Book shelves are built in between these and at each side. Two comfortable arm chairs, upholstered in armure, with small burnt orange figures on a deep, dull turquoise ground stand at this end of the room. A drop leaf table between the chairs holds a silver cigaret box and ash tray, a glass lamp, with a plaited book linen shade in burnt orange, and a turquoise pottery bowl filled with flowers.

Plain gray-green chenille carpeting on the floor is enlivened by hooked rugs. The mellow pine paneling, the wide and successful selection of materials, the comfort and usefulness of the furniture, the many colored bindings of the books, giving their share of warmth and charm—all combine to make this a most lasting delightful room.

To carry out this idea in an apartment where the walls are not paneled, there is a lovely new paper on the market, which is made to look like pine. Put up on the wall, and divided into panels by means of narrow wood mouldings, and then shellacked, it produces a mellow effect most satisfactorily, and is not, of course, nearly as expensive as actual wood paneling.

Activities of Women

FENCING is rapidly gaining in favor among the women of Hungary.

Persia's queen has put a ban on the wearing of foreign jewels or other articles in the royal household.

Queen Souriya of Afghanistan believes in modern dress for women, and now goes about without the customary veil.

The house of commons of England has adopted a new rule whereby women members may speak without putting on their hats.

Nurses from forty different countries will assemble in Montreal during the week of July 8 to 13 for the international congress of nurses.

Miss May D. Lahey, a graduate of the University of Southern California Law school, has been appointed a municipal judge in Los Angeles.

Reno, Nev., long celebrated as a divorce center, now appears as a Gretna Green. Marriage licenses issued during the last year totaled 2,404, which was almost 2,000 more than in 1927.

Women in England have at last invaded the last stronghold of man, that of secretary of exclusive clubs. Many women already have been installed in that position in numerous of the exclusive men's clubs.

Steps Up the Ladder to Popularity

The Wise Girl Uses Discrimination in the Choice of Friends, but She Never Errs on the Side of Snobbishness

By Doris Blake.

A YOUNG woman reports that she has acquired an undeserved reputation as a snob, which she claims she is not at all. But following her mother's advice to choose young men friends with an eye to their future, she naturally has not been encouraging to boys who didn't appear worthwhile.

Which brings up a point in the affairs of young persons of feminine persuasion that, taken at the start, may lead to delightful popularity, but which, ignored, may lead to total oblivion.

Naturally, there must be some discrimination made in the choice of friends. Boys of undesirable traits and character had better be rubbed off the slate without any vacillating emotion, for it is true that many a girl has ruined herself for better social opportunities by associations that discredited her. As with Lucy, we'll call her, a girl of good family, who developed an inexplicable passion for a youth whose dissolute ways were known by every mother of the girls of her group.

The mothers brought such pressure to bear on entertainment affairs that Lucy was dropped from the invitation lists, though she did not participate in the offenses against good breeding that her friend was guilty of. She was only thought due to be ostracized because "she couldn't be much and be seen in the company of that disreputable young man."

But the dissolutes are the exceptions in the normal associations of young people. Rather what we have in mind for wider cultivation are the young men who may not carry the popular banners of a Lindbergh or a prince of Wales and whose faults are principally that they are not as eagerly sought after as the latest football hero; young men who may not dance divinely but manage to get around fairly well; young men whose tongues may be slightly tied because of a diffident nature; young men who may not have the figure of a Greek god and who may not know what the well dressed man is adding this season; young men who are short and—well, plump—but nice boys, with pleasing manners and decent principles.

There Are Lots of 'Em.

You see, these young fellows make up quite a percentage of your average opportunities of acquaintances. Unless you want to sit with your back to the wall, you have to rely on some of them, if not all of them, to cut in at the dances. You may have to rely on one of them to take you to an affair at which you may meet another young man of stronger appeal.

It's all right to cultivate young men who are going to amount to something later—when you meet them. But you do not always meet them right away. And unless you are pleasant and friendly to the substitute, the chances are you will not get to the places where they can be met. Every youth who crosses your path is not a potential husband. He doesn't think of himself as one. Neither should you. But he might be opportunity for you, which he never will be if you set out disliking him for no other reason than you have another type of male in mind.

Whether you wish to believe it or not, men talk. They get together and compare the girls met at the last dance. And it might just happen that the boy you ritzed because he was a couple of inches shorter than you is a close buddy to the one you'd like to make the big impression on.

You can't have too many boosters. And if you're nice to a boy who isn't one of the stellar lights at a gathering, he boosts you with considerable fervor. If you have a number of these boys rooting for you—well, the desired one may hear and decide he'd better make the acquaintance of a girl that all the fellows are raving about. It is better to make the mistake of having too many beaux than holding yourself off reservedly for the great god who may not cross your path at all.

Avoid Unkind Remarks.

Another little secret why some girls get on better than other girls is their conversation about young men behind the latter's backs. You serve yourself quite well by reminding boys of their excellences to their faces. But if you want to get a reputation for real charm keep up the good work behind the backs of the boys, too. You have a trust reposed in you by other men when you have nothing but kindness for a brother. Even though the brother may not be thought worthy of your generosity, still your reputation as a thoroughly nice girl isn't spoiled, by a long way.

There is just a little suspicion generated in a man's mind that his turn will come once he's out of sight when a girl ridicules other men. It's far better to send him away thinking, "There's a girl, now, who wouldn't say a mean thing about anybody."

Beside, it is a nice way of developing your own character—looking for the good in others to extol. It isn't Pollyannish. It isn't namby-pamby. It's just good, wholesome psychology with you the winner, hands down.

In making new acquaintances among the opposite sex, let me repeat, you cannot afford the luxury of disliking a man just because he isn't like some one else, or isn't like the dream person you'd hoped would fall to your lot. You never can tell how useful helpful a friend he may prove to be. Beside, if you put the poor fellow at an unfair disadvantage by not liking him, you can't bring out the finer traits in him. You can't know anything about him. And you never can tell about those boys who seem unpromising in the early days. They so often turn out to be the men who do amount to something.

A Dollar for Your Dreams

Have you ever had a dream which later came true? If you'll mail us an account of your prophetic dream we'll pay $1 for every dream published. Address "Dreams," Chicago Tribune.

A Strange Affair.

My mother had lost a valuable pin several months ago. She saw the advertisement of a magician in the newspaper saying that if you would send your name and address with a $1 bill and the name of any article lost, he could tell you exactly where to look to find it.

My mother sent in the dollar and two nights later had a vivid dream. She saw the magician, and he whispered to her, "Do you remember the day you put a lot of old things in a trunk in the attic? You dropped the pin in the bottom of the trunk and covered it up."

She went up the next morning, and, sure enough, there was the pin. She wondered if that was the answer for her $1 or if she would receive another suggestion through the mail when shortly afterward her letter was returned from the postoffice intact, containing the $1, as the magician was declared a fraud. T. E.

Saved from an Accident.

Mrs. H. dreamed of struggling in the water of a river. The next day she drove her car on to a ferry to cross the river and, remembering her dream, got out of the car with her two children.

As the ferry started, the bumper on the car was caught on something and it was pulled into the river. V. T. L.

A Sinking Ship.

One night I dreamed being on board a steamship at sea. It seemed I was resting on the deck and looking toward the railing when I became aware that the boat was gradually going deeper into the water. I stood up and shouted, "Hey, men! This ship is sinking!"

The phantom beings that seemed to be about me made no reply. I observed the waves breaking in over the deck—and the dream ended.

The following morning the papers carried the first news of the S. O. S. signals from the ill fated Vestris. G. E.

Personality!

When Ziegfeld selects them, you can be sure they have personality. This lovely New York girl, now appearing in "Rio Rita," has talent—and beauty too—enhanced by wonderful skin and the softest waves of dark brown hair.

"When friends ask me what I do to make my hair so soft and glossy," says Miss Hargrave, "I have to think twice to tell them, because I give so little time to it. The method I use is very popular among New York girls. I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. I am letting my hair grow; but you'd never know it. Danderine keeps it so soft and easy to arrange and holds it in place so wonderfully. It gives my hair such a silky, soft and lustrous appearance, friends are always commenting on it. There isn't a trace of dandruff left now that I've used Danderine regularly. And it keeps my hair and scalp so clean and comfortable that I don't shampoo half as often as I used to."

Danderine quickly removes that oily film from your hair, brings out its natural color, gives it more lustre than brilliantine. It makes the hair easy to dress; keeps it in place. It usually checks dandruff. It isn't oily; don't show. All drug stores have the generous 35c bottles. A delicately fragrant necessity for the well-groomed girl!

BE good to yourself... change to Rinso for the weekly wash and for all household cleaning.

There never was a work-saving soap like Rinso! In tub or washer, its thick suds loosen dirt like magic. Clothes come bright and snowy—without scrubbing, without boiling. So easy on the clothes (and your hands, too!)

How much easier Rinso makes dishwashing! Grease soaks right off in its creamy suds. A hot rinse—and the dishes dry clear without wiping. Try it for pots and pans, too; and for glassware. No grit.

Rinso is the only soap you need, for every household use. A little gives a lot of thick, lasting suds—even in hardest water. One cupful of Rinso gives more suds—does more work—than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soap. That's because it's granulated and compact.

Try Rinso Free

To try Rinso free, send your name and address to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. R-37, Cambridge, Mass. A full-size package will be sent you without cost.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of each pattern as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred); wrap it carefully for each number, and address your order to Clotilde, Chicago Daily Tribune.

2608—Woman's or miss' dress. Sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 40 inch material, with ¾ yard of 32 inch contrasting and 1¼ yards of binding.

3389—Child's dress. Sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. Size 4 requires 1¼ yards of 40 inch material with 1 yard of 36 inch contrasting and 2¾ yards of binding.

HOW TO USE THE PATTERNS

THE useful woolen frock plays an important part in daytime fashions, and is the choice of the school and college girl, as well as smart women, for general daytime wear — particularly in a diagonal weave in coppery red tones in homespun as pictured in pattern No. 2608. Upper and lower parts are cut separately and joined at a low waistline, and the bodice closes in surplice fashion, with the revers and notched collar of either plain woolen or faille silk, giving it a finished, tailored appearance. An important detail is the diagonal slant of the skirt, with pressed plaits that add fullness and softness to the hemline. The back is quite plain, the sleeves are full length, close fitting, and finished with cuffs of the contrasting material, and the belt is suede with a chic buckle.

It is always necessary to mark seam lines clearly and no place is it more important than in a notched collar and revers. After the revers and collar are joined these seams must be pressed open flat and then under and upper sides or sections are laid right side to right side, basted and stitched together on the outer edge from the bottom on one side, up and around the collar and down the rever on the opposite side. It is a good plan to press this seam open before turning to the right side. The turning will be better.

Before cutting sleeves of a dress out you should measure the lengths carefully from the top to the elbow and from the elbow to the wrist. If you have no one who can take these measures for you, use a dress sleeve that is right. Shortening or lengthening in either place is usually done about midway between the top and elbow and the elbow and wrist.

This design is also suitable for crêpe satin, Canton faille crêpe, dull flat crêpe, crêpe de chine, all wool challis or crepella.

Pattern No. 3389 is a practical, smart, cunning design for a bloomer dress for tiny girls. You will probably like it so well that you will use this pattern to make a number of these little dresses, for no small child can have too many wash clothes.

The scalloped front closing and tiny sleeves that extend to the neck make it distinctive. Both front and back are gathered to the raglan shoulders. If you are making several of these dresses it will pay you to buy good pearl shank buttons and use one set for all the dresses. Pearl buttons are not improved by constant washing, and on the side of the dress opposite the buttonholes use a stiletto to punch holes, and work eyelets to slip the buttons through. Small metal rings can be bought at any notion counter to slip through the button shank to hold the buttons in place, and it isn't much trouble to change them from one dress to another.

The bloomers are cut in two pieces and are quite full to allow plenty of freedom for playing. Printed or plain linen, sateen cotton broadcloth or gingham will make up attractively. A chart comes with the pattern which will be found useful in making the dress.

An unusually attractive dress is shown in pattern No. 3404, with the jabot frill of the bodice combining with the circular inset of the skirt to give delightful expression of the feminine mode. The circular inset on the skirt is topped by a stitched tab and buckle, the deep round neck is finished with a narrow bias binding, and the long, dart fitted sleeves are quite plain. The back of the dress is in one piece and is perfectly plain and straight.

The front is cut in one piece and a place is cut out to set the circular godet in. It is really very simple to cut and make and can't fail to be smart when finished. A strap pointed at the left end covers the place across the top where the godet is set in. The jabot is prettily cut, starting in a point at the top and spreading out well toward the bottom. Let it fall in graceful plaits, as shown in the picture. Wool jersey, crêpe satin, printed or plain silk crêpe and wool challis are suggestions.

The Gentle Art of Gift Giving

By Persis Standish.

You Can Make a Present a Delicate Compliment, or an Insult—It All Depends on the Way You Tender It

GIFTS are, in Mrs. Grundy's mind, surrounded with a great deal more liability to put the recipient as well as the giver in an equivocal position than would at first appear to the casual observer. The giving of gifts can be a fine art, or it can be a social pest. A gift can be flung at one insultingly, or it can be a great compliment—the greatest, in fact.

At Christmas time any gift giving at all is allowable so long as the value of the gift is kept within bounds between young persons who are not engaged, or from a heavy suitor to his inamorata—whatever his age may be. For instance, last Christmas I heard of a case of a relative who had not spoken to a certain member of her family for several years. She wanted to make it up, but her pride was such that she feared a rebuff, and she was not a tactful person who knew how to make tentative overtures. So, after much consideration, she sent a beautiful basket of flowers with her card only. Of course it worked, because her offense had long been forgiven and her aunt speedily wrote a note of thanks, and asked her to call.

Careless Givers Found Out.

However, Christmas giving is much abused, and nothing too severe can be said of the persons who fling Christmas gifts about in an offhand, slovenly manner. Those who take last year's gifts that they did not particularly care for, and send them on this year, and those who go about the house looking for small objects that are of no further use but will mail easily, should be punished by law. The funny part about them is that they imagine they are not detected in their evil practices, whereas they never really succeed in deceiving anybody but themselves.

A certain woman of my acquaintance sent out some silver objects this Christmas that had been packed away so long that they were tarnished, and she never even went to the trouble of shining them up. Of course, she will never know what quiet laughs and how much scorn at her expense they caused, but the recipient is too polite to even consider such a thing an insult. She merely considers the source and smiles over it.

A gift can often express, on the other hand, things that words cannot say. For instance, appreciation of services done which cannot be paid for—which could never be paid for in money—the gift does not pay for them, of course, but it says more plainly than any words could say: "I would if I could do something to show how much I appreciate all you have done in my behalf."

It's a Matter of Taste.

The choosing of gifts is a matter of personal taste. Some persons have a real talent for choosing gifts and I find in trying to analyze this talent that they are the persons who choose the gift not because they like it but because they think the other person will like it. In other words, they choose a gift not according to their own personal tastes, but according to what they conceive the personal taste of the recipient to be. Usually this is easy if one knows the sort of things the friend wears, or has in her home. A small gift graciously given is more precious than a large one flung. The graciousness in giving can be defined as care—that is, care in selection, care in wrapping, and care in delivery.

Receive Them Graciously.

So much for the donor. Now for the recipient. All gifts should be graciously received. If they have to be returned, as for instance in the case of a misguided gift from a man to a young girl, they should be returned graciously. One should never seem insulted, even when the gift was so intended, because the very fact of not seeming to see the intent is more disarming than a thunderous anger could ever be and accomplishes far more in disposing of the situation.

One should return thanks immediately for all gifts, but the degree in which it is expressed does not depend at all on the value of the gift. It should depend entirely on the degree of love with which the gift was sent.

But most important for recipients is to be careful of talking about gifts. Never tell from whom you received gifts or show them proudly, because in that way you may hurt the feeling of some one who did not receive as handsome a gift or one which he or she imagines to be less handsome. Absolute silence about gifts is always the most tactful course.

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts, or if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

The Correct Way to Remove Wrinkles

There is one way—a simple, pleasant, sure method that thousands use to drive wrinkles away. That way is to get two ounces of Eptol from the drug store, mix with half pint of water, adding a tablespoon of glycerine. This makes a delightful, rich cream which you may spread thickly over forehead, temples, cheeks, around eyes and rub in until absorbed. Instantly the pores tighten, dead outer skin sloughs off and new, smooth, plump, youthful skin appears. With this action, away go wrinkles, lines and crow's-feet.

There is a simple method that makes blackheads go as if by magic. Get two ounces of Calonite powder from your drug store, sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth, rub briskly over the affected parts, and in two minutes you will find every blackhead dissolved away entirely.

Spring Lamb Makes an Ideal Roast for the Easter Dinner

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

WHEN we have reached all but Easter day, if we are food minded, we must naturally think of lamb, the Easter meat. And in thinking we may perhaps remember how far this is in our practices from being a Thanksgiving or Christmas meat. Roast lamb made into a real bouquet-like viand is naturally suited to Easter festivity, and not contradictory to the idea that lamb for Easter has a religious significance.

To use lamb all the spring and summer through in our dinner menus is to meet the seasons all right, though most particularly is it a springtime meat, and the roast with mint sauce the popular and conventional viand for highly attractive dinners. If we could roast it on a spit, barbecue fashion, it would be most significant of historic.

Nowadays it is recognized that the juiciest of all the cuts for roasting is the shoulder, and if a small cut is to be used this is the one chosen, although in the old time this was not considered "handsome" like the leg. It has more flavor than the latter cut, while the fat on it, when evenly cooked, is delicious with the mint sauce. In the older day nobody would eat fat, even when so flavored. It is a cut altogether easier to cook than any other, and as to the preparation it may be boned and prepared in perhaps fifty different ways. No cut is so often cooked for a pot roast as the lamb shoulder, but even the neck is boned, nowadays, and roasted in the pan or in the pot.

The Leg Cut.

The leg of lamb is a somewhat difficult cut to manage in the roasting pan, though perhaps not so difficult as the shoulder when the shank is left on it. However, the leg is often cut down to make a roast that is as easy to manage as a blocked shoulder cut, yet it is a drier meat and not really as epicurean, although it has stood in so much higher favor. We hear more about the use of lamb shanks and about lamb steaks cut from the leg than formerly, and even the trimmings are profitably used in the lamb patty, which some people like because as purchased it is ready to cook. The leg is also boned as the shoulder is for a roast.

The arrangement of lamb ribs in the form of a "crown" is one of the chef's masterpieces, long since taken over by ambitious hostesses for home dinners. To roast this is a much more technical piece of work than to cook any other cut. The butcher's work is more technical also, and he increases it by making decorations of flowers cut from raw vegetables, and with fancy cuts of larding pork.

The housewife who is very fussy [we commend her for being so] will set up her own crown because she likes to have every part of her piece of cooked meat immaculate. Dirt has flavor and some dirt has a good deal. In roasting the crown the exposed tips of bone must be protected, and usually the butcher prepares little blocks of larding pork for this purpose. Before presenting a crown roast at table, large olives are sometimes put on the prongs of bone and sometimes the paper frills.

It must set squarely on the platter and not lean in the least. Besides this, it is a roast that can be beautifully garnished with a mixture of vegetables and the carving is already determined and therefore easy.

Small Lamb Roast and Stew.

For the small family a leg roast cut down to a piece that weighs no more than two pounds is excellent, and with right management there will be a leftover for cold slices. The housewife who knows how to manage the whole leg can get up a stew from a part, and use some of the liquid from the stew to advantage in making gravy for the roast. If she can season this meat variously so to avoid monotony it is a rather good combination to make this of the lamb stew and the roast.

As to the two pound or middle piece which is to be roasted, it must be cleaned carefully. Sometimes it is quite dirty. This may be done with a cloth wrung out of hot water quite dry, or the piece may be dipped into water if the cut surfaces are not wet in doing so. Take it then from the water and dry it carefully and after that do any necessary scraping or trimming, without getting any scrapings on the cut part. If the fell or skin is thick and leathery it must be removed. It is the part that gives the woolly taste that made lamb so objectionable as a meat to some people that there came to be American communities where lamb was never eaten. If the fell is thin, and yet will not pull off readily, it can be thoroughly scraped and broken so that it is clean and so, also, the seasonings will easily be taken by the meat.

When ready to put the meat to roast, use small steel skewers in such a way as to hinder the cut from twisting out of shape with the heat. To augment the flavor of the lamb rub it over with the cut lemon, or use the cut end of a clove of garlic. Garlic seasoning adds quality and will not be noticed, as it so easily will be when the clove of garlic is stuck into the meat.

Ready for the Oven.

When ready for the oven pour over the lamb three tablespoons of hot melted butter, and put it into a hot oven. Remember that the butter helps to flavor it and should on no account be burned, as it would be if the heat or hot oven was long continued in the roasting of the meat. When meat is constantly basted, as this advantageously can be, for every fifteen minutes during the hour or a little more allowed for the cooking, the opening of the oven is constantly lowering the heat and so we do not need to turn the gas down as much as we otherwise would. But the heat should never be sufficient to burn the basting fat in the pan, to which may be added a few tablespoons of hot water, the water being renewed as soon as the fat shows that the water is gone.

Here we have another check on too hot a fire, because if the liquid in the pan gets too hot it begins to spatter in throwing out the water, and we get a disagreeable oven to do our work in, as we do not need to do. Add sufficient salt to season the roast to the basting liquid before dipping it over the meat for the last time. The liquid in the pan, when sufficiently diluted, will make an excellent gravy if it is not burned. If there is fat alone in the pan we may thicken it and then make the gravy with a cup of the liquid of a thickened lamb stew. This piece of meat is one of the most excellent for slices of cold lamb.

One Pound Roast.

A butcher now will cut off one pound of the meat from a leg of lamb instead of making the lamb steaks from it, in cutting it down for the smaller roasts of today. That is, some butchers will. This one pound of meat can be roasted in a small electric oven, or in any small oven or in a broiling oven. The directions for doing it were some I ought to have given to a correspondent of a little while back, who would like to have roast meat and yet has small accommodation for doing the work, as well as a small family.

By the way, in using a small oven such as goes with the electric grill, either with the electricity or over a gas burner, the heat must be very low because the plate inside easily becomes red hot. Over the gas the flame can be as low as one that will merely keep alive, but always we should be able to hear a little sizzling of the meat, because when this stops the cooking is not fast enough.

Prepare this meat by removing the fell and scraping to make it immaculate at every point. With two small skewers of darning needle size—since large darning needles are easier to procure in some communities than the skewers these can be used instead—pin down the thin end of the meat so that it will not be dried out and overcooked. Put the meat, then, on a little iron stand in a small pan, pour very hot melted fat over it, and put it to cook, adding a little boiling water to the fat in the pan to keep it from burning should it get too hot before the meat is heated through.

Baste this meat four times in an hour, for an hour is a good time for cooking even this small piece, because the time is slowed up with the basting. It is surely a pretty little piece of work if it is well done. It is necessary, however, to remember that it is easy to burn anything in these small ovens which require so little heat to put them to work. The value or privilege of this is that we can get meat with that flavor which comes only from roasting in so small a portion.

Women the World Over

Approximately one-half the stock of various leading American corporations is now owned by women. It is stated that one-third or more of the stock in some of the leading metropolitan banks is held by women.

Mrs. Doyle Carlton, wife of the new governor of Florida, does her own marketing and attends personally to many other of the household duties. She prepares some of her husband's favorite dishes.

Illinois Mother Has Right Idea

For over fifty years, physicians have recommended it and mothers all over the world have recognized this fine old medicine as the standard remedy for those ills of childhood, such as biliousness, sallow, "broken-out" skin, constipation, nervousness, indigestion, feverishness, no appetite or energy, etc. Children love the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup and their whole system benefits from its gentle influence. It quickly purges the child's system of all waste; it regulates the bowels and stomach, and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

An Illinois mother, Mrs. M. Schenewerk, 6329 Stewart Ave., Chicago, says: "My little daughter, Laverne, suffered from biliousness and constipation until her breath was bad, she had no appetite and couldn't digest her food. Then we started her on California Fig Syrup. It stopped her trouble quick, regulated her stomach and bowels, made her eat heartily. She's a strong, healthy girl now, and I give California Fig Syrup a lot of the credit for it."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name to protect yourself from imitations. All drug stores have it. Four million bottles used a year shows its popularity.

"My Skin Nearly Drove Me Mad"

"I had pimples and blackheads so badly, and used to squeeze them so much that my face looked red and raw. On the advice of a nurse friend I got a jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur and used it faithfully for ten days. In 3 days' time there was a big difference in my skin and today it is as soft and clear as my 10-year-old sister's."

The sulphur in Rowles Mentho Sulphur clears the skin while the Menthol heals the sore, broken tissue. That's the twofold action you want for skin troubles. Try Rowles Mentho Sulphur not only for pimples and blackheads, but for dry, scaly skin, rash, and itching eczema. IT WORKS! All druggists sell it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

$10,000.00 in Cash Prizes

HERE IS SET NO. 11

No. 31. Chicago Tribune Game of State Capitals

The Name of This State Capital Is _____ Write Here Name of State Capital

State of _____ Write Here Name of State

No. 32. Chicago Tribune Game of State Capitals

The Name of This State Capital Is _____ Write Here Name of State Capital

State of _____ Write Here Name of State

No. 33. Chicago Tribune Game of State Capitals

The Name of This State Capital Is _____ Write Here Name of State Capital

State of _____ Write Here Name of State

THE RULES:

1. Every Sunday, the Chicago Tribune prints 8 pictures depicting the names of Capital Cities of the various States in the United States. There will be a total of 48 pictures—one for each of the 48 States. The public is invited to cut out these pictures, all in the name of the Capital each picture represents and the name of the State. The Chicago Tribune will pay $10,000.00 in cash prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved and neatest complete sets of answers in accordance with these rules. See prize list below.

2. This offer is open to everybody—young, wealthy, boys and girls—except employes of the Tribune and their families. It makes no difference how old you are or where you live. You may contest. No wish to be a subscriber to get. Just prove your skill. Accuracy will count. Neatness will count.

3. Pictures are to be submitted only in complete sets. The first three pictures were printed Sunday, January 13th. Hold all pictures until you have the complete set of 48. Then send them to "Capitals," The Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All pictures must be in by midnight 31 days after the last picture has been published. No entries will be returned.

4. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Post Office Department. With your entry send a letter giving your name and address and the name of your favorite State—the one you like for your home, and tell why you like it best. Letters must not exceed 50 words. Elaborate entries are not necessary. Make your entry simple. The prime requirements are accuracy and neatness.

5. School Teachers Note: To interest school children in encouraging their pupils to enter this instructive and educational contest, the Chicago Tribune will award 5 prizes of $100.00 each to the teachers in public, parochial or private schools of grammar or high school grades, whose pupils rank highest among the prize winners. These Teachers' Prizes will familiarize your pupils with all the State Capitals. Help them win!

6. You need not purchase The Chicago Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the pictures (never the originals) and use the copies you have made. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of our Offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

7. The judges will be a committee appointed by The Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

SILVER DAWN

by HAL BORLAND

The Story of Jud Milholland and the Horse He Loved and Could Never Forget.

JUD first spotted her away up on Two Buttes creek at the south end of the Frying Pan's range, in March, when the buffalo sod was just beginning to smell fresh at midday as the trickles of ice water chuckled down from the melting snowbanks. She was a short yearling and had a winter coat three inches long, shaggy as a grizzly. But every move she made, even to the nervous toss of her head to shake a precocious forelock out of her eyes, was graceful as a dancer.

Jud reined old Shorty into the shelter of a willow clump and sat there and feasted his eyes.

She was with a bunch of mokeys, wild ones, her mother and five other mares and three other last year's colts all following a shabby blue-roan stud that carried a brand from away down in southern New Mexico. They'd drifted north, somehow; or maybe only the stud had drifted north and had gathered the mares along the way. At any rate, they'd dodged horse hunters and fought blizzards, coyotes, bobcats, and starvation. And this far they'd won out.

The graceful yearling was a misty sort of blue-gray, shading almost to white in spots, and had a mane and tail as pretty a gleaming silver as you ever saw on the trimmings of a fol-de-rol rodeo saddle.

"Gad!" Jud murmured to Shorty. "She's just like a chunk of dawn, ain't she? Darned near too pretty to look at very long. Dawn, that's what we'll call her, old boy. Silver Dawn. And if we don't lay our rope on her, Shorty, old boy, nobody else will!"

FOR half an hour Jud sat and watched, and twice he was tempted to shake out his rope, give old Shorty his head, and take after the Dawn youngster. Then he thought of the heavy going, the soggy sod, and the fact that while Shorty was good for an all day jaunt and was an A-1 cutting horse, he wasn't exactly what one might call fleet. Twenty jumps and little Dawn would leave old Shorty like a prong-horn leaves a house dog. She could run, that baby. Look at the length of those fine legs; at her long, supple ankles; at the powerful pair of hips on her! She could run like a jack rabbit!

And at last Jud swung old Shorty back out of the willows, up the hillside.

They saw him. The blue stud snorted, flung up his ugly head. The mares, four of them heavy with foal, trotted obediently up the hollow. And the yearlings, led by Dawn, sped away with a regular circus display of wheeling, side jumping, snorting, and general showing off. Could she run? Gad! She had legs on her like wings! Even among those other lithe youngsters she showed up like a swallow among a flock of crows.

Jud watched, entranced, until the whole bunch of them had trooped away over the hill and out of sight. Then he turned, with a lump in his throat and a hint of moisture in his eyes. For Jud was the son of Marie La Tour, who had come to Colorado to paint mountains, and who had died, heart-broken, on a lonely homestead, leaving a gray eyed, wondering boy of ten who watched the crimson sunsets and dreamed of great, bearded knights who rode chargers like elephants to save lily white maidens from monster ogres.

Jud watched this Dawn colt, thrilled to his very boot tips. For Jud also was the son of Greg Milholland, who loved horses as Marie loved mountains, and whose good looks were as great as his wanderlust, his eternal quest for a beauty of far places, of strange women, for a richness of life that he never found. For two years after he quarreled with Marie on the homestead and drifted away—deserted her, most said—he was found dead under a snowbank not two miles from the homestead where Marie had died of pneumonia and a broken heart—died only a week before. Greg had come back, too late. And the neighbors buried him beside Marie over on the hill where she used to sit and watch the sunset.

Little Jud didn't understand much of the goings on. But when he was given the choice to live with prim, starched old Mrs. Baron, whose son ran the store and postoffice at Bluebell, or of going with Pat Donlin, Jud didn't hesitate. He went with Pat. Pat was sixty; Pat was a widower; there wasn't a woman on Pat's ranch. But Pat had two thousand head of horses.

Almost before he had lost his milk teeth, Jud was spending the bulk of each day in the saddle. At twelve he could ride with the best of the punchers. And at fifteen he could stick to anything that grew on Donlin's range.

"There's somethin' damned quare about the way the laddy rides," old Pat once said to his foreman. "It ain't work for him—it's not play, neither. It's just a part of life. He kind of belongs in the saddle, and he knows it. Him on a horse looks like an eagle in the sky—like he's doin' what the good Lord cut him out for, and like he'd been doin' it a hell of a long while."

The whole truth was that Jud was an artist, but instead of singing or painting or writing poetry, he rode horses.

Jud probably would have lived with Pat all his life, and would have grown into a rather lazy, vain, useless rider, pampered and spoiled, spineless and petulant. But the spring Jud was seventeen Pat got caught out in a cold rain and a week later he wheezed his last through pneumonia clogged lungs. The old man had scarcely been decently buried when a flock of creditors flew in like buzzards, to lay hold of everything he had held. Jud was lucky to save his saddle and one sorrel gelding from the crash. And before the fresh earth had settled over old Pat Donlin, Jud Milholland rolled his extra pair of sox in his slicker, saddled his sorrel, and headed south, the spirit of Greg Milholland pointing the way.

He worked at the old JOD. He worked at the Two Diamond over on the Badger. He even went as far south as old Fort Garland down on the Rio Grande. But ever he would drift back toward the Arkansas; toward the Frying Pan, where Red Ike, bald as an egg and with a flaming red beard like a Hebrew prophet, ruled the cook shack; where one eyed Bill Fess had been foreman more than twenty-five years; where Greg Milholland had worked when he met Marie La Tour.

Ever would Jud drift back "home," where the buffalo sod began to smell fresh of a March day when the trickles of ice water chuckled down the hillsides from the dwindling snowbanks.

BY the time the Dawn colt was a two year old, Red Ike had growled to one eyed Bill Fess, "Jud's just like his daddy—got his heart set on a filly, and I reckon he'll go through hell to get her."

Fess nodded. "But," he slowly ventured, blinking his one gray eye like an owl "once he's got her, how long'll he want her? Remember Marie——"

And Red Ike nodded, solemnly.

Jud had chased the mist-gray filly a hundred times, and never yet had he been within rope length of her.

Then, the spring she turned three, Dawn took up with a leggy black wild stud, lured a couple of skittish Frying Pan mares to turn wild and follow her, and took to the Little Muddy Badlands.

The Badlands lie like a giant three fingered hand, cut off in some long forgotten battle of the gods and flung there on the plains, its two mile fingers thrusting out toward the south, its sandstone-mesa thumb toward the west, and its three mile square palm a maze of wild plum, sage, cactus, and gravel hills. Near the center of the palm is a deep, clear pool fed by a spring sweet as dew and cold as January, and in the canyon between the ring finger and the index there are two brackish pools where range cattle and antelope often water.

Half a dozen times that spring Jud rode down there, spent two or three days poking about the weird canyons, losing himself in the trails and cross-trails—of which there were thousands—and catching occasional glimpses of Dawn and her followers.

In August Jud went to Bill Fess.

"I'm going to lay off a month or so, Bill, if it don't pinch you none."

"Not at all, Jud." But there was a suspicious light in Fess' eye. "Something special on?"

"Nope. Just want to drift down to the Badlands a week or so."

Not half an hour later Red Ike's prophetic beard was waggling in agitation.

"Just like his daddy," Ike growled, while Bill sat in a corner and smoked. "What did his daddy do but pike off for a month when he seen he wa'n't getting nowhere with that La Tour girl? And didn't Greg come back with the girl in a hackamore? Mark my word, Bill, Jud'll come home with that filly at the end of a lead rope."

BUT Ike was wrong. Jud came home with Shorty limping at the end of a lead rope. And Jud was riding the Dawn filly.

Jud told them but few details of the chase or capture. He had gone down there alone, and he had come back riding Dawn. That was all the curious ones needed to know.

But Jud, if he lived to be a thousand, never would forget that moonlit night when his rope settled around Dawn's gray neck.

He had chased her through the brush and over the hills for three solid weeks. He had found that of an evening she usually took to the trail around the tip of the Thumb, and that if he chased her she scurried on around, through a gully in the Palm, and back along the Thumb, completing the circle. Then had spotted an old watercourse that cut directly up over the Thumb, a sort of pathway hidden by brush and brambles. And then the moon came full, and Jud saddled Shorty and took after Dawn and her followers.

For half a mile, there in the moonlight, she ran straightaway toward the end of the Thumb. Jud put old Shorty hard to it, pressed to within three hundred yards. Then he came to the watercourse, and the wild ones sped on around the end of the Thumb. Jud could go up and over, a scant five hundred yards, while Dawn sped on around the curve, nearly a mile. And Jud would be there beside the trail on the other side when she came thundering past. He would be within rope-length of her at last.

The way up was rough, boulder strewn, but Shorty took it at a jerky lope. The way down was through loose gravel and shale, and Shorty took it mostly on his haunches. Then, twenty yards from the trail where Dawn would come with flying hoofs, Shorty tripped on a root, stumbled, fell.

Jud was off in a leap. With a jerk, he yanked the lariat from the pommel. Half a dozen jumps and he was at the trail edge. And Dawn was thundering down at him, big as a mastodon there in the moonlight.

. . . . . .

Jud's rope shot out like a tongue of frenzy. Her eyes bulged. Her pink nostrils became gaping wounds fighting for air. She must free herself of that terrible silver cord! But it gripped, tighter, relentless as the hand of death.

How he snubbed her and saddled her and mounted her, there in the moonlight on the buffalo sod; how they battled, she unbridled, unfettered save for the grip of the cinchas; he hatless, quirtless, clutching the saddle with two bruised, bleeding hands, clinging like a madman. How they ceased to fight, long after, she drooping like a frosted flower, he too battered, too faint, too weak to dismount—those things were like a mad vision of a far, far place.

No, if Jud lived to be two thousand he never would forget that night beneath the moon there at the edge of the Little Muddy Badlands.

THE short autumn days rolled past. Fall roundup came and went, and preparations were made for winter.

And Red Ike and Bill Fess marveled.

Dawn was the best cow horse on the Frying Pan. Dawn and Jud could do an amazing amount of work in a day. Dawn knew, by instinct it seemed, what her rider would do. And Jud rode her as a mother leads a child.

"Sure a great pair," observed Red Ike, with a pass at a late fly that pestered his bald head.

"Sure a great horse," was Bill's comment.

And a few minutes later, "But I wonder how long it'll last. Jud's not the kind——"

"Greg and Marie," put in Bill between puffs at his pipe, "got on for about eight years."

"But Dawn," observed Ike, "ain't Marie."

"Both women," came Bill's answer.

Spring, and the Dawn filly would come at a trot when Jud whistled. Summer, and she followed him like a dog. When Jud rode another horse he lathered him getting back to fondle his Dawn mare. And when he rode Dawn like as not he'd stop two hours three miles from home to cool her back and rub her pink muzzle. Jud was madly, foolishly in love with her. And she nickered like a baby when Jud was out of her sight.

Then came the war talk. A bunch of the boys were in town one afternoon when an enlistment officer hailed them. They rode over, laughing, and he told them what was up. Then they quit laughing, and three of the five of them signed up. The fourth was one eyed Bill Fess, who couldn't have got in if he had wanted to. And the fifth was Jud.

For the better part of an hour he stood in the street, rubbing Dawn's neck while he thought. The other boys were over undergoing the physical examination. Finally Jud twisted Dawn's ear affectionately, stalked over to the uniformed man's office.

"Listen," Jud demanded, "if I was to enlist in the cavalry, could I take my own horse along?"

The man in uniform smiled and shook his head. "'Fraid not. Government provides——"

But Jud was gone. Back beside Dawn once more, he rubbed her mussle almost fiercely. "They won't let us go together, girl, and damned if I'm going without you!"

That night when Jud and Fess rode home they trailed three horses with empty saddles. And when Jud stripped his saddle and blanket from Dawn he was muttering again: "No, sir; damned if they'll get me to go and leave you, old girl!"

THAT was in June. But in December Jud was in the trenches, eating canned willie and dodging whiz-bangs with the rest of them.

The break had come early in July. Jud had been down toward the Little Muddy Badlands, riding alone, as usual. And Dawn had shied at a tumbleweed, side jumped like a flash. Jud was half asleep, and, caught unawares, roused suddenly to find himself sitting on the sod forty miles from the home ranch. Dawn was grazing fifty yards away. Jud laughed at himself, thrown so easily, and walked over to the filly. But just as he was reaching for her bridle a fly stung her and she shied away.

Jud flew into a rage. He swore like a demon. He alternately cursed her and cursed the flies. Then he ran after her, and she fled, quite naturally. He walked the better part of a mile after her, and his anger cooled as his feet began to burn. Then he begged and cajoled, pleaded, and finally whistled for her. And half an hour before sunset, when Jud had blisters like dollars on his heels, Dawn turned and trotted straight to him.

The following day, when she shied at another tumbleweed, Jud cut her viciously with his rope, and for several minutes they had a royal set-to. Next morning Dawn refused to come at Jud's call, and he finally had to rope her after driving her into the corral.

For a week they played a cat's game, always on the lookout for a chance to "do up" the other. Jud was fighting her every time he hit the saddle, and he was riding with every nerve taut every minute of the day. Then she stumbled in a badger hole one afternoon ten miles from the ranch. Jud cut at her with his rope, and she let go the works. She bucked and pitched and raised general deviltry; but Jud stuck to her like a cockle burr until she dashed under a runty jack pine and scraped him off.

But as he went, Jud took along the end of a twenty foot lead rope he'd tied around her neck for just such an emergency; and he nearly broke her back when he set his heels and jerked her head around under her tail. Then he got right back on and they had a battle worth riding far and waiting long to see. It lasted twenty minutes or so, Dawn bellowing like a bull and Jud raking her from withers to tail with his rowels. Then she got near that jack pine again, and before Jud could say yes or no he was sitting on the ground, a gash across his head where the tree struck him, and Dawn was streaking it for the Frying Pan.

When Jud walked in at the ranch it was just getting dusk. The boys were out at the corral cutting horses, but Jud didn't notice that nothing but scrubs went into the little corral. What he did see was a squat, dark skinned man checking off the mounts as they were crowded into the pen. Jud went directly to him.

"Buyer?" Jud demanded.

The dark skinned man nodded.

"I got one for you."

The other continued to check the incoming horses.

"War stuff?" There was an eager fierceness in Jud's voice.

Again the other nodded.

FIVE minutes later Jud led his Dawn mare over to the stranger. She was docile, now, as a kitten. But Jud fairly trembled as he announced, "Here she is."

"In there," the little man grunted, glancing quickly at her. Then, as Jud loosened the lead rope and viciously cut her across the rump, driving her into the pen, the buyer whistled softly to himself. Jud returned to the buyer's side, and the dark skinned one halted his pencil long enough to announce, "Twenty-five dollars."

Jud grunted and walked away like one in a trance, while the buyer whistled again, shook his head, muttered, "Crazy mad."

It was after supper that Red Ike edged alongside Jud, whose eyes still held that hard, fierce glare, almost a madman's look.

"Jud, boy," Ike rumbled, "did you know that was a Mexican buyer? Not a U. S. man. He wants horses for them Spicks to shoot." There was almost a pleading note in his voice.

But his only answer was a frown and a snarl: "So much the better!"

"He's mad," Ike told Bill Fess later in the kitchen. "Mad as a wet hen. And he's about gone off his nut with it."

"Just like Greg was," Bill ruminated, blinking his one eye and lighting his pipe. "Just like Greg the night he up and left Marie."

"But he'll be sorry as hell tomorrow."

"Maybe. Greg wasn't very sorry for nearly two years."

"He'll be sorry," Ike continued as if Bill had not spoken, "and he'll be willing to pay ten times what he sold her for to get her back."

But Ike was wrong. Jud enlisted in the U. S. army the next day.

NOT quite four years later a man who might have been forty-five instead of a scant twenty-nine, judging by the haggard, haunted look in his eyes, opened the door of the Bluebell postoffice and general store. There was a familiar set to the shoulders, a line about the mouth, and despite the olive drab and the puttees George Baron recognized him.

"Jud Milholland!"

They shook hands. Jud asked about George's mother, about his wife, about the neighbors. Finally he ventured, "The fellow I rode out with said the Frying Pan went under."

"Yep. Better'n a year ago." George was behind the counter, fooling with the calico stacked where overalls and chewing tobacco used to be. "Too many nesters. Cut off the range, and then beef didn't sell right and the bottom dropped out of the horse market."

Jud smothered a cough, a hacking, scraping cough. For several minutes they stood in silence. Then Jud said, "Nesters, huh?"

"Yep. They've got about everything now but a couple of sections down in the Little Muddy Badlands, and that's too rough to get under plow, I reckon."

Jud blinked, blew his nose, turned away. Finally he asked, "What happened to Red Ike? And Bill Fess? They still around somewhere?"

"Bill went down to El Paso. Got a brother down there. He's a lawyer or a representative to Mexico or something like that. And Ike went along and last I heard he was running a chile parlor there in El Paso."

Two nesters came with cans of cream for George to test and eggs for him to count. As he turned to care for their needs he looked at Jud who leaned against the counter and gazed out the big front window, his eyes glistening and moist. Then Jud coughed again and George thought he looked scarcely a day older than the bare headed little tike who had cried over Marie Milholland's grave, then solemnly decided he'd rather live with Pat Donlin on the horse ranch than go home with George's mother.

"Going to stay around here a while?" George asked, stirring the first can of cream and taking a sample.

"Hardly know," came his answer. Jud still stared out that front window. And five minutes later Jud asked, "Ike and Bill are down in El Paso, you say?" Then, just as George finished both tests, Jud blew his nose loudly, turned with a great air of old-time swagger, and said, "Well, George, if you see any of the boys, tell 'em I'm back all in one piece. If I decide to stick around I'll see you again. By the way, George, you never saw that Mexican horse buyer that was through here just before I left, did you? He didn't come back the next year?"

George shook his head.

"Well," Jud seemed to swallow something big and hard, "well, so long, George."

Jud opened the door, wandered out into the afternoon sunlight, where he could smell the freshness of the buffalo sod still moist with last night's rain. But when a flivver chugged along heading north, toward the railroad, Jud hailed the driver, climbed in, vanished down the dusty road.

IT was a sunny morning the following March when Jud opened the door of the Imperial chile parlor in El Paso, opened the door, stepped in, sat on a stool at the ten foot counter. He wore mufti now, but his eyes still had that haunted look, and he coughed even as he waited. Then he saw a long, red, prophetic beard, and he saw a tall cook's hat—Ike himself edged out from the tiny galley!

"Jud!" The bellow rattled the big front window.

"Hello, Ike. God, it's good to see you!" There were tears in Jud's eyes, and there were tears in Ike's eyes, and neither tried to hide them.

For an hour they talked, while the sun beat down and the natives lolled on the sidewalks or stared in at them unnoticed.

"So Bill's here, too?" Jud finally asked.

"Yep. Due along here most any time now. Him and the major—Bill's brother. The major's some high mucky-muck with the government, something to do with Juarez. Got more to say about what goes on over there than the president of Mexico himself. Whenever any of the boys go over and shoot up the town, anyway, it's the major who gets 'em out. He talks, and the Spicks jump to do what he says, saving any questions till afterward."

"Yeah?"

"Yep. Him and Bill's due along most any minute. We're going over there to a bull fight this afternoon. It's a big holiday, or something, and we decided to go along with the major and see what kind of a rodeo those Spicks can throw. You'll come along?"

"O, I reckon."

So they went, the four of them, across the international bridge, past the long rows of 'dobe huts in the native section, out to the big amphitheater. Bill's brother reminded Jud of the major in his outfit overseas, the kind of a man a fellow would do anything in the world for—a big, tall, broad shouldered chap with a regular army carriage, iron-gray hair, close cropped mustache, eyes that twinkled like gray diamonds, and a low, vibrant voice that made you want to tell him your troubles. And, Jud noticed, the Spicks were bowing to the major like he was the Presidente himself.

Then they were in their seats, almost at the ringside, and the major was reading the Spanish printed program to them. There were three bulls to be killed, all from some famous herd down near Durango, and half a dozen "famous" matadors were to vie for high honors. Then they watched the gathering crowd for a time, and at last the major ventured, "Seems to me that Billy has mentioned you, Milholland, as something of a rider."

"Well," Jud cleared his throat and colored slightly, while Bill tried frantically to signal to the major that he was venturing on dangerous ground, "well, maybe I was once."

"Chased wild horses, or something," the major pressed him.

Jud smiled wanly, and a far-away look came into his haunted eyes. "Yes, I did that, too."

IKE and Bill were almost wheezing in their suppressed excitement. The major was playing with a volcano. Jud would just about explode, tell him to go to hell, walk right out on them. Jud felt about that little mare like a fellow feels about a girl he's been head over heels in love with and then had a big row and left her cold. And the longer a fellow broods over such a thing the worse he gets. Jud had been brooding over it four years. See that look in his eyes! Jud was more than half crazy on that subject.

"I'd like to hear about it," the major was saying. And, before they could realise it, the major had Jud telling him about Silver Dawn; how he first saw her, how he followed her for months, how he finally roped her, saddled her, rode her. It was a simple, unadorned tale, matter of fact almost to barrenness.

But the major and Bill and Ike listened, completely absorbed, and Jud, as he talked, stared straight across the ring with eyes that saw neither crowd nor sky but only a mist-gray filly as beautiful as a desert sunset running, wild and free, in the Little Muddy Badlands, waiting fretfully for her absent master, trotting like a dog to him when he returned; and finally, through misted eyes, thought he saw her lying starved and beaten, gashed and bullet torn, glassy eyed and lifeless, beneath a fierce sun in whose face circled the eternal buzzards.

And none of them gave more than a passing glance at the gaudily dressed horseman who circled the ring, blew a blast on his bugle, led a column of soldiers round and round and finally ushered in the bull fighters.

Jud finished his story, and after a moment the major asked, "And what do you think you'll do now?"

"It's hard to say. Keep drifting, I guess. This gas I got——"

"Yes, but there's a cure for that, son."

"Yeah!" Jud's tone was frankly sneering. "Go out in the hills somewhere and sit in the sun a couple of years." He laughed harshly. "I'd rather die outright, now."

"But if you——"

"Listen, major. I've thought it all out a hundred times. If things was like they ain't—if I had Dawn again, I mean—I'd swing right back to those old plains. And I'd find a homestead in the most God forsaken looking place there is. Maybe Little Muddy Badlands. And we two first got acquainted there, where we'd settle down. We'd build a shanty, and we'd get a few cows, chickens, and we'd just get along kind of vegetate. And the years would get in my skin and set me free and we'd be happy as hell."

He hesitated a moment, until the dream faded from his eyes, leaving them dull again. "But it can't be done, major. It can't be done. As the boys say, I loved and I lost and it's all over. I'm just sorry the Heineys didn't get rid of them whizbangs for me. That's all."

THE bugler down in the ring was sounding off again and the ushers in their gaudy uniforms were acknowledging the salvos from the stands. The bandilleros took up their places, the muletero crashed his mules and his team of blacks with jingling harness and tinkling bells pounded toward the exist. Two picadors on shambly, moth eaten black horses, the other on a gray that looked like a four legged washboard, made for opposite sides of the ring.

The bugler blew another blast, the stands roared, and the heavy gate at the far end of the arena opened. Down the chute trotted a leggy red bull.

The bullfight was on.

A matador waved his crimson cape in the bull's face, leaped lightly aside from the charge. Another leap, and yet another, and the matador still plagued the beast. Then a banderillero danced forward, egged on the bull to a charge, planted his hooked darts on the bull plunged past.

The stands were cheering. It would be a grand success, this fight. Such a bull! And two others of his kind! An afternoon's sport fit for the Presidente himself!

Again a matador waved his cape in the bull's face, leaped close, and a picador urged his skeleton of a horse down the side of the ring, toward where the four Americans sat, and toward the bull. Now first blood would be drawn, horse's blood.

Jud stared like a madman. He gasped audibly.

Red Ike heard, and Red Ike saw. Jud went white as a cloud, his eyes blazed, his fists clenched. Jud was staring at the oncoming picador. The horse that picador rode, more skeleton though it was, once had been a mighty gray. It was a mare. And though she was blindfolded, there was a familiar toss of her head, an air to her gait.

The bull was in front of them now, not twenty yards away, and the gray was not fifty yards from him. For a moment the bull poised, ready to charge the picador on the gray. Then a matador shook his cape in the bull's face and the red beast plunged across the ring. There the other picador waited on the tottery black. A matador urged him closer. The crowd shouts drowned the other sounds. The picador, as usual, was thrown clear and dashed to safety. As the bull gored and neuvered back to the center of the ring while the muletero came dashing on, the jingling blacks trotted back, dragging their black burdens, and no one horse remained in the ring—a little gray mare, so thin, so famished.

The applause abated, and the picadors urged the bull toward the little gray. But in the stands Jud and the picador a new excitement was rising. Gaudily dressed policemen tried vainly to force their way through the crowds. Soldiers from the ringside tried vainly in vain to reach the spot.

In the tenth row a great, red bearded man with a head bald as an egg was bellowing in English. In front of him stood a tall, thin man white as a sheet flower. And while he of the red beard bellowed and raged, the white faced one pointed to the ring, tried to wrench from the other's grasp.

The bull was set for his charge. The gray mare stood meekly with her blinded eyes.

With a sudden turn, a quick jab, the white faced man broke free, and scrambled over the heads of the Americans in front, reached the ground.

And the bull charged.

A high, shrill whistle sounded, gray beneath the picador

THE GLENLITTEN MURDER

BY E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

The Action Hitherto:

FELICE, a beautiful young girl reared in France, is the bride of Lord Glenlitten. They entertain the following guests: Comte Raoul de Besset; Lord and Lady Mansfield; Rodney Haslam, a West African commissioner home on leave; Bobby Grindells, a young lawyer; Dr. Meadows, a surgeon; Sir Richard Cotton, a noted criminal lawyer; two officers, Fraser and Philipson, and Prince Charles de Suess, a Russian refugee, who secretly claims Felice as a sister. Lady Glenlitten retires early. Soon afterward she hears her name called, sees a hand at the window, and hears report of a gun. She loses consciousness, and on regaining it finds her husband and Dr. Meadows with her and Sir Richard bending over the lifeless body of Comte de Besset. Costly jewels are missing and traces of a burglar are found. The burglar, Max Drayton, is captured and charged with murder. Sir Richard Cotton agrees to defend him, believing another man guilty. He questions Felice closely. Felice visits her family, in hiding in London. They swear her to secrecy concerning their relationship. Felice promises Drayton's wife to aid him. She charges Prince Charles with the murder. A revolver bearing Drayton's initials is found on the Glenlitten estate. Drayton's wife informs Felice that the weapon belonged to her brother and must have been planted. Discovering that the necklace was stolen by De Suess, Felix Main, a private detective, bargains with Charles to sell the stones and divide the proceeds.

INSTALLMENT X.

The "Scarlet Vests."

IT was a bad time for pheasants at Glenlitten, a good time for the cartridge makers, for the keepers, for the patients in hospitals who were the recipients of most of the game shot. Some of the guests departed, but others took their places. Sir Richard, deeply engaged in a great blackmail case, had been forced to leave but was expected back. Philip had arrived, with the full intention of staying some time, and Félice was not allowed to have a dull moment. Twenty miles southward a man in Winchester jail spent days of horror and nights cold and clammy with fear. He suffered the terrors of the rope a dozen times over. It was fear more than illness which kept him in the hospital. The physician and chaplain talked to him in vain. He was a man beside himself—unreasonable, incoherent in his abuse and declamations.

"There's some one done it on me about that revolver," he kept on insisting. "I've never hurt man, woman, or child in my life, but if I knew who it was I'd tear the heart out of him. Some devil going free, with all those diamonds safely hidden away, and me jugged here. And that's not enough, but they must try to make me swing for what I never did."

"You brood too much over your sin," the chaplain told him. "Try and make your peace, so that if the worst comes——"

"Leave off!" the frantic man interrupted. "Leave off, I tell you! That one wasn't mine. I never killed no one. If I swing for it—for what I never did—what's the good of your God to me? If the truth comes out and the murderer is caught, then you can talk religion to me if you want to. I may believe then there may be summat in what you're preaching about, but I can't believe it if I'm going to be done out of this world because some one else put that chap's light out. Quit it, guv'nor. I'll do my five years, all right. You come and talk the Lord Almighty to me then. I'll listen, I promise you—but I've got to know first—I've got to know."

THE man made an impression upon those immediately around him.

Even Maj. Hartopp, the chief constable, was impressed by his ceaseless repudiations. One day, shooting with Andrew, he spoke about it.

"That poor chap Drayton gets worse and worse," he remarked, as they were sitting round after lunch in one of the keepers' cottages. "He owns up about the burglary, all right. He's going to plead guilty to that, but he goes off his head when any one speaks of the killing part of it. He would have heard through his lawyer, of course, sooner or later, about the finding of the revolver, but one of the warders let it out, and he's pretty nearly crazy about it."

"Are you going to hang him?" Haslam asked.

"I'm afraid so," the chief constable admitted. "I'm not a sentimentalist, but if there's anything in the world I hate it's a hanging. We haven't had one at Winchester for years."

"Can't hate it more than I do," Manfield declared gloomily. "Thank God for undersheriffs."

"Lady Glenlitten seems to have been very good to the poor fellow's wife," Hartopp observed, turning toward his host. "He gets perfectly inarticulate when he speaks about her."

Andrew nodded.

"Félice is terribly upset about the whole affair," he confided. "I shouldn't mention it if I were you. It's a damned pity the lights were not up in the room when the tragedy occurred, and she didn't see the whole thing, whatever it may have cost her at the time. As it is, she can't get it out of her mind that by some miraculous means or other another person fired that shot."

"Cotton hasn't given the case up," Hartopp said. "He's getting together quite a lot of testimony about the direction of the bullet and that sort of thing. All the same, unless further evidence turns up, I'm afraid it will be rather difficult to convince a jury that Drayton isn't the man."

"Don't say that, for God's sake, before Félice," Andrew begged, as they walked to their stands.

A high cock pheasant, rising as he flew at a tremendous speed, caught Manfield swinging a shade too slowly, and escaped. Glenlitten grinned.

"Does these swagger shots good to miss a bird now and then," he remarked. "Here's your place, Hartopp. Follow on to the right afterward for the next stand."

Andrew himself plunged along a narrow drive into the heart of the wood, intending to come down on the outside of the beaters. He decided to let the birds go back after a certain point, and, adjusting his stick, sat and waited. He was in the very midst of the wood, soundless except for a slight ripple of breeze every now and then amongst the treetops. It was like the silence before the storm, as though every species of animal knew of the terror to come, and had already found its hiding place. Even a squirrel, after a plucky display of indifference at his motionless presence, dashed away.

ANDREW, subconsciously aware of his detachment, found his thoughts wandering. A new gravity stole into his face as he sat and pondered. There was something wrong with Félice—therefore there was something wrong with the world. After months of buoyant, gloriously infectious happiness, she was suddenly looking out upon life with different eyes—eyes that were sometimes heavy with fear. She made a bravé show. She was still apparently the lighted hostess, gay and sparkling, popular with every one, adored by her few intimates—but he knew. There was something behind it all, something which swept over her in such quiet moments as he himself was now experiencing. There was something in her mind which she was keeping to herself. That was what hurt him. He had so easily discovered all her little troubles when first they had been married. A carelessly lost pocketbook one day, an exorbitant milliner's bill, trifles which she had confided sweetly enough after a few hours' worrying. But this was different.

Andrew tried so hard to look at the matter clearly. It was something which concerned that poor fellow Drayton, tortured in his prison by horrible fears, which concerned, too, somewhere or other, somehow or other, that tall, silent youth who had come to give Félice a dancing lesson and whom he had discovered—ugh! His confidence in his wife was illimitable, but the memory of that moment was a revolting one. Indirectly, Haslam seemed to be in it, too, although one could not tell exactly where. And there was Dick Cotton, still full of his chivalrous admiration of Félice, and yet with some sort of understanding with her from which he was excluded. Charles de Suess was the mystery figure in the picture. So far as he knew, so far as he could possibly tell, Félice had met him for the first time the night when he had been brought to the house by Fraser and Philipson. Yet, was that the first time they had met? Félice's attitude toward the young man had always been a little curious. So far as he could remember, they had barely exchanged more than a few words on that first visit, and there was nothing whatever in the manner of either of them to denote any previous acquaintance. At the legation she had certainly been startled at seeing him, but that, as a matter of fact, was easily comprehensible. She had been unwilling to dance, he remembered. It was he who had pressed her into it. And then the dancing lesson, over which he had brooded so often. The dancing lesson, his interruption of which he subtly felt might a few minutes before or afterward have resulted in drama.

His thoughts traveled further back still, to the time when he had almost carried the child from the roadside to her hospital, from there to a nursing home, and afterward to the altar. She had been eighteen years old then. What time or opportunity had there been for her to make friendships. With Mme. De Sandillac dead, there had been few people with whom he could speak of her ward, but on one point those few were agreed. There were no visitors at the Sandillac château. Félice had not even been to boarding school. Governesses had arrived and gone. It was impossible that she should have had friendships in that sheltered life of which she had told him nothing. And since then it was even more impossible.

FELICE'S chief charm to him had been not only her dislike of but her absolutely contemptuous refusal of anything approaching solitude, especially so far as he was concerned. She had refused to be left alone. If he had played polo she must be there to watch; cricket—even cricket she dozed through, with her hand in her husband's if he were not playing, her pussled eyes upon the game if he were. Always she said the same thing: "I have been alone all my life. There is so much to make up for. You must never leave me." And he never had left her. Whatever they had done, they had done together. Not for a single night since their marriage had they slept under different roofs. Where then was this mystery born? Whence did it come? It could be nothing, he told himself resolutely, which could possibly cause him a moment's uneasiness. Nevertheless, for her sake, although he had kept silent for so long, it was a mystery to be cleared up as gently and tactfully as possible.

"Leave off!" the frantic man interrupted.

Then came the rush of the world again, the immediately practical world in which he was living, the sound of the tapping of sticks, faint at first, but becoming insistent. The whistle blew. A cock pheasant on its way to freedom soared across the drive, and fell with a heavy flop. He marked it with a quick glance, beckoned to his loader, who was standing a little way off, took his other gun, and was absorbed once more in the sport of the hour. At the end of the drive he came upon Félice, waiting for him rather dejectedly at the top of the avenue.

"I did walk down behind every stand," she complained, "and you were not there."

He handed his gun to his loader, and passed his arm through hers.

"Dearest," he explained, "some one, you see, must walk with the beaters. Most people prefer a stand. When you are a host you must take these outside things. That is why I was not in sight. Now at the next drive I will take a stand, and we will sit there together."

"Did you have any shooting?" she asked. "Every one is so excited and happy. Sir Richard shot a woodcock which they all had missed. And Lord Manfield told me that he had two rights and lefts with cocks. Is that right? I could see them fall, and they were wonderful birds."

ANDREW sent his loader to direct the other guns and turned down a grass grown path leading through a strip of meadow land into another wood. As they passed through the gate he bent down and met her eagerly offered lips. So soft they were, so tremulous, so loving, even in that hasty moment, that they brought the tears to his eyes. To think that any man could be fool enough to doubt for a single second any one so marvelous as Félice!

"Little sweetheart," he whispered, "I am worried about you."

"About me?" she protested. "But why?"

"I cannot tell you," he answered a little sadly. "I am not clever. I just see what my eyes see and I cannot help fancying that ever since the night when you lost your necklace you have been a little troubled in your heart. There have been moments when you have been even more than troubled; you have been frightened. Why are you so anxious to help that man Drayton, who must have terrified you almost to death? Why have you and Dick talked so much and so gravely together? If you have kept a little secret from me, sweetheart, I don't mind. I am not afraid of any secret you could carry in your heart. Let it be there, but I want you to know that your happiness is my happiness, and for that reason when I see you not quite gay, your eyes not quite so full of sunshine, your feet not quite so light upon the ground, why, then I have a great, clumsy, awkward desire to pick you up in my arms and to kiss you until you tell me what there is in the world I can do or have done so that you are yourself again, little Félice, my wife."

She was crying softly to herself, clinging to his arm, making no effort to stem the tears, using no handkerchief, franctically anxious, as it seemed, that her arms should not leave his. She leaned over and wiped her face against the brown homespun of his clothes. They had arrived now at the line of sticks which indicated the places for the last stand.

"Sweetheart," he whispered, "we will go to the far one. The names are upon the others. Bennett will show them to their places. We shall be just round the corner and quite alone. Perhaps you may find something to say to me."

A hare scurried across the patch. The gun which was being automatically raised to his shoulder was arrested by a word from her.

"It looked at me, the poor little thing," she cried, "and just now there is all kindness in my heart. You shall shoot those birds that fly so high, but not those frightened creatures, not this time Andrew, Andrew, you are so clever."

"My God!" he exclaimed. "No one has ever called me that before."

"Stupid!" she half laughed through her tears. "What I mean is that I know so well what you want to know, and I know that I ought to tell you, and I can't. That is what makes me unhappy, and what I am going to do I do not know. Perhaps you would like to send me back again to the Château de Sandillac where the rain comes through the roof and there are no fires nor any heating."

He shook his head.

"You're here for keeps, dear," he assured her, "and you know it, but I am jealous of every moment when the clouds gather in your eyes and you are not lighthearted. That is why I am going to be a little brutal. I am your lord and master, your husband, your protector, as well as your lover. If there is anything causing you trouble, it is my right to demand the knowledge of it. What about that, child?"

"I rather like the sound of it," she confided. "Now I am beginning to know your rules. The whistle has blown; you will sit on your seat, and here is Bennett coming to stand behind you with two cartridges between his thumb and finger, and another gun. You have not frightened me, Andrew. I suppose I ought to have a terribly guilty feeling inside me, but I have not. Now you must shoot like the Lord of Glenlitten should shoot, and I shall stand behind like your dutiful wife."

Félice dropped behind just in time, for the birds began to come over freely. It was the last drive of the day and the best. Andrew shot his pheasants well, but he was proudest of all of the six woodcock collected from his gun. Bennett drew out the little pin feathers of the first and Félice stuck them in the band of her hat.

"Drinks at the game cart," the host called out. "The cars are on the top road."

THEY made their way out of the wood. Andrew handed his gun to his loader.

"Any other living creature that we meet shall live," he declared. "I shall walk with you, dear Félice, and you shall tell me just what is troubling you and if I have to raise the roof from Glenlitten or pawn Glenlitten castle and become my own headkeeper it shall be done if we find it necessary."

She clung to his arm.

"Dear Andrew," she admitted, looking anxiously up into his face, "you are right, as you are always right. There is something between me and happiness. And this is the most terrible thing of all, this is what makes it worse and worse and worse—I cannot tell you what it is."

He paused and lit a cigaret. The matter demanded reflection.

"You cannot tell me what it is," he repeated. "That must be, then, for the sake of some other person. Félice, I cannot think of any circumstances in the world in which you and I would not think and act alike. Therefore, I am sure that you are making a mistake—in not telling me."

"I have sworn upon the Ikon of St. Joseph," she said, tearfully, "that I will keep silent until the time comes."

"Well, that's something, at any rate," he remarked. "If you have sworn upon the Ikon of St. Joseph, it is an oath you have made to some member or members of your family. You see, I know enough Russian for that. What harm should I do to your family? If there are any of them who need help, could you find any one in the world more eager than I? From what I have gathered from you, and from what De Bressac was saying the other night, I understood that there were very few, if any, survivors. If there are, dear, they will find your husband only too eager and proud to be their friend."

She began to tremble.

"Andrew," she faltered, "I never said anything about my family. I should not have mentioned the Ikon of St. Joseph. You must not take it for granted, please, that it is my family who are concerned."

"Is Charles de Suess a relative of yours?" he asked.

She clung to him. There was an almost defiant light in her eyes.

"This is not my fault," she cried. "I have not told you. You ask me a question. It cannot be helped. No one could make me promise to lie to you. Yes Charles de Suess is related to me."

ANDREW pointed along the path. Coming toward them through the wood, a curiously out of place figure in his town clothes, bowler hat and patent shoes, walking with the haste of a man engaged on serious business, slipping a little sometimes as his feet hurried over the muddy surface, came Charles de Suess, and it was clear from his features, his expression, in the speed of his coming, that somewhere in the background terrible things were stirring.

As he drew nearer, it became apparent that something serious had indeed befallen the young man who had made so unexpected an appearance. Although the evening was chilly, he was bathed in perspiration, as though with rapid walking. His boots and trousers were splashed with mud. There was a curiously hunted expression about his eyes. He tried to pull himself together when he came face to face with Félice and her husband, but it was, after all, only a half-hearted attempt.

"What on earth has happened, Charles?" Félice cried. "What are you doing down here?"

"I was obliged to see you," he replied. "You can tell your husband, if you like, who we are. The reason for secrecy is removed. We are in great danger."

"This is my brother, Charles," Félice said, simply. "For some cause, which I have never understood, he and my father insisted upon it that I keep their existence secret. Now you will know everything, Andrew, and it will be a great relief to me."

Andrew smiled pleasantly at the young man.

"I should have been very happy to have met my brother-in-law at any time," he assured him, cordially. "I suppose you had some reason for not wishing to be known."

"We had, indeed," Charles groaned. "There was a very terrible reason."

They had reached the main avenue. Behind them the rest of the party were catching them up.

"As the story has kept so long, it will keep a little longer," Andrew observed. "You and I and Félice will have a talk as soon as we've had some tea or a drink, eh?"

"As quickly as possible, if you please," the young man begged, uneasily. "I must go back to London tonight. I have a taxicab waiting, and the train leaves the junction in an hour."

"Well, we'll make a certainty of that for you," Andrew promised. "My people shall send your taxi away, and we'll have a car round for you in twenty minutes."

"You are very kind," the young man murmured.

"I'll just start the others off," Andrew concluded, "and we'll have a chat in my study. Take him straight there, Félice, and look after him."

He waved them away, and, retracing his steps, joined the rest of his guests. He took his brother's arm.

"What's Félice hurrying away with that Russian chap for?" the latter demanded.

"It seems that he is some sort of a connection of hers, and in trouble—or rather, his family is. I don't exactly understand the position as yet. Will you look after every one while I go and talk to him."

"Good God! That young fellow a connection of Félice!" Philip exclaimed. "Well, I daresay he's all right," he added, recovering himself a little. "Quite a good looking chap."

Andrew nodded, and presently made his way to the study, where tea was laid out, and Charles was already drinking a huge brandy and soda. He threw himself into an easy chair, and Félice gave him some tea.

"Now then, young fellow," let's have the story," he enjoined, a pleasant ring of invitation in his tone. "You can count on me beforehand to do anything I can to help any of Félice's people."

"That's very good of you, sir," the young man acknowledged, taking another gulp of his brandy and soda. "The whole trouble we are in is that word has reached Moscow that my father is alive."

"Well, does that matter?" Andrew asked, a little puzzled.

"Does it matter?" Charles gasped. "But I forgot; you don't know, I daresay Félice didn't know herself, our real name."

"I did not," Félice replied. "Madame de Sandillac promised often to tell me, but she never did. I was married under the name of Félice Protinoff."

CHARLES nodded.

"That is just a family name," he admitted, "as also is De Suess, but in the earlier days of the war there was no name in Russia so famous as ours and no one so much dreaded by the people as our father. I got him out of the country and over the frontier by a miracle. They believed that he was already dead. I escaped from Austria and got back to Russia just in time for the horror, but just in time also to save his life."

Andrew nodded sympathetically.

"A rotten time it must have been for all of you," he said, "but tell me, what is the urgent trouble for the moment?"

"The Soviet government has found out that we are here, living in London, and that my father is alive. They do not dare to publish the news, but they mean having him and all of us. We had word yesterday from a monarchist friend of my father's who sent us a letter at the risk of his life that eleven members of the 'Scarlet Vests' are on their way over."

"And who the devil are the 'Scarlet Vests'?" Andrew demanded.

Charles gulped down the last of his brandy and soda.

"They are a sort of secret society," he explained, "but in reality they are subsidized and supported by the bolshevist government. They have a list of names, added to day by day and week by week. I reckon if your name appears on that list you are a doomed person. My father's has been there longer than any one's. They are aching to wipe it off. They have added mine now, and my brother, Paul's, and my sister, Anna's. They will add Félice's, too, if they get to know about her."

"Do you suggest seriously," Andrew expostulated with a note of incredulity in his tone, "that these members of the—what did you call them, Scarlet Vest society—are on their way here to assassinate all of you?"

"Of course I do," was the half impatient, half nervous reply. "They are all over Europe, these fellows. There isn't a week that some one hasn't died at their hands. Latinoff was the last, in Paris a fortnight ago. He was murdered one night in the Boulevard Haussmann. A Russian refugee was all they had to say about it. He was one of the chief justices in our law courts. Three months ago he was instrumental in getting one of our grand dukes crowned czar of all the Russias at a château near Cannes! He wrote his name into the book with his own hand when he did that. He was a dead man within six weeks. I could tell you a dozen others if there were time, but what does it matter? Any Russian knows that the 'Scarlet Vests' are the most terrible organization in the country."

"Well, what can I do?" Andrew asked. "Shall I use my influence with the government to have you protected or shall I go to the home office to try to prevent these fellows being allowed to land? I have influence here and there—anything you tell me—I'm at your service."

The young man set his teeth.

"It's money we want," he declared bluntly. "Police protection perhaps to reach Southampton or Liverpool, but money to get to America at once—all of us."

"That," Andrew assured him, "is the easiest thing of all. How many are there of you?"

"My father and myself," Charles replies; "my stepmother doesn't count—we should leave her behind—and there is Anna, my sister, and Paul, my younger brother. Four in all. For years," he went on, helping himself once more to brandy and soda, "we have lived in terror that this thing might one day happen. It is for this reason we made Félice swear that she should keep secret even from her husband our real names. Yet we have been betrayed somehow or other. We know for certain—we still have some good friends, one even in Moscow itself—we know for certain that they have started, eleven of them, with one idea. It will be my father first, afterwards the rest of us."

"Not a chance!" Andrew asserted cheerfully. "We'll get you over to America before they reach here. Now let me see," he reflected, "what would be the easiest way to arrange this? You had better catch your train this afternoon and let your people know our plans. I will motor up to London tonight and get your tickets on a steamer leaving tomorrow night from Southampton. I'll bring the tickets to the house, meet your people and see you off. If you like I'll drop Scotland Yard a hint and I think I can promise that you won't be molested."

FELICE, who had been sitting upon the arm of his chair, clasped his hand tightly.

"Andrew, can you really do this?" she cried breathlessly. "What about your guests here?"

"Philip can look after them for a couple of days," Andrew assured her. "Of course I can do it. Do you think I should like to have your father leave the country without a word from me. You can rely upon my doing all that I have promised," he continued, turning to Charles, "but, frankly, if you weren't Félice's brother, I should feel bound to say that your story sounds more like a film play than anything actually happening in real life. I rather thought that since that abortive raid all this talk about the bolshevists being such wholesale murderers had died away."

The young man shuddered.

"Don't you believe it for a minute," he begged. "Only last month there was an old man of seventy-seven, a nonpolitician, perfectly harmless, murdered. He had risked going back to look for his sister, who had left off writing to him a few years ago. He was a monarchist, it is true, but all the time he was in England he had never opened his mouth, never attended a single political meeting. He was simply dragged out of the train the moment he had crossed the frontier and shot within a few hours. They hide things up more now, sir, but they are just as bloodthirsty as ever they were."

"Well, anyhow," Andrew declared, rising to his feet and lighting a cigaret, "your friends may be deceiving you or they may not. The story hangs and ends, so far as I am concerned, with the fact that you are all Félice's relatives and that you need help. You aid my name or banking connections give you is yours. Félice and I will motor to London tonight. I will go to the steamship office as soon as it is open, and she shall bring me news to see you later in the day. In the meanwhile, by the grace of Providence," he continued, strolling across toward his desk, "I have plenty of money in the house. If you're short you had better take a couple of hundred pounds with you."

"I have enough money for my ticket back, and that's all," Charles confessed. "We ought to buy some clothes tomorrow morning. Anna will want some things, too."

"Naturally," Andrew agreed. "Take these notes now, then, and anything else you want you can have tomorrow. We'll talk then about your plans when you get to the States. I am fortunately not a poor man, and I shall hope to explain to your father myself that for Félice's sake he can give me no greater pleasure than to accept my help. The only thing I'm sorry about is that I didn't know of this before."

"It might have been better," the young man admitted, "but when you have talked to my father you will understand. We passed through such a terrible time, he has lived so long as a hunted man, that when at last we had found a hiding place the idea of letting any other human being in the world into the secret of his identity simply paralyzed him with fear."

Andrew glanced out the window.

"Well, there's no use talking about it now," he said. "The car's waiting for you. Your taxicab's paid and sent off, and you've just comfortable time to catch the train. We'll be up tonight. Parkins can telephone Curzon street to let us have just two or three rooms," he suggested, turning to Félice. "Not worth while opening the whole house. See you tomorrow, Charles."

HE touched the bell. The young man, with an attempt at his usual manner, finished the rest of his brandy and soda, bent over Félice's fingers and kissed them, shook hands with Glenlitten, and was escorted outside. After the car had driven off Félice and Andrew returned to the library, and Félice, with a great happiness shining out of her face, threw her arms around her husband's neck.

"O, why did they not let me tell you before!" she sobbed. "You do not know what a difference it makes. Whatever happens now, there is nothing between us."

He kissed her fondly.

"Félice," he said, "at no time, under any circumstances, whatever might have happened or whatever may happen, could anything come between us. It did give me rather a shock to see that young man offering you brotherly attentions that time I blundered in upon your dancing lesson, but I'm one of those pig-headed Saxons, you know," he went on, "who, when they really care, don't believe the evidence of their eyes or of any one else's eyes. The result shows how right I was, you see. We'll get these people of yours safely out of the country, if that is what they want," he added, taking her by the arm and leading her toward the door, "although I fancy I could make things all right for them here. Still, if they want to go to America, they shall, and if they want a good start out there, why, they shall have it. You know that. I can perhaps do more for them there even than here. You'd better get ready at once, dear. We'll have a scratch meal on the way up. I'll go and explain. Thank goodness we haven't got a houseful of women."

Félice slipped up the back stairs and Andrew wandered off to make his peace with his guests. Philip, to whom he confided the whole story, was frankly astonished.

"So that fellow was really Félice's brother!" he exclaimed, incredulously. "Awful what bloomers one can make! I always thought he was a dead wash 'un."

"Can't judge these foreigners by externals like you can an Englishman," Andrew declared, sagely.

It's Your Birthday

Concerning the romantic adventure that befell the typist queen of London when she went on a lark to celebrate an anniversary and met the chewing gum king of New York . . . A diverting story by Alice M. Williamson next Sunday.

head, danced. And the toss of her head with a gust of wind lifted the faulty blindfold for a second. From one eye the gray saw a charging red flash. She leaped aside, as only a cow pony could. The bull whipped past, missed her by an inch.

The crowd was hissing, the picador sawing at his reins while he jerked at the faulty blind. A matador engaged the bull, urged him back for another charge. And Red Ike still stood on his seat in the tenth row, bellowing like a maddened stallion.

Again the picador poised his horse. Again the bull set himself for the charge.

And over the fence climbed a man—the tall, thin, white faced one who had leaped down from that tenth row; the man who had whistled but a few seconds before. Over the fence and into the ring, and even as he ran the bull was charging.

The stands gasped. The matadors froze in their tracks. Then the man, running full flight, leaped like a great cat. His outstretched hand struck the gray on the muzzle, slapped her with a resounding clap. And she went back on her haunches even as the man sprawled, tried to catch himself—even as the bull shot into the picture, missed a rearing horse by inches, jerked his head to one side, ripped a man's white flesh with a razor-sharp horn, paused twenty feet away.

The picador sprawled in the sand, chattering like a monkey. Matadors ran from all directions. The stands bellowed, cat-called, threatened. The two other Americanos were in the ring one with a great, red beard and the other with but one eye. And with them swarmed Mexican police and soldiers by the score. Then, through the mass of them, leaped a fourth American, a tall, broad shouldered one with a gray mustache.

The major shouted an order, followed it. Ten policemen leaped to obey. He roared another command in Spanish. A dozen soldiers drew their pistols. Shots rang out, echoed in the ring. The bull quivered, fell, dying, in the sand.

Matadors, picadors, bandilleros, even the muletero, gathered around the fallen picador who had ridden the gray. And in their midst stood a very dusty man, very tall and with a white, boyish face down which tears streamed in fierce sobs shook his thin body. With one arm hugged tight the quivering muzzle of the starved gray mare, scarred, marked, and trembling, the other arm hung, limp, slit its length in the bull's last charge.

Jud was sobbing like a baby, and the major was waving them away, matadors and all, while he calmed the noisy anger with fluent Spanish.

"She's mine," Jud was shouting. "She's my Dawn horse! And no Mexican bull is going to kill her in any Juarez bull ring! Not if I have to fight every damned Spick in Mexico. She's mine; ain't you mine, Dawn baby?" And Dawn whickered softly and nuzzled Jud's wet cheek, as a wise old mother would soothe her child.

Fellers Face Prosperous Year, Says Jupiter

Jupiter cannot give individual horoscopes and therefore will not answer personal inquiries.

By Jupiter.

SUCH malevolent vibrations hold sway today that every one should be thankful it is Sunday the home will be the best place to stay until this configuration has passed. It is an unfavorable time to travel, to deal with others, or to make new or important decisions.

If this is your birthday and you are a fellow, you face a profitable year. You do not transact business on a charity basis, as you are the one who will be taken advantage of. For others engaged in various kinds of work this will bring advancement and prosperity if caution and prudence are strictly adhered to.

A child born today will be selfish, orderly, practical, self-reliant, honest, diligent, and thorough. He will have many responsibilities thrust upon him and must learn to be entertaining, patient, and less critical.

Monday, March 25.

This is not a good day for quick decisions, or an auspicious time to follow sudden impulses. Watch out for your hunches and don't follow them too closely during the present sway.

If this is your birthday you have a problematic year before you. There are indications of violent disputes, suits and unpleasant surprises, and passing through a change of position or residence. A difficult and trying period which can be controlled if you will watch your temper and don't say everything you think.

A child born today will be energetic, restless, impulsive, independent, ambitious, and immoderate. He will have to work for what he gets and will be much attracted to the opposite sex. He will travel for business reasons and must learn to keep his own counsel as he will have some unreliable friends. He should be careful of his diet and nervous system. A career as an engineer, writer, horticulturist, electrician, manufacturer, musician, or artists dealer would prove successful.

Tuesday, March 26.

After 2:16 p. m. today the heavenly bodies reflect such uplifting and energizing rays on mankind that all constructive interests and affairs are benefited. The evening will be particularly auspicious for social and romantic matters.

If this is your birthday you will receive some surprising and pleasant news throughout the coming twelve months, but you are warned by the stars not to travel or change your place of residence. Neither are you to trust strangers, but should exercise great caution in everything you do.

A child born today will be progressive, intuitive, impulsive, positive, abrupt, active, tactless and aggressive. He will receive benefits and opportunities through strangers and there will be many changes in his life. The unexpected will always be happening and his best business dances will come between the ages of 35 and 50. He will have many love affairs. He will succeed as a salesman, government or city official, author or entertainer.

Wednesday, March 27.

Not a good day for important undertakings and particularly bad for people who are ill or nervous. Considerable care should be given to the diet and no exhausting or extremely arduous tasks performed.

If this is your birthday you have a favorable year before you. Your friends will prove trustworthy and of great benefit in advancing you in your employment. Money will be more easily acquired and therefore more plentiful. You will long remember 1929.

A child born today will be emotional, active, careless, determined, practical, aggressive, abrupt and enterprising. He will be interested in mysteries, the opposite sex and will be inclined toward self-indulgence in foods and luxuries. He will achieve considerable success and will be widely known.

Thursday, March 28.

Uranus and Mars may be responsible for bad accidents today in connection with mechanical, electric, or automotive apparatuses. Every precaution and forethought should be undertaken by those who work with machines, engines, or electrical equipment.

If this is your birthday your year looks black, indeed, unless you use caution in all your undertakings. So much depends upon your own actions that should you proceed with prudence and great care you can overcome many of the obstacles now in your path.

A child born today will be excitable, impulsive, proud, quick-tempered, combative, erratic and at times ungovernable. There are dangers from accidents, fire and explosions. He must learn early in life never to force issues.

Friday, March 29.

As the moon and Saturn are in good aspect today this will prove an auspicious period during which to attend to all matters pertaining to the earth or its products. All substantial and constructive affairs receive beneficent vibrations from this configuration.

If this is your birthday you have a happy, pleasant period before you as far as your social life is concerned. You will enjoy your visits with friends and you may even make some short journeys for this purpose, but your business affairs will cause you no little concern. If this is your birthday you should not marry during 1929.

A child born today will be nervous, original, restless, imaginative, kind-hearted, humorous, jovial and fond of children and animals. He will be successful in life and must learn to be practical, commercial, tactful, patient and just.

Saturday, March 30.

An uncertain and generally unsatisfactory day. Mercury and Venus form an adverse aspect which may result in disagreements and conflict. Mars adds a disturbing vibration and accidents will be prevalent.

If this is your birthday you are having a favorable and happy year whatever changes occur in your business will bring better and more prosperous conditions. Your friends will be loyal and of great assistance to you. A marriage contracted during this year would, undoubtedly, prove a happy one.

A child born today will be popular, kind, ambitious, sincere, energetic, adaptable, kind and generous. Great success will attend today's child if he will put forth his best efforts. A public career and international travel are indicated.

On Our Sixth Floor All Week

Engineers worked 15 years to perfect this wringerless washer. It is much more than an improvement on ordinary washers . . . it is unlike any you have ever seen . . . and it brings to women a quicker, easier way of doing the family laundering. Mechanical handling of clothes and water replaces personal handling as much as possible . . . positive safety in operation.

Women who have operated the new Apex marvel at its quick and beautiful results, and at the absence of practically all of the disadvantages of ordinary washers. Buttons and hooks remain in perfect condition through countless washings. Not a single article is ever torn, tangled or creased. Even a big woolen blanket comes out in a few minutes . . . delightfully light and fluffy . . . and almost entirely dry.

Buy on Our Deferred PAYMENT PLAN

The price on the New Apex is no higher than for other washers of established reputation and quality. Use our Deferred Payment Plan—make a small down payment, the balance monthly; small carrying charge.

GOOD MORNING!

(Spring is here.)

The scenes of this charming little picture—which will never set the world on fire—are laid in Belgium and Germany. The time is that of the world war—shortly before the signing of the armistice. The heroine is a German spy. The hero, a British officer. They meet, love, are pitted against each other by command of their respective governments, and the question becomes for the girl:

"To which do I owe the greater duty—my man or my country?"

What do you suppose the answer to THAT would be?

Judith and Philip meet in a little Belgian village where the former has been sent with an important message to the commandant behind the lines. About the first pleasing object his eyes rest on is the girl named Judith, who, though he is not aware of the fact, has been told to get certain information from him.

No sooner do the two meet than Cupid leaps into action. As Judith plots to get—and GETS—a certain missive from him, she is loving him both.

Bombs Bursting in Air.

While the two are together an airplane sends a bomb hurtling down into the darkness and quiet of the little village. They rush for safety to a cellar—but there is no safety anywhere. An explosion blocks the exit and wounds Gresson.

Judith, kneeling over him, realizes that the wound should be cauterized. She heats the blade of her soldier's knife in the flame of an improvised candle and grimly does her duty. Then—nothing to do but wait till help shall come.

At last a rescue party digs the two out. Gresson is taken to the hospital, where he lies begging for Judith. Judith vainly try to locate her for him, but to no avail. She has, you see, received orders to report back of the German lines.

Philip, reporting at last to his colonel, receives HIS orders. He is to don the uniform of the enemy, enter the enemy's camp, and bring back—if he lives—information vital to the cause of the allies.

Judith and Philip meet again. Love and death stare them in the face. Cryptically remarking that stares do not kill, I stop right here giving you the lowdown on the story of "True Heaven."

* *

Lois, the Lorelei.

Your question comes swiftly: "What is 'True Heaven'?"

Well, true heaven, you are told, is a world at peace. The heroine remarks in a subtitle that that would be her idea of—true heaven. And, poor, blest darling, no doubt she says just what she thinks.

This picture has been synchronized, but is not a talker. It is expertly produced and George O'Brien and Lois Moran play together delightfully. Their love-making seems almost too true to fact to be fiction. All of the action revolves around them. They are backgrounded by players you will like. There's some splendid photography.

Those of you who have, possibly, the idea that Lois Moran can only do goody-goody roles successfully, prepare to change your minds. She can be a Lorelei of the first water, and is in "True Heaven." When that lady vamps—she VAMPS!

Bits aBOUTem.

MARION NIXON has been signed to appear in four vitaphone pictures for Warner Brothers. It is declared that her voice registers excellently. We who have known her in the silent movies KNOW that her personality does.

BILLY FITZROY, that grand "mean woman" of the movies, has been lured to England, where she will do some work for British International Pictures. Miss Fitzroy is one of the finest character actresses on the screen.

SPEAKING OF PEOPLE who know their business—Lars Hanson does, and he, too, has hopscotched over to do a film for British International. He will play opposite Lya De Putti in "The Informer."

* *

HARRY CAREY has been given the title rôle in "Trader Horn." This is to be, you know, a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. Part of the film—maybe all of it—will be made in Africa.

* *

MARIE CORDA, we are told, has hired a valet. Got mad at her colored maid, fired her, and hired a male slave for her makeup box.

NAME RUMOR whispers that at the end of 1929 Norma Shearer (Mrs. Irving Thalberg) will retire from the screen and take up the business of motherhood.

* *

IS Charlie Chaplin going to marry Georgia Hale, who was his leading woman in "The Gold Rush"? Hollywood asks the question—the two be seen about together a great deal. Ay dinna ken.

Alexander of the Myths Makes Romantic Play

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is a new Alexander of Macedon in the play called "Young Alexander" which came to town last week—a romantic young god with curious ideas about women and the preservation of his own purity.

This new Alexander is expected to do for this play what the romanticised Hannibal did for "The Road to Rome"—make it a legend attractive to women playgoers. But it is not as good a play as "The Road to Rome," lacking comedy, and Henry Hull, who plays the hero, misses something of Jane Cowl's popularity. Jane, you may recall, was of inestimable help to the Sherwood opus.

"Young Alexander," however, does achieve a certain romantic glow. Hardwick Nevin, who wrote it, has made use of the Alexander of the many legends. This one tells of a time the young warrior was 22 and rather firmly convinced that he was more god than mortal. In support of this conviction he is not only sworn to a life of chastity himself, but he is eager to impose a similar oath upon his armies.

Soldiers Not Strong for Purity.

His men are inclined to resent this invasion of their liberties. Take the freedom of celebration out of victorious war and what is left? After the siege the women, and without the women there would be no spirit in the siege.

Alexander's generals are worried. So, too, is his friend and counselor, Aristandos, representing the mystics by whom Alexander sets great store at this time.

If the army is to be saved from rebellion, insist the generals, Alexander's idea regarding women will have to be, at least, slightly modified.

If, agreed Aristandos, Alexander himself is to be saved to the further glory of Greek civilization he will have to become more broadminded.

At first they try to interest the boy in the more attractive amusements of the camp followers, but he will have none of them. His only love is and shall ever be the spirit of Helen of Troy, whom he has deified and of whom he dreams as one who has attained Olympus, but has time to look down with favor occasionally upon a mortal lover.

Beautiful Woman Enters the Game.

Thus stands the situation the night Alexander camps across the river from Darius, the Persian, preparatory to giving battle the next morning. On his side of the river Darius, en route for India, is merely stopping over for a day or two to give the young Macedonian a spanking. With him in camp is his beautiful and restless young wife, Statira, who chafes at the delay and resents her husband's preoccupation with the campaign. A husband's place is in the home insists Statira.

Aristandos, thinking to further the interests of young Alexander, seeks an audience with Darius relative to averting the battle. He is taken as a spy, gives false information, as a result of which Darius weakens his front and Alexander's army sweeps through.

Then Statira, wife of Darius, intrigued by the sight of the young conqueror, disguises herself as a Greek soldier and stays on as Alexander's servant. During the night, as Alexander sleeps, Statira agrees with

HER FIRST TALKIE

FLORENCE VIDOR

THIS charming lady looks none too happy in the above photograph, which shows her as she appears in "Chinatown Nights," which is showing at the Oriental this week. The film marks Miss Vidor's debut in the talkies.

This and That Thing About the Theater

And This Means About the Actors, Also.

By Frederick Donaghey.

MISS JEANNE EAGELS, banned until September from the American stage by the Actors' Equity, is said to be giving real consideration to a plan whereby she would soon appear in London in "Congai," which has been on view the last four months in New York with Miss Helen Menken in the principal rôle. The play had been selected by Miss Eagels' manager for her use in this country this season. . . . Persons who are rated experts in estimating values in the sound-films say that Miss Eagels is among the most successful of the performers who have taken part in making them.

Miss Pauline Lord, too, is having trouble with her management, which is the Theater Guild of New York: she has been for some weeks at the head of a second cast of "Strange Interlude," and, by report, quite successful in the rôle originated by Miss Lynn Fontanne and now acted in New York by Miss Judith Anderson. Whatever the nature of the differences between Miss Lord and the Guild, she is about to withdraw. Her place will be taken by Miss Ann Harding, who was so good in "The Trial of Mary Dugan." . . . And here, perhaps, is the place again to say that there is never any telling about actors! Miss Lord's personality and especial talents are not for every play; and an ordinary, common-sense looker-on could reasonably believe that she would be delighted to get into a piece so peculiarly certain of box-office success as "Strange Interlude": if for no other reason, then because being in it would restore her to the attention of large audiences on tour. She waited some seasons after "Anna Christie" before she got the rôle of the dish-washer in "They Knew What They Wanted," and again after that, she was without a part in a success until the Guild put her into O'Neill's freak. How limited a player she is was illustrated last year in her futile attempt to do so simple a thing as properly to speak the prologue to "She Stoops to Conquer" in Mr. Tyler's revival of Goldsmith's old farce.

Alfred Lunt and Miss Fontanne [Mrs. Lunt] are expected to head the Guild's forces in London, starting in June; and it is said that Mr. Lunt is studying the rôle of Durnell in "Strange Interlude" in order that he may take part in the piece if it be given in the course of the visit. The gossip further says that "Caprice" (current in New York), "Arms and the Man," and "The Guardsman" will surely be given by the Guild there; each of the three plays contains vis-à-vis rôles for the two players. . . . Miss Fontanne will, in making the visit, be merely going home; but she was hardly a somebody of the London stage when Miss Laurette Taylor took her up and put her forward in this country.

J. Harold Murray is in the week's bill in the Palace; and that doesn't mean that he is out of "Rio Rita," in which he has been singing since its première, nor yet that Mr. Ziegfeld is putting that good show aside until next season. Mr. Murray is merely picking up what used to be called a piece of change by taking hire in the two-a-day while Mr. Ziegfeld engages in the sane luxury of a Holy-Week lay-off.

Otis Skinner went to London to see "One Hundred Years Old," wherein he is bulletined to appear April 22 in the Harris. It was said at the time Mr. Skinner sailed that he went with Winthrop Ames to look at a play which the latter had been told would be suitable for the actor; but Mr. Skinner is, in the new piece, to be under the direction of Gilbert Miller. His rôle is that of a centenarian. It seems that the play is of Spanish origin, and has been adapted by the Granville-Barkers, who have been specializing in the conversion of Iberian stage-pieces into English. Expectation is that Mr. Skinner will have in his company Miss Sylvia Sidney, who was liked in Chicago when, in 1927, she played the little-girl heroine of "Crime" in the Adelphi. She was recently in a list of somebodies who had gone over to sound-films; and she is now quoted as saying that they're no good nohow.

Miss Vivian Martin, who hasn't been in Chicago view in the years since "Just Married" ran a while in the La Salle, is to be the experimenting girl in the bad piece known here as "A Companionate Marriage"; it seems that somebody is going to venture with it in New York, where it will be called "Marry the Man!"

Louis Mann recently went into a revival of "Friendly Enemies," and, doing that, found out what should have been easily discernible without the cost and trouble—that the public wouldn't pay for the slush. . . . Most actors are like that: let one of their ones appear in a success, and he goes to his grave ten, twenty, fifty, or a hundred years later in the rage belief that the public is eager again to see him in the piece. Henry B. Harris told me, in deadly earnest, less than

Music for Week Is Interpreted in Terms of Dance

Isadora Duncan Group Here for Fortnight.

By Edward Moore.

QUITE a bit of the music now on the horizon is to be interpreted this week in terms of the dance. You can go to the Majestic theater, where, beginning tonight and continuing for two weeks, the Isadora Duncan dancers will hold the stage; you also can go to the Goodman theater, where for tonight only Paul Swan will be the center of proceedings.

The Isadora Duncan dancers are some fifteen in number. The organization was founded in 1920 by the late Isadora during her last visit to Moscow, and called by her the Moscow School of the Dance. When she went away she left it in charge of her adopted daughter, Irma, and it is now being maintained by her former protégés. The members of the present group were selected by Isadora as the most talented and accomplished of her school. They have been under training since early childhood, and are said to have absorbed not only the technical knowledge of their teacher but the passionate love of freedom and beauty which she upheld throughout her life.

A scene of one of the group dances will be found in the roto section of this morning's issue of THE TRIBUNE.

The Duncan Schedule.

The first program, to be presented from tonight up to Wednesday night and repeated on Saturday afternoon, will be in three sections. The first is Schubert, a slow march, a group of four waltzes, another group of waltzes from the Schubert-Liszt collection. The second section is Chopin, a prelude, two waltzes, three mazurkas and a polonaise.

The final section is known as "Impressions of Revolutionary Russia." Its six parts are thus itemized: a—Warshavianka [revolutionary Russia in 1905]; b—Funeral song for revolutionary prisoners in Siberia; c—Trilogy: 1, Labor; 2, Famine [1921-'23]; 3, Labor Triumphant; d—The Blacksmith; e—Dubinushka [Workmen's Song]; f—Russian Girl Scouts' Song.

On Thursday night there will be a change of the first section, Schubert again, but other Schubert works and in addition some of Schumann's "Scenes from Childhood," the second and third parts remaining as before.

Of the names of the participants, in addition to Irma there are Lily, Maya, Lola, Tamara, Alexandra, Marie, Liza, and Manya. The pianist is Maurice Sheyne.

The Modern Adonis.

Of Mr. Swan the advance accounts grow rapturous. He is heralded, according to them, as a modern Leonardo da Vinci; he is master, on the same authority, of painting, sculpture, poetry, and choreography; he is said, quoting again, to have approached nearer the Adonis ideal than any mortal since the days of ancient Greece.

His program will include such numbers as "The Legend of Narcissus," "The Great God Rx," "Volga Boatmen," "Chanson Indoue," "Omar Khayyam," and a piece based upon the spirit of the gay nineties.

A Chinese play, written by himself and for which he has designed the scenery, will be given as a curtain raiser to this evening's performance, with leading rôles taken by Bertha Oschner, Lester Luther, and W. J. Noltner. He will be assisted also by Grace Nelson, pianist, and Nesta Smith, violinist.

Three Orchestra Programs.

The season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra begins to wane, but three concerts are scheduled for this

Chicago Gangland

The True Story of Its Murders, Its Vices, and Its Reprisals

Distributors of Death Debauch Decent Citizens

(This is the eighth article of a series on the gangsters of boozedom and what they have done to Chicago. In previous installments Mr. Bennett has told the stories of Dean O'Banion, Johnny Torrio, the Gennas, Hymie Weiss, and other notorious hoodlums.)

By James O'Donnell Bennett.

TWO talkies out of Chicago boozedom:

Label one "The Effect."

Now look and listen:

Scene, West Chicago avenue police station.

Time, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9, 1928.

At the moment the only sober persons in the foreground are little, keen eyed, gray haired Mrs. Margaret Jones, matron of the station, and a newspaper reporter.

Twelve women, shrieking drunk on boozedom's products, are locked in cells. Sometimes their shrieks trail away into moans; sometimes into imbecile weeping; sometimes into ghastly retching.

Then the clamor rises again.

A woman clinging to the bars of a cell and lacing the air with profanity flings these words at the matron, the reporter and her fellow prisoners:

"I'm going to leave this damn country and go somewhere where there's liberty. I've got some property and I'll sell it and get out. If they think I'm going to sober up they've got another think coming. I'll make so much noise they'll have to let me out."

A woman who has been lying in stupor on a cot in the next cell rouses herself. Her eyes glare. "Shut up," she shouts, "and let me get some sleep."

* *

Bedlam and Billingsgate.

The woman who has threatened to exile herself responds to this plea with screams of maniacal laughter.

Matron Jones shakes her head.

"Twelve so far today," she says. "Seventeen yesterday, and forty-two on Sunday. More and more women are being arrested and brought in here. It's as if a sudden wave of drunkenness among women had swept this district."

Renewed shrieking and moaning make her pause. She shudders.

"Listen to them!" she exclaims. "The stuff they've been drinking has made them crazy. They don't seem to sober up quickly."

Two policemen appear at the entrance of the women's quarters. They are holding a swaying woman between them.

"Number thirteen," says self-respecting Mrs. Jones wearily.

"Welcome, sister!" shrieks the maddest of the mad women—the one who had said she would make so much noise they would have to let her out. Wild laughter also welcomes the swaying newcomer. The shriek and cackle of it make you think of the witches in "Macbeth." It is like stage laughter, yet horribly actual.

A boy—seeming about 3 years old—is clinging to the newcomer's skirts.

"What's happened?" Mrs. Jones asks the policemen.

The Usual Thing.

"Usual thing," one of them replies—"just staggering along the street blind drunk, and this child tagging after her."

"Bring her in," the witches yell. "Throw her in the can. Make her like it!"

The child, clinging to his mother's unresponding hand, begins to cry. The policemen depart.

"Thank heaven," says Mrs. Jones, a regiment in one reading,

A STUDY IN STILL LIFE

Here is a distillery of the type common in Chicago, where every brand of brewing and moonshining known to science and the bootlegger may be found in basements, in tenements, and in homes and apartments. Dead rats have been found in the barrels of mash from which is made the poison that, poured into pretty bottles, is sold at high prices to those customers who still have faith in the statement: "This is the real stuff."

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

"there's some one sober in the place—I and that baby."

The mother flings herself upon the cot. The child continues to whimper until Mrs. Jones takes him away.

"Poor lamb," she murmurs, "poor lamb." . . .

Talkie Number Two.

Label it "The Cause."

A singed Sicilian is being dragged by police and firemen out of wreckage caused by explosion of an illicit still in a squalid tenement in an area extending to the west and south of that world famous shrine of Abouben-Adhemism, Hull house.

* *

Among the Alky Cookers.

The time is any week during the last five years.

"What" were you doing here?" the police ask the singed Sicilian.

"A man told me to watch that."

"Watch what?"

"That"—pointing to the wrecked still—"I don't know what it is."

"What's his name?"

"I don't know."

"What's your name?"

"I don't—Joe."

"What's the rest of it?"

"Marsala."

"He's lying," says one of the officers. "Marsala's the name of a big town in Sicily where a lot of these alky cookers come from."

"What made it explode?" asks another officer, turning to the Sicilian.

"I don't know. Maybe I fell asleep."

"How much did the man give you to watch it?"

"Fifteen dollars a day."

"Fifteen dollars a day just to watch it! What else did you do?"

"He told me to boil something—I don't know."

An officer, impatiently—"You'll get nothing out of him. Not knowing is the best thing they do. Lord, how this place stinks! Let's get out."

"Look here!" exclaimed an officer who has been poking about in the wreckage.

What the Books Buy.

He is peering into a barrel of mash and is counting. "One—two—three—four—five—six. Holy Moses! Six dead rats in this one barrel. And it's the muck that they make the stuff from that the boobs buy at four dollars a pint with a pretty label on the bottle."

WARNS AGAINST MOONSHINE

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, formerly city health commissioner and now county coroner, declares the worst crime of boozedom is not its murder, but the stuff it makes and sells. He characterizes the gangsters as "distillers and distributors of death, unlimited."

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

"That's nothing," remarks the officer who has shown a yearning for fresh air. "Stege"—he means the present deputy commissioner of police, John Stege, the incorruptible foe of boozedom—"Stege found a hundred barrels of mash last week, every one with dead rats in it. They come nosing around for the yeast and sugar and get overcome by this stink. Come on, let's get out."

The police depart with their singed Sicilian and a five gallon can of the alcohol distilled from the mash with the dead rats in it. "Doc Bundesen will like this for his collection," says the officer carrying the five gallon can. "It'll tell him plenty."

Distillers of Death.

With that you can snap off Talkie Number Two and listen to Bundesen.

Herman N. Bundesen, formerly commissioner of health of Chicago, is now coroner of Cook county. His partisanship is not violent, but his solicitude for the health of the community is passionate—and thoroughly informed. As public official and as physician he has made the crimes of boozedom one of his chief concerns, and he will tell you that its worst crime is not murder, but the stuff it makes and sells. He has a knack for phrases. Once he called the gangsters of boozedom "Distillers and Distributors of Death, Unlimited."

His "collection," as the policeman called it, comprises enough samples of the death product to set a regiment shrieking, and it is supplemented by analyses frightening enough to sober

"With the alky cooker," says Dr. Bundesen, "and with his customer, the maker of bogus whisky, speed is everything.

"Their apparatus is makeshift.

"Their surroundings are filthy.

"Their processes are hurried.

"Their materials are the cheapest.

"They themselves are usually novices.

"They constantly face the danger of detection and that fact alone would render them desperate if they were not by nature desperate men.

Boozedom's Product.

"What they produce amid their filth and with their makeshifts is a gross imitation of a liquor which to produce properly requires a modern distillery with extensive capital and every resource of modern science at its command. The chief problem of honest distillers in the days when their business had a legal status was the elimination of impurities from their product. The skill of thoroughly trained chemists was brought to bear on this problem.

"The contrast between those methods and the hasty, furtive messing of the tenement house moonshiner is so grotesque that it provides its own emphasis and all the warning that sane persons ought to require.

"How extensive is the sale of bogus liquor with deadly poisons in it?

"It is in the proportion of about a hundred thousand sales of bogus liquor to a thousand sales of sound liquor.

"The sources of Chicago's bootleg liquor—the liquor which the gangsters of boozedom peddle—are moonshine, denatured alcohol that has been imperfectly redistilled, smuggled goods, and liquor illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses.

Poison in Them All.

"Neither the smuggled goods nor the liquor illegally withdrawn are safe by the time they reach the consumer, for they are diluted several times and the weakness caused by dilution is concealed by the addition of poisonous ingredients.

"Moonshine used to mean liquor secretly manufactured by Kentucky mountaineers in defiance of the internal revenue laws. It now has come to mean imitation whiskies, various blends of alcohols, and home brew.

"To get the desired flavor into imitation whisky many synthetic mixtures are added to the diluted alcohol. The chief of these blends are amyl alcohol, or fusel oil; ethyl, butyl, and amyl esters—or ethers—of acetic and butyric acids; creosotes, and oenanthylic ether.

"In the laboratories of the Chicago department of health samples containing all of these poisons have been analyzed.

"The color of whisky legally and scientifically manufactured is produced by the absorption of rosin and tars from the charred barrels in which the whisky is aged.

"That takes time.

week. The Tuesday afternoon event will be A Brahms program, consisting of the "Academic Festival" Overture, the Fourth Symphony and the Violin Concerto, the solo part played by Jacques Gordon.

A popular program will be played on Thursday night. For Friday afternoon and Saturday night Mr. Stock has arranged an Easter program. It contains the "Russian Easter" Overture by Rimsky-Korsakoff, Leo Sowerby's Symphony, Gustav Holst's "The Planets," all seven of them, and the Good Friday Spell, Transformation Scene, and Glorification from Wagner's "Parsifal."

Opera Company Ends Tour.

The Civic Opera company will close its season with "Lohengrin" in Minneapolis tomorrow night, and by Tuesday morning its special trains will have brought the company back to Chicago to disband until next fall brings its members together again in the new opera house at 20 Wacker drive.

The organization has been gadding about the country for eight weeks. The first two were spent in Boston, after which the tour took it through the middle west, south, and to the Pacific coast, from which it has worked its way as far back as Minneapolis. According to the press notices, to be measured, as is customary, not by the inch but by the rod, it has had a successful trip and most of the individual members will have something complimentary but new to add to their copy when they come to make out advertising contracts for the coming season.

By a Chicagoan.

One of the items on the People's Symphony orchestra program this afternoon will be "Scenes from Childhood," by Raymond Earle Mitchell, a Chicago composer. Its three sections are sub-captioned, "Boy Blue as I Knew Him," "About Jack and Jill," and "The Shepherd Speaks," both the main title and the third section bearing some slight resemblance to some titles applied to music by Robert Schumann.

The composer sends word that he is self-educated in music, also that Otto Schipa has been singing his "Phyllis" on his recital programs, and that Allen McQuhae recently broadcast his "Sing No Sad Songs" over one of the Atwater Kent programs.

Grand Ballet Russe Coming.

Turning back to the subject of the dance, there is information to the effect that next season the Grand Ballet Russe, proudest artistic achievement of the Soviet government, is to make an American tour of four months, and that Chicago is on its list. The statement adds that the company will number 96 dancers male and female, acrobatic artists, special comedians, two musical and two ballet directors, as well as some specialists in makeup. It promises four ballets: "Esmeralda," on the subject of Victor Hugo's "Notre Dame," with music by Puni; Glasounoff's "Raymond"; "The Lake of the Swans," by Tschaikowsky; but, most greatly featured, "Krasny Mak" [The Red Poppy], by Reinhold Gliere, who is best known in Chicago by his gorgeous symphony, "Ilia Mourometz." Gliere, who has also reorchestrated the music of "Esmeralda," will accompany the organization.

They say the dancers will be drawn from the best artists of Moscow and Leningrad, and that the scenery will be the most brilliant and most novel in design and color that the artistic rivalry of the two cities can produce, one each claims supremacy, Leningrad because of past traditions, Moscow because of its artistic leadership now that it is the capital.

It all sounds as though it would be something to look forward to. But when the statement goes on to add that in it we will see not one but a dozen rivals of Kreutzberg, La Argentina, Pavlowa, Nijinsky, and Karsavina, one can with some reason permit oneself the luxury of a doubt. That part sounds a bit imaginative. At least one person proposes to reserve judgment on the point until after the first performance.

What Price Artists.

A cabled item from Berlin sounds as though it may have certain effects on the repertoires of the Chicago Civic and Metropolitan companies next season. Sigrid Schultz sends word that in order to draw opera stars back to Berlin and prevent them from flocking to the United States, the three opera houses of that city have decided to raise stellar salaries to $30,000 and $40,000 a year, a stupendous sum in these days for Germany.

In exchange for this salary the stars must promise to remain at their posts nine months of the year and not sing in America even while on their vacation. German conductors and critics assert they are not inspired by fear of competition from the United States as the center of the art, but that the huge opera houses in America force singers to strain their voices and ruin them.

Besides perfect artistry can be achieved only by long months of close coöperation by singers, and Berlin's three opera houses are endeavoring to reconquer operatic supremacy in the world. In the course of the next month the artists will have to make the choice of stellar importance in Germany or aspire to laurels in America.

And there is a report not official yet, that is to say, not announced by the Civic Opera company, at the same time somewhat persistent, that one of the personages having to do with the early part of the new season at the new opera house will be a guest conductor named Arturo Toscanini. All that can be definitely said about him at present is that he is going back from New York to Milan the first part of April to conclude what is being called his final season at La Scala.

Here and There in Music.

It will be worth while going to the Blackstone theater this afternoon if only to hear the latest development in contemporary music worked out as theory rather than unthinking revolt. The Gordon String quartet will play Arnold Schoenberg's third and most recent quartet, completed last year. It will be nothing to tickle the ears, but it will be something to open them. Mr. Stock, however, gives as his opinion that if Beethoven had lived a few years longer, he would have written for strings in much that manner. The Gordons admit that they rehearsed the work for 130 hours before they ventured to give it public hearing. They will also play a Haydn quartet and some brief pieces by Glasounow.

Anna Hamlin, Chicagoan, soprano, the daughter of the late George Hamlin, and a former member, like her father, of the Chicago Opera, gave a song recital in Berlin last Tuesday night. Her program was largely of songs by Schubert and Handel, and the message calls it a success.

One is told that the orchestral scores used by the D'Oyly Carte Opera company, now presenting its Gilbert and Sullivan season at the Erlanger, are Sullivan's own, in fact, that this company is the only one in possession of Sullivan's own. It is a matter to which the average patron pays small attention, yet one who has been listening to the scores through a term of years can here and there detect a difference in Sullivan's favor. Sullivan knew his orchestrations thoroughly, both as a whole and in detail. He was exceptionally expert in the use of the bassoon.

In "Three Little Maids from School" the instrument carries on several comments of its own during the song; when Ko-Ko sings "The Flowers That Bloom in the Spring," it is given its complete comic possibilities. This is only one detail. There are others.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink is making this afternoon what she states to be her last public appearance in Chicago, at St. James church, Wabash avenue and 29th street. She will sing three groups of songs, the program diversified by Chopin and Liszt piano groups played by Edward Collins.

Back Seat Driver.

There was a fearful crash as the train struck the car. A few seconds later Mr. and Mrs. Pickens crawled out of the wreckage.

Mrs. Pickens opened her mouth to say something, but her husband stopped her.

"Never mind talking," he snapped. "I got my end of the car across. You were driving the back seat and if you let it get hit, it's no fault of mine!" E. H. J.

Belgian Band Wins Praise in Gotham

By Joan King.

NEW YORK, March 22.—[Special.]—Well away upon the final lap of the 1928-29 musical journey, Gotham has recently celebrated several of the season's most interesting rhythmic occasions. Among these was the debut in America of that much heralded organization, the Royal Belgian Symphonic band.

The event, which took place at the Metropolitan Grand Opera house Tuesday evening, was a socially auspicious one, with a list of patrons and patronesses which included many of the city's socially élite. Prince Albert de Ligne, the Belgian ambassador, and his staff were present, as well as representatives of the American Legion and other veterans' organizations.

Of the program itself much might be said of a favorable nature. The numbers chosen were much like those ordinarily appearing upon that of a symphonic orchestra. Bach's Prelude and Fugue in A minor opened, followed by Franck's Offertory for Midnight Mass, the Smetana overture to "The Bartered Bride," Stravinsky's "Petrouchka," and Dukas' "The Sorcerer's Apprentice."

Leader Transcribes Works.

Capt. Arthur Prevost, the band's leader, transcribed all of the works, according to program notes.

The band itself, numbering about seventy, is composed of four flutes, three oboes, three bassoons, two E flat clarinets, 21 B flat clarinets, three saxophones, three cornets, three trumpets, three horns, three trombones, six saxhorns, six tubas, and two double-basses. In arrangement of instruments it does not differ greatly from that of our own Goldman band.

The musicians, whose organization approaches its one hundredth anniversary, make a striking impression with their khaki uniforms and red collars. Every member impresses as a virtuoso in his own right, and the ensemble thus achieved is altogether admirable, making it easy to conceive of the reputation which the organization holds throughout Europe.

Unity and precision; mellowness and sonority; soft, smooth quality, in place of the usual loudness of bands; a rarely beautiful orchestral effect, mark the performance of this band of royal Belgian guards. At the close of the printed program two encores were given and two Legionnaires, bearing flags, mounted the stage and the evening came to a close with "La Brabançonne" and "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Conductor Makes Debut.

Also of special interest was the first New York appearance of the newest and probably the last of the year's guest conductors, Clemens Krauss. Mr. Krauss is that gigantic Viennese who will relieve Arturo Toscanini on April 1 in the direction of the rest of the Philharmonic season here. At the moment he is the guest of the Philadelphians. It was at the baton of the Philadelphia organization that New York had its first glimpse of the leader, who, at the age of 36, is soon to become the director of the state opera in Vienna.

Strauss' tone poem, "Thus Spake Zarathustra"; Mozart's Serenata Nocturna, a ballet suite by Reger, and the prelude to "Die Meistersinger" were his choice of program. The performance which Mr. Krauss gave these works proved him clearly to be a musician of sobriety and skill.

Grandniece of Joe Weber, he of Weber and Fields, she will make her debut recital or pianist at the Studebaker this afternoon. Part of her program will be some works by George Gershwin, his "Rhapsody in Blue," which is still famous, and three preludes, not so well known. She is also a composer, though her program displays none of her compositions.

This Thing and That Thing About Chicago Theaters

By Frederick Donaghey.

five years ago, that, if he could obtain backing for $100,000, he would put on a revival of "Adonis," in which he was immensely popular in the 'Eighties.

¶ ¶ ¶

Howard Marsh, who is the Ravenal of "Show-Boat" in New-York, is identified in the newspapers down there as the prototype of the title-character in George Ade's "Pink Marsh." . . . Mr. Marsh last sang in Chicago in the Autumn of 1926 in "Princess Flavia," a version in operetta of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Mr. Ziegfeld (whose name seems to get in more frequently than any other) is ready to go to work on something new, it is said; and the guessing in New-York is that it will be the song-and-dance version of "East Is West," for which he has been in negotiation with Miss Gertrude Lawrence for the role originated ten years ago by Miss Fay Bainter. . . . And Mr. Ziegfeld last night, in Philadelphia, closed down "The Three Musketeers," which had been tentatively bulletined as something for the Illinois after the run of "Rosalie." When, last Summer, I saw "The Three Musketeers" in New-York, it was a big, brave, handsome, and rewarding thing with Dennis King appropriately engaged in denniskinging, with Miss Vivienne Segal singing beautifully, with Reginald Owen making a fat as Richelieu, with Miss Harriet Hoctor dancing delightfully, and with Lester Allen cutting up restrainedly; and it is now said that dissensions among the performers led to Mr. Ziegfeld's disbanding the emprise.

Gaylord Anderson, the Negro who wrote the mess called "Appearances," has talked some fresh backing from somebody's pocket, and arranged for an Easter-week venture with the piece in New-York, where it was shown some time ago.

George Jean Nathan, after a severe attack of nausea caused by O'Neill's "Dynamo," is himself again to the extent of a corking article about soundfilms in the April issue of The American Mercury, the so-called slump in play-going, and cognate matters. When he isn't trying to convince himself that O'Neill is a Heaven-born composite of Sophocles, Shakspere, and Ibsen, Mr. Nathan is one of the two best commentators on the Theater now writing in this country or in England; and this feuilleton of his, headed "The Living Corpse," makes piquant and stimulating reading. He says this of the soundfilms:

"The talkies will, in the long run, appeal only to that more ignorant public which has taken the movies to its bosom. And I have grave doubts that even that public will not get tired of them. This, of course, is merely a personal opinion; but it might be filed for future reference."

William A. Brady says that he would be active with rehearsals of a play named "Men and Angels" if he were able to acquire the services of two tip-top leading-men. . . . Reports from Broadway and abutting streets are that at least twelve thousand actors are idle.

Fulton Oursler, who helped to write "The Spider" and "Behold This Dreamer," and Bide Dudley, who is the play-reporter for the New-York Evening World, are co-authors of something named "Mr. Bones"; and it is remembered that "Mr. Bones" was bulletined as the title of a piece to be made for Al Jolson by James Gleason and Irving Berlin.

MISS FAY BAINTER MISS DOROTHY PETERSON

MISS BAINTER, not here since she acted in a weak little comedy named "Young Love" in the Selwyn, is to be fifty percent of the cast of "Jealousy," to be shown next Sunday night in the Adelphi. There are but two characters in the play, which is of French origin; and the other one is performed by John Halliday, last here in 1925-'26 in "Dancing Mothers."

Ten Years Ago in Chicago Theaters

SUBJOINED are news and comment on plays and shows printed in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE of March 23, 1919—the date most nearly corresponding to today. The excerpts are verbatim, and not rewrites or summarizations.

Lieutenant Bernard Granville, late of the Follies and the war, is to be in a new musical comedy, "Call a Taxi!" this Summer at the Woods. Earl Carroll is the composer.

Mr. Granville is recalled for his services in the Ziegfeld Follies, but not for his part in the winning of the war; and he didn't appear in the Summer of 1919 in the Woods or anywhere else in a piece named "Call a Taxi!"

In the New-York Telegraph, Rennold Wolf compiles a list of those who have loved and lost Miss Ethel Barrymore, by way of proving that she has been engaged to be married oftener than any other celebrity. The list contains the names of the Duke of Manchester, Sir Robert Peel, Captain Harry Graham, the late Richard Harding Davis, Arthur Byron, E. Clarence Jones, the Late Herbert Stone, Prince Ranjitsinhji, the Earl of Ava, Ernest Lawford, the late Laurence Irving, Gerald Du-Maurier, "Freddie" Gebhardt, Robert Goelet, and Charles D. Wetmore.

Mr. Wolf was probably as well informed in this matter as anybody else save Miss Barrymore, herself.

Miss May Irwin returns to earth in a musical farce by Glenn MacDonough called "The Water's Fine!" They liked it last week in Poughkeepsie. When the play had no music, the name of it was "Sister Mary."

Repercussions of the Poughkeepsie verdict are not remembered by the writer of these memoranda, to whom it seems that Miss Irwin by 1919 had ceased to be a person of interest to theater-goers.

Frank Tinney and a hundred overseas soldiers come to the Olympic tonight in a musical revue called "Atta Boy!"

Mr. Tinney, like Mr. Granville, had acquired a title by this time: recollection is that he billed himself in "Atta Boy!" as Captain Tinney. And there was for a time box-office money in this post-Armistice patriotism by actors.

Edward Sheldon is the author of "The Jest," the American version of Sem Benelli's Italian drama, "The Supper of Practical Jokers," which John and Lionel Barrymore are about to act under John D. Williams' direction. The play has never been done in American, though the Sicilians presented it in Italian and Madame Bernhardt in Jean Richepin's French translation. There is an English edition by Ada Sterling. Benelli wrote the libretto of "L'Amore dei Tre Re," which is a hit in grand opera.

"The Jest" was popular while the Barrymore brothers were in it. Mr. Sheldon is not so active as he was ten years ago, but continues to write for the stage.

Twenty Years Ago

GOING back through the files to twenty years ago, or to the corresponding Sunday of 1909, the interests of theater-goers were catered to in THE TRIBUNE of March 21 by the paragraphs that follow.

"The Great John Ganton," a dramatization of Arthur J. Eddy's novel of Chicago life, "Ganton & Co.," will be the attraction succeeding E. H. Sothern at the Garrick, opening next Sunday night. George Fawcett will be seen in the title-rôle.

Mr. Eddy's novel had been rather successful, especially in this neighborhood. The dramatization was by J. Hartley Manners.

Tonight, at the Studebaker, Dustin Farnum enters upon the third local engagement during the present season; but, as on this occasion he appears in a new play, the event is of greater significance than either of its predecessors. Mr. Farnum will be seen in "Cameo Kirby," a play by Booth Tarkington and Harry Leon Wilson, authors of "The Man from Home."

Mr. Farnum was out of luck in his attempt to find something wherein he might capitalize the success he had made in "The Virginian." "Cameo Kirby" was not the thing. It had previously failed elsewhere with N. C. Goodwin as the star.

R. H. Davis, author of "The Family," which Henry Miller will produce at Powers' Theater on March 29, is an addition to the new school of playwrights who believe in small casts. There are just six characters in "The Family"; and all save one are members of one family, including a father, mother, son, and two daughters. The outsider is a drum-major of a traveling minstrel-show who invades the sanctity of a home and betrays the elder daughter.

Yes: the "new school of playwrights who believe in small casts" came in with the circulation of Ibsen, who indirectly taught economy in the matter of characters. Eugene Walter, with "Paid in Full" and "The Wolf," had shown that it could successfully be done by native writers.

Henry Miller and the original production of "The Great Divide" will be the offering at McVicker's Theater beginning next Sunday evening and continuing until Sunday night, April 11. Miss Thais Lawton is Mr. Miller's leading-lady, and will be cast as Ruth Jordan.

Miss Margaret Anglin's part in putting "The Great Divide" onto the stage was overlooked by Mr. Miller after she and he dissolved their artistic partnership; and it is to be supposed that by "the original production" he meant that the scenery used in the first performance was still in use.

One New Play in Manhattan

Holy Week is marked by a single new play in New-York—"Security," by Esme Wynne-Tyson. The piece is an importation; and the American production is the venture of Miss Margaret Anglin, who keeps on trying, although it is a long time since she has had a real box-office success. With her in the cast are Miss Marjorie Gateson, Miss Irene Browne, Thurston Hall, Reginald Mason, Charles Millward, Miss Anita Kerry, and Miss Hope Drown.

Shuttered in Chicago,

Closed theaters in Chicago this week are the Blackstone, Great Northern, Studebaker, Princess, Adelphi, and Grand Opera-House, with the Central, too, if you care to count it in. Nothing is announced as booked for the Studebaker or the Princess; the Blackstone, Adelphi, and Great Northern (with "And So to Bed") will be reopened next Sunday; and the Grand Opera-House will be relighted April 7.

Taken Off in New-York

"This Year of Grace," "Congal," "The Houseboat on the Styx," "Sun-Up," "Flight," and "Buckaroo" were taken last night out of their respective New-York theaters. "This Year of Grace" had been on view from November 7; "Congal," with Miss Helen Menken as the star, since November 27; "The Houseboat on the Styx," since December 25; "Flight," since February 18; "Buckaroo," since March 16; while "Sun-Up," a throw-about and fill-in, was used by Miss Lucille Laverne in her effort to keep open a small theater now named for her. Only "This Year of Grace" is definitely booked for Chicago—April 15, in the Majestic.

Not to Say Filmily.

Dorothy Parker, internationally-known literary critic and writer of New-York, has arrived at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios to become a writer of plots and dialogues for the talking-screen. Miss Parker is noted for such work as "The Woman Next Door," in collaboration with Elmer Rice, a stage-play, and "Enough Rope" and "Sunset Guns," popular novels.—M-G-M publicity notice.

AN ALLEY SEPARATES THEM

DE WOLF HOPPER JEFFERSON DE ANGELIS

MR. HOPPER is in "White Lilacs," in the Selwyn; and across the narrow stage-entrance alley is Mr. De Angelis in "The Royal Family," in the Harris. Time was when they were on the same stage—as co-members of the famous McCaull company, which sang operetta in the 'Eighties. Mr. Hopper and Mr. De Angelis were together in "Bellman," "The Begum," "Boccaccio," "Fatinitza," "Clover," "Captain Fracasse," "The Lady or the Tiger?" and some other pieces.

ALEXANDER OF THE MYTHS MAKES ROMANTIC PLAY

By Burns Mantle.

Aristandos that the time has come to fanaticism. Hearing of his love of the spirit, Helen, Statira dons the robes of a goddess and, as Alexander wakes, there by his side is Helen herself.

However, when Alexander late next morning finds Helen gone and Aristandos stripped of his disguise as a mystic and become none other than Aristotle, his master of many years, he refuses to be held by the trick. He will not give up the sword to work for the higher education as Aristotle pleads with him to do. He will go back to his fighting and think what he will of all things, including his old master's philosophy.

Hull is an impetuous, likable young Alexander. A. E. Anson plays the Aristandos and Jessie Royce Landis is an attractive Statira. The text of the play has rhythm and occasional passages of beauty.

Starts a Flood of Revivals.

It was inevitable that the success of Christopher Morley and his associates in making a fad of their revival of "After Dark" in Hoboken should start a series of similar adventures on the part of other producers. In the matter of imitation there is none more apt than your producer of plays.

Morley has followed his "After Dark" success with a revival of "The Black Crook" in another theater, and though that has not started as well as the first venture; it is well on the way to becoming a second fad with the elated Broadway crowd.

The fact that on this "last seacoast of Bohemia," it is possible to have beer served with your dinner in the restaurants, and the further fact that the beer is reliably reported to be considerably stronger than the near beer approved by the constitution, has had much to do with the popularity of the Hoboken revivals.

Broadway's first attempt to duplicate the Morley success has been engineered by Herbert Corthell, comedian, who has organized what he calls Adam Goode stock company for the presentation of Dion Boucicault's "The Octoroon," a sensation at the Winter Garden in New York in the late fifties.

Tribe Too Deep for the Moderns.

Corthell plays the part that established Joseph Jefferson as a popular comedian in New York, that of Salem Scudder, Yankee. His supporting cast is excellent, his scene designers have duplicated the old fashioned wing scenery and the old melodrama is played straight. Up till now audiences have been trying desperately to laugh at the tragedy of Zoe, the octoroon. They hiss the villain McCloskey and cheer the heroine and her friends. But it is a pumped-up effort. The human values of "The Octoroon" are a bit too strong for them, and there are as many surreptitious sniffles at the troubles of the harassed heroine as there are laughs at the stilted eloquence of the old text. Human nature does not change much in a couple of generations. Without the restaurants and the beer I won't believe they can make a go of it.

Accepting "The Octoroon" as a museum piece, visioning the original cast that had Boucicault himself playing the Indian Wah-No-Tee and Agnes Robertson, his wife, as Zoe, there is a real pleasure for the student of American drama in the revival. I, for instance, was thrilled to remember that it was "The Octoroon" in which Jefferson refused to play because his name had been left out of the billing. He quit the company on the Saturday preceding the opening on Monday and forced Boucicault and his partner, Stuart, to feature him before he would go on. Actors were running as true to form in those days as they are today.

In "The Octoroon" Ines Plummer is the Zoe, David Landau the heavy, and there is a colored chorus for the plantation melodies.

Snappy New Musical Comedy.

The newest of the musical comedies is one called "Spring Is Here" for which Owen Davis has written the book and Lorenz Hart and Richard Rodgers the music. The piece is of the better class, the cast is headed by Glenn Hunter, playing another of his sappy but likable adolescents, and the spirit of it is modestly jazzy and lively.

It is Davis' first attempt at a libretto. He is quite as happy working in this medium as he was when he turned from melodrama to farce and gave us "The Nervous Wreck," or when he became serious and did the folk drama called "Icebound," which won him a Pulitzer prize.

He blazes no new trails. His comedy is afterpiece stuff in which a querulous father tries to prevent the elopement of his daughter by loading a shotgun with rock salt and going after the would-be eloper. The gun falls into the hands of the comedian, the rock salt is discharged into the fleeing person of father himself and there is general laughter.

But it is a clean book, the characters are acceptably human and the story holds together. Charles Ruggles plays the father, Ines Courtenay is the eloping daughter, and the others include Maidel Turner, Joan Barbour, Cy Landry. Cy is the vaudeville boy who confesses that his job is that of the second carpenter—he builds the little houses back of the big houses.

We also have added to the list of frail comedies a piece called "The Town's Woman," written by Martin Mooney and Thomson Burtis. It is not as sexy as it sounds. The lady of the title is an innocent who runs a tearoom near a race track, selling nothing but tea. She straightens out the affairs of the young hero who becomes a record breaking aviator. Helen Baxter, Jack McKee, and Frank Munroe are the principals.

To the Parents of the School Children of Chicago—

The House of LYON & HEALY

is interested in furthering the study of Music in Public Schools

WE regard the addition of the study of music in the public schools as an outstandingly progressive step toward the well-rounded cultural education of the school children of Chicago.

To co-operate with this splendid work and to enable all of the more than 10,000 children now studying music to enjoy the additional privilege of a practice piano in their homes, Lyon & Healy's offer a Student Piano Plan by which parents of these children may obtain a good upright piano at the weekly rental of only 50c.

While pianos last, all authorized students of music may present the coupon below, properly certified by their teachers or music supervisors, and arrangements will immediately be made to place a good upright piano at their disposal.

One Entire Section Set Aside

One entire section of good upright pianos has been set aside for this purpose. Coupons will be accepted in order of receipt. Those who come early will naturally secure the best selection. Please print in the spaces indicated in the coupon to the right. Take advantage of this unusual offer now.

Help us aid your child toward the furtherance of musical study so that it may become a permanent and valuable life-long asset. Fill in coupon today. Present it Monday at Lyon & Healy's Loop Store, Wabash and Jackson.

OVER A CHURCH DOORWAY

By James O'Donnell Bennett.

into their mess go—when they lack caramel—the coal tar dyes. But the bootlegger knows the gullible individuals with whom he deals and he is reasonably certain of disposing of his deadly stuff without question.

"Fusel oil! There's a killer. In the best whisky there was always fusel oil. Science kept it to a minimum of less than 0.2 per cent in the distillate. But the ignorant, desperate tenement house manufacturer for the gangsters of boozedom neither knows how nor has time to eliminate much of the fusel oil from his product.

"And so the drinkers of his whisky, with its high content of fusel oil, are knocked into a stupor which sometimes ends in death. This high content of fusel oil in bogus whisky has created a new form of alcoholism and a specific form of insanity, of which the signs are murderous impulses, ungrounded suspicions, hallucinations, and marked mental depravity.

Denaturing Poisons Remain.

"No tenement house distiller who is trying to redistill commercial or denatured alcohol as a basis for his bogus whisky is able to get the denaturing poisons out—and he knows that if he knows anything. The denaturant most frequently found in our specimens of bootleg liquor is wood alcohol.

"Undiluted wood alcohol taken internally is deadly poison.

"A comparatively moderate dose of it can produce dangerous effects which last three or four days.

"As small a quantity as a teaspoonful has produced blindness.

"In the majority of fatal cases, death from wood alcohol comes within twenty-four hours, and there have been cases where wood alcohol killed in less than an hour."

The bludgeoning testimony of this man of science and man of affairs, every word of which investigations by Prohibition Administrator Yellowley confirm, has an important bearing on Chicago's befuddled state of mind as to what constitutes the most devastating crime of boozedom.

Boozedom's Chief Crime.

That crime is its booze and not its mutual murders.

In pamphlets, in broadsides, in interviews, Dr. Bundesen has tried to beat that thought into the community. But Chicago remains dumb.

It continues to regard the gangsters of boozedom as purveyors of a rather cheery product instead of as makers and merchandisers of a proved poison. Juries must regard them in much the same way, for the considered estimate of Judge Frank Comerford is that ninety per cent of the persons placed on trial for violations of the prohibition laws are guilty, that only twelve per cent of the ninety per cent are convicted, and that those convicted are mostly forlorn Negroes.

No gangster of boozedom, even though he be a notorious killer, is a social outcast in anything approaching the degree in which other types of criminals are. Managers of hotels supposed to be not merely reputable but "exclusive," permit them to rent their most expensive apartments, taking no thought of the morrow until it is a morrow that brings another gang killing and mention of the fact that the victim's residence was the Hotel Boandso. Then come fawning letters to the editor begging that the name of the hotel be omitted from future references to the crime.

Getting Up in the Bucks.

Nor are the gangsters of boozedom made outcasts when—after they have "gotten up in the bucks" [that is, become rich]—they continue to live in the areas that bred them.

"Why should they be outcasts in the opinion of the ignorant, humble, needy, hard working people around them?" asked John Landesco of the Illinois Association for Criminal Justice when I was puzzling over these matters under his eye. Then, with his gift for uttering the pith of a matter, he added:

"They are the successes of the neighborhood.

"The struggling, foreign born peasant woman sees them in their expensive cars and their fur trimmed overcoats. She hears that they are sending their children to private schools, as Joe Saltis does. She hears them called 'beer barons,' and, if she can read the headlines in the English language newspapers, she sees them described as 'beer barons' and 'booze kings' in print. The word 'booze' has no criminal significance to her, but the words 'king' and 'baron' have a most lofty significance. About all she knows is that these richly dressed young men are making or selling something that the Americans want to buy.

"Good to His Mother."

"Incidentally, she hears in gossip with another toil worn neighbor that Johnny Torrio, 'king' of them all, gave his old mother back home in Italia a villa, with fifteen servants to run it.

"If the robber, labor thug, and racketeer, the late Tim Murphy, who was the co-criminal of the gangsters of boozedom, spoke at a Thirteenth ward meeting in behalf of one of gangdom's political henchmen, that did the candidate no harm. For was not a priest sitting next to Murphy on the platform? If some tactless soul asked, 'Is he the Tim Murphy that they said robbed the mails?' the response was deeply resentful. The attitude of the ignorant foreign born who judged gangdom in the terms of its success would be, first, that it was doubtful whether Murphy did rob the mails and, second, 'What harm did that do us?' Hence the support of Big Tim, never hurt Dingbat Oberta, political henchman of Joe Saltis' gang of beer runners. Oberta gave a stand of colors to Nellis post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Some of the money of racketeer banquets where Murphy acclaimed Oberta would be given to the same organization.

How Issues Are Blurred.

"Thus, and in a hundred other ways, the whole issue between good and bad government and good and bad men is befuddled, and the sole conviction of the ignorant is that these 'successes of the neighborhood' seem to take vastly more interest in neighborhood matters than men not in the booze racket do."

These befuddled views which Mr. Landesco analyzes are not confined to the ignorant and the needy. Every movement of illicit liquor from the bootlegger to the boob is attended by fraud and violence. The large and immediate sums to be gained from aiding the movement in any way have overcome the probity of many men who ten years ago would have shuddered at the thought of fraudulent dealing and bribe taking.

"Cheating Cheaters."

Here is an illustration:

A corrupted railroad clerk in—say Newark, N. J.—will inform a corrupted railroad clerk in Chicago that a carload of illicit liquor, listed as some other commodity, is on its way to a consignee in Chicago. When the consignment, which is worth $15,000, arrives in Chicago the railroad clerk informs the rum runner that his booze is in the yards. For this information he receives $500. He also informs corrupted prohibition agents of the arrival of the car. And for that information he receives $500. The agents seize the car, get in touch with the consignee, and hold him up for half the value of his booze before they will release it to him.

This whole dastardly transaction is known in boozedom as "cheating cheaters."

Similar sculduggery attends the movement of Canadian booze through sanctified Michigan to Chicago. The Chicago booze runner bringing in small consignments by automobile buys 300 pints at $2 a pint in Canada. He prefers pints because they can be stacked more compactly in specially built compartments in the bottom of the car. His 300 pints, then, have cost him $600. He can sell them in Chicago at $7 a pint, which would seem to mean a profit after the expenses of the trip have been paid of $1,200.

More, far more.

Profits and Risks.

For usually the bootlegger "cuts"—that is, dilutes and degrades—his 300 pints of pretty good Canadian liquor to make from 600 to 900 pints of sozzle for the Chicago boob, who can be counted upon to pay $7 a pint for the diluted article. Thus the bootlegger's gross receipts in Chicago will run from $4,000 to $6,000. But from his gross he must deduct expenses for the trip, $1,500 in bribe money to prohibition agents for letting the car through, and big wages to the cutters. Even so, he stands to clear from $2,000 to $4,000 on his venture if all goes well.

Sometimes all does not go well.

Sometimes prohibition agents who have not been adequately looked after overhaul the load and go in for cheating the cheater.

"We will keep the load," they say, "and you can keep the car—for $1,000."

The cutting plants are nests of brazen fraud. All of them, in addition to the poisons with which the cut liquor is restored to potency, are provided with counterfeit strips, labels, and revenue stamps.

And yet the boob purchaser continues to believe in that figment of fancy called "an honest bootlegger."

Degrading the Immigrant.

Another alarming phase of boozedom's operations is the utter destruction of decent citizenship in block after block of the areas of Chicago which are densely inhabited by immigrants from Italy and Sicily. This has been largely the work of the Genna, the Aiello and the Cutala gangs. They developed the business of alky cooking in tenement houses occupied by their compatriots.

Many of these compatriots are hard working, thrifty people intent upon making an honest living. Many others are the scum of the cities of southern Italy and Sicily, and they are eager to become alky cookers—that is, tenders of illicit stills—in ramshackle tenement houses at a wage of $10 or $15 a day.

A still that can be sequestered in one of these structures will produce 350 gallons of alcohol per week at a cost of about 75 cents a gallon. Sometimes the cost, depending in part on the wage paid the alky cooker and the varying price of sugar and yeast, will be nearer 50 cents a gallon. It is a very rough product and is sold by the employers of the tenement house alky cookers to the wholesalers for $2 a gallon or a little less, depending on cost and demand. The wholesalers have the rough product redistilled in order to remove its more obvious filth and then sell it to dives and speakeasies for $6 a gallon. The proprietors of those places dilute this $6 gallon to half its strength with water. From the two gallons thus obtained they sell about 192 drinks at 25 cents a drink.

The speakeasy proprietor makes—roughly—at least $40 out of a gallon of poisonous liquor that cost him $6. To put it another way, he makes at least 22 cents on every drink his victim buys.

Prohibition's Supreme Problem.

The enormous profit—the trebling, the quadrupling, and the double quadrupling of profits—which attends the movement of poison liquor from the filthy tenement house to the belly of the boob demands the reader's careful pondering. Vast sections of the ignorant, needy immigrant class cannot resist these profits. Every section of the criminal class gloats over them and schemes to share in them.

How such sources of easy, evil money can be removed is the supreme problem of prohibition enforcement.

The methods of the gangs—how called syndicates—which employ the tenement house alky cookers range from luring to menace. If there is an urgent need for more cookers, a neighborhood gangster in a section of "Little Sicily" will simply order his compatriots to put stills, which the gang provides, in their homes. If they refuse because they are afraid or because they wish to remain decent they are bludgeoned. If they are receptive to the proposition, everything is made easy for them.

In some cases the arrangement is that the alky cooker shall pay his own expenses and make his profit by selling his product to the gang for $2 a gallon. In other cases the gang pays the alky cooker a fixed wage plus his rent and light bill. It also arranges for the stealing of gas required in cooking alky. The gas is stolen not because the gangsters are unable or unwilling to pay for it, but because they fear that if the meter readers note an extraordinary consumption of gas in a tenement they will "put the shake" on them, which means report their operations to the prohibition officers unless they are given substantial hush money.

Death Stalks with Fraud.

Thus this single phase of the traffic in illicit liquor leads into endless and unexpected ramifications of specific fraud and general demoralization.

Death stalks with fraud and demoralization.

Sometimes a gang's workman dies as a result of his inexpert tapping of mains from which gas is stolen, the rush of gas from the large pipe under the sidewalk overcoming him. His body is carried to another tenement and a physician in the pay of the gang is called in to write a certificate of death by natural causes.

"Little Sicily" is west of and little more than half a mile from Lake Shore drive, the most resplendent apartment house area of Chicago. But, so far as politico-moral issues are concerned, the contrast thus implied does not mean as much as you might think, for as recently as last month the most resplendent section of Lake Shore drive had, in Titus Haffa, a convicted leader of boozedom as its alderman.

"Little Sicily" is half a mile square. By 1928 it had become under boozedom's debauching touch an area of despair.

A Reign of Terror.

Scores of needy, timid householders who would not cook alky were driven from their homes. Rival employers of those who did cook followed up menace with murder. Decent men of the neighborhood unwillingly became adherents of one side or the other because they did not dare remain neutral. The gangsters of boozedom voted the people like sheep for candidates who promised them immunity from interference by the police. The district was shot through and through with cross currents of intimidation and some of its residents were shot through and through with bullets.

Father Louis Giambastiani, pastor of the Church of San Filippo Benizi, Cambridge avenue and Oak street, was in despair and he nailed this placard to the church door:

> Brothers! For the honor you owe to God, for the respect of your American country and humanity—pray that this ferocious manslaughter, which disgraces the Italian name before the civilized world, may come to an end.

Lay not the flattering unction to your souls, O Americans of the old stock, that conditions created by the gangsters of boozedom are confined to the politics and the civic life of your newly made fellow citizens. They are not. You have allowed them to permeate your political and civic life also.

High lights of the effect of your scandalous dereliction will make next Sunday's chapter.

In despair over conditions in his neighborhood, Father Louis Giambastiani, pastor of the Church of San Filippo Benizi, caused this sign to be placed above the door of the edifice at Cambridge avenue and Oak street. It appealed to the Sicilians to pray for a cessation of the manslaughter that had terrorized that district.

Letters Posted to the Drama-Editor

"The Critic" in McVicker's.

SIR: In regard to "The Critic," I saw a very good performance of it at McVicker's years ago when that theater was the leading house in town. McVicker would occasionally organize a company for the Summer months and put on some of the old English comedies with splendid actors. Am sorry my collection of old programs is not handy; but I distinctly remember Georgia Drew Barrymore (Ethel's mother), as Tilburnia, rolling around the stage; and she was a scream! I think that Henley, a very good English actor, was also in the cast. That was before Augustin Daly's company played it here.

HAROLD HANSEN.

Blackmar Is Right.

SIR: I find in your column a note that the Theater Guild is to present "Man's Estate," by Bruce Gould and Beatrice Blackmore. I wonder if the name be not Blackmar. At any rate, Charles Bruce Gould was graduated at the University of Iowa; and his wife was formerly Beatrice Ann Blackmar, also a graduate of the University of Iowa.

J. E. R.

Chicago: March 16, 1929.

Reporting "Diamond Lil."

SIR: I think you slipped somewhere in the article you wrote in January after seeing "Diamond Lil" in the Apollo. I've been three times: you sold me on it the first time; and Mae West and the play sold me twice again. But I knew when I bought the first seats what it was you were trying to send the public to see: that is, I got you; whereas, Sir, I think the public didn't—and hasn't yet. You'd laugh yourself to death twice a day if you heard what I hear regarding your report on the play. A woman sitting behind me this afternoon, when I made my third visit, told the man with her that she had it on the best authority that you, yourself, wrote "Diamond Lil," and that is why you spoke well of it.

CHARLES H. MOORE.

Chicago: March 20, 1929.

Mr. Lytton's Ko-Ko.

SIR: I am unable to agree with you regarding the Ko-Ko of Mr. Henry A. Lytton, of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company. It is, except in the matter of singing, the best I have ever seen; and I have seen Grossmith's [the original], Hopper's, the late Digby Bell's, Raymond Hitchcock's, Jefferson De Angelis', and some others, including that of the late Fred Wright, a year ago here in Chicago. [I am not a kinsman].

J. H. LYTTON.

Chicago: March 19, 1929.

SIR: Sorry, Old Man!: I find the Ko-Ko of Mr. Lytton, at the Erlanger Theater, to be about all that a Ko-Ko should be. Your trouble is, I fear, that you have a pet Ko-Ko in your memory and are unable to put it fairly into a niche, making room for another—or for others—just as clever.

WILLIAM WALLIG.

Chicago: March 20, 1929.

SIR: You have more than once said, in writing about Gilbert and Sullivan's opera, that they were written in British fun for British minds, and that Gilbert's part in them has never had real appeal here in the States. Why not, then, be consistent enough to admit that, if "Harry" Lytton's Ko-Ko be good enough to stand up for years in the Isles, it must be pretty good? Surely, the English should know what is what in a piece written, as was "The Mikado," for British laughter!

Vo-Vo.

Chicago: March 20, 1929.

Distraught.

SIR: Have you no power of persuasion which would induce Mr. Ziegfeld to send out Dennis King and "The Three Musketeers" before disbanding? Surely, in the face of Mr. King's popularity while here for so long in "The Vagabond King," taken with the company of well-knowns in his support and the lovely Urban settings and Friml music—surely, all these enticements in one production should be more than sufficient guarantee of prosperity in Chicago. We are distraught at the thought of Mr. Ziegfeld's not bringing the show.

J. H. COOK.

Evanston: March 21, 1929.

Mr. Warfield's Millions.

SIR: This is my first letter to a newspaper. I write it because of personal interest in a paragraph this morning saying that David Warfield, the actor, is credited with having between ten and twelve million dollars. I knew Mr. Warfield well at a time when his possessions were between ten and twelve cents. I am not envious save as I may be for the good I might do if I had his present fortune. I am going to a performance for the Actors' Fund, having bought ten tickets at the behest of an actor who was eloquent in telling me of the good done by the Fund and the difficulties in the way of raising money wherewith to do so much good. When I read that about Dave, my first thought was that, assuming he has but ten millions, that he might help the Fund by giving two millions, thereby saving the actors who work for weekly wages the extra labor of these benefits, which turn in about $5,000, and may be held but once a year, and then only in the three or four larger cities. Unless his mode of life has changed greatly since the days when he and I were pals in "The City Directory," I am certain Mr. Warfield could manage nicely with the income from the remaining eight millions.

B. J. H.

Chicago: March 22, 1929.

TWO-A-DAY

BEN BARD

He's in the new week's bill in the Palace, where he is to serve as master of ceremonies. He is easily recalled as of Bard and Pearl; Mr. Bard was the tall, slim chap who asked the questions and made the threats that sent Mr. Pearl into a panic of fear. He has of late been in films.

In Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal.

Bebe Daniels used her voice to such good purpose in refusing to make talking pictures for Paramount that she now enjoys a bigger and better contract with Radio Pictures [the Radio-Keith-Orpheum outfit] to star in talking pictures.

Bebe is to make four pictures a year, instead of semi-slapstick stories such as she has made in the past. She will be given dramatic rôles and the opportunity that every light actress yearns for—to show what she can do in the way of fervid emotional work.

Maud Fulton, playwright and actress, now working as dialogue writer for R-K-O, claims she introduced the Apache dance in America in 1910 when, with Billy Rock, her dance partner, she presented it to the American stagegoing public.

Another thumbnail romance from the bustling thoroughfares of Hollywood is that of Dorothy Ward. Last year a screen star bought some trifle from the child in a 5 and 10-cent store in the boulevard [it was Margaret Livingston and Phyllis Haver together who saw the child saleswoman] and reported their finding to a director. Now Dorothy is working in "Protection," a Fox production featuring Paul Page and Dorothy Burgess.

The Voice of the Movie Fan

Talkies Can't Usurp Place of Movies.

Dear Mae: I have tried to write to you before, but without much success.

I've just seen "Interference," and really, I think Evelyn Brent is so good. And William Powell—well, he has always been one of my "pet" villains, so since I've seen him in this picture I admire him all the more. He and Evelyn make a good team, but why did Evelyn have to die in "Interference"? That is the only thing I didn't like about it. It was a great picture just the same.

Talkies, I think, do make the screen seem a little more real. But I don't think they should be given the place in the eyes of the public that the silent movie has earned. I like the talkies, but so many times they may be unsuitable for the actor, even more so, for the story. For instance, can you imagine Greta Garbo talking? I can't, because Greta is ALL one can ask her to be as she IS. I hope (and pray) that all producers will not catch this "talkie" fever, and force our favorites into oblivion, just because they cannot talk. I know I'm raving, but it really makes my blood boil. Doesn't it affect you that way, Mae? Or maybe you're "bulletproof" for this time.

Gee, I like Greta Garbo and Joe Sebastian, too. I always read your review of a picture I'd like to see, and so far I've agreed with you. Or no—once I didn't agree, but that was in the choosing of the best films. But two negatives make a positive, and I've forgotten long ago, so—well, we're still friends or going to be, aren't we?

Mae, I don't think it's quite fair to razz the star, just because he, or she, happen to be miscast. And while we're on the subject that poem or limerick (about "The Rescue") wasn't at all just (to you). Ronald Colman did very good work, and there's no reason why he shouldn't receive credit even though Lili Damita was miscast. So I'm glad you gave it to him. Here's my admiration for you advances a degree, maybe two.

I almost forgot to mention Joan Crawford. I love her, and I'd never forgive myself if I HAD forgotten her. And now, for the "famous waste basket." "Have mercy?" pleads the maid. Her answer was——

Sincerely,
M. J. O.

Let the Movies Be Silent.

Dear Editor—The "A Woman of Affairs," the silent drama running at several of the movie houses, now, is one more good reason why people who are so "het" up about the talkies are all wet.

The only sound in this film is the cheering at the boat racing, and any more would spoil the entire picture. It is so wonderfully photographed and so beautifully acted by all the cast that it is a picture par excellence, in the opinion of your truly.

Cracked sounds supposed to be the voices of the actors perfectly [?] reproduced can never, never take the place of this wonderful picture. Noise would make it impossible for customers to enjoy it a tenth as much as they do in its present form.

Yours for the silent drama,
R. J. EVANS.

Editor's Note—Glad you liked it.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

Thirty seconds!

THE other day a man bought an Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic after thirty seconds' listening.

"I always said I would buy a radio when I found one that reproduced the actual sound of the kettle-drums," he explained. "The Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic did . . . I was convinced."

That's one way to test the new Atwater Kent. Judge it by the reality of the other instruments, too. Listen to the saxophone, for example, that instrument of many moods. Or the oboe—to which the whole orchestra tunes when the conductor says, "Sound your A." All the instruments are meant to be heard. Why not hear everything—as it really is?

From the lowest to the highest, from the roll of the kettle-drums to the cry of the saxophone, the Atwater Kent Electro-Dynamic tells the truth. And keeps on telling it—for Atwater Kent Radio is built to last.

On the air—every Sunday night—Atwater Kent Radio Hour—listen in!

Insulters Deflate Film Pomposities

By Rosalind Shaffer.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many gags and jibes have been broadcast on the subject of yes men in Hollywood. There is a pretty well accepted view that the assistant director rates about the same as a second lieutenant during the late unpleasantness in France.

Fairly or unfairly, the idea of omniscience is considered part and parcel of the mental equipment of directors and producers. It has just about as much truth in it as most mother-in-law jokes—which is really a good deal of truth for anything to have in it.

All of the suppressed feelings caused by such a state of affairs have found their relief vicariously. The professional adept insulter has been created. Let a film star, producer, executive, or anybody else offend, and it will be long before the hired insulter will be around to him or her on his list. The habitat of the adept insulter is dinner parties and other large social functions. He may come disguised as a frank waiter who breaks down and corrects the guest's table manners, or he may be a German expert who, if insulted, introduced to embarrass producers. He may be an exhibitor who, watching the reactions of his audience in a poisonously honest way. It may be just some one's old family doctor visiting Hollywood.

Professional Insulters.

Two men have gained a good livelihood that way to date. Previous to their advent the insulting was done by amateurs, who could not put their home into their jokes, for, no matter how funny they might be, there always was the fear that the boss would not have a sense of humor.

It is true that one prominent New York playwright and humorist is generally credited with losing his job at one time because he wrote a book entitled "The Winning of the West, from Buffalo Bill to Hoofus McGoofus," the latter name substituting for a well known but serious minded producer—which it was. Donald Ogden Stewart kept things hereabouts lively with funny cracks and, as he said in one of his stories, "Every time I made a joke a studio door slammed." Donald is now writing exclusively for nonfilm companies.

The two professional frank fellows are safe from any such fate, as they are unknown outside of their fame for producing an avalanche of embarrassing moments.

He's Quite Annoying.

Vincent Barnett, one of the gagmen, makes a specialty of being an obtuse and annoying waiter. At one studio club party he pushed Tom Mix's elbow off the table with the air of a conscientious mother correcting a bad little boy, snatched Lupe Velez's ice cream bar, put a bundle of olive sticks he had gotten from the kitchen on Conrad Nagel's plate with remarks that didn't he have carpets of his own at home, or didn't his wife care about such things. Various ladies were admonished not to stuff, too much, their mouths when chewing, to get their own water if they needed more, and such other things that infuriated the company to fever pitch.

Everybody is acquainted with the hackneyed speeches that customarily are given at convention banquets and on the occasions of birthdays and anniversaries.

Hollywood has its full share of these love feasts, and at one of these, given for Jesse Lasky, Charles Chaplin, the other gag man, got up and told, as an out of town exhibitor, that he was going to have to refuse to show any more of the filthy, sexy, immoral pictures being produced by the Famous-Lasky company. Mr. Lasky turned white and did not seem to be enjoying his dinner, but the evening was lightened by the toastmaster pulling off the false whiskers and introducing Mr. Crockett for what he was.

An Actor-Restaurateur.

When does Henry Bergman sleep? He is proprietor of Henry's café in the boulevard, near Vine street. Besides being a restaurateur he is an actor, who always plays a part in whatever picture Charlie Chaplin is making. Fans will recall him as the fat, gray haired, smiling fellow who was the old clown in "The Circus," worked in the barroom in "The Gold Rush," and was prime minister of the hot dog stand in "A Dog's Life."

Chaplin knows Henry as one of his few confidential friends, and when Henry wanted to start his own café in Hollywood it was Charlie's bank roll that launched the project. Charlie is still reputed to be Henry's silent partner.

At any rate, Henry is so enthusiastic about his restaurant that he is to be seen there behind the counter inspecting the kitchen or wiping off a table, at breakfast, at lunch time, at the supper hour, and after the theater.

Some of the true stories that come out of Hollywood are highly romantic. One of those concerns Edwina Booth, the girl who is going to Africa to play in "Trader Horn."

Miss Booth, who had been offered a bit in a picture when a company headed by Marie Prevost was filming scenes near her home in Ogden, Utah, came to Hollywood to follow up the opportunities. While she was waiting in the De Mille offices one day for a film test, she fainted from the heat.

A young man, a song writer, to this day unidentified, picked up the fainting girl, revived her, and took her in his car to the Taft building in Hollywood, where he directed her to an office. The office was that of a musical revue company then being gotten together, and Edwina got a job, her first in Hollywood. She is still trying to find the young man and thank him for his kindness.

Notes of the Players.

Hollywood is taking the lead again in the matter of innovations in dress. Nancy Carroll has just gone through the ordeal of being fitted into 205 yards of tulle, which has been made into a stage costume for her in her new picture, in which she plays a chorus girl.

The Fox Movietone Follies will be the first musical revue offered the public with all the features of a high class New York revue, from song and dance to a love plot. There is a large song and dance number, with Sue Carol, Dick Rollins, and Sharon Lynn working with a full chorus of twelve girls and twelve men.

IN AN ALL-TALKIE

THE mysterious looking gentleman in white is, apparently, under fire. You will find out what he with the bandage is saying to him with the bandanna when you see "Strange Cargo," the State-Lake's second sound production, which opens today.

Torn 'Twixt Love and Duty Is Lois

By Mae Tinee.

paragraph clipped from the pages of the same magazine:

"We greet with cheer, huzza and howell
The gallantry of William Powell—
So long the movies' finest feller
And now a clean, heroic feller.
We wonder if the fans who hiss him
Can ever learn, in time, to kiss him."

* *

"MEBBE you think the talkies don't put realism into pitchers. 'In Old Arizona' was being shown with sound in a Fox projection room. A lady in the audience had with her a small dog. A scene flashed on showing a pig caught in the crotch of a tree, squealing wildly. The dog sprang up and barked valiantly. Shortly after the pig was dislodged a band of cattle crossed the screen, mooing merrily. The dog's excitement knew no bounds. He ran to the screen, barking loudly. Then he leaped up and snapped at the passing cattle. For such grand enthusiasm he was booted out of the projection room."

See you tomorrow!

Best Movies

If you will tell us what movie, in your opinion, rates above all the others you've seen, and why this particular movie is deserving of praise, we'll pay $1 for your letter if we print it. Address Best Movies, Chicago Tribune.

Fine All Talker.

One of the best movies I have ever seen was "The Terror." Perfectly synchronized with the vitaphone, it has the realistic effects of a stage show. Not only were the actors finely fitted to their parts, but they acted them perfectly.

The picture is a fine mystery thriller and keeps one on the edge of his seat throughout its thrill taking action. As an all talkie it's fine. As a picture it's marvelous, and as a mystery story it's superb.

The plot is such that it keeps you guessing who the villain is all the time I defy you to pick him before his disclosure at the end. J. G. W.

Taught a Lesson.

If there ever was a story with a strong moral behind it, it was "A Woman of Affairs." As I saw the drama unreel before me, it brought back memories of a similar affair of mine, and I'm not ashamed to admit that on several occasions tears streamed down my cheeks.

Parents who have seen it should let it be a lesson not to interfere with love affairs of their children, that is, the really and truly love affairs. "A Woman of Affairs" shows clearly the result of such interference. This is the greatest love story I have seen or ever expect to see. F. R.

Whole Caste Good.

Of the many movies I have lately seen, "Alias Jimmy Valentine" stands out as one of the best in theme and acting. The picture is not overdrawn and improbable—or even impossible, as is so often the case. Willian Haines, as Jimmy, makes an admirable character. Even as a crook, his slickness and witty outdoing of the ever great actor, Lionel Barrymore, are most exciting and amusing.

The entirely new environment he finds himself in with Leila Hyams has, of course, the desired and necessary effect on Jimmy, but not too dramatically so. His act in saving Rose's sister, which he believes will cost him his love and liberty, is a fine piece of work.

The big Swede, Karl Dane, is in himself a constant appeal to the humorous. Tully Marshall, as the hardened old crook, is grand. In fact, the whole show is great.

J. A. S.

Examining Volstead

By Clifford Raymond.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S commission for inquiry into prohibition will have a rare chance which it will not accept. It won't, for one reason, because if it did it would disappear into the subject for the next five years at least. From time to time there might emerge from this depth orders for psychologists, doctors of law, medicine and divinity, behaviorists, steel magnates, historians and archeologists, mine owners, psychiatrists, textile operators, specimens of Indiana or Alabama klux, complete records of the inquisition in the Netherlands, exhibits of Michigan drys and Tennessee fundamentalists, sound in wind, limb, and obsessing preoccupations; Brooks Adams' "Emancipation of Massachusetts," the golden tablets of Joseph Smith, the history of the Albigenses, and heaven knows what other carload lots of such material and personnel.

It may be assumed that the commission will do no such thing and that therefore it will be of definite limitations as to courage, coverage, import and consequences. It may come to nothing more than the equivalent of hearings on a few schedules of the tariff with a view to giving Louisiana everything it wants on sugar, New England everything it wants on textiles and hides, and the merchant princes a break on gloves. Or, at the best, it may resemble a report in 1858 on the sanctity of the fugitive slave law and means of making it respected.

Many Resources Available.

Within such limitations the inquiry with the conclusions thereof may make a noise in its hour, but it will not advance any one along his way of understanding why he is or should be controlled. That, it might seem, has always been the problem of human association, and in such an age as this when it is possible to have to the best way of promoting the sale of a tooth paste or a cigaret or of collecting a loan sent abroad, it would seem that the United States in a perplexity of first rank, might take advantage of the resources everywhere available in the country and thus really find out what it is about.

Control is something which people seek to exercise and seek to avoid. There must be compensations and conciliations. It must be clearly in a person's consciousness if not in his conscience why he should be controlled or he will evade it. The difficulty with prohibition is that no such proof has been offered for the restraint of the competent person.

Has any reason been shown him why he should submit to a federal government interference with his habits of life? He would concede instantly that if he betrayed an esthetic taste for an occasional murder or a neat predilection for opening a safe which was not his own he should be put out of the way or under restraint. He yields all along the line where the reasons for yielding are manifest. Most of the car drivers of the country do not run over red lights even when they know that no arresting officer is about.

The Origin of Law.

When you have a country which will obey automata because it is right and reasonable you have, in spite of exceptions, not a lawless but a lawful country. If it does not obey a verboten with the rigidity of discipline of the old monarchical German, it is because the American has been raised to believe that the origin of law is not above him, but within him.

Such an American asks what this prohibition control of him is for. The reply is that it is for the general good of the state. That's impressive, but reflection follows. Is there discoverable in the proponents of the doctrines any interest in the state of the nation other than may be involved in the Volstead act?

That is a fair question. A law cannot well rest on the pleasure it gives its supporter or on the discomfort it gives its opponent. Is the Volstead act a psychopathic gratification to its advocates? If it is, a rather steep price is being paid for their pleasure. If it is not merely a moral transport introduced into government by moralistic voluptuaries, there will be other indications of their regard for human welfare, justice and equity.

Intent and Method.

The intention of this control is of as much importance to the inquiry as its methods. Intent and method produce consequences. They will not be ascertained in this inquiry because they would require a five year dive into the question. If prohibition has the psychiatry of the Salem witch hunt it needs laboratory treatment, not legislation.

not legislation. The physical and moral ecstasies of people trying to get away from their own personal timidity and even then daring only to deny to others what they dare not try themselves are well fixed in the motives of human action.

Moralists Are Sadistic.

There is no general regard in the United States on the part of its prohibitionist moralists for the ills which beset so many of its citizens. They indicate small conception of social problems and of government. They give little consideration to suffering from disease, poverty, crime and its relation to political action, graft, incompetence and dishonesty, neglect of primary public duties, denial of primary political rights, rape, robbery, murder and everything which accumulates in a nation besotted by unbalanced moralities and addicted to law as a personal gratification for the persons who want it. The people of Salem who hanged witches at least pretended to be alarmed for public safety. The people of Michigan who send similar wretches to prison for life are not at all alarmed.

The inquiry would be: Is the United States making law for the good of society or for the enjoyment of some citizens? If for the latter, should it continue? If it should not continue, how may a return be made to the republican system of representative government, which assumes that a person who is competent to vote for President of the United States and to continue self-government by what he does at the polls is competent to govern his own personal conduct or for each specific offense against decent conduct be required to tell it to the judge or jury?

FROM BRITAIN

MISS MARJORIE EYRE

She's the principal soprano of the D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, which is giving Gilbert-and-Sullivan in the Erlanger. She was Yum-Yum in "The Mikado" and Gianetta in "The Gondolier"; and she will be Phyllis in "Iolanthe" the second half of this week.

THE ARMCHAIR PLAYGOER

By Fanny Butcher.

IN NEW YORK.

PRODUCING is in the doldrums. Of the two openings on Broadway this week, only one is a new play, and the other is a revival of one of Ibsen's seldomer produced works, "The Lady from the Sea." The latest addition to the diagnosing of the poor health of the theater this season has been done by Wesley Winans Stout, one of the editors of the Saturday Evening Post, in an article called "A Sock on the Bunkin." Of the ten major causes of its maladies he places first poor plays, and quotes from that ancient success, "The Chorus Lady," in which Rose Stahl remarked with resignation [but brilliant insight] "It's always a bad season for bad plays."

IN CHICAGO.

Two more of Gilbert and Sullivan's priceless comic operas, "Trial by Jury" and "The Pirates of Penzance" are the only manna for Armchair Playgoers. Too many so-called musical comedies or operettas or whatever never by the most exaggerated definition of their charms could be labeled comic. The works of Messrs. Gilbert and Sullivan come so honestly by that alluring adjective that, like a really brilliant comic strip, they are as joyous to the soup slinger as to the psychologist, as gay to the politician as to the pianist.

PUBLISHED.

Those who are geographically removed from the entrancing performance of Lynn Fontanne and Alfred Lunt in "Caprice" now have at least the words if not the music of their acting. "Caprice" has been published for the outlanders, a pretty gesture, though incomprehensible. Except for the presence of those superb actors, the play is completely nil. It is froth of the most lighter-than-air type. It concerns the appearance of an unsuspected 16-year-old son, whose mother was loved neither wisely nor, indeed, well, just as his father is about to be married to an entrancing widow. It is a Viennese comedy by Siz-Vara, adapted by Philip Moeller, who does everything possible for any adapter to do but who, even with his matchless skill, can make of the play only the most ephemeral of things. As one sees it performed one feels the waste of art that went into it—Moeller might have been writing something of his own, another "George Sand," or more of those grandly dashing "Somewhat Historical Plays." The Lunts might have been playing in—O, almost anything. The faultless technique of the production might have been spent on—well again, almost anything. But in such a season as this has been in New York "Caprice" is a bright particular star.

Mazo de la Roche, author of the famous "Jalna," is, in her less novelistic moments, a writer of plays. Her "Low Life" won first prize in two Canadian contests. It is the first of three plays in a volume which bears its name. It is a comedy of a charwoman, her husband, and a nonpaying guest. The other two plays are "Come True," an amusing and poignant episode in an old men's home, and "The Return of the Emigrant," which is the dramatic picture of an Irish girl's return from America.

A new edition of "The Plays of G. Martinez Sierra" has been published, with a new introduction by Harley Granville Barker. It contains "The Kingdom of God," Ethel Barrymore's late vehicle.

Gene Markey's "Stepping High" is a gay tale of a pair of hoofers on Broadway and its tributaries.

Help! a cry that is heard around the world

A STRICKEN village—people sick—medicine needed at once—trackless wastes of snow to cross—but one method of transport available—A native volunteers and the whole world thrills as he and his faithful huskies mush to the rescue. What is it that will cause the world to rise en masse at these little dramas of life while it views with apparent indifference a tragedy of disease that exacts the lives of over 300,000 people annually? Is the death of so many men, women and children less tragic because they die of a social disease? Is the condemning of thousands of men, women and children to hospitals, insane asylums and lives of wretchedness less appalling because of a social disease? Is it of no consequence that 50% of our young unmarried men are infected before they reach 30 years of age?

While the Public Health Institute is making an organized effort to relieve this alarming situation the social disease problem is everybody's problem. Everyone can help in carrying out the work of prevention. Parents can educate their children to the dangers of social diseases and how they can be avoided. Individuals can see their family doctors. Employers can display the posters of the Public Health Institute in the washrooms of their shops or stores, and trained speakers are available to address groups of all kinds.

With this kind of co-operative effort, serious as they are, social diseases would come under control. The Public Health Institute offers a reliable medical service for the diagnosis and treatment of social diseases. Thirty-four registered physicians and facilities that have taken care of as many as 2,000 patients in one day are available. Operated not for profit, the fees are within the reach of all. Treatments are available even to those without immediate funds.

The Public Health Institute has three separate clinics in Chicago. The Departments for Men are located at 159 North Dearborn Street—just North of Randolph and 129 East Thirty-first Street—Corner of Indiana Avenue.

The Department for Women and Children is located at 72 East Randolph Street (2nd floor) between Wabash and Michigan Avenues—(All clinic) hours, 10 A. M. to 8 P. M. Daily Except Sunday. Phone Central 9383.

School Chief Finds "La Tribune" in France.

William McAndrew, former superintendent of the Chicago schools and now on vacation in southern France with Mrs. McAndrew, has written for readers of The Tribune a series of six quaint, colorful letters from his reposeful mountain village, within distant view of the blue Mediterranean.

Following is the first of Mr. McAndrew's characteristic letters; others will follow week by week.

By William McAndrew.

"LOOK! There's THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE again!"

Our large gray autobus has just discharged us into a little square, lined with mellow stone houses whose material was trimmed more than ten centuries ago. At the door of a shop where postage stamps, pipes and tobacco are sold under supervision of the government of France hung a wooden rack with bright red stripes of metal lettered with the names of newspapers: Petit Marseillais, Echo de Paris, and more than a dozen others. There, with its proper label, was our own home, neatly folded and only a day old, although we were in a little town of only 1,500 people and 600 miles from Paris, where they print THE TRIBUNE'S European edition.

The sight was nothing new. Newsboys had brought TRIBUNES on board when we landed at Marseilles. TRIBUNES were available every day since we set foot on European pavements. We had seen them in Nice; across the whole front of a wide building, the familiar lettering:

The Chicago Tribune.

Underneath, in terse French: "Administration, publicite, redaction," the words of which we could interpret by our natural brightness of mind, but that "redaction" might be would have a mystery had not the meaning been "revealed," as the revelation was, by Mr. Gasc, the most interesting of companions, who, wearing a bright red jacket and never parted from unless interrogated, accompanies us everywhere.

* *

Acquiring an Education.

"Ah! Gasc," said Theo.

"You told us 'redactions' are 'drawings up,' 'wordings,' 'revisings,' 'editings.'"

"Yes, THE TRIBUNE, by its big Nice office, tells the world it does these obvious newspapery things, the complement of that inscription knows—not that we did not 'draw up' to get there one to tell us, for it was 1 o'clock, the very middle of the stretch of time in which nothing in France is done except mouths and the places for buying food and drink.

"Yes, when we climbed down the dizzying ladder from the high seated omnibus in Vissouryant and waited for the correspondent, who is charged in

Gay Farewell Parties Crowd Florida Days

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 23.—[Special.]—Farewells—the kind that take lots of time, food, and music—are beginning to be the order here now. Not that any unusual exodus northward is in swing. Chicagoans and New Yorkers, leisurely wending their way homeward from Havana, Nassau, and Miami, are filling in many of the gaps made by those leaving for the Georgia and Carolina resorts.

Many of the Chicago colony who have been most prominent here all season show no inclination to leave at present, while some of the old line winter visitors who were called north on business have returned to round out their interrupted vacations.

Dinner and Luncheon Parties.

But farewells are the prevailing excuses of continued revels on large and small scales. One was given by Mrs. Elden C. Dewitt, who, with her niece, Mrs. Cora Lee of Chicago, is leaving New York on the 29th for a summer abroad. Her sister, Mrs. Minola W. Bryant, who has been spending the season with her, assisted her in receiving guests at her dinner at the Everglades club. Mrs. Dewitt bought a home here close by Mrs. Charles Chase's new villa before she and Mrs. Bryant started for New York Wednesday.

Another affair was the luncheon given by Mrs. Mark W. Trude at the Breakers at which Mrs. William F. Bode, Mrs. George F. Groves, Mrs. Luther Conover, Mrs. Robert Ritchie and Mrs. Charles Wiegand were among those entertained. There was also the annual private tennis tourney, a regular late season event, given by Mr. and Mrs. James P. Donahue, at which were noted Mr. and Mrs. Lucius P. Ordway and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Holden.

Baritone Is Feted.

A huge musicale and buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seligman, counted among its 150 guests Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKinlock, Miss Muriel McCormick and Miss Josephine Noel.

John Charles Thomas, the baritone, was the attraction. Mr. Thomas, who has been given an unusual rush by society this season, found himself in the role of a victor returning from the battlefield when he returned here a few nights back after a short concert tour. A midnight parade, engineered by Mrs. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Dobyn, complete with brass band and keys to both the Palm Beaches, met him at the station and escorted him to the island to the tune of "Lo, the Conquering Hero Comes."

It vied with the Hutton's private circus and the late private bathing beauty contest in what appears to be hot competition among inventors of new amusement dodges.

Another big happening recently was Col. Thomas E. Murphy's annual St. Patrick's revel at Olympia Beach, small and fashionable resort, twenty-five miles north. There Edward T. Stotesbury, social leader of all Palm Beach, was prevailed upon to sing "The Old Family Toothbrush" and join the orchestra to beat civil war marches on the drum.

At the Everglades.

Chicago colonists continue to be much in evidence at the Everglades club parties. Mrs. Carroll D. Kesler was entertained there and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay had ten guests there the other night.

Mrs. Henry Hyde entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Horton C. Rorick, Mrs. William F. Bode, Miss Pauline Bode, Mrs. A. B. Hathaway, and Mrs. Northwood. Mr. and Mrs. Orville W. Thompson entertained Dr. and Mrs. A. Mittendorf and Mr. and Mrs. James James J. Phelan.

At the many luncheon parties at the Breakers, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sherman of Evanston, C. Fred Yette, Mrs. R. H. Bourne, Miss Carol Bourne, and B. J. Stacy are among Chicagoans seen, and Mr. and Mrs. Carol D. Keeler were among guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Myers at the season's last dinner dance at White Hall.

Chicagoans at the Breakers.

Some of the well known hotels and resorts such as the Poinciana, the Alba, and the Coconut Grove and some of the shops once more have entered the state of desertion in which they will lie all summer, but the Breakers is booked solid for another ten days, and the Whitehall is stay-

International Regatta Is Event of Miami Week

MIAMI, Fla., March 23.—[Special.]—Social activities of Miami Beach during the week centered about the regatta held on Wednesday and Thursday. Many yacht parties were arranged for these two days.

The international race between Maj. H. O. D. Seagrave and Gar Wood furnished many thrills for motor boat fans. Jesse Jay, son of the Webb Jays of Chicago who have a beautiful Star Island estate here, managed the broadcasting of the event. Young Mr. Jay is not only a radio announcer, but a recognized speed boat expert. Webb Jay, his father, has designed and raced many famous boats, including the Adieu IV.

Chicagoans at Miami.

Many Chicagoans are spending a little pre-Easter vacation time here. Mr. and Mrs. Laurance Armour are putting in a little time at Miami Beach, on their way north. They will stop at Middlesburg, Va., for the races April 6, at which Mr. Armour will have an entry from the racing stable he has recently started at Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cudahy are at the Nautilus, and their friends, the Charles Garfield Kings, are lingering at the Pancoast, as is Mrs. Philip Swift. The John H. McIlvaines and W. A. P. Pullmans of Lake Forest are there, also.

Howard Linns Remain.

The Howard Linns are still at the King Cole, but the rest of the Chicago contingent, who foregathered there with them last week have left. Mr. Linn was one of a number of Chicagoans who were entertained by the ambassador to Cuba and Mrs. Noble B. Judah recently. The William McCormick Blairs and Mrs. Louise Bowen Phelps were others in the party entertained by the Judahs.

Mrs. E. Pryor Lewis, who has spent two months here, is returning to Chicago Sunday with her small daughter, Barbara.

Pre-Summer Season Calls Many Home

Saddle and Cycle Club Plans Annual Dinners.

Mme. X.

THE vernal equinox, that arrived on time last Wednesday at 8:35 p. m., and Easter Sunday, which promises to be as prompt in its coming next Sunday, all point to the real end of winter and the coming of the comforting warm season. Never was it more welcome than this year. There have been few colder winters in the last two or three decades than the one just flying off to the north pole. Years and years ago, when Chicago was abuilding, if reports be true, snows were deeper and frosts were harder than they are nowadays. Probably they seemed so when there were fewer skyscrapers and when streets were more exposed to weather.

Already spring fashions are in evidence. They do not show any marked change from those that have prevailed the past winter. Hats are still small and fitting close to the head. Frocks are short, though with a tendency to droop behind, particularly in evening gowns. Black is up to now, the prevailing color, according to certain high authorities, although probably brighter colors will soon appear in shop windows and in the showrooms of the dictators of modes, while it is safe to prophecy that by summer headgear will provide more shade and be better adapted to the needs of that period than the close felt and straw hats offered women at the moment.

Shoes are increasingly pretty and an important feature of costumes, being offered in all shades and many different kinds of leather and other materials. I wonder if the original occupants of some of the snake skins now so much used for footgear have the power of entering into the souls of the daughters of Eve now wearing them. If so it would be interesting to be able to analyze the subtle influence of one of these two historic factors on the other. Is Eve trampling her old betrayer into the dust, or is the serpent up to his old tricks and trying to lead the descendants of the first woman into further mischief? Perhaps it is he, or it, who is imbuing American women today with such a demon of restlessness that she is, or wishes to be, constantly on the move. Nor is this tendency confined to women. It is the salient feature of our American civilization. To stay still is abhorrent to most of the well-to-do people of today. While they may have preferences as to how, when and where they take their flights, the principal thing is the process of motion. The chief desideratum is to avoid repose.

Chicagoans Robbed in Florida.

News from a few among the large army of Chicagoans who have betaken themselves to other balmier localities includes various adventures. Mr. and Mrs. David Adler, for instance, have been sojourning with Mrs. Adler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edson Keith, in Sarasota, Fla. There Mrs. Adler had a little bitter mixed with the pleasant part of her stay. An enterprising burglar entered the house as the family lay peacefully sleeping and stole the jewelry of the two ladies of the household. Mrs. Adler lost a string of pearls and some other fine belongings, while her mother lost everything she owned of this kind of adornment.

Mrs. Adler was insured, if rumor be correct, but her mother was not. Quite aside from the disagreeable fact of losing precious belongings is the still more disagreeable sensation of knowing that a robber has been creeping about one's bedroom unseen, unheard and unfelt. Wherever the wealthy congregate marauders are pretty sure to be found. It is their happy hunting ground. There are many compensations for poverty. No one craves your few and meager belongings and security is a precious state of mind.

News of other Chicago wayfarers includes accounts from the Tiffany Blakes, who have been spending the last two months in Miami, Fla. They flew to Nassau, capital of the Bahama islands, which has been this winter's favorite goal and mode of travel down there. The trip that by steamer takes all night, by airplane takes only two hours. So delighted were the Blakes with this means of getting from place to place that, as they express it, they are becoming "air fans," a phrase that can be turned about to "fanning the air," which fits the process of locomotion. Real air fans will not be daunted by such a ghastly disaster as that which killed fourteen people last week in New Jersey. If pressed to their last defenses, they will assert that as a mode of dying nothing can compare with the swift and painless end to be met in a flying machine. More and more of our young people are taking to the air, women as well as men. We must get accustomed to the idea and not let our fears influence our attitude toward what is undoubtedly the coming mode of travel.

The Blakes leave Florida Tuesday for Charleston, S. C., and after a stay there will go for a few days to Asheville and by mid April will be once more in Chicago.

Spring Season in the Offing.

Nearly all of our fellow citizens who departed in search of sun and balmy breezes late in January are by now making plans to be at home again by the middle or end of April. Chicago has a brief, but gay, season in May and early June, when there are apt to be many social doings. The Saddle and Cycle club has its day of dinners, dances and luncheons from the first of May on. There is no lovelier place for a lively party than this delightful spot. To sit on those friendly brick terraces overlooking the wide sweep of lake and land is one of the pleasantest amenities of life in

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

Chicago. The tennis courts and swimming pool there afford good exercise and there are still left members who have sailboats moored to the club's long pier, though not nearly so many as once made much of the waters thereabouts.

Many friends of Prof. and Mrs. William A. Nitze are rejoicing in a recent decision on the part of the former not to leave Chicago and the really important and influential place he fills here in the city life and at the University of Chicago, where he occupies the chair of Romance languages. He was invited by Columbia university to go there to a similar post, and this at higher pay. It was a tempting offer, but after giving it much thought he decided that his work here was not yet accomplished and that, though this opportunity was what might easily be considered a step upward, it was his particular job to stay and develop his department here. All Chicagoans who care for the higher development of our culture and classical education will be glad that he so decided.

Features Worth Copying.

There are several features at Columbia that might well be copied here. In Prof. Nitze's department we lack the international buildings devoted to the culture of foreign nations such as have been given to this great New York institution of learning. There is there, for instance, an Italian house, built at the orders of Mussolini, with money given to the purpose by rich Italians living in New York. Another similar enterprise is the French house, instigated by the French government, and built with money raised in France from French and Americans. All of such undertakings make for the better mutual understanding of nations, as well as for the expansion of educational culture.

Mr. Nitze hopes to see similar houses built and endowed for a like service at the University of Chicago. He feels, as do many other educators, that almost too much emphasis is placed on the practical side of our college instruction. While this is valuable, it should not be the sole preoccupation of educators. A nation or civilization with no classical training, no outlet for the literary, the esthetic, the artistic, and the intellectual, becomes flat, stale, and unprofitable, and bequeaths nothing to history but the story of rank materialism and self-indulgence. Let us hope that Mr. Nitze's fine ambitions for our university will be fulfilled and justify his renouncing the alluring opportunity offered him by our eastern neighbor.

A Lesson in Politics.

Ever since the election of President Hoover there has been quite an air of pride and contentment observable among the women members of the Republican party. They one and all think that it was their work and their vote that elected him. Whether the men of the party are of this opinion I am not sure, but it is sufficiently close to truth to make it worth while for the women of the triumphant faction to go on with the educational work which enabled them to play such a large part in the recent contest.

[Mabel Sykes Photo.]

Mrs. Julia Kallko of 1305 Winnemac avenue announces the marriage of her sister, Miss Eleanor Hill, to George Garbutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Garbutt of 4858 North Hermitage avenue.

The Chicago members of the Women's National Republican club are having a luncheon on Wednesday, March 27, at the Congress hotel, where those present will have a lesson in politics and can learn about the great game from the ground up. This will begin with precinct work. At this meeting various precinct captains will be present to tell of the duties and powers of this the smallest of political divisions.

It is a good idea this, to teach the women of the country the ins and outs of the machinery of a democracy. They will be able to wield almost unlimited power when they are properly instructed and organized. They have not so many absorbing outside interests as men to distract them from the business of making the most of their citizenship in elections.

Mrs. Baur is president of the Chicago organization. It was founded in 1921 by a notable group of women who felt that their newly acquired civic rights might be lost through lack of education. Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns was the club's first president, with Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, and Miss Harriet Vittum as vice presidents, while on the board were Mrs. Tiffany Blake, Mrs. James W. Morrisson, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mrs. Russell Tyson, Mrs. Parmelee McFadden and Miss Helen Bennett as active workers.

As an additional attraction and opportunity for instruction, Eben G. Fine is to give a talk on Boulder dam before the club at this meeting. I wonder which side of that dam business he'll take.

Throwing Away the Vote.

The development of the conscience of citizenship among the younger members of our body politic will make rarer such incidents as the following:

Happening to be a member of a small dinner party given on election day, the conductor of this pillar of polite piffle asked one youthful guest if she had voted that day. The answer was in the negative. Repeating the question elicited a similar response from each of the party, young men as well as young women. The group was composed of rather above the average citizens, all in their twenties, or just entering their thirties, and not weary with living, nor bowed down with cares. Yet the election of Feb. 26 was, in a way, quite as important locally as that of last spring, which turned out some of the forces for evil, a work further aided by the November elections.

Unless the younger men and women take their citizenship more seriously, democracy is not going to be the success it promised to be when our forefathers started it one hundred and sixty years or so ago. To leave it to the hard boiled politicians is to send the ship of state on the rocks.

To Aid City Club.

An important agency in developing a civic sense of duty is the Women's City club of Chicago. This is one of our finest, most helpful organizations. To raise money for its work it is now repeating a theater party it gave last year. That affair was so successful that the finance committee is offering a similar function this year. It has taken over the main floor and balcony of the Garrick theater for Tuesday evening, April 2, when a musical version of Mark Twain's "The Connecticut Yankee" will be presented. The money made by this club theater party will be devoted to the splendid work done by the association's civic committee. The club has an annual meeting April 16. Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, the president, says that "to sit through one of our annual meetings is a liberal education in civics."

The report states that "the civic committees which correspond to those of the city hall are on watch throughout the year to see that the city's various activities are administered by the city fathers with efficiency and dispatch."

Mrs. J. V. Farwell is chairman for this benefit. Seats are on sale at the club and at the box office of the Garrick. The club's headquarters are in a handsome suite at 360 North Michigan avenue, overlooking the river and the near-by assemblage of imposing skyscrapers.

Noted Visitors Depart.

Those enterprising ladies, the Duchess Gaetani de Sermoneta and Mrs. John Garrett, who were the house guests of Eames MacVeagh last week, after giving Chicago "the once over," went on their way Thursday evening, Detroit being their next port of call and Henry Ford their chief object. The duchess is in one thing quite original. She claims to be the first to discover the American business man and his superior attractions. Other foreigners exploring this country have hitherto proclaimed the unrivaled charms of our women; the immensity of our continental extent; the tremendous development of our industries, and the prevalence of our criminal classes, but none of them has ever developed the basic fact, the real reason for our greatness and power until along comes this perspicacious member of one of Italy's most ancient families, that of the Colonna, and says that our greatest, most worth while product is our typical business man.

By the way, and apropos of her ancient lineage, is this answer made by a well known man here of the surname Brown. Some one said of the duchess, "Just think, she belongs to the oldest family in Europe."

"Not at all," said the Chicagoan. "The Browns are the oldest family. The Lord made Adam and Eve, and then he made the Browns, the Blacks, the Yellows, and the Whites."

To Detroit and Niagara.

Eames MacVeagh has gone with his two house guests to explore Detroit, with Henry Ford as the duchess' real goal and to add another chapter in her study of our best product of the American captains of industries. Thence the trio goes to visit Niagara's tremendous source of power and beauty, and thence again on to New York, where, after a few days, the descendant of the Colonnas will take ship for Italy, while her American hostess and friend, Mrs. Garrett, will go to her home in Baltimore, to arrange the final details of the annual six weeks of daily concerts she gives her friends there.

She has a wonderful theater on her place decorated by the Russian artist, the late Leon Bakst, and other artists, where she engages a string quartet to give these musicals. She houses its members in a cottage and provides for their maintenance and every day, either in the afternoon or evening, fifty or more of her wide circle of friends gather to listen to the varied programs provided by the four artists. The enterprise has a royal sound in the quality and magnitude of the musical treat she offers to her intimates.

Last week that jolly little enterprise, the Romany club, gave, in its Bellevue place headquarters, Alice Gerstenberg's clever little three act play, "Latchkeys." It was presented by an "all star cast," including Mesdames Helen Walton, Mildred Jaklon, Barbara Sincere, Gloria Chandler, Jessica C. Schwartz, and the Messrs. Gerald A. Frank, Howard Cox, Edward H. Passmore, Ralph Schontag and Christopher J. Thomas. William R. Moore is the club's president.

Occupational Therapy for Consumptives

...ish Relief Society Aids Chicago's Poor

By Roberta Nangle.

The Jewish Consumptive Relief society, which for 20 years has been fighting the ravages of tuberculosis among Chicago's poor, is looking forward to the dedication next month of its new occupational therapy building at the Chicago-Winfield Tuberculosis sanitarium at Wheaton, Ill. The efforts of the society and its junior auxiliary have made possible the erection of this new building where convalescent patients will be aided by expert teachers to prepare for living after dismissal from the sanitarium.

The Winfield sanitarium is a unit of the Jewish charities in Chicago and, as a medical agency, is closely allied with the Michael Reese hospital. It is operated by a number of charitable organizations, including the Jewish Consumptive's Relief society, largely under the supervision of the late Theodore B. Sachs, who also helped found the Edward sanitarium at Naperville, the Chicago Tuberculosis Institute, and the Chicago Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium.

Aid Funds for Needy Patients.

The society has also established a fund known as the Theodore B. Sachs memorial Grant. This money, to the amount of $2,500, is used to cover the hospital expense for tuberculous patients whose condition warrants interference and who, because of their tuberculosis, cannot be admitted to the ward service in any city hospital. The patients are given private room care, all necessary X-ray and laboratory investigations and, if needed, special nurses. After the operation they are transferred for a period of convalescence to the Chicago-Winfield sanitarium to remain under observation until fully recovered.

Another fund has been created in memory of Charlotte Greenebaum Eisendrath to provide summer recreation for the children registered in the Tuberculosis Contact clinic of the Jewish Consumptive service. Through this clinic a large number of children who are being watched closely because of a history of tuberculosis in the family are sent to summer camps for a fortnight's vacation.

Parties for Children.

Weekly parties are given from June to September for children whose parents visit the tubercular clinics. Weekly visits are made to the Oak Forest, Cook county and Municipal sanitariums. The organization also pays $1,200 annually for two social service workers and contributes $3,000 yearly to the occupational therapy department at Winfield.

The annual luncheon of the society will be given on April 3 in the gold ballroom of the Congress hotel and will be followed by a keno party. Mrs. Moses Van Buren is chairman of arrangements for the luncheon and Mrs. S. S. Rothberg of the Piccadilly hotel is in charge of the sale of tickets. Mrs. Louis G. Barnett is presiding officer.

CLUB ETHICS - - - By Maude Swalm Evans

"ONE night last week I attended a club that isn't a club," announced the long time member as she supped tea with a group in the lounge.

"Sounds like a paradox," commented the east side member.

"This club has no by-laws, no officers, no elections——"

"What do they do for excitement?" broke in the west side member.

"Don't pay any attention to her," advised the north side member.

"They have two chairmen—the originators of the group," continued the long time member. "They both preside at meetings, taking turns at introducing the speakers."

"Ah, speakers! They do have something in common with other clubs," teased the west side member.

"The members are their own speakers. Every new member has to make a speech—the only initiation fee required. The old ones may be called upon at any time."

"I've got it!" proclaimed the west side member. "That's how they get their excitement. They're always living in fear that they will be called upon—or that they won't!"

"What do they talk about? asked the east side member

"Whatever interests them—their work, their hobby, their travels. One man brought an oriental lily he had raised—the kind that dries up when it needs a rest. Another had an orchestra—no, not with him—he talked about ideals in music. A young woman gave us side glints of well known men, and a successful voice teacher presented a talented pupil who sang. The common object of the group is to discover and appreciate talent that exists within its locality."

"What are the dues in this unique club?" persisted the west side member.

"There are no dues," came back the long time member. "A dinner is held once a month and any one attending pays for the dinner, nothing more."

"After all, the purpose for which we get together is the main thing in a club," commented the north side member, "although we sometimes give more importance to the details of management."

Question.

"Our president is an ex-officio member of all committees. Does this obligate her to attend the meetings of the nominating committee? L. L. M."

Reply.

Your president is under no obligation to attend committee meetings. She may, as an ex-officio member, attend and take part if she so wishes. Good taste would usually prevent her attending the meetings of the nominating committee.

Society Mourns Passing of the Waldorf Astoria

Last of Bagby Musicals Calls Every One.

By Nancy Randolph.

NEW YORK, March 23.—[Special.]—I have not seen so much sentiment lavished in years as has been poured forth on account of the passing of the Waldorf-Astoria. Any one whould think society was losing its most cherished home, whereas other than on the occasion of the Charity ball, not a matron of not stepped within its doors of an afternoon.

The desire to mourn the passing of the famous hotel, which is to be torn down within a few weeks, is decidedly widespread, and the last of the Albert Morris Bagby recitals, always given at the Waldorf on a Monday morning, was a sad spectacle, indeed.

Every one in the older and staider circles of society was there, and every one appeared quite ready to lament the passing not only of the Waldorf but the setting for the dapper Mr. Bagby's musicales which will now have to find a new home.

Famous Ones on Program.

Mme. Schumann-Heink was on the program together with Frances Alda, Lucrezia Bori, Josef Lhevine, and Lawrence Tibbett. It was naturally a larger concert than usual, and the attendance was correspondingly large. The famous gold chairs fairly groaned and I shouldn't wonder if they are giving sighs of relief now that they will be called on no longer to support the generous proportions of many of our noted matrons.

The Grand Duchess Marie of Russia and the Grand Duke Alexander were very much present and graciously held a sort of court in advance of the concert. The number of titles present was simply appalling, running the gamut of all the nations. The Marchesa Belmonte, Lady Wavertree, Lady Guepratte, Lady Elliot, Princess Chlodwig Hohenlohe-Schillingsfurst and Countess Mercati represented the nobility.

Among the famous matrons of New York were Mrs. Hamilton McK. Twombly, who seldom makes a public appearance these days; Mrs. William Watts Sherman, Mrs. Marshall Orme Wilson, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. August Belmont, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Sherrill, Mrs. J. Sergeant Cram, Mrs. Horatio N. Slater, Mrs. Oliver Gould Jennings, Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris, Mrs. J. F. D. Lanier, Mrs. James Lowell Putnam, Mrs. James B. Clews, Mrs. Henry P. Davison, Mrs. William Goadby Loew, Mrs. Frances Key Pendleton, Mrs. Robert E. Tod, Mrs. Muron C. Taylor, Mrs. William Adams Kissam, and Mrs. Henry Fairfield Osborn.

Duchess Collects Bequests.

The duchess of Roxburghe, who arrived recently on the sad occasion of her mother's death, has remained to collect the few personal bequests left her by the late Mrs. Ogden Goelet.

Ochre court, the Goelet estate at Newport, which has been decidedly neglected this last decade, was left by Mrs. Goelet to her son, Robert W. Goelet. Her grace, however, was given the choice of many objets d'art and arrived this week in Newport to choose them. Her aunt, finding New York quite hopeless, insisted on sharing the duchess' pilgrimage, and turned up at Newport very much in the guise of a protectress, though, to be sure, the former May Goelet is old enough to protect herself from even social aspirants.

Her grace of Roxburghe will not be with us for a long time, but Robert Goelet, her brother, is making plans to bring Ochre court to the fore once again. His third marriage to the erstwhile Roberta Willard, has proved unusually fortunate, and the Goelets are preparing to enter quietly into Newport activities with a real blaze of activity to come the season after this. Mrs. Goelet, of course, has long been identified with Newport, and expects to make Ochre court the very center of entertainment.

Engaged Couples Entertained.

With the gentle zephyrs of spring upon us, and the sojurners returning from Palm Beach and Havana, town begins to look like something again. While every one was away, a lot of girls got themselves engaged, and as a result there is a very epidemic of luncheons being given.

Everett Colby made a departure this week and gave a dinner at Sherry's for Sylvia Brewster and Lieut. Edward Frederic Maude, whose wedding took place yesterday. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. De Rham, Helen Choate, Evelyn Elliot, Betty Holter, Evelyn Whitehouse, and Phyllis Brewster.

Another dinner of the week for engaged couples was that given by the Matthew C. Flemings at Pierre's for Dorothy tSevens and Matthew C. Fleming Jr., who were married on Thursday at St. Thomas'. The guests included Mrs. Richard Stevenz Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ewing Hope, Dr. and Mrs. Shephard Krech, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lincoln, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. E. Ritzema Perry, Mr. and Mrs. C. Merrill Chapin Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Donohue.

Spring Brings the Circus.

This being spring, one naturally thinks of the circus. Every year now more and more parties have been gotten up to welcome the circus when it arrives in the wee small hours of the morning and proceeds in the dead of night to parade down First avenue. The younger set departs from Childs' and makes for the Willis avenue bridge, escorting the lion wagons, and the elephants, and ponies down the long trail to the Garden.

Charity, of course, gets in its lick, and one of the circus days this year is to be set aside as a benefit for the St. John land fund, with April 12 as the date chosen. The fund is for the aid of exceedingly young children and provides recreation and schooling for the future citizens.

Among the women promoting the benefits are Mrs. J. Greer Zachary, Mrs. Berent Lefferts, Mrs. Fred B. Lund, Mrs. H. Allister Morris, Mary F. Ogden, Mrs. John E. Rutherford, Mrs. Martin Taylor, Mrs. George Zabriskie, Mrs. Edward G. Trowbridge, and Mrs. Samuel R. Outerbridge.

Musical Aids Charity.

In New York, if one mentions animals, immediately one thinks of Ellin Prince Speyer. In the memory of the late Mrs. Speyer all humane acts are fostered by society. On April 2, at the home of James Speyer, the New York Women's League for Animals is to have a musical, with Ruth Draper and George Barriere as the artists. Inasmuch as there is room for only some 300 guests, there will be a terrific scramble for the tickets which Mrs. Lewis Gouverneur Morris is doling out. With so many prominent women to attend, the less prominents will be certain to ache to be there, and Mrs. Morris is having her work made arduous in accepting orders.

The patronesses include Mrs. Harold Irving Pratt, Mrs. Cadwalader Jones, Mrs. Adrian H. Larkin, Donna Eugenia Ruspoli, Mrs. Walter H. Suydam, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, and Mrs. W. Watts Sherman.

The committee on arrangements includes Mrs. Phillips Allen Clark Mrs. Reginald De Koven, Mrs. H. Casimir De Rham, Mrs. William P. Draper, Mrs. Albert Zabriskie Gray, Rosa Anne Grosvenor, Mrs. Minturn Pinchot, Mrs. N. Thayer Robb, and Mrs. Orme Wilson.

Social World Takes Note of Holy Week; April Will Bring Renewal of Gayeties

By Mildred Jaklon.

THE Holy Week social calendar is almost devoid of events, and all the plans being made for spring sociability are for projects to take place in April. Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick is, however, opening her residence at 1000 Lake Shore drive on Tuesday for a benefit concert being sponsored by the All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts, an organization founded three years ago for the purpose of exhibiting and promoting the sale of the works of Illinois artists.

Also, on Tuesday afternoon is a tea and exhibit of quilts to take place at Mrs. John T. Wheeler's apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive for the needlework and textile guild of the Art institute. This group, which fosters the interest of womankind in the fine art of the needle, has been more active this winter than ever before in its career. It has had several exhibition receptions, has sponsored a course of lectures on various aspects of needlework, and has had several tea meetings.

There is some interest amongst the contingent of society folk who are interested in pedigreed dogs in the opening of the dog show this week at the armory. Among the smart canines to be entered will be Mrs. James Waller's pugs, Mrs. Alanson Follansbee's griffons, perhaps Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin's griffons, and Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick's new pomeranian, the successor of "Chocolate Drop," who met his fate in the path of an automobile.

WEDDINGS AND ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brand of 1618 West 61st street announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Carl Lederman.

Mrs. Rebecca Rosenthal of 3150 Douglas boulevard announces the engagement of her daughter, Lillian, to Maurice Lichter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lichter of 2131 West Division street.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Grad of Cincinnati, O., announce the engagement of their daughter, Fanny, to Lee S. Baewsky, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Baewsky of 3860 Roosevelt road.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stein of 1562 North Western avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Sophie, to Harry Kagan of Hebron, N. D. The wedding will take place on April 11.

SOCIETY PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clowes of 2317 North Rockwell street, formerly of Wilmette, are being congratulated on the birth of a son on March 17.

Miss Louise Sidney Klein, daughter of Mrs. Sidney Klein of 3049 Stone avenue and a student at Wellesley college, will spend her vacation at Richmond, Va.

Mrs. Loren Day Wells of the Sovereign hotel is at Bradenton, on the west coast of Florida, for the remainder of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clyde Wood of Bronxville, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Barbara, on March 14. Mrs. Wenzel, who was before her marriage Miss Roberta Wallow, is a former resident of Chicago and a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lichtenstein of 1534 Fargo avenue have left for a month's sojourn at Hot Springs, Ark.

Carnavalet Museum Displays Rare Exhibits of Old Paris

By May Birkhead.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 23.—No Paris museum is less visited by Americans than the Carnavalet. And yet, while inroads continue to be made on the "vieux Paris," this museum is fortunately becoming a greater depository than ever of the costumes and relics of former days.

For several years preceding the war the Carnavalet museum was expanded under the competent direction of Georges Cain. Today this work is being carried on by Marshal Louis Hubert Lyautey, president of the active Société des Amis du Carnavalet. They not only seek subscriptions to enrich the enchanting collections, but as rapidly as their funds permit carry out their general program of expansion.

None of those who have attended the special collections displayed during the last few years by the Carnavalet will miss the one which has just opened. Museums, dealers, and private collectors from many countries have loaned paintings, drawings, sculpture, porcelain, furniture, and various bibelots to this exhibition of everything pertaining to the theatrical life of old Paris.

Many Priceless Objects.

Although some of the objects belong to the 17th century and others to the 18th, the emphasis is placed on that extraordinarily rich and varied period of the drama in Paris in the 18th century. The imagination reels at the figure which the objects shown would bring if put up for sale.

The history of certain of the pieces displayed is arresting. There is a portrait which, after having belonged to the family of Pierre and Thomas Corneille, the dramatist brothers, finally passed into the hands of Jules Claretie, the well known Parisian figure, for many years director of the Comedie Française. There are two Empire chairs presented by Napoleon I. to the celebrated actress, Mlle. Mars, of the wonderful voice.

Francois Joseph Talma, Napoleon the first's favorite actor, is shown in a drawing by Merimée, and there is an aquarelle by Eustache Lesueur, the French historical painter. Enumeration could go on indefinitely and would include the works of such great masters as Antoine Watteau, Hubert Robert, Carl Vernet. There is a portrait of Alma Gluck, and another of the younger of the Vestris sisters, which belonged to Alexandre Dumas, and there are also portraits by Nattier, Charles Lebrun, and Beaumarchais.

Americans Loan Specimens.

Two well known Americans residing in Paris have made loans from their collections. Mrs. Alfred Heidelbach sent a ballet scene by Pillement and two choice specimens from her collection of porcelains, while Lady Mendl, the former Elsie de Wolfe and the wife of Sir Charles Mendl, the press attaché of the British legation in Paris, lent a bust by Caffieri, while Forsyth Wickes, who has recently established his home here, lent a pastel by Hoin.

Several Chicagoans appeared in the social doings last week. Mrs. John E. Baker was the hostess of a tea at the Union Inter-Alle, which is a great center for prominent Americans making an extended visit to Paris. Other guests were Mrs. Leo Carr here for the Easter holidays with her daughters who are at school, Mrs. Ralph Poole, who is here for a long stay, Mrs. Byron Harvey, who has just returned from the south, and Mrs. Russell Wilkinson.

Mrs. Paul Healy is planning to be here throughout the spring after having spent the last few weeks on the Riviera with Mrs. Carlton Holdredge, who is going on from Cannes to Italy as the guest of Commander and Mrs Randolph Miner at their villa near Florence.

Easter Sojourners at White Sulphur

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., March 23.—[Special.]—The Casino was opened here this week for the spring season, and many luncheons were given in the Tangerine restaurant, the hosts including C. G. Selden of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Jones, and Mrs. Eugene E. Hurley of Findlay, O. Easter sojourners are already arriving. Mrs. John Phillip Benkard of New York arrives this coming week, and also to come are Palmer D. Kountze and John Van Wie. Arrivals include Robert Stuart McVeigh, Mr and Mrs. C. Morgan Browne, and Brainard Avery.

All Periods Represented in Carnegie Show

Europe Sends Best Paintings to U. S. Exhibit

By Maude Martin Ellis.

THE European paintings from the Carnegie exhibit at the Art institute contain a fair percentage of fine canvases in a display which seems to consist of a little of everything from the Trilby period to 1929.

By the side of an opulent nude, carefully painted in the most realistic manner, hangs the work of a modernist in purely Cubist style, and so it goes throughout the entire showing.

Amongst the British artists, Charles Sims' mystical creations draw attentive study. Possibly his tragic death invests them with more interest than they would otherwise demand. His background of accomplishments and distinguished honors is re-lived in memory as one stands before these paintings by Mr. Sims, done during his last years, after he had become a "visionary." He has achieved a brooding beauty in these canvases with combinations of abstractions against realism—but his ideas seem to be weakened by the accentuation of his design. Of his four paintings in the exhibition, one called "My Pain Beneath Your Sheltering Hand," is most poignant in its appeal.

Lacking in Force.

The work of W. Russell Flint indicates good draughtsmanship [an accomplishment granted to almost all English artists], but no strength. His color is too sweet, it smacks of the candy box. Vivian Forbes, too, is an excellent draughtsman, but lacking in force—no virile effort.

A smaller canvas of Colin Gill's named "Fire Ships" seems to contain more character and content than the largest picture he exhibits, entitled "A Portrait of My Wife." In "Fire Ships" he has painted half figures of two women seated at a table in the foreground, back of them are two small figures of sailors or dock hands and a suggestion of a ship in harbor. It composes well and the color is subtle and harmonious. "Portrait of My Wife" reveals the lady in a lavender silk gown relaxing upon a minutely drawn cane-backed piece of furniture.

Four Strongly Modeled Paintings.

There are four canvases done by Dod Procter which are strongly modeled and with beautiful command of line. Her painting "Eileen" has much to say; it is restrained in color and vibrant with life. The modeling and design in the painting Mrs. Procter calls "A Baby in Long Clothes" is remarkably effective.

Some of the best work in this exhibit is from Belgium. The young Belgian, Louis Buisseret, goes back to the careful study of forms. He uses color sparingly and does not clutter his composition with unnecessary objects. One of his large canvases is a lovely figure composition which was reproduced in last SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE.

Another exceptionally well done composition is entitled "The Artist's Family," showing the figure of a woman preparing vegetables near an open window and the figure of a child. His portrait of the artist, Ante Carte, is a splendid piece of work. In it the full figure of the subject is shown seated before his easel, the main color notes being a white sweater, white shoes and green socks worn by Mr. Carte.

The other young Belgian is Albert Saverys, whose work has aroused considerable favorable comment. His landscape, "Winter in Flanders," won an honorable mention. It portrays a bleak, dreary, depressing wintry scene and it is a relief to turn to his painting of "First Snow," which is told in a vital and almost jolly spirit. His technique is forceful and promising.

France Leads in Interest.

France leads in the number of artists showing canvases which lure one back for repeated visits. The work shown is as varied as it is technically brilliant, and presents a survey of modern tendencies from the figure studies of Paul Albert Besnard and Lucien Simon or the landscapes of Jacques Emile Blanche to the designs of Picasso and the fanciful charm of Marie Laurencin.

Picasso is represented by two canvases. One is a group of nude figures which he painted many years ago and is a febrile attempt; the other is refreshing in its honest Cubism.

There are two of Braque's exhibited, one a small canvas with the title "Anemones," a vase of flowers on a table; the other a good sized nude painted in 1925.

Bonnard's five canvases are charming in color, and Maurice Asselin shows some creditable work, one especially, containing the figures of two women seated, one holding a baby, the light coming from an open window. Henri Lebasque's canvases vibrate with light and air.

Derain is represented by his prize winning canvas of still life and another canvas of the graciously simple child's head.

His First Showing.

Marcel Gromaire exhibits for the first time in the Carnegie show. He has a picture of a girl seated in a chair, head turned directly side view. She has a mop of black hair and is wearing a blue dress. There is an attractive design in the head and shoulders. His "Pilgrimage at Notre Dame des Hales" is intensely engaging. The color has a sombre quality and the figures make a strong pattern.

Marie Laurencin is better represented by her figure composition than her smaller canvas named "The Amazons."

Besnard and Simon each show one huge canvas and others ranging smaller in size. The largest of Besnard's pictures is an Oriental dancer with a yellow mask, and back of her follow the musicians. Simon's enormous canvas shows the interior of the studio of Emile Rene Menard, where a nude model is posing and the students are at work.

These masters have said what they had to say, and having said it, should rest content.

Per Khrog from Norway adds much to the showing. His pictures breathe a piquant entertainment and amusement. His "Dog Fight" is exactly what the title means: his scene on the beach with the wild waves rolling shoreward in the background and threatening to swamp the uncaring figures on the beach is beguiling in its action and execution. His "Woman in Red" intrigues another visit and he has made a caricature out of a portrait of a man.

The young Spanish painter, Pedro Pruna, is well represented by two pictures; his prize winning flower painting and a lovely sympathetically handled three-quarter figure of a girl in white against a gray background. It is a back view with head half turned.

Many Pictures of Nudes.

Elipe, also of Spanish origin, wins admiration with a figure composition fairly large sized. There are two figures holding draperies against a back ground of trees. The painting shows a subtle feeling for form and line.

A Russian, Phillip Maliavine, has two vivid canvases called "The Dance" and "The Wedding," both entertaining with a gayety and a rollicking swing.

From Czecho-Slovakia comes four paintings by Jakub Obrovsky, who seems to have nothing to say, but he says it beautifully.

There are nudes and nudes—and nudes—in this exhibit and that is all the meaning they have—just nudes. Achille Funi [Italy] presents one half-reclining front view, the left hand raised over her head holding a lacy drapery. He has called it "The Awakening of Venus." Pietro Gaudenzi [Italy] shows the back view of a half-reclining nude. She is evidently greeting a maid who is entering the room bearing a box of flowers. The picture is painted in the most realistic manner, but about the only thing it conveys artistically is that the model had never known starvation.

Switzerland Represented.

Alexander Blanchet of Switzerland contributes another reclining nude.

Gianno Marchig [Italy] is represented by a nude lying upon a blue and yellow striped couch, with a red cloth draped partly over it: it is well executed but remains—just another nude.

The exhibition is a large one and one that is exceedingly interesting. It demands many a visit.

Notes of Art and Artists.

The new galleries of the Cordon club have been reorganized to present the best painting and decorative work of its members. Opened recently to the public is an exhibition of paintings by Flora Schoefield, done in France and North Africa. The exhibition continues through the month of March.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts, of which Mrs. Charles R. Dalrymple is founder-president, will sponsor its first benefit musical to be held at the home of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, 1000 Lake Shore drive, on Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock.

More than 120 canvases executed by members of the North Shore Art league during the last year will be exhibited at the annual meeting of the league, opening Thursday, April 4, at Winnetka Community house. Purchase prizes will be awarded, the winners to be selected by popular vote and a jury.

A free illustrated lecture will be given in Fullerton hall of the Art institute Thursday evening, April 4, at 8 o'clock by Prof. Johnny Roosval of Stockholm. His subject will be "Pre-Christian Sweden; Its Culture, Its Architecture, Its Decoration." The lecture is given under the auspices of the American-Scandinavian Foundation and the Swedish-American Art society.

The lecture program of Dudley Crafts Watson at the Art institute is as follows: "Simple Rules for Home Decoration," March 25 at 1:30 p. m.; "Flower Decoration," April 1 and 8. Gallery tours of permanent and loan collections: "Manet," March 26; "Sargent," April 2; "Whistler," April 9. "Paintings from the Foreign Section of the Carnegie International Exhibition," March 29, at 12:30 to 1:15 p. m.; repeated at 7 p. m.

An exhibition just installed in the print galleries of the Art institute is entitled "Survey of Lithography!" It will afford an opportunity to enjoy the work of the pioneers in this field and to compare it with the work of the artists of today. The period covered is from about the year 1800 down to the present time. As Prof. Bolton Brown says, "Lithography is not an art, it is a process." A man may print a lithograph and not be an artist. However, the work shown here is the work of artists, some of whom printed their own lithographs and others did not. An exhibition containing the work of such famous men as Delacroix, Ingres, Daumier, Whistler, Gawani (Garvani), Fantin-Latour, Rops, is always well worth attending. Others equally well known who are exhibiting are Isabey, Toulouse-Lautree, Steinlen, Bresdin, Gauguin, Bonington, Harding, Prout, Pennell, Kent, Davies, Sloan, Pop Hart, Bolton Brown, and Arthur B. Wavies. The exhibition will continue until May 15.

There is an exhibit of commercial art in the Commonwealth Edison company shops at 72 West Adams street. The exhibits are designs submitted in competition, the company's purpose being to obtain a cover for its 1929 year book, soon to be issued. Prizes are $500 for the best design, $300 for the second, $200 for the third, and also reserved is the right to purchase any of the designs not winning prizes for $150 each, to be used by the company for advertising or any other purpose.

The first American exhibition of contemporary Irish art will be held in New York beginning tomorrow. Many Americans are familiar with Irish literature, with the names of W. B. Yeats, A. E., and Lady Gregory, but, except for the work of a few isolated individuals, little is known in this country of modern Irish art. Therefore this New York show will be most interesting.

MY GREATEST THRILL

Write and tell us about the greatest thrill you ever experienced, and if we print your letter we'll pay you $1. Make your letters short and snappy. Address them to "Greatest Thrill" Editor, the Chicago Tribune.

On Halloween.

Many years ago I chanced to be in the toughest section of New York City on Halloween night. This district is aptly named "Hell's Kitchen." I was gayly, if perhaps somewhat loudly, arrayed in a suit of glittering hues and startling colors and besides, O sin of sins, I wore spats!

As I strolled along nonchalantly, I was greeted by a volley of shots hurled at me from all sides. I began to run, but the hoodlums were too fast for me. They caught up to me and walloped me with stockings which were filled with ashes. They almost killed me. In truth, I thought they did. Luckily, a policeman appeared in answer to my cries for help and the gang ran away.

Every Halloween I get a thrill recalling this terrible occurence. J. G.

Once Is Enough.

The greatest thrill happened to me during my last vacation. I was visiting with friends and after a few days I decided to hike out to a lake to fish.

I hiked many miles to a small deserted lake. When I arrived it was late in the evening and I was tired, so I decided to stay there for the night. The evening was warm so I lay down on a blanket without covering myself.

It was still dark when I was awakened from my sleep feeling a weight on my chest. I quickly opened my eyes to find a rattlesnake curled up there. I could do nothing for fear the snake would bit. My blood turned cold and I fainted. When I came to the snake was gone.

This is my greatest thrill and I never want to experience another like it. W. P.

Caught in Time.

My greatest thrill occurred four years ago when my mother, sister, and I were aboard the S. S. France, which was sailing from New York to Europe. When we were about in the middle of the ocean, a man suddenly cried out, "A whale, a whale!"

I was on the same side of the deck as he was and next to the railing. Being a little tot of only 9, the railing came above my eyes. And as it was covered with canvas, I could not see.

So I climbed upon the lowest rail and leaned over the highest one in order that I might see. Just as I did so the ship gave a lurch and I probably would not be living today had it not been for a man behind me. He seized the end of my dress just in time to save me. It was a good thing he was not frightened at the moment.

Talk about a thrill! It is one I never shall forget. C. S.

A Hunting Adventure.

My brother and I were out duck hunting during a terrific wind and rain storm. The ducks were flying thick and fast, but the beating in our faces of the storm made it difficult to shoot accurately or to tell if the shots were effective. Finally, we saw a number of birds drop into the bay after we both had emptied our guns into a flock. We got our row boat and oars to working and tried to collect the floating dead or wounded. The fury of the elements was too great, and so we turned back toward shore.

It was then that my greatest thrill came, as it took 30 minutes to make it against a terrible wind, with great drops of water blinding us and filling the boat as rapidly as I could bail it out.

My brother, a good man at the oars, said to me, "We are in danger of swamping; sit as still as you can while bailing, keep up your grit, and be ready to doff boots and rainclothes should we tip over."

Thrilling? Mightily so, but we won out and made land. F. H. W.

First View of the Rockies.

I was traveling from Kansas into Colorado several years ago on my first visit to Colorado. Just as I woke early one morning I heard an old lady in front of me say, speaking to the gentleman with her, "We are in Colorado now. Look at the Rocky mountains."

As I had never seen the Rocky mountains they were what I wanted to see, so I ran my window shade up and took a look and never before nor since have I had such a thrill as at that first sight of the rugged grandeur of the Rockies. The early morning sun was shining on the lofty peaks as the train slowly wound up the side of the mountains.

From then on until we reached Trinidad, Colo., where we had breakfast, I could not take my eyes from the wonderful scenes. And all that day I traveled in a dream of beauty through Raton pass and so on into New Mexico. Having been raised on the plains of Kansas I had no idea of the wonderful beauty of the mountains, and never I have forgotten it. E. E. C.

Women the World Over

A measure has been introduced in the Connecticut legislature by Senator Mary A. Weaver providing for jury service for women.

Nearly every woman in the British royal family has been well trained in nursing. Among the most outstanding are Princess Mary, Princess Arthur of Connaught, the queen of Norway, and Princess Alice, countess of Athlone.

School girls, from 12 to 18 years of age, are engaged in building new roads in Kweichow, one of the most isolated provinces in China.

More than 1,000,000 women make separate income tax returns to the United States treasury. Almost 4,000,000 women make joint returns with husbands.

Mme. Kamaneva of Rostov, Russia, is the first woman militia chief in the northern Caucasus. Only recently appointed, she is well known in social military circles.

Mme. Talagrande, known as the oldest typist in France, has worked at the palace of justice in Paris continuously for the last 50 years.

Miss Nancy Proctor-Gregg, a graduate of Cambridge university, has been appointed assistant principal of the ministry of transport. She is the first woman transport chief Britain has ever had.

The Gulistan de Luxe Rug

COME and see the GULISTAN DE LUXE RUGS now being shown at Wieboldt's. You will be astounded at their beauty—the beauty of expensive Persian Rugs—the silky sheen shimmering and changing tone with the light—just as in a thousand dollar Kirman. This luxuriousness is available to you at American Rug prices because of a great advance in textile science made by the famous House of Karagheusian.

They have duplicated the gorgeousness of an Oriental Rug, so that even experts can hardly tell the difference. Here is a rug that is so like an Oriental that even experts have difficulty in telling the difference.

Come and make your choice from the lovely patterns now assembled at Wieboldt's. See your room transformed into a dream of beauty with the silky, deep pile of Gulistan, and hear your friends exclaim: "Since when have you had this beautiful Oriental?"

William McAndrew Turns Reporter in "Smilingtown"

By William McAndrew.

selling us a "location," our speech, not that of old England nor of New, in which sounds its r's and calls a "calf" and a "calf" as Webster does, caught the ear of the discerning young woman who tends the shop at the "halte d'autobus." She took one of the packets from its gay rack, with a welcoming smile she told us we climbed La Tribune de Sheekago.

The Tribune—With Smiles.

All with all its administration, politics, and redaction, our TRIBUNE is a lady, feminine; it is a "la." "Sheekago" has its accent taken out of its name and equitably divided between the first, second, and third syllables. And once have we met a foreigner who knew how to say it. The Russian extends it "Tshikahgo"; the others mutilate it in some way of their own. The celebration of 1933 and the preparations for it will educate the world in pronunciation, although this seems to accent at the last end of the word is not without a useful suggestion.

We never received our TRIBUNE with more smiles than we get it here. Fresh from Paris, traveling all night, by Dijon, Lyons, Marseilles, and Cannes, it comes to us up a stately mountain hill, sometimes carried by the smallest boy you ever saw, sometimes by a laughing young stonemason who works farther up the slope, and sometimes by madame herself, who leaves the shop long enough to bring a smile and a paper to the spot which has stood watch over Visouryant since the Romans built the road in long ago B. C.

Visouryant, as a word, isn't Parisian French. The "y" comes into many words here in Provence. Not far away is a town with a "Place Peyra," where, in old times, offenders who were judged to have lived too long were shortened. The executioner laid them on a stone and they got their heads chopped into a basket. This stone, "pierre," is gone, but the name, "peyra," in the speech of Provence, remains. It's a good plan to enter France from the south, where these words conveniently sound all the letters in their words. You can work gradually northward into the region where "i" is "y," "a" is nothing at all, and "en" is what only a Frenchman can say.

THE FLOW OF ELOQUENCE

Visouryant is a pet name for this little city, a shortening of "ville souriant," which, on Michigan avenue, we would call Smilingtown, or in London, Smiles. The sun comes up over it with a soft, golden warmth, and, as an American poet once said of home lands, it plays upon the hills until they laugh and sing. It imparts a gentle merriment to the dispositions of those who live here.

We have the climate of middle California or of Memphis, Tenn., but our latitude is that of Portland, Me. Imagine Chicagoans going north in the winter for mild weather and you will realize what a happy thing is the curving isothermal line. We have been told that an American, Mr. Maury, developed the isotherms. We thank him! In passing eastward from Marseilles, you are told by the guide book, written by a Parisian, that the land grows "plus en plus riant," more and more laughing. What else could you call this place than "souriant," the city of the smile?

Good for What Ails You.

Speaking of nicknames, "Theo" isn't a word peculiar to the dialect of Provence. It is a compromise between affection and affectation, a name under which "The Only" has been united by her family for over forty years. The buoyant Bundesen is responsible for her being here. The ultra-violet rays, he said, freedom from coal smoke, and an absence of society-bang are necessary. Another Chicago Aesculapius pronounced the waters of the waters of Visouryant a taste highly recommended, and good for everything.

It is. Julius Caesar drank here and developed such nerve that he divided all Gaul into three parts and conquered each, including the Nervii. In the center of town, where eight gleaming streams pour out of generous spouts into stone basins deep enough to swim in, you may read from a bright white marble tablet, what the gleaming element is composed of. It should arouse your enthusiasm to see the emphasis upon its oxygene dissous. None of us ever had that in our course of chemistry when we were in school. We don't know whether it is "dissolved oxygen" or "oxygen all broken up," but we're for it.

This is no attempt to get free advertisement into print for what is claimed for the water of Visouryant. It is, so far as we can see, identical with boasts of most of the cities of Europe. You could walk from Aix-les-bains to the Italian border, 175 miles, without ever being out of sight of some water cure or other, with as eloquent a pamphlet as our local one. You could collect all the diseases from asthma to zenaiesme, whatever that may be, and find waters to cure them all.

It Could Be Used at Home.

Dr. Guerison, over yonder, has an establishment that administers, hot air. Those that have too much of that may go to Dr. Bavard's hygienique, near by, where "silence is enjoined," even at meals; "prohibition absolute to talk." There should be a cure "au moyen du silence" for noonday service in the loop, to offset the innumerable talking clubs which are persuading more and more Chicagoans to believe that all they need is speeches—and applause.

To return to the water of Smilingtown, in every shop you can get a printed leaflet which tells you in animated French that these magnificent springs are worthy to make Visouryant the eighth wonder of the world. "The water is, in reality indeed, of a purity, of a freshness, of a buoyance, assuredly exceptional. From the laboratory of nature, 1,000 meters up the flancs of the grand plateau, carpeted with thyme and lavender, sterilized by the chemical and caloric rays of the sun, ardent and pure, the element penetrates the cleansing minerals of the mountain and emerges saturated with healing."

LANGUAGE AS MEDICINE

The language of the circular produces on you such a feeling of well-being, directly the contrary of the conviction of diseases one gets in reading an ordinary medical advertisement, that for those who cannot spare the time to visit Visouryant, a daily perusal of the story of the water would act as a healing tonic. The chapters increase in vivacity through, "Action on the Blood," "Action on the Liver," "Action on the Stomach,"

"Action on the Bowels," "Action on the Veins." By a grand filtering through the organism, by a gentle laving of the tubes, by an agreeable emoxys through the tissues, this beneficient fluid, without violence, gently excludes all unwelcome visitations."

With lyric charm all the leaflets lead up to the great climax of the combat between arthritis and the water of Visouryant. But the outcome is such a surety that, by the time your reading brings you through, you are ready to believe that Methusaleh, Samson, and Hercules drank here.

That Guiltiest Feeling.

To come down to modern times, we are told of one who came here as Mademoiselle Le Fevre and left as Madame Bonsante, thanks to the water and an eligible bachelor. We feel guilty, every time we drink deep draughts of this clear limpidity, because we have no arthritis for it. We don't seem to be showing proper respect. Everywhere, in quaint old courts, from tinkling fountains, in streams beside every street, in picturesque containers carried by women twice as old as they look, the crystalline blessing of Visouryant meets your glad eye. At night, under a sky bright with stars, you hear the waters coursing down their little runnels among the rocks, bounding across the mountain in pursuit of the frightened arthritis.

Chicago people have a peculiar affinity for the Breakers, one day's arrivals bringing there Dr. and Mrs. Frank S. Simpson, Mrs. Russell S. Clarke, and Mrs. Frank G. Wright, and C. Radford Vanness, Mr. and Mrs. John Wentworth, and Lawrence K. Callahan. Mrs. K. E. Edwards, Mrs. Oakley K. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. D. Lockett Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cleveland.

Also arriving were Mrs. John T. Pirie of Lake Forest and Chicago, accompanied by Mrs. Gordon L. Pirie, Miss Mabel Pirie, and Mrs. Pickett Withers, who came from Mrs. Pirie's winter home in the highland lake country between Orlando and the mountain lakes for a short stay. Mrs. Pirie's son married Miss Daisiara Smith, who with her husband has been the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Smith at "Il Sogno" during much of the winter.

Staying Into April.

Chicagoans who intend to stay well into April are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piez, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Jesup, E. N. Jesup Jr., Nelson Jesup, and Fred, William, and Clarence Sills. They are a part of the Breakers group which seems to be growing rather than diminishing and which includes such recent additions to the Illinois colony as the Misses Elizabeth and Gertrude Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stevens, Mrs. C. H. Little, and N. O. Jones.

My Most Embarrassing Moment

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address Embarrassing Moments, Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscripts returned.

At Mount Vernon.

The most embarassing moment I have experienced came one warm day when my father and I visited Washington's home at Mount Vernon. The heat made my feet hurt and caused me much misery. When the crowd of visitors had gathered in the dining room to listen to the speech of the guide I absent mindedly sat down on the arm of a chair, one of the Washington possessions. There was a slight ripping sound like the rending apart of antique wood.

Instantly a guard reprimanded me for my misdemeanor and the crowd turned to look at the culprit. My painful feet still had enough energy to make good time in getting me out of that room. E. O. J.

Spoke Her Mind.

Our literary society was giving its annual banquet. The speaker of the evening was a local poet for whose poems I had little use. They had recently been published in book form, creating no little furore in our small town.

Before the dinner I spoke cordially to a stranger, who I supposed was a guest for the evening. In the course of our small talk she inquired, "Have you a copy of Mr. K——'s poems?" In my smart-aleck way that is forever getting me in Dutch, I replied, "My word, no! Why pay $2.50 for that insipid stuff when you can buy Shelley, Keats, and Tennyson for a dollar or so?"

But the stranger did not laugh with me! It developed later that she was the wife of said poet. Would any one have cared to change shoes with me? E. F. F.

Not Intended for Her.

My brother had just returned from a trip to the east, and since such trips are not a common occurrence in the family, we were all gathered in his room listening to his account of the journey, while he unpacked. Presently he opened a box and drew out a lovely chiffon scarf, dropping it in my lap with the remark, "What do you think of that for a scarf, sis?"

With a squeal of delight, I cried, "O, Jimmy, you peach! How'll I ever thank you for such a pretty gift?"

His slowly reddening face made me sense that something was wrong, and even if he is my brother, I was embarrassed—and how!—when he hesitatingly explained that he'd bought the scarf for his best girl, and merely wanted my opinion of it! D. F.

A Fish Story.

Several years ago, while working in the neighborhood of the fish markets, I undertook to take home some fish. While on the street car with the fish wrapped up in several pieces of wrapping paper and having about a forty-five minute ride on the car, the fish decided to emerge from the several pieces of the then wet wrapping paper and fall to the floor.

I had the choice of two things—either to throw them out of the window or leave them on the floor, and both being embarrassing, I decided to buy a newspaper, but the newspaper boys that evening, for some unknown reason, were not anxious to make a sale. Result, I wrapped the fish in the wet wrapping paper and got off the car, with the solemn vow never to buy any again. E. S.

Must Have Looked Odd!

During my high school days I was sensitive about by pug nose and did everything I could think of to make it straight.

One afternoon, while working in the kitchen, I was wearing a clothespin on my nose, as some one had advised me to do. The grocer boy came but it was not until after he left that I caught a glimpse of myself in the mirror.

You can imagine how embarrassed I was, especially since he was the star of the high school football team. E. P.

Hailing a Stranger.

In the dusky light of a late Sunday afternoon I was watching at the window for the arrival of a friend who was to take me to a show.

Seeing him drive to the curb and get out of a car I had not known he owned, I buzzed the buzzer and went to the door to greet him. As he came up the stairs in the dimly lit hall, I called out, "My goodness, but you are arriving in swell style!"

You can imagine my embarrassment when a strange man, who nevertheless greatly resembled my friend, calmly stared at me and went on to the third floor. L. R.

NEWS OF THE RELIGIOUS WORLD

Palm Sunday in All Churches Today

By the Rev. W. B. Norton.

PALM SUNDAY, today, in commemoration of the triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem, when the people broke the palm branches from the trees and casting their clothing on the ground, shouted "Hosanna" as they met Him, will be observed throughout the city and all over the land by churches of every creed and doctrine, denomination and calling. At the Holy Name cathedral, State and Superior streets, the solemn blessing of the palms by His Eminence, George Cardinal Mundelein will occur at 11 a. m., and will be followed by solemn high mass celebrated in the presence of His Eminence by the Rev. Thomas Reed, with the Rev. Vincent Flynn and the Rev. John Davidson assisting. The music will be furnished by the Seminary choir of St. Mary of the Lake seminary, Mundelein, under the direction of Prof. Singenberger. At St. Vincent's Catholic church blessing of palms and a similar service will be held this morning.

Among other churches today there will be the distribution of palm crosses at all morning services, 8, 9:20, 10:30 and 11 o'clock, at the Episcopal Church of Our Savior, 530 Fullerton parkway, the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot, rector, with special music and a solemn procession at the 11 o'clock service.

Confirmation services will also be held in many churches, among which the following are announced: At the North Austin English Evangelical Lutheran, the Rev. F. W. Otterbein, pastor, this morning at 8:30 and 11 o'clock two services identically the same, in order to accommodate the large membership, and this afternoon at 3 the first section of the confirmation class will be confirmed and the second section this evening at 7:30; this morning classes will be confirmed at the Bethesda Lutheran church, North Campbell and Farwell avenues, the Rev. F. Wittmer, pastor; at the Windsor Park Lutheran church, the Rev. A. H. Kaub, pastor; at the Woodlawn-Immanuel English Evangelical Lutheran church, Kenwood avenue at 64th street, the Rev. Clarence E. Paulus, pastor.

Bishop Robert L. Rudolph, D. D., of Philadelphia, Pa., presiding bishop of the Reformed Episcopal church, will administer the rite of confirmation and preach at St. Paul's, the Bishop Fallows Memorial church, Adams street and Winchester avenue, this morning at 11 o'clock, and at St. John's church, Laramie and Potomac avenues, at 8 p. m.

This evening cantatas and musical programs will celebrate Palm Sunday in many churches, among which are the following: "From Olivet to Calvary," by Maunder, will be presented at the Englewood First Methodist Episcopal church, Stewart avenue and 64th street; and at the Woodlawn Park Methodist Episcopal church, Woodlawn avenue and 64th street; and at the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, Adams street and Ashland boulevard; "The Crucifixion" will be sung at Christ Episcopal church, 65th street and Woodlawn avenue. "The Seven Last Words," by Dubois, by a choir of forty voices, at the Episcopal Church of Our Savior, 530 Fullerton parkway; and a sacred concert at St. Vincent's Catholic church, Sheffield and Webster avenues, followed by a sermon on "Jesus Christ, Our Model," by the Rev. Peter Frommell, C. M.; at the New England Congregational church, Delaware place and Dearborn street, the sacred cantat, "The Seven Last Words of Christ," by Dubois; at the Irving Park Lutheran church, Belle Plaine and Harding avenue, "The Crucifixion," by Stainer; at the Bethel Lutheran church, 2101 Humboldt boulevard, "Stabat Mater," by Rossini.

Practically all the churches of the city are holding services every evening of this Holy Week. The Rev. Walter E. Cole will deliver a series of Liberal Lenten lectures at the Third Unitarian church, 5521 West Lake street, beginning tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock and continuing until Thursday evening. At the First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park, Dr. Carlisle Hubbard, the pastor, will hold a service and preach each evening, closing with the sacred cantata, "The Crucifixion," by Stainer, on Good Friday night. At the Woodlawn Methodist Episcopal church, 64th street and Woodlawn avenue, Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, the pastor, will preach each evening except Saturday on "The Last Seven Words from the Cross." At the People's church, Lawrence avenue at Sheridan road, Dr. Preston Bradley, the pastor, will preach each evening at 8 o'clock a series of sermons on "Toward the Understanding of Jesus."

There will be special services, musical programs, cantatas, sermons, confirmations, and reception for new members in the churches almost universally. This is the fifth Sunday in Lent, and a special feast day ushering in the week which closes with Easter. This week is Holy Week—sometimes in recent usage called Passion Week, though usually Passion Week is the week just past. Noonday services have been held at the Garrick theater, the Chicago temple, and also at the Adelphi theater in the loop district for the last few weeks and will continue until Good Friday.

This week there will be added two other noonday series: the Chicago Library Ministers' association at the Cort theater, with the Rev. J. Morrison Thomas, pastor of the Ravenswood Congregational church, presiding, and the Lutheran Ministers' association of all synods of Chicago and vicinity, the Rev. Jesse E. Thorson, pastor of Our Saviour's English Lutheran church, chairman, holding services Thursday and Friday at the Masonic temple, 32 W. Randolph street. Many churches are also holding services every evening during Holy Week, culminating with most impressive services on Good Friday.

The culmination of all holy week services will be on Good Friday and almost universally there will be the observance of the three hours' agony of the cross. At the Chicago Temple the service will be held from noon until 3 p. m. and "The Seven Words from the Cross" will be the subject upon which the following speakers will talk: Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, Dr. John Timothy Stone, the Rev. L. W. Goethe, Dr. Charles A. Brooks, Dr. Wilbur Boerner Allen, the Rev. Perry J. Atlee, and Dr. Roy E. Vale.

At the Garrick theater Episcopal Lenten services Bishop Ernest V. Shayler will preach on Friday in the regular program of noonday observance. At the Adelphi theater Lutheran services there will be two meetings following one another in order to accommodate the capacity audiences at noon, addressed by the Rev. Ben A. Maurer of Sherman Park Lutheran church, Milwaukee, Wis. At the Cort theater the Liberal Ministers' association will be addressed on Good Friday noon by Dr. Preston Bradley on "A Modern Golgotha." At the Masonic temple, 32 West Randolph street, Good Friday noon, the Lutheran Ministers' association will hold a service with Dr. G. A. Andreen, president of Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., as speaker.

A special union service will be held in Christ English Evangelical Lutheran church, North Long avenue and Lemoyne street, on Good Friday during the "Three Hours of Darkness," from 12 to 3 p. m., at which the following churches will participate: Christ church; Trinity; Oak Park; Our Savior; Norwood Park; Good Shepherd; Maywood Grace; North Laramie and Parker; Mt. Olive; Tripp and Byron. The Rev. E. F. Haertel, pastor of Christ church will preside and three sermons will be preached by Pastors P. Luecke, L. Schuessler and A. Jarus.

At the Episcopal Church of Our Savior, 530 Fullerton parkway, besides the mass at 6:30 and 10:30 a. m. on Good Friday, there will be "The Three Hours" from noon until 3 p. m., when the rector, the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot, will deliver meditations on the Seven Last words of Our Savior.

At the North Austin English Evangelical Lutheran church, Mason avenue and Lemoyne street, there will be four services for the accommodation of the great host of workers at 6, 6:30, 7 and 10:30 a. m. on Good Friday, the Rev. F. W. Otterbein, pastor.

At the chapel of the University of Chicago, a Good Friday service will be held from noon to 1 p. m. At St. Patrick's Catholic church, Desplaines and Adams streets, the Good Friday service of the three hours will occur from 6 to 9 p. m., with special music and a sermon by the Rev. William J. Stanton.

Special communion services will be held Friday evening at the following churches: Halsted street institutional Methodist Episcopal church, South Halsted and 20th street; West Ridge Community church, Lunt and Ellwood avenues; Edgewater Presbyterian, Bryn Mawr avenue at Kenmore; Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and Marshfield avenue, annual communion in two services.

Sacred cantatas will be given on Good Friday evening in many churches, among which are the following: "The Seven Last Words," by Dubois, in Our Savior's English Lutheran church, Berteau and Laramie avenues and the Woodlawn-Immanuel Lutheran church, Kenwood at 64th street: "From Olivet to Calvary," by Maunder, in Trinity Lutheran church, Barry and Seminary avenues.

At Old St. Paul's, the Bishop Fallows Memorial church, Adams street and Winchester avenue, the Rev. William Russell Collins, D. D., will hold morning prayers and preach at 11 a. m. on Good Friday. At the First Lutheran church, Fullerton and Ballou avenues, the Rev. Lewis Moe will conduct a solemn Good Friday service at 3 p. m.

THE REV. ROLLAND W. SCHLOERB.

The Rev. Rolland W. Schloerb has accepted the call to become associated with the Rev. Norris L. Tibbetts in the ministry of the Hyde Park Baptist church, 56th street and Woodlawn avenue, and assumes his new duties today. Thus the church is continuing the policy of maintaining two coordinate ministers, each with special qualifications for a distinct phase of church work. In 1921 Dr. Lathan A. Crandall was called as associate with Dr. Charles W. Gilkey and was succeeded in 1923 by the Rev. Mr. Tibbetts. The Rev. Mr. Schloerb is now called to be associate with the Rev. Mr. Tibbetts.

Mr. Schloerb is 35 years old. He took his training at Union Theological seminary, New York City, where both Dr. Gilkey and the Rev. Mr. Tibbetts were graduated. He was assistant minister in the Central Baptist church of New York City during his seminary course for one year. Mr. Schloerb served in the army Y. M. C. A. for eight months and as chaplain with the First division, A. E. F., for fourteen months, being in two major drives and serving six months in Germany with the army of occupation.

In 1921 he obtained his degree of M. A. at Northwestern university and in 1924 spent six months in Europe with Sherwood Eddy. Last spring he closed a ministry of seven years in the Evangelical church at Naperville, Ill., the longest possible pastorate permitted by rule in that denomination.

Upon his resignation from the Naperville church he was selected by the National Council for Religious Education as one of the Fellows. This council searches the country over for the most promising young men and enables them to secure advanced training to fit them for leadership.

The Rev. Mr. Schloerb has been spending the last year in study at the divinity school of the University of Chicago and has been giving part time service to the church since last fall. An unusual opportunity has thus been afforded him to become acquainted with the church and to gain the warm friendship and confidence of the Rev. Mr. Tibbetts.

The Rt. Rev. Sheldon M. Griswold, D. D., Bishop Suffragan of the Episcopal diocese of Chicago, will preach and confirm 15 candidates, seven children and eight adults, at this morning's service at the St. Ansgarius Swedish Episcopal church, 5648 Lincoln avenue, the Rev. William Tullberg, rector. Easter day at the 9:15 English high mass in the morning they will receive their first holy communion. Swedish high mass will follow at 11 a. m. with holy communion. In the afternoon at 4:30 the church school Easter festival will be held, and the Lenten missionary boxes will be presented.

The new organ in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Catholic church, Belmont avenue between Halsted street and Broadway, will be dedicated this evening at 8 o'clock with solemn ceremony and a sacred concert. The church choir of fifty voices under the direction of Adalbert Huguelet, organist and choirmaster, will sing the Stabat Mater. Palmer Christian of the music department of the University of Michigan will be at the organ for the first half of the program. The Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Casey is pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel church.

"When peace like a river attendeth my way," the favorite hymn quoted on the religious editorial page today, is one that is especially a favorite in the little Friends' meeting house in Washington, D. C., where President and Mrs. Herbert Hoover worship.

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink will appear in the only concert she is to give in Chicago this season this afternoon at 3 o'clock at old St. James Roman Catholic church, Wabash avenue at 29th street, on the occasion of a gathering of old time members and friends of the parish. The concert will be a benefit for old St. James, the proceeds to be devoted to the rehabilitating of the church and school. The Rev. James P. O'Donoghue is the pastor.

Drexel Park Presbyterian church, 64th street and South Marshfield avenue, the Rev. Clinton C. Cox, pastor, will observe the anniversary of the birth of Fanny Crosby, famous and prolific hymn writer of the church. Though blind, she has composed a large number of the great hymns in the church hymnals of all denominations. At this evening service hymns she wrote will be used, and the occasion of their being written will be related.

Tomorrow from 10:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. the Woman's Auxiliary board of Wesley Memorial hospital will meet at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, 74th street and Jeffery avenue. Luncheon will be served at 12:30, which will be followed by the program. This is the occasion of the Lenten offering. Mrs. John W. O'Leary is president.

A great interdenominational rally is announced at Medinah temple for Monday evening, April 1, at 8 o'clock, to hear one of the world's greatest missionaries, Dr. E. Stanley Jones. His experiences in his work among the educated and cultured non-Christians of India are interesting and arresting in their appeal to the fact that the message of Christ is being heard by all with eagerness. Admission will be by ticket, but there is no charge on account of the great demand for seats.

The Edison Park Lutheran church, Avondale and Oliphant avenues, the Rev. Roy A. Harrisville, pastor, is in the midst of a campaign to raise a fund of approximately $60,000 for a new church building. The church was organized during the pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Harrisville, in February, 1927, and for the last two years the congregation has worshiped in a portable chapel. The community is growing so rapidly that home loving, home building folk have outgrown the small temporary building. O. E. Hustad is chairman of the building committee, and the work of building will begin very soon.

Dr. H. P. Almon Abbott, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, is the author of the religious editorial, "Difficulties of Unbelief," which appears today on the editorial page of THE TRIBUNE. Dr. Abbott was elected to the episcopate in January after a brief pastorate at St. Chrysostom's and will be consecrated bishop of Lexington, Ky., on May 15, at Christ Church cathedral, Lexington, by the Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church.

This evening at 8 o'clock at Grace Evangelical Community church, Wrightwood and Kimball avenues, the Rev. J. Alfred Nansen, pastor, the religious drama by Marshal N. Gould, "St. Claudia," will be presented by 17 young people of St. Paul's Evangelical church. This drama deals with the effect of the life and death of Jesus Christ upon the Roman world of the first century, and is recognized as one of the most worthy religious productions. It has been prepared under the direction of Nellie C. Wiley.

Dr. Harold C. Phillips, pastor of the First Baptist church, greater Cleveland, O., will be the speaker before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall this evening at 8 o'clock on the subject, "The Inevitable Question." Appropriate music for Palm Sunday under the direction of Edgar Nelson, with Leroy Hamp, guest soloist, will be a feature. G. Herbert Shorney, an official of the Rope Publishing company, will have a part in the service. Dr. Phillips is a native of Jamaica, British West Indies, a graduate of Columbia university and Union Theological seminary and is college preacher at Yale. Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Ohio Wesleyan, and other institutions. Dr. Albert W. Palmer, Oak Park First Congregational church, will speak at 7 p. m.

"Is Our Civilization Decadent?" is the subject on which the Rt. Rev. Ernest V. Shayler, Episcopal bishop of Nebraska, will address the Union Ministers' meeting tomorrow morning at 10:30 at Association auditorium, 19 South La Salle street, under the auspices of the Chicago Church federation. Bishop Shayler is at home in Chicago, having been the former rector of Grace Episcopal church, Oak Park, until he was elected bishop of Nebraska in 1919. Chi Hyun, soloist, graduate of Chosen Christian college of Corea, who has taken his master's degree in music in Chicago, will sing. The meeting will adjourn in time for attendance at the Lenten noonday service at the Chicago temple.

How much would YOU be worth on the slave block?

TODAY—as a thousand years ago—woman is appraised for her beauty and charm. How you look, what you do, how you act, your poise, your gestures—these the eyes of the world devour.

If you have charm you don't need anything else. If you don't have charm, it doesn't much matter what else you have.

Charm can be acquired

Would it surprise you to know that charm is the result of study and practice and not a divine gift? Do you realize that our famous beauties, our great actresses, were taught to be charming, just as they were taught music, or languages, or the arts? As long as you are in competition with women of charm, equip yourself with their secrets. Do as they do. Acquire charm and let the rest of the world admire and envy you.

A famous beauty tells you how

Josephine Huddleston edits a beauty column read by seven million women. Thousands write her every day. She has learned herself, and knows how to teach you, the secrets of charm. Miss Huddleston, an American Venus de Milo, has been artist model, actress and motion picture star. The knowledge that has brought her fame and wealth and position, she now gives you in her tremendously valuable new book entitled SECRETS OF CHARM.

In the pages of this amazing volume, you discover what wealthy women have paid fortunes to learn from international authorities. For the price of a marcel and a manicure you can save yourself hundreds of dollars. In her book Miss Huddleston discusses from the most practical viewpoint, the skin, the hair, the fig

CHURCH NEWS

"Should Chicago Have a City Manager?" will be the subject this afternoon at the Chicago Forum in the Blackstone theater, Clark and Madison streets, upon which A. R. Hatton, chairman Chicago Government Planning commission, will speak. Prof. Charles E. Merriam, professor of political science, Northwestern university, "Father" of city manager plan for Cleveland, O., and other cities, the consultant of the National City Managers association, and the foremost authority on the subject in the United States. This is the last Forum meeting of the season, but the first in a long aggressive campaign to be conducted by the Chicago Government Planning committee. A bill to this end is being introduced into the legislature this week.

This afternoon at the 4 o'clock organ recital and vesper service at the North Presbyterian church, Delaware place and North Michigan boulevard, Dr. DeLamarter, organist, will present special choral music appropriate for Holy Week: "The Thief on the Cross" by Tschesnokoff, and "God So Loved the World," by Stainer, besides other organ selections. Anna Burmeister, soprano soloist, will sing Biblical songs by Dvorak. Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson will give the Bible exposition.

Oliver Robison Williamson, for many years editor of The Continent, Presbyterian denominational weekly, has been called to Philadelphia, Pa., to cooperate in development of the publicity and promotion work of the Presbyterian board of Christian education and will remain there for an indefinite time. Mr. Williamson has been assisting Dr. John Timothy Stone in connection with the project of the endowment of the Presbyterian seminary in the new building program and will continue to hold an advisory position with that work.

"Are Chicagoans Sunday Christians, or do they worship God every day of the week?" is the question Dr. Frederick F. Shannon, pastor of Central church at Orchestra hall, will ask and answer this morning. A special Palm Sunday choral service, arranged by Dr. Daniel Protheroe, director of the Central church choir of 100 men and women, will precede the sermon.

The young people of the Episcopal church will meet at the early celebration this morning for an entirely new service—a national corporate communion on Palm Sunday. As each fellowship or league meets in its respective church it is to remember that all over the United States Episcopal young people are gathered for the service in common, and to ask God's blessing on their work in the church.

Home dedication day is a world-wide service commemorating Christ's day in the Bethany home and will be observed on Wednesday of Passion week, or Holy week. Prof. H. Augustine Smith of Boston university has published two leaflets setting forth the purpose of the day with appropriate hymns, scripture readings, pictures, and worship programs appropriate for observance of the day.

Bishop William F. Oldham of the Methodist Episcopal church conducts a class in comparative religions and modern missionary problems each morning at 10:30 during the week, a regular institute class at the Chicago Evangelistic institute, 1754 Washington boulevard. He will close his work by preaching on Easter afternoon at 3 o'clock in the auditorium of the school.

Judge John P. McGoorty will present "The Roman Catholic Interpretation of Jesus" at the Hyde Park department of the Young Men's Christian association, 1400 East 53d street, on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the third and final presentation of the series of present day interpretations of Jesus. Dr. Charles W. Gilkey gave the one on "The Liberal Protestant Interpretation," and Dr. Louis L. Mann on "The Jewish Interpretation," on two previous Thursday evenings.

Annual Horse Show Is Held at Aiken, S.C.

AIKEN, S. C., March 23.—[Special.]—Interest in the Grand National at Aintree did not keep Aiken from going about its business this week. Wednesday and Friday saw the annual Aiken horse show at the grounds in Hitchcock Woods. Prizes for the show, which had the largest entry list in years, were given by women as well as by men. Among the donors of cups and trophies were Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Mrs. F. Skiddy Von Stade, Mrs. David Jones, Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, Mrs. Hugh A. Murray, Mrs. Price McKinney, William Russell Grace, Henry W. Poor and Ernest I. White.

Among the events of the week were several dinners. Harry Worcester Smith gave a dinner for Mrs. Julian S. Peabody, his other guests including Mr. and Mrs. David Wagstaff, Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick, Mrs. Harold E. Talbott, Mrs. Richard P. Sears and H. L. Plummer. Much polo was played throughout the week, a round robin tournament being held early in the week on Cochran field. The players included Fred T. Post, William Ziegler, David Dows, Jr., George Mead, Reginald B. Taylor, Beverley Knox, Frank V. Burton, Allen Carr, F. Skiddy Von Stade and Thomas Hitchcock.

In the Feminine Realm

GIRLS in London, England, have taken to rolling their own cigarets.

Lady Astor, the first woman to enter the British house of commons, is planning her fifth campaign for re-election to parliament next summer.

Young women in Japan are rapidly taking the place of men as elevator operators as well as in many other positions connected with business and industrial advancement.

One hundred and fifty new feminine police officials are to be employed by the Prussian police force in Germany. They range all the way from expert criminologists to police counselors.

Various state divisions of the General Federation of Women's Clubs are now selecting patriotic and religious films for the weekly children's Saturday matinées and family night programs.

Archbishop Panteleimon of the Greek orthodox church in America, recently decorated Mrs. Edith M. Cummings of Detroit, educator and founder of the new National School of Business Science for Women at Washington, D. C. She is the first American woman and the third woman of the world to receive the honor.

Revel in springtime and tonic thermal baths at the hospitable Arlington Hotel

COME for delightful rest and change down among the fragrant pines. Come and let the magic touch of these hot medical waters and balmy May-time air recoup your strength after the ravages of "Flu."

The friendly Arlington invites you to refreshing relaxation, comfort, appetizing cuisine, attractive accommodations and a full measure of brimming health derived from the curative hot springs, caressing sunshine and open air fun of this popular Spa.

You'll Respond to These Baths—

And they'll bring back the spring to your step and ruddy glow to your skin. For, of all Nature's curatives that gush bubbling hot from Mother Earth, Hot Springs' radio active waters are recognized by the U. S. Gov't, and by thousands who have benefited from the baths, as the most effectual treatment for rheumatism, neuritis, nervous and circulatory disorders. Baths are conveniently available to our guests in the Arlington's own bath house within the hotel, operated under supervision of the U. S. Gov't which owns the hot springs.

Play or Loaf

Challenging golf on two superb courses—horseback—tennis—motoring amid scenic beauty—good fishing—and the Arlington's entertaining social calendar promise you a sojourn of benefit and pleasure. Come along for a week or a month and grow young again. For attractive booklet and rates, address

BOSTON OYSTER HOUSE
MORRISON HOTEL
CHICAGO

The new Morrison, when completed, will be the world's largest and tallest hotel—46 stories high, with 3,400 rooms.

STANDING on the spot where oysters were first served in Chicago, and reproducing every detail in the layout and appointments of its historic predecessor, the Boston Oyster House is the logical rendezvous for those in quest of a tasty Lenten menu.

A Fifty-Years' Romance

But on feast days and fast days alike, this famous restaurant maintains its popularity of half a century and more. The renowned coffee houses of 18th century London have not entertained more eminent guests than have gathered around these hospitable tables.

Rooms, $2.50 Up. Why Rates Are Low

During this long period, the Clark and Madison intersection has gained a celebrity that is reflected in the revenues drawn by the hotel from subleases, and the saving is passed on to the guests. Rooms are rented here at little more than half the rates that would be charged at other leading hotels for similar rooms.

Every Room with Bath

All rooms are outside, with bath, running ice water, bed-head lamp, telephone and Servidor. Every floor has its housekeeper, and all guests enjoy garage privileges.

NORTH SHORE TOWNS TO PICK NEW OFFICERS

Elections to Be on April 2, 9, and 16.

The north shore towns will be under new leadership in another month. Evanston, Winnetka and Glencoe elect on Tuesday, April 2; Lake Forest holds its election April 9 and Wilmette and Kenilworth ballot on the 16th. Highland Park is run on the commission plan and will not hold an election this year.

Charles H. Bartlett is running unopposed for reelection as mayor of Evanston. There are three candidates for city clerk, Edward W. Bell, who is up for reelection; L. S. Hellstrom, and Mrs. Helen F. Brown.

H. D. Bent, who resigned recently as alderman of the Sixth ward, is running unopposed for city treasurer. C. F. Bull is the only candidate for police trustee.

In the first ward, Ald. Sidney S. Peyser is unopposed, as are Ald. Clinton Kerrick in the second and Ald. Lester Gay in the third. Ald. Albert E. Dibble is opposed by David J. Hebson in the Fourth ward.

Tight Race in Fifth.

In the fifth ward the race is tighter, Ald. Oscar H. Carlson, George G. Kelly, Edward L. Kappelman, and John F. Runge all running. Herbert A. Simpson is unopposed in the 6th ward.

An interesting battle will occur in the 7th, the north lake shore ward, where William Harrison Fetridge, a senior student at Northwestern university, editor of the Purple Parrot comic magazine, who lives at the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house, will oppose Ald. William H. Knapp.

There are four candidates for police magistrate, Charles G. Franklin, who now holds the position; J. J. Schram, Owen F. Andrews, and Willis Brightman, at present a justice of the peace. The office has been put on a salary basis of $8,000 a year by a recent council ordinance instead of the former fee system.

Boards Would Be Justices.

For justice of the peace eleven are running and five will be elected. The candidates are: Samuel Harrison, incumbent; John P. Russ, H. H. Porter, C. Lauren Maltby, Max Borchardt, William R. Keefe, James M. Corcoran, Jesse G. Barber, A. W. Saeger, A. J. McCaughey, and J. M. Lison.

Candidates for constable, from whom two will be elected, are Henry P. Lyon, Henry Witt, Ralph Witt, Jesse Miller, Bert Livingston, George W. Harrison, Timothy J. Sullivan, Harold R. Powers, James Frieson, and Frank B. Johnson.

Winnetka candidates are nominated by village caucus and will run unopposed for the various offices. William B. Moulton is slated to succeed Henry P. Kenney as village president.

Candidates for the three two year vacancies on the board of trustees are Mrs. Doris D. Benson, Ralph Snyder, and Arthur E. Bryson. Jacob M. Dickinson is candidate for the unexpired term left by the resignation of Mr. Moulton to take over the presidency. Other candidates are: Treasurer, William E. Davis; marshal and collector, Theodore Flynn; police magistrate, Clarke T. Northrup, and library trustees, Dudley K. French and C. B. Dallas.

Gen Ticket in Glencoe.

In Glencoe the coalition party has nominated an unopposed ticket. James A. Russell, who was appointed president last fall when Winfred D. Gerber resigned, is the candidate for president. Trustees are Alfred B. Smith, Worth Nevins, Louis Waeselaer, and Otto C. Hornung. Francis A. Bonner and May L. Sherwin are up for reelection of the public library.

Other candidates are: Village clerk, Ben Lockner; constable, William Bauer; marshal, H. V. Richardson; police commissioner, Harry Stannard.

The deadline for filing petitions of candidates is Monday in Lake Forest and a week from Monday in Wilmette and Kenilworth. Candidates for offices in these towns will not be announced until after these dates.

CALL CAUCUSES FOR EVANSTON SCHOOL BOARD

Candidates for positions on the board of education of the high school district as well as the district 75 board in Evanston will be selected next week in caucuses of representatives of several civic and parent-teacher organizations.

Mrs. Edward R. Ladd, secretary of the high school caucus, has called the meeting of that group for 8 o'clock Monday evening in the community room of the State Bank and Trust company building. Two places are to be filled by election, the unexpired term left vacant by the death of Mrs. Edward Crampton and the position now held by Mrs. Thomas Sidley. Representatives of more than 27 organizations are expected to attend.

The district 75 caucus will be held next Thursday at 8 in the board of education rooms. Earl C. Iredale is secretary of the caucus. Terms of seven members of the board expire at this time, those held by Hubert E. Dann, Albert D. Sanders Jr., and Mrs. Frank L. Richardson. A candidate for president will also be chosen by the caucus since this office is held for only a year.

District 76 in Evanston does not nominate by caucus.

Hoover's Fellow Voyager Heard by Lake View Club

Dr. Henry Clay Risner, who accompanied President Hoover on his tour of South America, was the speaker at the meeting of the Lake View Kiwanis club, Wednesday, at the Webster hotel, 2150 Lincoln Park west. His topic was "America and Her Neighbors."

GLENOLA JUNIORS SHOW SPRING STYLES

*Members of the junior auxiliary of the Glenola club staged a fashion show at the latest meeting of the club in the Sovereign hotel, 6200 Kenmore avenue. Miss Marie McCaughey, chairman of the civic and educational committee, was in charge of the revue. Miss Mildred M. Shea is president of the club. The picture shows some of the models. ## Society Folk Arrange 1849 "Breakdown"

The Lower North Community council, 1120 North Clark street, will be the beneficiary of a charity program to be given April 5 at the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. Details of the program, which will include playlets, dancing and other entertainment, are being arranged by a special committee of which Adlai E. Stevenson is chairman.

Meeker and Laflin Write Play.

The performance is entitled a "breakdown," given by the Forty-Niners of Red Cap Gulch. One feature will be a one act playlet depicting the characters and customs of the period, which has been written by Arthur Meeker Jr. and Louis Ellsworth Laflin Jr. The cast has been selected and rehearsals will begin this week.

The "breakdown" will be the fifth annual charity event for the benefit of the Lower North Community council. The council, which is non-sectarian, non-political and not allied with any organization, has just completed its tenth year. The council keeps in touch with residents of the lower north district, discovering and aiding needs of individuals and organizations in the district. Miss Frieda Foltz is executive secretary of the organization.

60TH ANNIVERSARY IS CELEBRATED BY NORTH SIDE COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Johnson celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary last Wednesday at their home, 3913 Janssen avenue, with a dinner for their six children, thirteen grandchildren and three greatgrandchildren.

MRS. PETER JOHNSON.

PETER JOHNSON.

Mr. Johnson is 89 years old and his wife is 80. They both come from long-lived families. Mr. Johnson's grandmother lived to be 100 and one sister died at 90. Mrs. Johnson has a sister living at the age of 89.

They left Skene, Sweden, where they were married in 1869, 49 years ago, and came to Chicago, where they have resided ever since with the exception of four years spent in Seattle, Wash.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs Anent the Passing Throng.

BY FRED PASLEY.

HOMER HEATH has been seen occupying the stump in his front yard. Spring is believed here.

Henry D. Crooks, proprietor of the terminal warehouse, has returned with Mrs. Crooks and their daughter, Virginia, from his trip around the world, during which the bey of Tunis personally decorated him, making him a commander of the Order of Nicham Iftiker. Henry is a local boy, born and reared on the north side, and level headed, so the honor has not changed him one whit.

Howard S. Evans writes concerning the hole-in-one achievement of Oscar F. Greifenhagen on the Lakewood course at St. Petersburg, Fla. "Our Town folks will be interested in Grif's ace," he correctly states. "Grif, who is only 69 years of age, is a regular shooter at Edgewater and has put it all over some of his 80 year old friends, who have never yet accomplished the feat. Give him a good hand." Righto, Howard. The hole, the fourteenth, is a 135 yard drive and Grif negotiated it with his midiron.

THE survey conducted by the Evanston chamber of commerce reveals that the church denominations include, Roman Catholic, Methodist Episcopal, United Presbyterian, Presbyterian, Free Methodist, Baptist, Lutheran, Episcopal, Congregational, Christian Science, Unitarian, Evangelical, Christian, Community Center, Church of Gods and Saints of Christ and Church of God in Christ; thus providing 17 different roads to heaven in that enterprising suburb.

Mrs. Lillian M. Zech of Niles Center, who has been entertaining her brother from Aurora, was a visitor the last week, putting at the Hotel Sherman golf show.

JUDGE CLAIRE C. EDWARDS of the Lake County Circuit court is preparing to hear the divorce suit of a Lake Forest lady—Mrs. Blank, let us say. Among other charges she recites that after one libation Mr. Blank refuses to escort her pet Pekingese poodle out for its evening walk; that after two shots he actually utters slurring remarks about it. Here we have a true picture of the curse of strong drink, its debasing influence on the human mind. We see man, supposed to represent the highest thought in the universe, endowed with an immortal soul, intellect and reason, so bereft of his faculties as to be incapable of a kind thought for our four footed friend. We see the Pekingese poodle, its noble face upturned, its trustful eyes, beautiful with faith, fixed expectantly upon him; its tail wagging. We hear its glad yip yip as it seizes its leash for Mr. Blank to take. Then we see this otherwise gentle, thoughtful, dutiful husband brutally repulsing it; we hear him heaping coarse maledictions on the head of the little pet of the woman he has solemnly vowed to love and to cherish, to have and to hold for better or for worse. We see the poodle creeping to its corner, broken hearted, deprived of its evening airing, one more victim of the hated Demon Rum. The pathos, the shame of it, friends! Let us heed the lesson.

Our Rogers Park correspondent reports that Dr. Harry Jordan of Farwell avenue has canceled all social engagements since the passage by congress of the Jones prohibition bill and is now devoting himself to stirring up interest among the American people for his Better Backbone Week.

NOTICE: On and after this date we will not be responsible for what may happen to contributors who send in innuendoes regarding Christmas cigar lighters—The Editor.

So much pressure has been brought to bear upon us by poetry lovers and all true friends of struggling young writers that we feel impelled to publish the following verse, which appeared in a marked copy of the Cherry Circle sent us:

Do you remember?
Way back when—
A big steak cost a dollar ten?
And you could get
Long Island duck
By plunking down a single buck?
For sixty cents
They'd serve a dish
Of almost any kind of fish?
And vegetables by the score
Cost twenty cents—but never more?
For sandwiches I've stood the rise,
And, too, for puddings, cakes and pies;
But I'll not dig
Down in my jeans
For eighty cents for Pork and Beans.

Hold Community Dinner Tonight at Agudath Achim

A community dinner will be given by the congregation of Agudath Achim this evening in the community house, 4918 North Bernard street. The women's auxiliary, with Mrs. Isidore Feuerzeig as chairman, is in charge of the arrangements. The auxiliary will hold a card party next Sunday.

Budlong Pupils to Give MacDowell Program

Pupils of Budlong school, 2701 Foster avenue, will present a MacDowell musical program, Wednesday evening, in the assembly hall. All residents of the community have been invited to attend the program, which has been arranged by teachers and students.

University of Scouting to Hear E. Urner Goodman

E. Urner Goodman, scout executive of the Chicago Council of Boy Scouts, will be the speaker at the eighth session of the University of Scouting, Tuesday evening in the Berry Memorial community house, Giddings and Leavitt streets.

Offspring numbering twenty-seven attended the 90th birthday celebration of Joseph Eder, 6221 North Claremont avenue, at his home recently. Seven sons and daughters, fifteen grandchildren and five great-grandchildren were present.

Break Ground for Church in Evanston

Ground was broken last Sunday for the $100,000 Northminster Presbyterian church building to be erected at Harrison street and Central Park avenue in Evanston.

The congregation, which was formed recently in the rapidly growing district in north Evanston, has been meeting since its inception in the Haven school auditorium.

English Gothic Design.

The building will be of English Gothic design with walls of Bedford stone laid at random. The under side of the roof will be wood, supported by arched trusses. Mundie and Jensen are the architects.

The Rev. Wallace Harper Carver, 2334 Forrestview road, is pastor; John S. Small is chairman of the building committee, and A. E. Yauger is chairman of the finance committee. Other members are D. I. Williams, W. C. Eberle, L. J. Petrie, E. K. Cullison and J. R. Oxanne.

Plans for the church include an assembly room in the basement, with a large kitchen, a Boy Scout room, and a guild room with a wood burning fireplace and kitchenette.

Woman's Guild Formed.

In spite of lack of a regular home, the church has a fully organized Woman's guild. Mrs. J. M. Link was reelected president at a recent meeting of the group. Other officers include: First vice president, Mrs. E. Philip Barry; second vice president, Mrs. W. H. Carver; third vice president, Mrs. D. I. Williams; fourth vice president, Mrs. A. B. Smith; fifth vice president, Mrs. A. J. Pfandhoefer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John S. Small; recording secretary, Mrs. H. J. Akin; treasurer, Mrs. C. C. Lake; auditor, Mrs. J. E. Emerson.

HAILS VICTORY FOR WIDENING OF WILSON AVE.

Ravenswood Puts It Over, Says Backer.

With the approval recently given by Ravenswood Improvement association and other civic organizations in the Ravenswood district, the success of the proposal to widen Wilson avenue from the lake to Ravenswood avenue is assured, William H. Fiske, president of the Wilson Avenue Property Owners association, sponsors of the plan, reports. The approval of a majority of property owners on Wilson avenue between the lake and Clark street had previously been given.

A meeting of the special committee of the Wilson Avenue Property Owners and Business Men's association, the temporary organization backing the movement, will be held tomorrow evening at the Clarendon Beach hotel, 831 Wilson avenue. The committee is seeking to obtain several other leading business men in the district to serve on the committee before proceeding with the enterprise and forming a permanent organization to promote it.

Space Already Available.

At the Ravenswood meeting Mr. Fiske addressed the residents of the Ravenswood district and explained the procedure to be followed in obtaining the street widening. He declared that the work could be completed without moving any buildings in the section between Clark street and Ravenswood avenue, since a 15 foot parkway will more than supply the proposed 10 foot addition to the roadway. A committee will be appointed by Everett W. Miles, president of the Ravenswood Improvement association, to study the plan and to report to the members at the next meeting.

Felix Coune, president of the Irving Ashland Business Men's association, also reports that the movement will be given the coöperation of that organization. He added that this improvement will link up with the widening of Ashland avenue, which is regarded as assured.

In the section of Wilson avenue, between the lake and Clark street, 64 property owners of a total of 86 have declared themselves in accord with the plan for widening the present 40 foot roadway to 50 feet by cutting off five feet of each sidewalk. The sidewalks are at present 30 feet feet wide.

Petition to Be Circulated.

The special committee promoting the improvement is composed of J. W. Belanger, F. H. Marks, John Bowers, Frank Taylor, J. B. Waller, William McJunkin, William H. McGraham, and W. B. Lawald. George A. White, executive secretary of the association, is handling the details of the enterprise. When the complete plan has been worked out, a petition will be circulated which Ald. John A. Massen [48th] will be asked to present to the city council.

Mr. Fiske said that with the city paying the usual one-third of the expense, the cost of the widening to the property owner will be approximately $5 a front foot. The estimated cost is $50,000 from figures prepared by George La Rue, engineer in the department of public works. This includes a sheet asphalt pavement, new curbs and gutters, excavation, replacement of concrete sidewalks, removal of trees, and adjustment of sewers and electrical equipment.

The Lincoln park commissioners have assured the construction of a grade separation at the intersection of Wilson avenue, when extended to the lake and the new outer drive. The next step in the movement will be to obtain the approval of property owners west of Ravenswood avenue, Mr. Fiske said.

First P. E. O. Pledge

Mrs. H. B. Williams of Evanston, earliest living initiate of the P. E. O. sisterhood, will be a distinguished delegate at the national convention of the organization, to be held in Chicago in September. [Copyright: Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

P. E. O. Meets in Chicago in September

North district chapters of the P. E. O. sisterhood are making plans for the national biennial convention, which will be held in Chicago for the first time in thirty years next Sept. 17 to 20. It will be held at the Stevens hotel and 800 delegates in addition to many visitors from all over the country are expected.

From Evanston, the first pledge and earliest living initiate to the charter group, Mrs. H. B. Williams, 1940 Sheridan road, past state president of the Illinois chapter, will attend. Mrs Williams is also the earliest living member since she has survived the seven charter members.

Founded at Iowa Wesleyan.

The organization of P. E. O. was founded at Iowa Wesleyan college, Mount Pleasant, Ia., Jan. 21, 1869. It began there originally as one of the early social college sororities, although instead of taking a Greek letter name, it always retained the initials, P. E. O. When the seven young women who had founded the group were graduated from college, they desired to retain their ties of mutual ideals, principles and friendship and so they continued the work of their organization beyond school days.

Loan Fund for Girls.

The chief philanthropy of P. E. O. is an educational loan fund for girls who wish to complete their college education. This fund now totals half a million dollars, and more than 2,500 girls have been helped by it.

Chicago chapters contribute their portion to the fund and may recommend girls to receive this aid. Each sponsors at least one girl.

Chapters on the north side and north shore include: A T, Waukegan, president, Mrs. Olive Phelps, 631 North County road; A Z, Evanston, president, Mrs. Erma F. Betts, 803 Clinton place; B S, Winnetka, president, Mrs. N. K. Anderson, 585 Willow road; C N, Winnetka, president, Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, 412 Walnut street; C P, Lake Forest, Mrs. Edith W. Johnson; C I, Chicago, Mrs. Iva Soll, 437 Belmont avenue; P, Mrs. Anne Rhodes, 1288 Early avenue; A F, Mrs. Vell C. Pendell, River Forest (the chapter is centered in Edgewater).

PALM SUNDAY TODAY OPENS WEEK OF PIETY

All Churches Plan Special Services.

North side churches are greeting Palm Sunday today with solemn services, impressive ceremonies and special choral presentations.

Every night of Holy week, too, will mark some activity at all of the north side churches. The week preceding Easter Sunday is the most active in the church calendar.

Reception of new members is being held this morning at the Berry Memorial Methodist Episcopal church at 2306 Giddings street. Special music will accompany this ceremony.

In the evening the members of the Welles Park Women's club will participate in a special vesper service at the church. This service, beginning at 7:45 o'clock, is expected to be unusually inspirational.

Swiss hand bell ringers will be present at the church on Tuesday evening to present a sacred program. Midweek prayer service will be held Wednesday, and communion service on Friday.

Pageant by Sunday School.

"From Darkness to Dawn" will be presented by the Berry Sunday school on Friday evening. Most of the members of the large Sunday school class take part in this religious pageant.

"Blessing of palms and distribution will take place at St. Michael's Catholic church, 1633 Cleveland avenue, at 9:15 o'clock this morning, preceded by high mass and chanting of the "Passion."

Sixty members who comprise the St. Michael's choir will take part in an oratorio, "St. Cecelia," to be presented at the church auditorium tonight. The oratorio has been under rehearsal for several weeks.

Chanting of the "Tenebrae" will take place at St. Michael's on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Special mass will take place at 8 o'clock on Thursday and Friday, and at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning.

Confirmation at Bethany.

Confirmation takes place at 11 o'clock this morning at the Bethany Evangelical church at 4242 North Paulina street. The Rev. H. W. Dinkmeyer is pastor.

Services will be held at 10 o'clock on the morning of Good Friday, evening services at 8 o'clock. Special music by the choir will feature all services.

Solemn high mass, with blessing and distribution of palms, takes place at 11:30 this morning at St. Vincent's church at 1010 Webster avenue. Procession of school children will add pomp to the ceremonies.

Three priests will chant the "Passion," an interpretation of the gospell of St. Matthew involving symbolical rites. Altar boys' choir will furnish special music.

Services will take place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening at 7:45. Masses will be held on the three days at 8 o'clock in the morning.

Ravenswood Presbyterian Reception.

Reception of members will also take place today at the Ravenswood Presbyterian church, 4511 North Hermitage avenue. The Rev. Frederick L. Selden, pastor, will deliver a special sermon.

Regular services will be held throughout the week. Special music will be the feature at the Friday evening service.

Miss Louise Opheim will be the soloist at today's special service at Waveland Avenue Congregational church, Waveland avenue and Janssen avenue, at 11 o'clock. Walter Stone will be the soloist at the evening services. The choir will furnish special music at both services.

The Rev. E. L. Reiner will deliver the sermon, "Christ the King," in the morning, and "Christ the Ruler" in the evening.

Every night in the week marks a special service, with special choral music, and a sermon each night. The Rev. Mr. Reiner has endeavored to center his theme about an important biblical character each night, leading up to the climax on Easter Sunday.

Cantata Friday Evening.

"Judas the Betrayer" will be Monday's text. "Peter the Denier" will be the subject of Tuesday's sermon. "Pilate the Evader" is Wednesday's sermon, "Simon the Cross Bearer," Thursday's, and "Marys—the Faithful," Friday's. "Christ the Unrisen" will culminate the series on Saturday.

"Messages from the Cross," Will C. MacFarlan's cantata, will be sung on Friday evening. All members of the choir, numbered at 50, are participating.

Solemn high mass with blessing and distribution of palms takes place at St. Alphonsus church at Southport and Wellington at 9:30 o'clock. Singing of the "Passion" will also take place.

"Lamentations of Jeremiah the Prophet" will be sung Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Friday's services will be followed by veneration of the cross. Regular masses will be held each morning, with special mass at 8 o'clock on Friday and Saturday.

St. Paul's Woman's Guild to Hold Party on April 1

The annual spring card party of the woman's guild of St. Paul's Church-by-the-Lake, Ashland and Estes avenues, will be held April 1 at the Edgewater Beach hotel. Members of the committee in charge are Mrs. H. B. Macrae, Mrs. J. W. Blessing, Mrs. William Haight, Mrs. J. C. Downs, Mrs. Enos Bookwalter, Mrs. J. L. Bertsch, Mrs. Arthur Patterson, Mrs. K. S. Crigler, Mrs. H. W. Melville, president of the guild, and Mrs. E. W. Whitney, treasurer.

Lake View Girls Make Own $2.50 Dresses

Girls of the household arts department of Lake View High school, Ashland avenue and Irving Park boulevard, make all their own dresses. Their needlework was exhibited at a style show at a recent meeting of the Parent-Teacher association. The dressmaking class meets during the first five weeks of each semester under the instruction of Miss Florence Norton and Miss Clara Kneedy. The dresses cost approximately $2.50 each. Front, left to right: Miss Wilma Stradley, Miss Harriet Jahn, Miss Clara Trischmann, Miss Elizabeth Bach, Miss Doris Dalb, Miss Marjorie Kallenbach. Rear, left to right: Miss Gladys Pleig, Miss Annabelle Davis, Miss Ruth Haller, Miss Shirley Peterson and Miss Marion Bosworth.

SUGGEST SCHOOL USE OF BOTH JAIL AND COURT SITES

Officials Consider Institution to Teach Business.

While the North Central association is receiving the coöperation of numerous north side civic organizations in a campaign to rid the near north side of the old county jail and Criminal courts building on North Dearborn street between Illinois street and Austin avenue, an amendment to the plan proposed by the association for the future use of the property is under consideration by the board of education.

The North Central association, which recently called a meeting of representatives of civic organizations to discuss various problems of interest to residents of the north side, including the jail problem, recommended at that time that the Criminal courts building on the south section of the block, at Dearborn street and Austin avenue, be remodeled and used as the headquarters of all state offices located in Chicago. It also urged that the jail, Dearborn street and Illinois street, be removed and a new building to house the various offices of the board of education be constructed on the site. The school offices are at present located in several buildings in the downtown district.

Suggest Both Sites for Schools.

As the state officials are working on the plan to use the Criminal courts building as their headquarters, it was suggested at a recent meeting of the board of education that the school system make use of the entire property, including the courts building. The plan provided that the administration building be built on the jail site and that the courts building be remodeled and used as a business and commerce school. This question will be further discussed at the board meeting Wednesday.

A message received by William C. Calvert, executive secretary of the North Central association, from State Representative Ernest W. Turner of the 29th district stated: "I have interviewed a majority of senators and representatives of the north side districts and they are heartily in accord with your plan to convert the courthouse and jail to school and state purposes and are ready to coöperate with you."

At the massmeeting held at the Virginia hotel, Rush and Ohio streets, under the auspices of the North Central association, the 250 delegates unanimously indorsed their plan and since that time the association has received a number of letters from business and improvement associations, Kiwanis and Lions clubs, women's clubs and other organizations, approving the plan and guaranteeing coöperation. These letters will be forwarded to the board of education, city council and state offices.

Backed by Clark Street Body.

Among the indorsements is that of the Central North Clark Street Improvement association.

"The county jail should be used for something beneficial to the near north side and the public at large. I fully believe our officials will gladly coöperate in eliminating the jail for the benefit of our citizenry in general. I, personally, would call it an eyesore to our community," Benjamin Blumenthal, chairman of the board of directors of the association, said.

Other officers and directors of the association indorsing the plan are Thomas H. Gould, Harry Weiner, Max Spachner, Miss Sadie Weiss, Edwin Levin, Samuel T. Morris, Fred Kavanagh, Max Samuels, James M. Moran, Morris Klein and Charles E. Pearce.

"The executive committee of the Lower North Community council indorses the plan to remove the old county jail on North Dearborn street from the heart of the city and bar the use of this site for any further prison purposes," said Miss Frieda Foltz, executive secretary of the council. Members of the excutive committee include Frederick T. West, Mrs. Robert P. Bates, Mrs. Arthur L. Farwell, Vincent E. Ferrarar, Miss Margaret Furness, Howard P. Bryant, James Curtis, Mrs. James B. Herrick, Alfred T. Martin, Mrs. Bronson Peck, Albert Schroder, William Swannell, and James B. Waller.

N. H. Van Sicklen, executive secretary of the Lake Shore Athletic club, said: "You may expect the support of the officers and members of our club on any action for the betterment of conditions within the jurisdiction of the North Central association, and you can count their vote in favor of whatever in your opinion should be done for the benefit of this near north side."

The movement recommending the use of the courts and jail property for school and state purposes was started by the North Central association following a report that the federal government contemplated utilizing the buildings for prison purposes.

CAMERAS RECORD ARRIVAL OF SPRING

Chicago Student Wins Military School Honor

Howard Couturier, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Couturier, 528 Aldine avenue, has been elected on the board of governors of the senior class at Columbia Military academy, Columbia, Tenn. This is an unusual honor, since only six students are elected, outstanding members of their class.

THREE DISTRICTS ON N. SIDE TO GET ALL DRESSED UP

Modernizing Bureau Will Open Branches.

Branches of the Chicago Modernizing bureau are to be established in three north side communities within the near future, it is announced by R. I. Tabb, general manager of the bureau. Following a survey of conditions in the districts and meetings with business men and civic leaders of the communities the bureau decided to establish branches in Rogers Park, Lincoln square, and Lincoln-Belmont districts. Officials of the bureau are seeking locations for the branches.

The purpose of the bureau is to aid in the betterment of home conditions, the improvement of all business properties, the modernizing of buildings, facilities, and surroundings, and the general modernization of the entire community.

Merchants Approve Plans.

Plans for the branch office to be established in the Lincoln square district, the community in the vicinity of Lawrence, Western, and Lincoln avenues, were announced at a meeting of more than 30 business men of the district recently at the Bowmanville National Bank building. John P. O'Shaughnessy, president of the Lincoln square plan commission, and Emil M. Heidkamp were appointed as an advisory board for the branch in that district.

The establishment of bureaus for the service of residents in the Rogers Park and Lincoln-Belmont districts were also discussed at meetings of contractors and other business men in these districts. The coöperation of contractors and builders was guaranteed, and the indorsement of business houses promise to make the enterprise a forward step in the progress of the communities. Advisory boards are to be selected in these districts.

Service without Cost.

The services of the branch bureaus will be maintained by the Chicago Modernizing bureau without cost to residents, Mr. Tabb said. The modernizing movement is a national activity which is sponsored by civic bodies and leading organizations in the building industries throughout the country. The program of the bureaus will be to furnish owners with plans and contractors and to finance such improvements.

SEEK TO MERGE SMALL SCHOOLS IN COOK COUNTY

Women Cite Chance to Improve Facilities,

Possibilities of a larger school unit will be discussed by both the Chicago school affairs committee and the Cook county school affairs committee of the Council of Cook County Leagues of Women Voters when the twenty-three leagues in the council gather for their monthly meeting in their assembly room at 203 North Wabash avenue Tuesday.

It has been brought to the attention of these committees that there are still eighty one-room schoolhouses in Cook county and the women are interested in combining several small districts into larger units of taxation so that modern school buildings with complete equipment may be installed. Chairmen of the committees are Mrs. George Sikes of the Austin league and Mrs. J. A. Meade of Western Springs.

The bill now pending in the state legislature providing for a larger state school fund will be discussed by the school committees, particularly with reference to distribution of the fund. In addition, the Chicago schools committee will study civil service conditions in schools.

Other Committees to Meet.

Other permanent committees of the League of Women Voters to which each of the 23 leagues will send a delegate at the meeting are: The sanitary district committee, of which Mrs. R. I. Childs of Winnetka is chairman; Cook county government committee, with Mrs. Robert Lee Benson of River Forest as chairman; the Chicago affairs committee with Mrs. C. K. Webster as chairman; the city and village affairs committee, which has Mrs. Willard V. Little of Evanston as chairman; and the group of local league presidents who will meet to discuss their local problems such as membership and finance.

Each of these committees meets at the general council meeting once a month and sometimes a committee chairman calls special meetings of her committee more frequently. Part of the meeting time is devoted to the study of specific problems outlined for the year and the remainder is given over to discussion of current problems. At the meeting this week the sanitary district committee will study the plans to gulf waterway plans and a report will be made on the status of the bill to provide for civil service in the sanitary district. Members of the committee on city and village affairs will study the city manager plan and attempt to devise means by which it could successfully be applied to their different communities.

Group to Discuss Traction.

The Chicago affairs committee will discuss all phases and angles of the traction problem and will also take up the current tax question.

Luncheon will be served by the Austin league, after which all committees will gather for a general meeting to be addressed by John O. Reese, director of the Cook County Joint Commission on Real Estate Evaluation. Mr. Reese will explain the latest developments in the tax reassessment tangle and will distribute advance copies of the latest report of his committee which will not be released until Wednesday.

Miss Edith Rockwood, public affairs secretary of the Illinois League of Women Voters and the official representative in Springfield, will also address the general meeting Tuesday afternoon, explaining state and national items of current interest. Among the subjects which she will discuss will be the jury service bills, the arbitration and conciliation treaties before the United States senate, the Newton bill for maternity and infant welfare, a bill for motor drivers' licenses, and the state school fund distribution measure.

Hadassah Sells Luncheon Plates at $50 Each

Members of the north side chapters of the Hadassah are working hard to sell 1,000 plates to the $50 honor luncheon which will be held April 10 at the Palmer House to raise $50,000 for charitable organizations the Hadassah group supports. Left to right: Mrs. Harry Fisher, president of the north side group; Mrs. Harry Weil, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Bertha Read, vice president; Mrs. M. L. Levin, recording secretary; Miss Georgia Golinker, financial secretary, and Mrs. Mae Rosenwald Herbst, buying a plate. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

WOMEN'S LEADER

Mrs. S. M. Singleton, president of the Wilmette League of Women Voters, is an active member of the presidents' group, which is one of the seven committees of the Council of Cook County Leagues of Women Voters, which will meet Tuesday.

COMMUNITY BODY IN ROGERS PARK RENAMES BURDICK

Dr. G. G. Burdick was reelected president of the Rogers Park Improvement association at the latest meeting in the Phillip State Bank building, Clark street and Lunt avenue. Other officers selected are: Vice president, James R. Prendergast; treasurer, Peter Phillip, and secretary, United States Commissioner James R. Glass.

The association was organized in 1889. Mr. Glass has served as secretary more than 20 years.

Following the reports of committees, including that in charge of snow plowing during the winter months, a discussion was held in an effort to improve the method of financing the snow plowing.

Dr. Burdick pointed out that approximately 350 residents of Rogers Park pay the expenses of clearing the walks of snow for more than 12,000 families. More than forty-five miles of sidewalks are cleaned after each heavy snowfall. An appeal will be made for aid from the commissioners of the north shore park district. Only two residents on Sheridan road contribute to the treasury of the association, Dr. Burdick said.

Alpha Beta Pi Party.

The Alpha Beta Pi sorority, formerly the Bridgette club, held a pledge party Sunday at the home of Miss Grace Marie Grams, 1321 Chase avenue. Miss Grams was the organizer of the group.

NEW EVANSTON SCHOOL VISITED BY HUNDREDS

Housewarming and public inspection of the new Nichols intermediate school in Evanston were held Thursday and Friday evenings, with more than 1,000 guests attending each night.

Superintendent of Schools F. W. Nichols, for whom the new building was named, introduced the speakers, Dr. B. F. Andrews, president of the district 76 board, and Charles W. Spofford, president of district 75.

Students of the school presented one act plays with a different cast for each night, under the direction of Miss Evelyn Wiseman.

DANIEL BOONE P.-T. ASSOCIATION NAMES OFFICERS

Richard Neumabel was elected president of the Daniel Boone Parent-teacher association at the latest meeting in the school assembly hall, 6710 north Washtenaw avenue. Other officers are: First vice president, Mrs. Anna Remer; second vice president, George Wolf; recording secretary, Mrs. M. R. Horrocks; financial secretary, Mrs. O. J. Allerton; treasurer, O. J. Allerton, and historian, Mrs. Jean Miller.

A program including dramatic interpretations and musical selections were presented by the students for their parents. Plans for a drive for the erection of a branch library for the north town district were discussed and a committee will be appointed at the next meeting to present the question to officials of Chicago public library.

The All-Steel, Completely Shielded Chassis

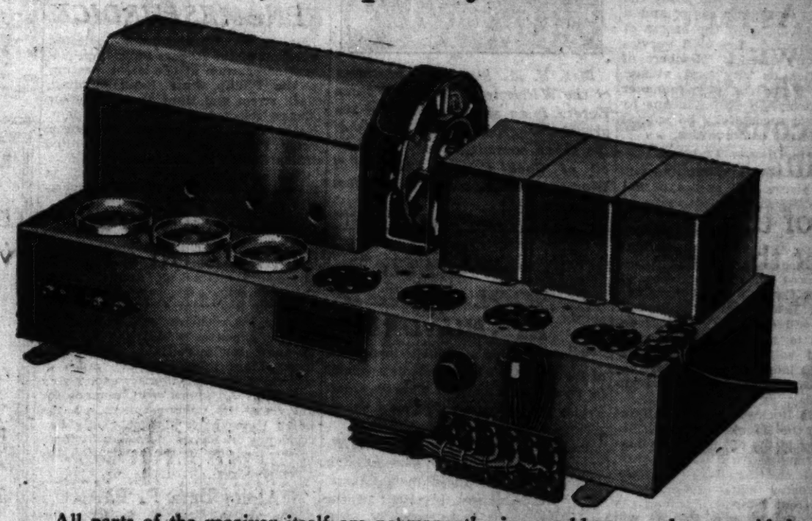

All parts of the receiver itself are permanently, immovably secured to a welded, heavily braced steel chassis. The movable tuning elements are completely enclosed and shielded by a steel housing. On the under side of the chassis, one finds the coils handling radio frequency currents enclosed in heavy copper shields for long distance reception and sharp selectivity. The transformers handling the energy after it becomes audible frequency current are sealed in individual cases with air and water-proof compound. Note the telephone switchboard type wiring employed—the individual shields provided for each of the three tubes handling radio frequency current. Every feature that research engineers have found will aid perfect reception is applied in Majestic Radio.

The Power Pack Is Large—Husky—Rugged

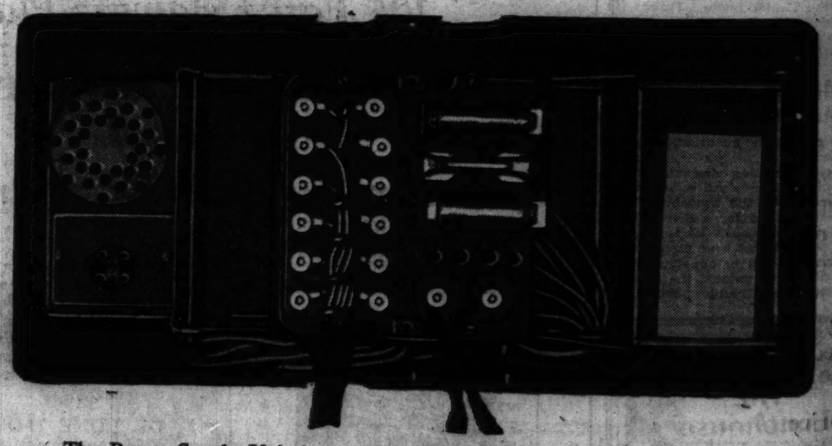

The Power Supply Unit in a Majestic Radio is very nearly as large as some of the table model receivers on the market which include set and power unit. The huge transformers for plate and filament power supply cannot overheat or burn out—are more than adequate for any demands that may be made upon them. The condensers which are part of the current filter are of exceptionally large capacity and carefully tested on high voltage. Nothing approaching the Majestic "Ballast" is to be found in any other Radio. House lighting currents may vary from 90 up to 130 volts (normally 110), but the Majestic "Ballast" maintains an even, constant flow of power to the receiver. Compare this Power Supply with any other!

AIMS TO "SELL" W. ROGERS PARK TO ITS PEOPLE

Association Finds They Undervalue Section.

"The aim of our association the coming year is to sell the community to its residents," says Frank C. Gosswiller, newly elected president of the West Ridge Improvement association. "Our folks know they live in a fine neighborhood, but its advantages and its prospects are much greater than they realize."

Mr. Gosswiller last year was secretary of the association, which serves the interests of residents in West Rogers Park between Kedzie avenue on the west, Ridge avenue on the east, Devon avenue on the south, and Howard street on the north.

"West Rogers Park," cites Mr. Gosswiller, "has shown a phenomenal growth in population and consequently in real estate values the last five years. With its many fine homes and apartment houses, it is one of the beauty spots of Chicago. Centrally located in the heart of the section is one of the finest small parks in Chicago.

Useful as Well as Ornamental.

"Due to the efforts of our local park board and the plans of J. P. Smith, one of the commissioners, our park as well as being ornamental, is most useful, with its swimming pool, playgrounds and tennis courts. It also contains a miniature zoo of birds and animals. The community house now being erested in the park is an improvement in which we take genuine pride.

"Sites for new schools in the section have been proposed, with condemnation proceedings for the junior high at Rockwell street and Jarvis avenue well under way.

"With the coming settlement of the transportation question, we hope to have out West Line elevated located somewhere between Western avenue and Kedzie avenue. This is an improvement for which we have been fighting ten years. Massmeetings to discuss the subject have been held at various times, and a petition with 10,000 signatures is now on file at the city hall.

Touhy Soon to Be Paved.

"Paving of the last full section line on the north side—Touhy avenue—will be completed this year. Touhy avenue is the main artery for all north and south highways, such as Western avenue, Lincoln avenue, Milwaukee avenue, and River road.

"We boast the Edgewater Golf course in our section, and the finest cooperative building in the world located across from Indian Boundary park.

"Our schools are of the latest design. The community center of Armstrong school is serving a wonderful purpose for the children of the section. Classes are held on Tuesday nights, dancing and entertainment on Friday nights. The basketball team has won the championship of the North Side Community centers. St. Margaret Mary's and St. Scholastica's academy are located in the community."

New Officers Elected.

The West Ridge Improvement association, which meets the first Tuesday of each month, elected the following officers at its recent annual meeting: Mr. Gosswiller, president; H. D. Pierson, vice president; Carlin H. Woodbridge, secrptary; William Klender, treasurer; William F. Kreuser, financial secretary; O. H. Hedrick, Dr. J. A. Larsen, F. B. Marshall, J. P. Smith, and R. Trimmer, directors.

A special meeting called for last Tuesday night to select other officers and committees was postponed until next Tuesday night.

Lincoln Park B'Nai Brith to Hold Dance Wednesday

Members of the Independent Order of B'nai Brith and their friends will attend an entertainment and dance to be given by the Lincoln Park lodge of the order in the Red room of Hotel La Salle Wednesday evening. The B'nai Brith organization has about 8,000 members in the Chicago district.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Louis B. Hoffing, David S. Komiss, Dr. Harry Kraus, Charles Sommers, and William Nathan. Mrs. Sidney S. Pollack is in charge of the women's committee and is devoting a great deal of time to the work.

Vassar Professor to Speak.

Dr. Bruno Roselli, chairman of the Italian department of Vassar college, will lecture at the Evanston Woman's club next Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Miller School Mothers' club.

WOMEN'S CLUB SEES PLAY WRITTEN BY A MEMBER

*The Rogers Park Women's club Tuesday saw a play which was written by Mrs. Samuel Merrin, one of its members. It was "The Lady of Dreams," based on an episode in the life of Richard Wagner, the composer. The picture shows members of the cast. Seated, left to right: Mrs. Estelle Ayer Johnson, as Mathilde; Don Briggs, as Wagner, and Mrs. Katherine M. Baker. # WHO SAID IT? When, Where and Why

THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each snappy quotation printed and $5 for the best answer. Send your answers and quotations to the Who Said It editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THROUGH an oversight answers to two quotations were omitted last week. They are printed below with the answers to a third quotation which has aroused interest among readers. New quotations are omitted this week but will appear as usual next Sunday.

ANSWERS

Quotation—How to the line, let the chips fall where they may. And—How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

Answer—The above quotation is a commonly used derivation of the following expression: "He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may." This was said by Roscoe Conkling [1829-1888], great American lawyer and senator from New York state, at the Republican national convention of 1880 in Chicago. He referred to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, whom he nominated for a third term as President.

The parody, "Hew to the line, let the quips fall where they may," was from the pen of B. L. T. [Bert Leston Taylor], who originated the "Line o' Type or Two" column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It was adopted as the motto of the column and is still used in that way. B. L. T. was born on Nov. 13, 1866, in Goshen, Mass., and got his early writing experience on the New Hampshire and Maine rural press. In 1899 he came to Chicago and in January, 1901, he became affiliated with THE TRIBUNE and founded "A Line o' Type or Two." He was one of the first column conductors to use the contributions of readers instead of writing it all himself. In addition to being a delightful humorist he was a sane and penetrating critic of music, art and literature. His death occurred on March 19, 1921, but the memory and influence of this beloved, wise, witty writer lives on.—Mary Bryant, 181 31st street, Milwaukee, Wis.

NOTE—Richard Henry Little, present conductor of the column founded by B. L. T., says the expression, "How to the line, let the chips fall where they may," originated in the American pioneer days when log cabins were the fashion in residences. Whole communities would gather to assist a neighbor in building his home. The men would bring their axes and would make a friendly contest of trimming the logs to the proper size. With the lines marked out on the logs and the women and children gathered around to cheer on the contestants, all would start to work at a given signal. Then as the axes rang on wood and the chips flew fast and furiously among the spectators the cry would arise, "Hew to the line, let the chips fly." And thus, says E. H. L., it all began.

Quotation—Be sure you are right, then go ahead.

Answer—This was one of the favorite sayings of David Crockett, American frontiersman, born in Greene county, Tennessee, on Aug. 17, 1786. In 1813 he enlisted under Gen. Andrew Jackson for the Creek Indian war. The quotation was his motto during the fighting. From 1821 to 1824 Crockett was a member of the Tennessee legislature, having won his election not by political speeches but by telling stories. In 1828 he was elected to the national house of representatives as a Jackson Democrat. His shrewdness, eccentric manners, and peculiar wit made him a conspicuous figure, but he was too independent to support all of Jackson's measures and finally lost his seat in 1832. Discouraged and disgusted, he left his native state and went to Texas, then engaged in its struggle for independence from Mexico. There he lost his life as one of the defenders of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836.—Gladys Lammis, 4949 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

Quotation—Retreat, hell! I just got here.

Answer — The above words were spoken by Col. Manus McCloskey of the American expeditionary forces during the world war. On June 3, 1918, Col. [later Brig. Gen.] McCloskey, commanding the 12th field artillery, 2d division, selected positions for his batteries between Ferme de Paris and Ferme d'Issonage, near the Paris-Chateau Thierry road, in order to relieve the 12th French field artillery.

In plain view of the German observers in their Drachen balloons and under a heavy shell fire, Col. McCloskey posted his guns in the positions vacated by the French in order to have the advantage of their firing data. The German advance was continuing steadily, in what the Germans thought was their last, victorious march on Paris.

The commander of the French regiment remonstrated with Col. McCloskey. "It is impossible to remain here; surely you are going to retreat?" he said.

"Retreat? Hell, no!" answered the American artilleryman. "We just got here."

The writer is the son of Col. McCloskey. — Monro McCloskey, care Clark and Trainer, 30 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Answer—This remark was made by Col. Frederick M. Wise, U. S. M. C., of the 5th regiment of marines, 2d division, at Belleau wood. As Wise's men neared the front line they encountered French detachments in retreat. A French officer beseeched the American, "Retiree, retiree," before it was too late.

When Wise got the gist of the discourse through his interpreter he made this characteristic remark: "Retreat, hell! You tell him we just got here. Let's go!"

Col. Wise was a brother officer and personal friend of mine, and after our return to this country, having heard the remark attributed to him, I questioned him as to its authenticity and he related the occurrence. — C. T. Blackburn, ex-commander, U. S. navy, 416 Greenwood boulevard, Evanston, Ill.

NOTE — Both the above answers are awarded prizes since both officers are credited with making the quoted remark in the same operation in the Chateau Thierry sector. Another version of Col. Wise's retort when he was advised to retreat is this: "To hell with that. Let the Germans do the retreating."

HEALTH CHIEF OF EVANSTON TO ADDRESS C. OF C.

Dr. John W. H. Pollard, Evanston health commissioner, will talk on "The Health Department, Its Function and Value to City Life in Evanston," tomorrow before members of the chamber of commerce at their luncheon meeting in the North Shore hotel.

The steering committee, on the social survey being made by the chamber of commerce, headed by Wilfred S. Reynolds, is expected to report back to the larger committee some time this week, as will the steering committee on boy deliquency in Evanston.

At last week's meeting Miss Erma Templeman, president of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, addressed the meeting.

Lower North Council.

"What Is Education?" will be the topic for discussion at the open forum meeting tomorrow evening at the Lower North community council, 1129 North Clark street.

EVANSTON CLUB TO GIVE PAGEANT ON ANNIVERSARY

Women to Show History of Own Group.

Their fortieth milestone as an organization dedicated to civic and education, philanthropic and social activities will be observed Wednesday by members of the Woman's club of Evanston with an anniversary program reviewing in pageant form the history of their existence.

Emphasis will be placed on the early scenes when meetings were held at the home of the founder and first president of the club, Mrs. Elizabeth Boynton Harbert. She will be portrayed by her grandniece, Miss Dorothy Lewis, now president of the young woman's auxiliary of the club.

Second President Active.

Mrs. T. P. Stanwood, 721 Foster street, the second presidents and oldest living past president of the club, has been active in planning the celebration and recalling the former days.

The general committee on the anniversary program is composed of Mrs. Charles Spoffard, president of the club, honorary chairman; Mrs. J. W. Meaker, chairman; Mrs. Willard Dixon, vice chairman; Mrs. James B. Wescott, Mrs. T. P. Stanwood, Mrs. Robert Grenelle, Mrs. Malcolm G. Truman, Mrs. Frank Schlieble, Mrs. Walter Spry, Mrs. John T. Stockton, Mrs. Pierre G. Beach, Miss Dorothy Lewis, Mrs. O. E. Scott.

The pageant will be elaborately staged, weaving its story around the nineteen women who have been chosen to preside over the club. Among those taking part are Mrs. Morton Bassett, Mrs. Cranston Spray, Miss Virginia Helm, Mrs. O. E. Scott, Miss Dorothy Pearson, Mrs. Stanley Franken, Mrs. Hugh Beelman, Mrs. Kenneth Wilson, Mrs. R. R. Davy, Mrs. Joseph Pearson.

Dawes Melody to Be Played.

Music will be under the direction of Mrs. Robert Grenelle. Mrs. Malcolm MacHarg, violinist; Mrs. Russell Sullivan, cellist, and Mrs. Grenelle at the piano will make up the trio who will play. Lawrence Barr will assist as trumpeter. The musical theme to be used throughout the afternoon will be the "Melody in G" by former Vice President Dawes.

Stage and lighting effects will be under the direction of Dean Farnsworth of the school of speech of Northwestern university.

Kiwanians Hear Ryan.

VICTORS IN PLANE ENDURANCE TEST TO GET AIR TRIPS

Edward Harms, Robert Langtry and William Berger will be given an air trip to Minneapolis and return on April 6, as the result of having been winners in the model airplane endurance contest held recently by the Haven Model Airplane club at the Patten gymnasium in Evanston.

The contestants at the meet were given instruction in the art of model plane making by Ernest Marcouiller, who was one of the medal winners in THE TRIBUNE'S model airplane tournament last year. Edward Harms, the club's president, made the present world's record for scale models at Atlantic City last October.

The trip to Minneapolis by the model enthusiasts will be made in planes of the Universal Air lines.

Howard Masons to Dance.

15,000 ATTEND WOMEN'S CLUB HOME EXPOSITION

Wilmette Building Addition to Cost $100,000.

More than 15,000 north shore residents attended the Better Homes exposition given by the Wilmette Women's club, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the clubhouse, 10th street and Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette. The entire proceeds of the exposition will be added to the fund for construction of an addition to the present clubhouse.

The exposition included exhibits and demonstrations by Wilmette firms, shops in downtown Chicago, public service institutions, and manufacturing concerns. A continuous musical program was provided by the exhibitors, while lectures were given on new features for the home. Mrs. O. E. Thaleg, 617 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette, was general chairman of the exposition, assisted by a committee of 25 members of the club, residents of Wilmette, Winnetka, and Evanston.

Home of 1910 Outgrown.

Mrs. Hayes McKinney, 1035 Chestnut avenue, Wilmette, is the president of the club, which was founded in 1892, through the efforts of Miss Ida I. Law. During the first five years the members met at the home of Miss Law, then moving to quarters over a store on Central avenue, near 12th street. Its next home was in the Jones' hall on Wilmette avenue, and later headquarters were maintained in the Ouilmette club. Upon the gift of its present site by Mrs. Orrea Lansing, the club built a home of its own in 1910, which has been outgrown.

Construction of the addition is scheduled to start next month. Mrs. Frank J. Scheidenlelm, 804 Forest avenue, Wilmette, is chairman of the building committee. The new building, which will be built at a cost of $100,000, will be located to the north of the present structure, facing on Tenth street. It will contain an auditorium with a seating capacity of 650 on the ground floor and a stage which will be large enough for all north shore amateur theatricals.

Due to Be Ready in Fall.

Next to the auditorium will be a combination dining hall and reception room and a lounge room. Dressing rooms, cloak rooms, a smoking room and a men's lounge will be located in the basement. It is expected that the improvement will be completed in October.

The club has a membership of 650. Mrs. J. C. Mannerud is chairman of the subcommittee on construction and Mrs. A. J. Dixon is chairman of the subcommittee on finance. The exposition was the second benefit program of the year to aid the building fund. A play was presented in February by the Wilmette Barnstormers to aid the fund.

APPROVE PAVING FOR 4 STREETS ON NORTH SIDE

Paving of sections of four north side streets has been confirmed by the courts during the last two weeks, and contracts will be advertised for bids within the next few weeks, officials of the board of local improvements announced yesterday.

Bids will have been awarded by the summer in time for most of the work to be completed this year, engineers of the board said. The remainder of the work will be carried over and completed in the spring of 1930.

The paving jobs confirmed are as follows:

Catalpa street from Western avenue to Lincoln avenue.

Belmoral avenue from Artesian avenue to Lincoln avenue.

Artesian avenue from Catalpa street to Bryn Mawr avenue.

Campbell avenue from Belmoral avenue to Bryn Mawr avenue.

All of these streets will be paved with concrete.

Theater Director to Speak.

Dr. Walter Starkie, a director of the Irish National theater and author of several books on Spanish and Italian dramatists, will speak in Evanston next Thursday evening under the auspices of the Drama club of Evanston.

NORTH SIDE MEN ORGANIZE CLUB TO LEARN FLYING

A group of north side men interested in aviation recently organized the Flying Legion of America, elected officers, and made plans for a ground school for self instruction. Officers are: President, Val Siegler, 1744 Estes avenue; secretary and treasurer, F. G. Coon, and directors, Earl Sloan, Andrew Hayes, and Phillip Crawford. Other charter members include Franklin Peters, Edward Jameson, Arthur Bedford, Herbert Taylor, Ralph Greiner, and Gordon Baldwin.

The club will employ two licensed instructors and instruction will start immediately. The club will be chartered as a non-profit organization for instructing its members in aviation, Mr. Coon said, and a series of lectures by noted aviators will be arranged. The organization will cooperate with the American Society for Promotion of Aviation of New York City.

BY QUIN RYAN.

Down in the loop, in the office of one of radio's well known figures, Harry Spingold, director of the W-G-N players and an excellent player in his own right, is a little box, a filing cabinet—in which one can spend a most interesting hour.

For a quarter of a century, Harry has been a manager of all manner of actors and vaudevillians. Thumbing through the cards in the little box, he proudly points out his bookings of obscure vaudeville acts of fifteen and twenty years, and chuckles as he explains who these people are today. Whenever they are in town, they drop in and bark back to the struggling days.

In the file labeled "1917," we come upon a girl team breaking in on their first week in vaudeville, who call themselves the Duncan Sisters. During that week they played the College theater, in Chicago, and the Academy of Music, and spent Sunday at the Lincoln theater. Their weekly stipend, out of which they paid all traveling and living expenses and commissions, was $125.

We come upon the plain names of "Coogan and Cox," hoofers de luxe, earning $200 during the weeks they worked — and hopping all over the middle west to Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, La Salle and Ottawa. Today Coogan is a millionaire. But the hoofing days were before little "Jackie" was born.

In 1916 we note that a team of cut ups were making the rounds of the houses, going by the name of "Bernie and Baker," in an act entitled, "This Is Not a Movie." And Harry reminds us that nowadays we know these boys are Ben Bernie, the famous orchestra leader, and Phil Baker, the comedian and accordionist, whose weekly salaries are now over ten times the figures that both of them used to split—$250.

And then, in a quaint family picture, we discover "The Five Columbians," father and mother and three daughters, for whom Harry demanded the astounding weekly wage of $350. They were known as the Miller family—and last Saturday night Harry attended their happy reunion in the Drake hotel—in daughter Marilyn's room!

IN THE rotogravure section of this paper you will find pictures of those famous comic characters, "Herr Louie" and the "Weasel," who are heard every evening in the German band act at 10:15. Herr Louie, the fat one in the photo, is in reality, Hank Moeller, formerly of Davenport, Ia., and for many years a partner in the theatrical producing business with Hal Gilles, formerly of Evansville, Ind., who plays the Weasel.

Every afternoon they can be found bent over a typewriter, concocting the laughs for the evening's episode. Here is the way one of their scenarios looks when they take the air:

LOUIE'S HUNGRY FIVE DISCUSS THE WEATHER, ETC.

BAND—"Ach du lieber augustine."

LOUIE—Py chorge, I only vish dat diss vinter vedder voss first over mit.

WEASEL—Chess, isn't it de trute; Py golly diss iss von of de best of de vorst vinters ve had in a long time yet.

MANY OPERATIC COMPOSITIONS IN FAMILY PARTY

The compositions of such masters of opera as Bizet, Gounod, Leoncavallo, Von Flotow, Wagner, and Verdi are to be knit into a concert during the family party program over W-G-N THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, tomorrow evening. Florence Easton, the English soprano, who is welcomed with equal heartiness from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera company or in the home, Alfio Tedesco, the newest Italian tenor of the Metropolitan and an operatic orchestra and chorus directed by Carlton Rogers, are to provide the program.

Frimi's stirring "March of the Musketeers" will provide an overture and then will come the no less stirring toreador music from "Carmen"—both by the orchestra.

HOOPLAS and HISSES

W-G-N, Gentlemen:

I think your presentation of the "Hungry Five," at 10:15, is given every night PUNK, entirely overdone, and not a bit true to life.

Sincerely, Emilie Bartholomaus.

W-G-N, Hungry Five:

We certainly have been enjoying the episodes immensely. I wouldn't miss one on a bet. We laughed so terribly hard last Saturday night; you were a scream.

Mrs. Wegner.

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00
7:55
11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n' that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tune as only they can.

MANY OPERATIC COMPOSITIONS IN FAMILY PARTY

The compositions of such masters of opera as Bizet, Gounod, Leoncavallo, Von Flotow, Wagner, and Verdi are to be knit into a concert during the family party program over W-G-N THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, tomorrow evening. Florence Easton, the English soprano, who is welcomed with equal heartiness from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera company or in the home, Alfio Tedesco, the newest Italian tenor of the Metropolitan and an operatic orchestra and chorus directed by Carlton Rogers, are to provide the program.

Frimi's stirring "March of the Musketeers" will provide an overture and then will come the no less stirring toreador music from "Carmen"—both by the orchestra.

HOOPLAS and HISSES

W-G-N, Gentlemen:
I think your presentation of the "Hungry Five," at 10:15, is given every night PUNK, entirely overdone, and not a bit true to life.
Sincerely,
Emile Bartholomans.

W-G-N, Hungry Five:
We certainly have been enjoying the episodes immensely. I wouldn't miss one on a bet. We laughed so terribly hard last Saturday night; you were a scream.
Mrs. Wegner.

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00 7:55 11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n' that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tune as only they can.

Missouri Auction Bridge Experts Compete in Radio Game Over W. G. N.

The twentieth and last game of the present series of radio auction bridge games will be broadcast from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 8:30 p. m.

One hundred and nineteen radio stations broadcast bridge games during the present season, reaching an estimated audience of several million a week. Announcement has been made that the fifth series of bridge games, featuring widely known players, will be inaugurated next fall with even a larger lineup than the present series.

The contestants in the twentieth game are William J. Wall of Ottawa, Canada, skilled as a player, writer and analyst of bridge tactics, playing with J. H. Landerkin of Toronto, Canada, one of the outstanding players of Toronto, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, who have been featured in all the games.

Following are the advance hands for game twenty:

Mr. Whitehead.
S—A, J.
H—J, 10, 7, 5, 4, 3, 2.
D—J.
C—J, 4, 2.

Mr. Wall.

Mr. Work [dealer].
S—K, 9, 4.
H—A, K.
D—9, 7, 6, 5, 2.
C—A, Q, 5.

For the nineteenth of this season's radio bridge games, which was broadcast Tuesday from station W-G-N, Mr. Work had for his partner Mrs. Clyde Bissett, a well known bridge teacher and lecturer of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Whitehead was paired with C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, Mo., one of America's champion players.

The experts held the following hands:

Mrs. Bissett
S—Q, 7, 3.
H—J, 10, 4.
D—10, 8, 5.
C—K, 8, 6, 5.

Mr. Jones.

Mr. Whitehead.
S—10, 8, 6.
H—8, 7, 5, 3, 2.

C—Q.

Mr. Work [dealer].
S—A, K, J, 9, 5, 3.
H—A, Q.
D—K, Q, J.
C—4, 3.

Mr. Work, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one spade. Mr. Jones, west, said two clubs, and Mrs. Bissett, north, and Mr. Whiteside, east, both passed.

Mr. Work increased his own bid to two spades, which obtained the contract, as Mr. Jones, west, was unable to continue clubs without an assist, which his partner, Mr. Whitehead, east, was unable to give.

Opening the play, Mr. Jones, west, led the ace of spades. From Mrs. Bissett's, north's, hand which became dummy, Mr. Work, declarer, played the 5 of clubs. Mr. Whitehead, east, played his singleton queen, and Mr. Work, south, declarer, played the 3.

Saves King of Clubs.

Mr. Jones, west continued with the jack of clubs. Mr. Work realized that if he covered with dummy's king, Mr. Whitehead, east, would trump the trick. If he did not cover, the jack would be good. Since the trick had to be lost in either case, Mr. Work, declarer, played dummy's 6 of clubs, instead of needlessly sacrificing the king. He planned to use the king of clubs later, if possible, for the discard of his own queen of hearts, which would obviate the necessity of attempting a heart finesse.

Mr. Whitehead, east, appreciated Mr. Work's probable intention of later making use of the king of clubs for a discard. Therefore Mr. Whitehead considered the advisability of trumping his partner's good jack, in order to lead a heart or diamond through Mr. Work's hand up to dummy's weakness. This would have given Mr. Jones, west, an opportunity to make a high card of one of those suits, before Mr. Work could secure the discard which he apparently would be able to make later, through entry into dummy with the queen of trumps.

Wins Third Round.

However, Mr. Whitehead was deterred from attempting this coup by two sound reasons: First, Mr. Work, south, might hold three clubs, in which care, if Mr. Whitehead held off, the latter's partner might be able to take a third trick in clubs unless declarer came up with dummy's king. Second, if Mr. Whitehead trumped the trick he would not know whether to lead a heart or a diamond, as he had no basis for a decision as to the suit from which declarer might wish to effect a discard.

Therefore Mr. Whitehead discarded on the jack of clubs his 2 of diamonds; Mr. Work played the 4 of clubs.

Mr. Jones, west, continued with the 10 of clubs. Dummy, north, played the 8-spot. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 4 of diamonds. To have discarded the 2 of hearts to show weakness in that suit also, would have given more valuable information to the declarer than to Mr. Whitehead's partner. Mr. Work, declarer, trumped with the 3 of Spades.

Mr. Work led the ace of spades, to which Mr. Jones followed with the 4; dummy with the 2; Mr. Whitehead with the 6. Mr. Work led the king of spades. Mr. Jones discarded the 9 of hearts as an indication to his partner, Mr. Whitehead, to lead that suit should he have an opportunity. Dummy played the 7 of spades; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

Mr. Work then led the 5 of spades, overtaking with dummy's queen. Mr. Jones, west, discarded the 2 of clubs; Mr. Whitehead, east, dropped his last spade, the 10-spot.

Concedes Ace of Diamonds.

Dummy then led the king of clubs, giving Mr. Work, declarer, the much desired discard of his queen of hearts. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 7 of diamonds; Mr. Jones, west, played the 7 of clubs.

Mr. Work, declarer, then laid down his hands, conceding the ace of diamonds and claiming the rest of the tricks. His claim was allowed, and he therefore scored four-odd on the hand, with 36 trick points, and 40 for four honors divided.

In contract, the play of this hand would be exactly the same as in auction. The bidding, however, would be distinctly different, according to Mr. Work's analysis. There are many different systems of initial bids in contract, but Mr. Work gives preference to the one which would bid three spades on south's hand, although he recognizes that many players would bid only two.

However, by bidding three, Mr. Work would make certain that his partner would jump him to four if he had a probable trick. It needs only that much in partner's hand to make a game-going bid desirable.

Of course, for those whose two-bid forces the partner to bid, two in this case would be amply sufficient; but that is a system which, in Mr. Work's opinion, produces many losses in the long run. Mr. Work does not want to force his partner to bid with a bust hand. On the other hand, by bidding the full strength of his own hand, he enables his partner to read his strength in the most satisfactory manner, thereby producing the best bid that is in the two hands.

LUCREZIA BORI WILL BROADCAST KENT PROGRAM

Character studies in tone by Lucrezia Bori, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be heard during the Atwater Kent radio hour tonight over W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel and a coast to coast network.

From the evening this Spanish artist electrified an audience in Rome with her interpretation of the moods and hopes and fears of Micaela, in a production of Bizet's "Carmen," Mme. Bori has steadily progressed in her art of conveying every shade of drama through her music. As a result, she is today regarded as the most versatile soprano on the operatic stage.

Her debut in Rome as the simple village maid of the Bizet opera, filled with fear and timidity, was not all acting. Born in Valencie and having studied music and opera from the age of six, she was in fact as well as in character a very young Spanish girl full of hopes and fears when she appeared before her first audience. But her conception of the character was greeted as a brilliant bit of acting, as have been her conceptions of all the characters she has mastered in opera. When one hears Bori and sees Bori one is conscious rather of the character that is being interpreted than of the personality of the singer herself.

BUILT-UP MOTOR STICK MADE BOY WORLD'S CHAMP

Here's Chance to Profit by His Experience.

Here is the sixth of The Tribune's articles on building scientific airplane models. It tells how to construct the built-up motor stick for the championship tractor described last week. If you have questions on it send them, with a 2 cent stamp for answer, to Mr. Hamburg, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, 2d and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. He'll answer them!

BY MERRILL HAMBURG.
[Secretary Airplane Model League of America.]

Last week THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Airplane Model league of America in Chicago, promised an improvement on the championship tractor with its cambered wings—an improvement that makes it perform even better than it did for Ernest McCoy, its designer. The improvement is a built-up motor stick—a hollow stick with internal supports that is both stiffer and lighter than the solid stock.

And the boy who first used it effectively made himself world's champion!

He is Aram Abgarian, 15 year old Detroiter, who used the cambered wing and tail you learned about last week, plus his hollow motor stick—and flew his model to a new world's record of 353.6 seconds at the First National A. M. L. A. contests, held by The American Boy magazine at Detroit in 1928. Here are the plans for his motor stick. You can incorporate them in your Champ tractor.

Study the Diagram.

And you can get the materials you'll need—1-32 inch flat balsa 15¼ inches long, a balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches and ambroid—in the same kit you bought last week for the McCoy ship. It includes all of them. If you haven't yet obtained the kit, you can get it by sending 85 cents in check or money order to the supply department, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. It will give you all your materials for the complete ship, with either type of motor stick; an A. M. L. A. The manual is included as well.

With the materials in hand, you're ready to start. First, read all through these directions and study the diagram thoroughly, so you'll know exactly the steps to follow. Then get to work.

The outside dimensions of the motor stick are ⅛x¼x15 inches. For its four walls you need four strips of balsa, 1-32x15 inches. Two are cut ¼ inch wide and the other two 1-16. Before they are cut they should be marked for plugs and bulkheads—the little inside reinforcements set at one inch intervals.

Manual Tells How.

First, sand carefully a strip of 1-32 inch flat balsa, cutting it to the exact 15 inch length. Draw light pencil lines across the strip ⅝ inch from each end, 1⅛ inches from each end, and at 1 inch intervals between these last two marks. Now you have located the thirteen bulkheads and the two end plugs.

Next split the strip lengthwise—with a very sharp knife and a straight edge—into the four side walls of the fuselage. The manual tells you how. Take one of the 1-16 inch strips and paint the two edges with ambroid, taking extra care not to get it on either face. Lay it flat on the table and stand the two ¼ inch side walls up against it to form a square cornered U. If you have laid the strips properly the pencil lines will correspond exactly; if they don't one or more of the strips must be reversed, end for end.

Must Be Precise.

Now the end plugs and bulkheads. Cut off two pieces ⅝ inch long from the balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches—the pieces you want, if your U is properly made, will be exactly 1-16x3-16. Make sure that they fit exactly—they must not bulge the ends—and then ambroid them and set them in place. For the bulkheads, cut a strip 1-16 inch wide from the 1-32 flat balsa, then cut off pieces 3-16 inch long—thirteen of them. Every piece must be precise—it must fit neither too tightly nor too loosely. When they are finished and you have found them to fit exactly by setting them into place without glue, take them out one at a time, paint lightly with ambroid and reset them.

There must be room left on top of them, of course, so that the fourth side of the fuselage will fit in. Ambroid this in place, then sand the whole stick lightly to finish it.

And you have the Abgarian fuselage—one less subject to twist by a tightly wound motor than the solid stick, yet lighter by about the weight of the propeller. You save that much weight, and weight counts in an endurance model.

Let 'Er Sail!

Now paint the stick with ambroid at each end, for added strength, and set the metal parts as shown in the drawing. If you made the solid stick ship last week, take the metal pieces from the old fuselage.

You can use your old tail group or build a new set, just as you choose. Careful cutting with your knife will remove the old group from the McCoy model. Set it into the rear end of the motor stick, cutting grooves for the spars as shown at the left of the diagram.

Now clip on your wing, hook up the motor and propeller and let 'er sail! You'll find, if everything is done just right, that you've built your finest indoor model. It will be the lightest for its size, the strongest and the most enduring flyer.

Free Trips to Europe.

And perhaps it will win for you a trip to Europe! For, after THE TRIBUNE holds local contests to select champions, these champions will be sent to Detroit as the guests of this newspaper. And there they will compete with other city champions for cups, medals, other awards and—best of all—free trips to Europe, offered by the American Boy magazine.

Watch this paper for forthcoming airplane model articles. They will tell you how to build other record smashing models—how to compete for other trips to Europe. The next comes one week from today.

BOXING BOUTS TO SWELL LEGION CHARITY FUND

Benefit Is Sponsored by Ravenswood Post.

Ravenswood post, No. 149 of the American Legion, as part of its drive for funds to further its welfare activities in caring for exservice families in the community, has taken over Mann's hippodrome, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, and tomorrow night is sponsoring an evening of entertainment consisting of eight amateur boxing bouts and three "Hi-Li" games. The show will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Comrade Harry A. Sewell, in calling attention to the event, states that "due to the Central A. A. U. championship bouts being held in Chicago on the west side during the week of March 18, there was no boxing elsewhere between amateurs in Chicago for the week, so the north side fans will be given an opportunity of breaking their boxing 'fast' with the post bouts, which card the Hippodrome management is making doubly attractive by the addition of some of the A. A. U. winners."

The Seventh district, "up in the north where hearts are warm," has planned a raid on the larder of Trowbridge post, No. 260, 1940 Irving Park boulevard, on Friday night, March 29. Wilmette post drum and bugle corps has suspended practice that night in order to be on hand.

Auxiliaries of Pulaski, Ravenswood, North Shore and Portage Park posts of the American Legion gave a dinner and theater party for ex-service men in the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium last night. Mrs. Laura Gerbin was in charge of arrangements.

Chicago Loop post, No. 144, will have as its guest speaker at noon Thursday, March 28, George Lytton, president of Henry C. Lytton & Sons. Mr. Lytton will talk on boxing, on which subject he is an authority. Commander Philip R. Davis announces that several other prominent men have agreed to speak at future meetings. The post now meets at the Great Northern hotel.

At a recent meeting of Marine post, No. 273, six new members of the executive committee were elected as follows: T. E. Donnelly, T. Levin, C. J. Devere, A. E. Benson, Harry Richards and Charles J. Boleyn. The post went on record in support of two new companies of the Marine corps reserve now being organized in the Chicago area. These companies will be called out only in the event of war or national emergency, but will be fully equipped and will enjoy two weeks at Quantico, Va., next August at government expense. The next meeting of the post will be on April 15 at the Auditorium hotel unless Maj. Gen. Lejeune's forthcoming visit is later, in which event the membership will be notified.

At the regular bimonthly meeting of Medill-Tribune post, No. 245, tomorrow night Lawrence E. McGann Jr., national vice commander, will be the guest speaker. Fred L. Boissy, American Legion "Playboy," will head the entertainment program.

"The years that have passed since the entry of America into the world war cannot dim in our memories the disabled soldiers who during that war paid with the blood they shed the real price of whatever America or the world gained through that tragic conflict. The broken bodies and the missing eyes and limbs and the shattered health of our disabled soldiers stand as monuments to these living heroes as deeply significant as are the white crosses that stand in the cemeteries of France."

"On April 6, 1917," adds Joseph B. Lynch, chairman of the fourth annual liberty ball citizens' committee, "the call first came which summoned those men to service and sacrifice. To this call they most nobly responded. The 6th of April, 1929, will be the twelfth anniversary of the entry of America into the world war and those who served in our armed forces and were disabled while so serving now summon their fellow citizens to participate in a patriotic demonstration in honor of the occasion to be held in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel."

Proceeds derived from the ball will be used to replenish the rapidly dwindling relief fund conducted under the supervision of Woodrow Wilson chapter, No. 4, Disabled Veterans of the World War.

"A day you will long remember—bring an ex-service man along," says Commander L. M. Hanna in calling attention to the meeting of Van Buren post, No. 401, at Fraternity halls, 19 West Adams street, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The program will consist of presentation of [illegible] Legion ritual [illegible] address by David L. [illegible] mander of the department of [illegible] There will be vaudeville [illegible] and refreshments.

Lincoln Square Merchants Hold Spring Exposition

More than 60 merchants in the Lincoln Square district, Lawrence, Lincoln and Western avenues, are cooperating in a spring exposition, which started two weeks ago and will continue until the end of the month. The introduction of new style creations and display of clothing in store windows by living models are features of the exposition, sponsored by the Lincoln Square Commercial association and arranged by the merchants' committee of the organization. Members of this committee are Bernhard Mandl, chairman, James Berney, George L. Secord, Philip Braverman, and Fred Pichler.

The new town ...l has a front... of 242 feet ...d a depth of 223 feet. It is two ...ories tall, with a tower several ...ndred stories higher. The building ...s modeled after the famous Inde... ...ence hall in Philadelphia. Fin... ...ished in red brick with white terra ...otta trim it presents a striking pic... ...ure of colonial architecture. Michael ...ann and Siegmund were the architects.

Fully Equipped Community Center.

The building has been designed to ...rovide every convenience for the ...ew residents and organizations of ...he west side who will use it. There ...s a large auditorium, equipped with ...a stage and seats for 1,200; a gym... ...sium, 42x77 feet; a natatorium; a ...ange room designed for rifle matches ...nd target shooting; several clubrooms ...et aside for conventions and meet... ...ngs, and banquet and reception ...ooms. The town hall will offer to ...he people of Austin a centrally locat... ...d meeting place thoroughly equipped ...for every occasion.

The executive committee appointed ...by Dr. John Dill Robertson, president ...of the west Chicago park commis... ...sioners, to make arrangements for the ...opening of the town hall is made up ...of the following: George J. Dehn, ...chairman; P. D. Castle, Dr. Edward ...H. Bassett, Edward H. Fox, Frank ...A. Smith, Frank W. Savage, and ...Louis R. Hamm.

A meeting of this committee was ...held in the new hall Monday evening ...and plans for the dedication were dis... ...cussed. An advisory board comprising ...50 prominent business men, manu... ...facturers, merchants, and clergymen ...of the west side has been appointed to ...assist the park commissioners and ...other state officials on the opening ...night in behalf of the community. A ...large number of the members of this ...board attended the meeting of the ...executive committee Monday evening.

Meeting Place for Civic Groups.

Arrangements have been made, ac... ...cording to Mr. Dehn, chairman of ...the executive committee, to accom... ...modate all patriotic and civic organi... ...zations of the community who wish ...to conduct their meetings in the new ...hall. It is expected that the majority ...of the neighborhood groups will avail ...themselves of this opportunity. Such ...patriotic organizations as the Austin ...post of the American Legion, the ...Oshanna post of the American Le... ...gion, the Spanish War Veterans, the ...G. A. R., and the Daughters of the ...American Revolution will meet in the ...hall. Among the civic groups which ...will also congregate there are the ...Austin Lions, the Austin Kiwanis, the ...Optimists and similar clubs. By giv... ...ing the neighborhood organizations ...facilities for meeting in the town hall, ...Mr. Dehn feels that a better com... ...munity spirit will result.

to obtain funds for the carrying on of the endowment drive. The chairman of the committee is Alexander D. Bailey, and the other members are Charles F. Gunther, Arthur J. R. Curtis, Elmer Small and Paul Oehmig. George Robin Carman is director of the institute.

Miss Grace Hinchliff, alumni secretary, reports that several alumni have written to officials of Lewis stating their willingness to cooperate in the campaign. An endowment plan presented by the Lewis union has been submitted to the board of trustees for approval. The trustees are: President Charles S. Cutting; vice president, B. A. Eckhart; treasurer, Dr. Frank E. Herrick; and Elon Arfield and Andrew B. Dole.

Yearly Lilac Fete Planned for Lombard

"Lilac Time in Lombard" is a phrase destined to have currency throughout the United States, if plans set on foot in that Chicago suburb, twenty miles west of the loop, are carried through in accordance with the program being worked out by its citizens.

This program provides for an annual lilac pageant for Lombard, centralized around the well known Lilacia park, which was the legacy to the village of the late Col. William A. Plum, who was known around the world in botanical circles as a collector of more than 300 varieties of lilacs.

The organization of a general committee of Lombard citizens, to be known as the lilac time in Lombard committee and to have general charge of the pageant, was started last week. A meeting of the representatives of the various clubs and business men's organizations has been called for Monday evening, April 1. At that time the organization of the general committee will be effected, and plans worked out in detail for the first pageant, which probably will take place during the spring of 1930.

The initiative in the movement was taken at a meeting of the Lions club, at which a special committee on lilac time was appointed, composed of Frank A. Jirsa, editor of the Lombard Spectator, Judge F. W. Robison, and Harrison A. Bliss, a real estate man. The invitation to other organizations to take part in the project was sent out, and the committee adopted as its slogan henceforth—"Lombard, the gem of Chicagoland."

Park Is Being Landscaped.

Lilacia park, which for many years was the site of the home of Col. Plum, is being considerably enlarged and landscaped under the direction of Jens Jensen, the landscape artist. Annually the mecca of visitors from all parts of the country, it is expected that when the transformation is complete the annual spring flowering of the lilacs will be attractive to even greater numbers. The park stands in the center of the village, adjoining the business section, and is on the main highways.

The old Plum home, which is now the village library, is in the center of the richly wooded grounds, and, to use the expression of a recent magazine writer, "is like a piece of the '60s restored." To the gardens themselves the far-away places in China, Japan, Africa, and Europe have contributed their varieties of lilacs, for Col. Plum was an assiduous collector. Every week, it seemed, the village expressman delivered burlapped bundles containing slips from remote points on the globe.

Thus it is that within a few weeks now, visitors to Lilacia will be confronted with a maze of color in the more than 300 varieties and more than 500 bushes which will then be loaded with magnificent blossoms, the like of which cannot be seen any where else, according to those who are experts in such matters.

There will be the President Lincoln, the bluest of all blue lilacs; the Lucie Baltet, with its huge spikes of coral pink; Mont Blanc, the giant double flowered white; Macrostachya, with its delicate pale pink buds; Congo, perhaps the most striking of all in its gorgeous purple; Catherine Havemeyer, whose pale blue flowers are massed in pliant spikes; President Fallieres, another pinkish variety, and Toussant L'Overture, named after the San Domingo martyr, deep wine colored.

National Colors on the Bush.

And on one particularly interesting white lilac bush upon which Col. Plum had budded in blue and red flowers, will be found a combination of the national colors that stands out like a flag.

It is around this splendid lilac collection that the projected pageant is to be centered. While it is a bit early to attempt the details of the proposed programs to be carried out, it is the idea of those backing the movement to have an annual lilac parade and show, with appropriate exercises to be presented within Lilacia park itself.

Meantime, the general committee will take it upon itself to induce the citizens to plant lilacs of the different varieties available in the park, so that when these annual pageants are held, Lombard—the whole of Lombard—will be literally, "Lombard, the Lilac Village."

ST. SYLVESTER'S STUDENTS STAGE DRAMA PROGRAM

The commercial class of St. Sylvester's school, Palmer and Richmond streets, presented "The Coming of Geraldine" in the school hall Monday night. The play was directed by Catherine A. Daly, and music was furnished by the school orchestra. Preceding the performance the fourth grade of the school presented "Little Eskimos."

The cast for "The Coming of Geraldine" included Jane Schultz, Mary McGovern, Lucille Walton, Eileen Fergus, Agnes Klatt, Adeline Rozycki, Anna Zyburt, Lauretta Quinn, Margaret Readdy, Evelyn Cers, Rose Hennessy, Bernice Sandhoefner, Marie Cummins, Florence Karschnick, Louise Brunner, Helen Stanger, Annette Lally, Margaret Wilcox, Dolores Meyer, Dorothy Roeder, Anne Drufka and Esther Stephens.

Pupils of the school appearing as Dutch girls were Anne Drufka, Eleanor Franzak, Dorothy Gorski, Margaret Gorski, Rose Hennessy, Marie Kennerly, Ann Lachance, Rose Mueller, Lucille Nowak, Irene Papineau, Mary Alice Piper, Clara Skaja, Esther Stephens and Jennie Wolska.

The following were cast as Quakers: Evelyn Cers, Dina Dini, Eileen Fergus, Anne Ferrigan, Adeline Fourier, Jeannette Franzak, Florence Getzelmann, Agnes Klatt, Adeline Rozycki, Josephine Rush, Bernice Sandhoefner, Helen Stanger, Cecilia Stoesser, Lucile Swan, Loretta Vogel and Anna Warsenski. Girls of the sixth grade appeared as Irish colleens.

NINE ALDERMEN O. K. WEST SIDE PLANNING BODY

Pledge Support for Improvements.

Nine west side aldermen, who will be asked to act as ex-officio members of the West Town Planning commission being formed under the auspices of the West Town Chamber of Commerce, have declared themselves in accord with the forming of the new board and have pledged themselves to lend every effort toward the completion of west side improvements started but never finished by the Chicago Plan commission.

The West Town commission will take definite lines following the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber April 2. After that date, invitations will be sent to 100 west side men and women and the 22 west side aldermen to become members of the group.

Neglected, Maypole Says.

"The Chicago Plan commission has never done anything of direct benefit to the west side," Ald. George M. Maypole [28th] declared. "All it ever planned were arteries to lead the people out of that district into the suburbs. I am absolutely in accord with the movement to form a West Town commission, and welcome the invitation to work as a member."

"Such a body can do a great deal of work, and there is a great deal to be done," Ald. A. J. Horan [29th] said. "I am for such a body. One has long been needed on the west side."

"All uncompleted improvements should be finished before any new ideas are even talked about," said Ald. Joseph H. Smith [23d]. "If the West Town commission will work for that, I will work with them."

"I think the Chicago Plan commission has neglected the west side," Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] charged. "I am certainly for the forming of a west side body. I believe it can do more to obtain improvements than the aldermen themselves."

"Much Started, Little Finished."

Ald. Frank A. Sloan [26th] agreed that the Chicago commission has been guilty of neglect of the west side. "The commission started many improvements on the west side, but finished very few," he said.

"I am of the opinion that the Chicago Plan commission has done many things for other parts of the city but has neglected the west and northwest sides," Ald. T. J. Bowler [41st] said. "Furthermore, that body has made some glaring mistakes. For example, Avondale highway could have been approved as it was originally planned—an $11,000,000 project—but the commission killed it by making it a $60,000,000 improvement.

"A commission working directly for the west side would know more about the district and could do more than the Chicago body has succeeded in doing."

Calls Loop Chief Beneficiary.

"Activities of the Chicago Plan commission have been directed largely for the benefit of loop interests, and the outlying districts have been neglected as a consequence," Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th] declared.

Ald. John Chapman [40th] agreed with Ald. Mills that the loop has received the benefit of most of the plan commission's efforts, and that a west side group is both timely and necessary.

Ald. Frank R. Ringa [39th] pointed to many needed improvements on the northwest side as evidence that a commission which will actually work for the district is necessary, and will receive his support.

MacDowell and Grieg Topics of Music Club

MacDowell and Grieg were discussed at the meeting last week of the Music club of the Oak Park and River Forest township high school. Slides made in the high school dark room from pictures concerning the lives of the two men, which she had gathered, were explained by Lenore Scharschug. Virginia Orebaugh gave a talk on the life of Grieg.

Janet Strong, William Schuessler, and Richard Wickam gave some interesting musical selections.

Recitals will feature the next two meetings of the club. These meetings will both be open to guests.

CAST OF "THE COMING OF GERALDINE"

A community advisory council is being formed at Marshall High school, 3250 West Adams street, under the direction of G. A. Beers, principal. This is part of a city wide movement to enlist the support of citizens in school activities.

The council at Marshall was started on the suggestion of Benjamin F. Buck, assistant superintendent of schools. The immediate purposes are: First, to help select a delegation of adults to attend the Central Civic assembly to be held on the lake front during the week of May 19; second, to assist in selecting a public school graduate from the community of five years' standing who has made the best civic achievement or contribution to Chicago's life; third, to assist in preparing for local civic assemblies or public meetings to be held in the future.

100 to Be in Delegation.

The delegation which will attend the central civic assembly will number 100. It may be composed of members of the school faculty, members of the senior class and representatives of the junior high and elementary schools in the neighborhood.

The public school graduate selected by the council for civic achievement will receive suitable recognition of his services from some distinguished citizen of the city.

It is the hope of Mr. Buck that the community advisory councils throughout the city will be instrumental in giving the public information concerning the service which the schools are rendering year after year.

Organizations Invited to Join.

The community organizations which have been asked to join the community advisory council at Marshall include the West Town Chamber of Commerce, the West Park Board of Commissioners, the Booster club, the Garfield Community center, the Franklin Park Welfare organization, the West Side Woman's club, the Progressive league, the West Town forum, the West Town Active club, the West Central Lyons club, and the Co-educational club.

Several prominent business men and clergymen of the district have promised their coöperation.

Mothers' Club to Hear the Rev. L. W. Frawley

The Rev. L. W. Frawley, pastor of St. Giles church of Oak Park, will address the Mothers' club of Trinity high school in River Forest, at the school assembly hall next Tuesday afternoon. At a business meeting to follow the address, the club will complete arrangements for a benefit card party to be held on Saturday afternoon, April 20. Mrs. Albert J. Crowe is chairman of the committee in charge of the party. Mrs. Michael A. McGrath, 725 South East avenue, Oak Park, is president of the club.

$50 Buys Plate at Hadassah Charity Luncheon

*Members of the west side chapters of the Hadassah are working hard to sell 1,000 plates to the $50 dinner luncheon which will be held April 10 at the Palmer house to raise $50,000 for charitable organizations the Hadassah group supports. ### Paragraphs Anent the Passing Throng.

BY FRED PASLEY.

GLEN ELLYN stands at Armageddon and battles for the Lord's Day alliance in the pending election of April 16, through its Civic Betterment league, of which Albert McCollum, who sells insurance in Chicago six days a week, is president. It is admonishing the citizenry to vote "No" on Sunday movies and asking them, "Shall Glen Ellyn be changed into a Wilson avenue district?" The Sunday movie, we learn, is "one of the most subtle dangers that ever sank its fangs into the welfare of a suburban community." We are informed that the Central Uptown Chicago association, which comprises the Wilson avenue district, shopping center of 100,000 people and market for considerable insurance, is issuing an invitation to Mr. McCollum to come up and get acquainted.

Our west side correspondent reports that Dr. James H. Taylor of 1 Bishop and 446 North Pine avenue is assured the support of all the barbers in the Thirty-seventh ward in his race for alderman, as he stands four square for the return of the old-fashioned moustache cup and bigger and better pompadours.

* *

AFTER viewing various of our suburbs and comparing their charms, Mr. John W. Gow, the genial shoe man of East Madison street, has chosen for the permanent residence of himself and family Park Ridge, which has Sunday movies and such; fine neighbors, darned pretty front yards, gardens, commuting trains that run on time, and everything. Mr. Gow has bought the seven room house at 109 North Washington street, which, it will be recalled, was built by B. V. Morris, the contractor, last spring.

Betty Lou is not going to forget Feb. 28, because that is the day Dr. Stork delivered her at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neuhaus, 1644 North Kildare avenue, and also the date of the birthday of her grandma, Mrs. Annabel Bieberits of the same address.

* *

Henry D. Crooks, proprietor of the terminal warehouse, has returned with Mrs. Crooks and their daughter, Virginia, from his trip around the world, during which the Bey of Tunis personally decorated him, making him a commander of the Order of Nicham Iliftkey. Henry is a local boy, born and reared on the northwest side, and level headed, so the honor has not changed him one whit.

Hy Wurwitz, of the Windmiller Department store, is the latest townsman to get back safely from Havana, Cuba. He says the situation is about the same.

HON. CHARLES H. BARTLETT, mayor of Evanston, journeyed to Berwyn Monday, to the parlors of the Presbyterian church, and spoke on "An Efficient Garbage Incinerator"; Mr. John J. O'Brien, village manager of Riverside, spoke on "Riverside's Waste Disposal"; Mr. Frederick H. Dole, chairman of the investigating committee of the Berwyn Better Government association, spoke on "Berwyn's Garbage Problem." The Berwyn League of Women Voters conducted the meeting, which, we learn, had to do with garbage.

WE RECOMMEND to our readers for a pleasant evening "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," which will be given in the auditorium of the First Lutheran church, Fullerton avenue and Ballou street, Monday evening, April 1, under the auspices of the ladies' organizations of that church. The presentation is by Noah Beilhars, who takes the part of seventeen characters. The entertainment is offered for the modest price of 50 cents for adults and 25 for children.

Judge Claire C. Edwards of the Lake county Circuit court is preparing to hear the divorce suit of a Lake Forest lady—Mrs. Blank, let us say. Among other charges she recites that after one libation Mr. Blank refuses to escort her pet Pekingese poodle out for its evening walk; that after two shots he actually utters slurring remarks about it. Here we have a true picture of the curse of strong drink, its debasing influence on the human mind. We see man, supposed to represent the highest thought in the universe—endowed with an immortal soul, intellect, and reason—so bereft of his faculties as to be incapable of a kind thought for our four footed friend. We see the Pekingese poodle, its noble face upturned, its trustful eyes, beautiful with faith, fixed expectantly upon him; its tail wagging. We hear its glad yip-yip as it seizes its leash for Mr. Blank to take. Then we see this otherwise gentle, thoughtful, dutiful husband brutally repulsing it; we hear him heaping coarse maledictions on the head of the little pet of the woman he has solmenly vowed to love and to cherish, to have and to hold for better or for worse. We see the poodle creeping to its corner; brokenhearted; deprived of its evening airing; one more victim of the hated demon rum. The pathos, the shame of it, friends. Let us heed the lesson.

OAK PARK'S grandmothers, possibly are not as precocious as those of its esteemed rival, Evanston, but otherwise we believe there is little, as the sports critics say, to choose between these silk stocking communities. We doubt if even in Evanston there is a youngster that can compose as good a tongue twister as this from Dorothy Bennethum of the seventh grade of the Lowell grammar school:

Sam Sax sacked six slick slippery salmon.

Or this from Billy Ross of the 7B Lincoln:

Sally Simpson sewed six sailors' shirts.

Say them fast. Bet you can't.

Crane Seniors Saving Pennies for Their Prom

While seniors at Crane Technical High school, Jackson and Oakley boulevards, are hoarding pennies for their prom, juniors are learning how to dance in preparation for their class affair, and members of Excalibur, H. O. T. C. honor society, are jubilating over their first ball to be held independently of the college unit.

No junior has any excuse for not knowing how to dance. Classes are being held after school hours to teach inexpert students the newest steps. The boys are being taught by their fellow classmen, also boys, who are more adept. All this is a means of giving every member the opportunity to attend the class dance to be held May 24 in the Crane gymnasium.

Harry Leburkien, a junior, is in charge of the dancing class.

Officers of Class.

The senior class has established a bank in which students may deposit their spare money, so they will have sufficient funds to attend the dance. Already more than $300 has been deposited. On June 7, one week before the prom is to be held, each member of the class will receive the money he has deposited.

Arrange for Class Pins.

A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for class pins and rings. It includes Sidney Morris and Irving Melamed. Another committee has also been announced to prepare articles for the senior year book. The chairman is Louis Berkelhamer, and he will be assisted by Milton Schnair and Edward Norman.

The R. O. T. C. honor society, Excalibur, is making preparations for the military ball to be given in the Pompeian room of the Belmont hotel on May 31. The affair is being sponsored by Maj. H. A. White and Sergt. Carter O. Garber. The officers of the Order of Excalibur are: Commander, Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Joe Succimaire; vice commander, Cadet Captain Harvey Jacobson; treasurer, Cadet Major Joseph Ungari; secretary, Cadet Major Bernard Sweet.

Oak Park Grade Teachers to Hear College President

President J. C. Brown of the Northern Illinois Teachers college, De Kalb, Ill., will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Elementary Teachers council at the Lowell school, Oak Park, tomorrow afternoon.

WEST 26TH STREET TO CELEBRATE ITS 34TH ANNIVERSARY

West 26th street is to celebrate its 34th anniversary as a business center April 3 to 17, the jubilee to be held in conjunction with the official opening of the new county building at California avenue and 26th street.

The street will be decorated for the occasion, and the fourteen day program will open with a welcome on the part of the business men of the district to the officials of the new Cook county building and to 26th street.

LOUIS SOLAR.

Some five hundred business houses, it is said, will participate in the activities, and many of them are arranging individual contests. There will be stunts and side shows, an American Legion parade made up of posts from the Fourth district, a big free dance at Pilsen park, and a float parade led by the Lawndale-Crawford American Legion post drum and bugle corps, in which the merchants and manufacturers will take part.

Officials for the jubilee are Louis Solar, chairman of the executive committee; Albert Hlavka, secretary; Joseph Klicka, treasurer.

S. S. Jasinski and J. Russell Ward are managers of the celebration.

SUPERHIGHWAY WINS APPROVAL OF MANY BODIES

Indorsements Pour In to Park Board.

Indorsement of plans for the proposed elevated highway to be built by the west park commissioners from the loop to the western city limits are being given to Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the park board, daily by civic groups from various parts of the west side, following the huge gathering in behalf of the project held March 18.

M. K. Northam recently assured Dr. Robertson that the Crawford Avenue Improvement association, of which he is president, will lend its support to a completion of the project.

"The association members are in hearty accord with your ideas of an artistic elevated highway which so admirably fits into the project for Crawford avenue development. They gladly extend to you their moral support and hope to see the fruition of your plans in the near future," Mr. Northam said.

Officers of the group who joined Mr. Northam in support of the superhighway project are: Vice president, A. Glenn Pickett; treasurer, Roman L. Smook; secretary, H. R. Cursey; counsel, Ralph G. Crandell; consulting engineer, Paul E. Green; and Paul A. Hoffman, J. H. Maier, M. A. Seymour, and Thomas E. Sullivan.

Division Street Body Acts.

At a meeting of the West Division Street Business Men's association recently, a resolution indorsing the improvement was adopted and sent to Dr. Robertson.

From the southwest side came an indorsement of the project as a whole, but a disagreement with a selection of any of the tentative routes recommended by the Chicago Plan commission.

B. R. Piethewics, secretary of the West End Business Men's association, said that his group agrees that there has been neglect as to public highways on the west side in the past, and that the elevated route would do much to relieve present congestion in that section of the city. He declares, however, that such a highway should not be built over Monroe, Congress, or Poyk street, as recommended by the plan commission, but should be built farther south to serve that association's district.

Engineers Submit Report.

The report of the advisory engineering council which has been studying the project since last November was given for the first time at the March 15 meeting by Edgar S. Nethercut. The council consists of engineers recommended by the Western Society of Engineers, and has worked separately from the engineering staff of the parks.

Included are W. W. De Berard, Earl J. Reeder, Fred A. Rogers, Hugh E. Young, Ivan C. Peterson, Henry L. Kellogg, Paul E. Green, R. P. Brennan, George C. D. Lenth, Julius G. Gabelman, Joseph Moore, Albert W. Dilling, I. F. Stern, and Mr. Nethercut.

"Burdens, have been imposed on streets designed long years before the elevator, the high building, or the automobile," the report said. "Both the south and north sides, through their park boards, have contributed to the solution of the problem. Now the great west side proposes to contribute toward the general improvement of intercommunication between the parts of this city.

"Our commission has studied this problem, and believe a 50 foot roadway giving five lanes of traffic would be feasible. During rush hours three of these lanes can be allocated to the prevailing traffic.

"Chicago streets are generally 66 feet wide between building lines. A 50 foot roadway can be carried on columns with 41 feet clear roadway beneath and with clearance under the structure for normal traffic trucks or street cars and normal access to all buildings.

Cost Estimated at $15,000,000.

"With steel encased concrete which can be used economically and assure reasonable durability, with pleasing design, and providing a 50 foot paved roadway and railings, the highway can be constructed for $15,000,000.

"In arriving at this sum, consideration was given to the several routes, and while some may be more expensive in some respects, we feel the above stated amount may well be considered as a safe estimate. This, however, does not include property damage, which can be determined with reference to specific routes.

"Property benefits should also be considered as is exemplified by increased values along Michigan avenue from Lake street to Grand avenue, and along Wacker drive.

"Members of this commission agree that citizens of the West Chicago Park district should be encouraged to proceed with this valuable improvement. It is feasible and can prove to be of great economic value to the west side and the entire city."

The estimate of the engineering council as given by Mr. Nethercut is $1,000,000 larger than the figure for which a bridge company said it could do the work. The cost of construction plus the cost of condemnation of property should still keep the total well within the $20,000,000, which the board desires to obtain for the project by issuing bonds, according to Dr. Robertson.

Legislation which would permit the board to hold a referendum on the bond issue is now being considered by the committee on municipalities of the Illinois house of representatives.

SEEK TO MERGE SMALL SCHOOLS IN COOK COUNTY

Women Voters Aim to Improve Facilities.

Possibilities of a larger school unit will be discussed by both the Chicago school affairs committee and the Cook county school affairs committee of the Council of Cook County Leagues of Women Voters when the twenty-three leagues in the council gather for their monthly meeting in their assembly room at 203 North Wabash avenue Tuesday.

It has been brought to the attention of these committees that there are still eighty one-room schoolhouses in Cook county and the women are interested in combining several small districts into larger units of taxation so that modern school buildings with complete equipment may be installed. Chairmen of the committees are Mrs. George Sikes of the Austin league and Mrs. J. A. Meade of Western Springs.

The bill now pending in the state legislature providing for a larger state school fund will be discussed.

Other Committees to Meet.

Other permanent committees of the League of Women Voters to which each of the 23 leagues will send a delegate at the meeting are: The sanitary district committee, of which Mrs. R. S. Childs of Winnetka is chairman; Cook county government committee, with Mrs. Robert Lee Benson of River Forest as chairman; the Chicago affairs committee with Mrs. C. K. Mohler as chairman; the city and village affairs committee, which has Mrs. Wilson V. Little of Evanston as chairman; and the group of local league presidents who will meet to discuss their local problems such as membership and finance.

Each of these committees meets at the general council meeting once a month and sometimes a committee chairman calls special meetings of her committee more frequently.

At the meeting this week the sanitary district committee will study the lakes to gulf waterway plans and a report will be made on the status of the bill to provide for civil service in the sanitary district.

Group to Discuss Traction.

The Chicago affairs committee will discuss all phases and angles of the traction problem and will also take up the current tax question.

Luncheon will be served by the Austin league, after which all committees will gather for a general meeting to be addressed by John O. Reese, director of the Cook County Joint Commission on Real Estate Evaluation. Mr. Reese will explain the latest developments in the tax reassessment tangle.

WHO SAID IT? When, Where and Why

THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each snappy quotation printed and $5 for the best answer. Send your answers and quotations to the Who Said It editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THROUGH an oversight answers to two quotations were omitted last week. They are printed below with the answers to a third quotation which has aroused interest among readers. New quotations are omitted this week but will appear as usual next Sunday.

ANSWERS

Quotation—How to the line, let the chips fall where they may. And—How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

Answer—The above quotation is a commonly used derivation of the following expression: "He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may." This was said by Roscoe Conkling [1829-1888], great American lawyer and senator from New York state, at the Republican national convention of 1880 in Chicago. He referred to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, whom he nominated for a third term as President.

The parody, "Hew to the line, let the quips fall where they may," was from the pen of B. L. T. [Bert Leston Taylor], who originated the "Line o' Type or Two" column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It was adopted as the motto of the column and is still used in that way. B. L. T. was born on Nov. 13, 1866, in Goshen, Mass., and got his early writing experience on the New Hampshire and Maine rural press. In 1899 he came to Chicago and in January, 1901, he became affiliated with THE TRIBUNE and founded "A Line o' Type or Two." He was one of the first column conductors to use the contributions of readers instead of writing it all himself. In addition to being a delightful humorist he was a sane and penetrating critic of music, art and literature. His death occurred on March 19, 1921, but the memory and influence of this beloved, wise, witty writer lives on.—Mary Bryant, 181 31st street, Milwaukee, Wis.

Answer—This was one of the favorite sayings of David Crockett, American frontiersman, born in Greene county, Tennessee, on Aug. 17, 1786. In 1813 he enlisted under Gen. Andrew Jackson for the Creek Indian war. The quotation was his motto during the fighting. From 1821 to 1824 Crockett was a member of the Tennessee legislature, having won his election not by political speeches but by telling stories. In 1828 he was elected to the national house of representatives as a Jackson Democrat. His shrewdness, eccentric manners, and peculiar wit made him a conspicuous figure, but he was too independent to support all of Jackson's measures and finally lost his seat in 1832. Discouraged and disgusted, he left his native state and went to Texas, then engaged in its struggle for independence from Mexico. There he lost his life as one of the defenders of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836.—Gladys Lummis, 4949 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

Quotation—Retreat, hell! I just got here.

Answer — The above words were spoken by Col. Manus McCloskey of the American expeditionary forces during the world war. On June 3, 1918, Col. [later Brig. Gen.] McCloskey, commanding the 12th field artillery, 2d division, selected positions for his batteries between Ferme de Paris and Ferme d'Issonage, near the Paris-Chateau Thierry road, in order to relieve the 12th French field artillery.

In plain view of the German observers in their Drachen balloons and under a heavy shell fire, Col. McCloskey posted his guns in the positions vacated by the French in order to have the advantage of their firing data. The German advance was continuing steadily, in what the Germans thought was their last, victorious march on Paris.

The commander of the French regiment remonstrated with Col. McCloskey. "It is impossible to remain here; surely you are going to retreat?" he said.

"Retreat? Hell, no!" answered the American artilleryman. "We just got here."

The writer is the son of Col. McCloskey. — Monro McCloskey, care Clark and Trainer, 30 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

CITY TO TRY OUT HANGING TRAFFIC SIGNAL LIGHTS

Traffic lights of the type which hang suspended over intersections will be tested on the northwest side within a few days, Ald Thomas J. Bowler [41st] announced yesterday. The lights consist of a single unit instead of four units required of the type now generally used in Chicago.

The suspended lights can be installed at a cost of $150 each, whereas a set of units of the type now in use costs $2,000 for each intersection, Ald. Bowler said.

If the suspended lights prove satisfactory it will be possible to install them at numerous outlying intersections which hitherto have been denied signals because of the great cost, Ald. Bowler pointed out. Council orders for traffic signals at 700 intersections are on file with the department of gas and electricity because of lack of funds, he added.

The tests in Chicago will be witnessed by the council committee on traffic regulation and public safety, accompanied by a group of engineers, it was announced. The tests will be made at Irving Park boulevard and Long avenue, and at Cicero avenue and Addison street.

Action on Four Others Is Deferred.

Eight changes in the zoning ordinances affecting the west side were approved by the city council committee on building and zoning last Monday and ordered deferred and published by the council later in the day.

All of these matters are expected to be passed at the next session of the council, according to the usual procedure.

Changes That Are Approved.

The committee approved for change the following lots:

On Laramie avenue between Cornelia and Newport avenues; from a residential to an apartment district.

On Touhy avenue between the alley east of Mason avenue and the city limits; zoned as residential property.

On the west side of Waller avenue between West End avenue and Washington boulevard; from a residential to an apartment district.

On Austin avenue between the alley southwest of Grand avenue and Dickens avenue, from an apartment to a commercial area.

On Huntington avenue between the alley southwest of Milwaukee avenue to the alley east of Nagle avenue, from a two flat to a residential district.

On the west side of Austin avenue between Gunnison avenue and a line 125 feet north of Lawrence avenue, from an apartment to a commercial district.

On the west side of Harlem avenue between Farwell and Pratt avenues, from an apartment to a commercial district.

Action on Four Deferred.

Changes in the following areas were referred to a subcommittee:

The south side of Warren avenue from Sacramento boulevard to the alley west, from an apartment to a commercial district.

The east side of Independence boulevard from Harrison street to Flournoy street, from an apartment to a commercial district.

Carolina street between Damen and Hoyne avenues, from an apartment to a commercial district.

NEW COMMERCE BODY SUPPORTS CAR EXTENSION

Joseph Klicka Is Named President of Chamber.

The southwest chamber of commerce, organized last month by business men of the southwest side, has started upon its program of activities. Election of officers was held recently and the purposes of the organization were announced. Meetings are conducted every Friday noon at Otto and Jerry's restaurant, 4047 West 26th street.

The president of the chamber is Joseph Klicka, also president of the Albany State bank, 3951 West 26th street. The other officers are: Vice presidents, Norbert F. Kochka, James F. Klicka, Dr. J. J. Tingler, Charles Klicka, Edward R. Novak and Rodrick Ginsburg; treasurer, Joseph J. Janda, and secretary, Jacob L. Frank. The directors are: Dr. E. G. Trafelet, Dr. A. J. Pearlman, Emil Denemark, Jan Mikota, Edward R. Novak, Joseph F. Frybil, Jack H. Stone, C. M. Polcmik and G. Tourek.

Seek to Increase Coöperation.

The aim of the chamber of commerce, according to Mr. Klicka, the president, is not to take the place of any of the business organizations now existing in the district but rather to effect a greater coöperative spirit and to unite the efforts of these organizations in promoting a comprehensive development program.

Present plans of the chamber are to meet with the various local groups of the neighborhood; to adopt a schedule of civic and social improvements, and to keep the public informed of the aims of the chamber and of the progress made.

Among the projects in which the chamber is interested is the extension of the 26th street car line from Kenton avenue to the zoological gardens in Riverside. This would mean extending the line through Cicero and Berwyn. At the present time the chamber is working on plans for a bus to nurture this distance. The Crawford Business Men's league is also supporting the extension of the car line to the zoological gardens.

Propose to Extend 21st Street.

Other projects in which the chamber is concerned include: procuring of an extension of 21st street from Marshall boulevard to Ogden avenue; the widening of Ogden avenue westward from Crawford avenue, and the removal of a triangular structure at Ogden and Crawford avenues, which is declared to be an eyesore.

Each of the vice presidents of the chamber has been put in charge of a division of activities in which the organization is interested. The various divisions and the men in charge follow: Transportation, Mr. Kochka; public welfare, Mr. Klecka; recreation and amusement, Dr. Tingler; roads and bridges, Mr. Klicka; membership, Mr. Novak, and publicity, Mr. Ginsburg.

Schurs High Radio Club Admits Girls as Members

The girls have won out! Following a strong campaign to keep girls out of its membership the Schurs Radio club has accepted two. They are Celia Brooks and Esther Angne. Heretofore girls have been excluded owing to alleged ignorance of radio and kindred technical topics. There are now 35 members in the club. It is the intention of officers of the organization to conduct the members through a radio station at an early date to acquaint them with the ins and outs of broadcasting. Alfred Witkowski is president of the Radio club.

Mothers Visit Freshmen at Oak Park High School

The mothers of the Freshman students at Oak Park and River Forest Township High school visited the classes last Tuesday afternoon. Many of the mothers had luncheon with the students in the school cafeteria, after while they had an opportunity until 2:30 o'clock to watch the work of their children. This was followed by a conference with Mrs. M. R. McDaniels, wife of the principal of the high school, and Miss Ada Weckel and Ray N. Ketcham, freshman supervisors.

Oak Park P.-T. Council to Meet Tuesday Night

The third quarterly meeting of the Oak Park Parent-Teacher council will be held in the auditorium of the Lowell school Tuesday evening. There will be delegate reports from the local Parent-Teacher associations of district 97 and a discussion of plans for the coming school election April 13.

"SO THIS IS LONDON"

LEAD NEW GROUP

Colonial Program Given by Park Ridge Group

The fine arts department, Mrs. J. Buchert, chairman, of the Park Ridge Improvement association sponsored the program given at a meeting of the organization Tuesday afternoon at the Park Ridge Masonic temple. The entertainment consisted of various songs and selections of the colonial era which were presented by Esther Sundy Newcomb, soprano, and Dorothy Bell, harpist.

Roosevelt High Students to Sing "Mikado" in June

"The Mikado," light opera by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented by the students of Roosevelt High school early in June, David Nyvall, director of music, reports. Rehearsals for the production will begin next month. In addition to the usual cast there will be a chorus of 115 voices.

Chicago Gets Convention of P. E. O. in Fall

The eleven chapters of the P. E. O. sisterhood located on the west side and in the west suburbs are preparing reports and making plans for the national bi-ennial convention of P. E. O. which will be held in Chicago for the first time in thirty years next Sept. 1 to 20. It will be held at the Stevens hotel and 800 delegates in addition to many visitors from all over the country are expected.

Capter I on the west side will send as a distinguished guest, Mrs. Samuel Shaw Parks, past president of supreme chapter as well as of Chapter A in Chicago and chapter I and Illinois State chapter.

Founded in 1869.

The organization of P. E. O. was founded at Ohio Wesleyan college, Mount Pleasant, Ia., Jan. 21, 1869. It began there originally as one of the early social college sororities, although instead of taking Greek letter name, it always retained the initials, P. E. O. When the seven young women who had founded the group were graduated from college, they desired to retain their ties of mutual ideals, principals and friendship and so they continued the work of their organization beyond school days.

Since that time their secret society has grown steadily until it now has 50,000 woman members in forty states and provinces of this country and Canada, all united under the five pointed gold star originally chosen as their emblem.

The convention will take the form of a memorial to the seven charter members, the remaining one of whom died last year. A portrait of each of them will be unveiled and Lorado Taft will deliver the dedicatory address.

Loan Fund for Girls.

The chief philanthropy of the P. E. O. is an educational loan fund for girls who wish to complete their college education. This fund now totals half a million dollars and more than 2,500 girls have been helped by it.

West side and west suburb chapters include: I, president, Mrs. George Wright Bonson; S, Maywood, Mrs. John E. McCullough; AU, Glen Ellyn, Mrs. Alta Burton Mitchell; AV, Berwyn, Mrs. E. H. Baldwin; BA, Joliet, Mrs. Alice P. Perrin; BI, Oak Park, Mrs. Guy O. Miller; BT, Aurora, Mrs. Alice M. Braddock; CG, Oak Park, Mrs. Edward L. Hammedien; CH, Riverside, Mrs. Ross C. H. Hinkle; CK, Hinsdale, Mrs. Nettie S. Neumann; CO, Oak Park, Miss Jeannette Magowan.

Wins Many Honors

Mrs. James Graham Heads Northwest Council of P.-T.

Mrs. James Graham has been elected president of the Northwest council of Parents and Teachers. The election was held at the Leslie Lewis school, Lemoyne and Leclaire avenues. Other new officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Cecil Emery; recording secretary, Mrs. Rudolph Dyke; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Eugene Clark; treasurer, Mrs. O. P. Heller; auditor, Mrs. Max Gofmeister. Mrs. Graham plans to attend the state convention at Mattoon, Ill., next month.

Rosary College Lectures.

Mrs. Leonard Becher of Birmingham, Ala., who was formerly connected with the school of speech of Northwestern university, has been engaged for a series of lectures at Rosary college in River Forest.

GOLF DEDICATES ITS NEW SCHOOL NEXT WEDNESDAY

Replaces Building in Use Since 1869.

The new $50,000 golf grade school located on Waukegan road near the Glenview Golf club will be formally dedicated next Wednesday evening. This school takes the place of the old golf school which served the fathers and mothers and their offsprings in Niles township since the year 1869. It was the oldest school in the county in point of service before the model school was constructed.

Address by Maine Principal.

The dedication address will be made by Charles M. Himel, principal of Maine township high school at Des Plaines, and the forty-two piece high school band, conducted by R. A. Seabury, will provide music for the students' program and exercises.

Senator Arthur A. Huebsch and H. J. Force, director of safety of the Chicago Motor club, will talk on some of the problems confronting the children who are learning their three "R's" in the country schools.

Latest in Architecture.

The Golf school is the latest in school architecture, combined with efficient layout of light, heat and ventilation. It is built on a flexible plan for expansion in the center of a fourteen-acre tract of land, which will be landscaped with a baseball diamond and fully equipped playground.

The county school board in inspecting the completed building said the Golf school will establish the type of grade school construction that should be used in county schools. Fred M. Krueger, president, and Stafford J. Nelson, secretary of the Golf school board, supervised the construction of the school.

CRANE COLLEGE DRAMATIC CLUB SELECTS CAST

Announcement has been made that "Chains," a play in four acts, will be the forthcoming production of the Mummers club of Crane Junior college, 2246 West Van Buren street. The play is to be given in early June on a date not yet announced.

The players selected for roles in the production are Thor Ericson, Sophie Janush, Sidney Breese, Georgia Leach, Clarence Pirez, Ed Feinberg, Maurie Meyers, Lucile Brose, Abe Suderman, and Edwin Carney.

William J. Madden, who directed past plays of the Mummers club, will likewise be in charge of this production. Clarence Pirez is president of the club.

CENTRAL AUSTIN CLUB ELECTS F. R. CAMPBELL

Fifty complaints from members handled successfully, in addition to several neighborhood improvements sponsored, were reported at the annual meeting of the Central Austin club, held recently in the Austin Y. M. C. A.

New officers were elected including: president, F. R. Campbell; first vice president, M. F. Blondell; second vice president, E. G. Feiter; treasurer, Dr. F. L. Glenn, financial secretary, H. Ockenga; recording secretary, Dr. H. O. Drew; sergeant at arms, H. Gleister.

The retiring president, Dr. J. H. Taylor, was given a vote of thanks for his work during the past year. Plans are being made to enlarge the membership of the group, which is non-political to 1,000.

WOMEN'S PARTY TO RAISE FUND FOR VETS' CAMP

Mrs. William Hardy, 618 Williams street, River Forest, is chairman of arrangements for the annual card party of the auxiliary of the 149th field artillery on April 13 at the Colonial club of Oak Park.

This party will be held to raise funds for one of the cottages for convalescent war veterans at Orland Park. The women are coöperating with the Forty and Eight in this venture. The officers of the auxiliary are: President, Mrs. William Hardy; first vice president, Mrs. Walter S. Molden; second vice president, Mrs. I. Haakon Hoff; secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Hermes; treasurer, Mrs. Hammond J. Tuttle.

The chairmen of the standing committees are: Mrs. Stephen B. Jones, Mrs. Oren L. Cox, Mrs. James J. Dowling, Mrs. R. Mickelsen, Mrs. Robert Reno Sr., Mrs. Samuel Wallace, and Miss Lucille Morency.

The convalescent camp, which is located in the forest preserve at 143d street and Kean avenue, now has room for twenty-three men. It is hoped to increase the capacity to 100.

HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS HEAR CRANE ADVISER

Mrs. Mary Devereux, faculty adviser of the Crane Tech Chronicle, published by the students at Crane Technical High school, talked on the paper's problems and their solution at a high school press clinic held in the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university under the auspices of Medill school of journalism.

Circulation and selling methods for high school papers were discussed, emphasis placed on advertising them and novel stunts for selling subscriptions in the open meeting conducted by Dean H. F. Harrington of Medill.

Generally the clinic meetings are devoted to the editorial side of newspaper making. At the next clinic to be held April 6 Dean Harrington will criticise news articles and feature stories for the group, which is an outgrowth of the disbanded Chicago High School Press association.

Among those represented from the west side were Crane, Schurs and Austin.

The All-Steel, Completely Shielded Chassis

All parts of the receiver itself are permanently, immovably secured to a welded, heavily braced steel chassis. The movable tuning elements are completely enclosed and shielded by a steel housing. On the under side of the chassis, one finds the coils handling radio frequency currents enclosed in heavy copper shields for long distance reception and sharp selectivity. The transformers handling the energy after it becomes audible frequency current are sealed in individual cases with air and water-proof compound. Note the telephone switchboard type wiring employed—the individual shields provided for each of the three tubes handling radio frequency current. Every feature that research engineers have found will aid perfect reception is applied in Majestic Radio.

The Power Pack Is Large—Husky—Rugged

The Power Supply Unit in a Majestic Radio is very nearly as large as some of the table model receivers on the market which include set and power unit. The huge transformers for plate and filament power supply cannot overheat or burn out—are more than adequate for any demands that may be made upon them. The condensers which are part of the current filter are of exceptionally large capacity and carefully tested on high voltage. Nothing approaching the Majestic "Ballast" is to be found in any other Radio. House lighting currents may vary from 90 up to 130 volts (normally 110), but the Majestic "Ballast" maintains an even, constant flow of power to the receiver. # VETERANS TO GET PLANTS IN BLOOM FOR EASTER DAY

Every Man in Hospital to Be Remembered.

Cook county council of American Legion auxiliaries will distribute 2,000 blooming plants at Easter to every hospitalized veteran in Cook and Lake counties. This custom was established in 1923, when Mrs. George M. Kellogg was president of the council, and has been continued for the last six years.

MRS. MELVILLE MUCKLESTONE.

Mrs. Melville Mucklestone is president of the council this year, and the seventy-six auxiliaries forming the organization have contributed to the fund to purchase the flowers for the service men. Members of the auxiliaries will wrap the pots with harmonizing crepe paper and distribute them with a personal word of greeting.

Miss Dagmar Romer, rehabilitation chairman of the council, is in charge of the distribution of plants as follows: Edward Hines Jr. [Speedway], 950; Great Lakes, 450; North Chicago, 400; Oak Forest, 60; Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, 35; Cook county hospital, 60 or more.

Distribution will be made at Speedway on Saturday morning from 9 to 11 at Great Lakes and North Chicago hospitals on Friday, at the other hospitals Thursday or Friday.

Edward Feeley post, No. 190, of Brookfield, will be host to the posts of the Fifth district on Wednesday night at Legion hall, Prairie and Grant avenues, Brookfield. Commander Grange has arranged a big program and the evening's festivities will terminate with refreshments. The meeting will be called to order at 8:15. "Everybody," urges Commander William A. Schlupp, "turn out and show Brookfield who the Fifth district is."

Berwyn post, No. 422, is planning a housewarming and dedication when its new quarters are completely decorated and furnished. Promises are being made that the event, which will take place early in April, will be celebrated by one of the biggest and best dinner get-togethers that post has ever put over. Tom Preece and his committee have arranged for turkey and trimmings.

Eight amateur boxing bouts, sanctioned by the A. A. U., will be presented by Blackhawk post, No. 107, on Monday night, April 1, at Hollywood barns, 4823 North Kedzie avenue. Proceeds of the event will be used as a trust fund to perpetuate the care of the graves of comrades from the post. The committee in charge is headed by Judge Joseph Burke. The other members are Al Goodman, Richard Rogers, E. J. Barrett, and Michael Cullen, D. S. C.

Heeding the request of their community, members of Elmwood Park post, No. 686, have organized a Boy Scout troop, to whom they presented a stand of colors last Monday. It is the post's intention to have one of the finest troops in Cook county.

Chicago Loop post, No. 144, will have as its guest speaker at noon Thursday, March 28, George Lytton, president of Henry C. Lytton & Sons. Mr. Lytton will talk on boxing, on which subject he is an authority. Commander Philip R. Davis announces that several other prominent men have agreed to speak at future meetings. The post now meets at the Great Northern hotel.

Following the challenge issued in this column on March 3 by Artists' post, No. 62, the bowling team of Peoples Gas post, No. 336, has accepted the defy and offers to play the challengers if they will communicate with Gus Howard, post athletic committee chairman.

Department Commander David L. Shillinglaw has offered a "working cigaret lighter"—with Legion emblem thereon—for the member of Ad post who brings in the most new members during March.

F. E. Stephenson, correspondent of Vulture 220 of the Forty and Eight, and also member of the board of directors and post relations officer of Hyde Park post, No. 34, has just completed visiting all posts in the third district. As a further good relationship messenger he is establishing contact between his own post and the various posts in the fourth district.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

CHUCKLES.

The Tribune wants some smiles, chuckles, and hearty laughs for this column from the high school students of Chicago. Two dollars will be paid for each original contribution, joke, jingle, verse, or anecdote. Address them to the Metropolitan editor of The Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Patient—I am not well, doctor.
Doctor—How do you live?
Patient—Like any other poor dog. I work like a horse all day, when I come home I'm as ravenous as a wolf, then I am tired as a dog and sleep like a bear.
Doctor—I think you had better consult a veterinary surgeon.

JOHN WILLARD,

BUILT-UP MOTOR STICK MADE BOY WORLD'S CHAMP

Here's Chance to Profit by His Experience.

Today is the sixth of The Tribune's series on building scientific airplane models. It tells how to construct the built-up motor stick for the championship tractor described last week. If you have questions on it send them, with a 2 cent stamp for answer, to Merrill Hamburg, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, 24 and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. He'll answer them.

BY MERRILL HAMBURG.
[Secretary Airplane Model League of America.]

Last week THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Airplane Model league of America in Chicago, promised an improvement on the championship tractor and its cambered wings—an improvement that makes it perform even better than it did for Ernest McCoy, its designer. The improvement is a built-up motor stick—a hollow stick with internal supports that is both stronger and lighter than the solid stick.

And the boy who first used it effectively made himself world's champion.

He is Aram Abgarian, 15 year old builder, who used the cambered wings and tail you learned about last week, plus his hollow motor stick—and flew his model to a new world's record of 353.6 seconds at the First National A. M. L. A. contests, held by the American Boy magazine at Detroit in 1928. Here are the plans of the motor stick. You can incorporate them in your Champ tractor.

Study the Diagram.

First you can get the materials you'll need—1-32 inch flat balsa 15¼ inches long, a balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches and some ambroid—in the same kit you got last week for the McCoy ship, which includes all of them. If you haven't already obtained the kit, you can get it by sending 85 cents in check or money order to the supply department, A. M. L. A. American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. It will give you all your materials for the complete ship, with the right type of motor stick; an A. M. L. A. The manual is included as well. With the materials in hand, you're ready to start. First, read all about these directions and study the diagram thoroughly, so you'll know exactly the steps to follow. Then get to work.

The outside dimensions of the motor stick are ¼x¼x15 inches. For the motor walls you need four strips of balsa, 1-32x15 inches. Two are cut 1-16 inch wide and the other two 1-16. When they are cut they should be ready for plugs and bulkheads—the cross-side reinforcements set at one inch intervals.

Manual Tells How.

Next, and carefully a strip of 1-32 inch flat balsa, cutting it to the exact inch length. Draw light pencil lines across the strip ¾ inch from each end, 1½ inches from each end, and at 1 inch intervals between these last two marks. Now you have located the thirteen bulkheads and the two end plugs.

Next split the strip lengthwise—with a very sharp knife and a straight edge—into the four side walls of the fuselage. The manual tells you how. Take one of the 1-16 inch strips and paint the two edges with cement, taking extra care not to get it on other face. Lay it flat on the table and stand the two ¾ inch side strips up against it to form a square with the U. If you have laid the strips properly the pencil lines will correspond exactly; if they don't one or more of the strips must be removed, and for end.

Must Be Precise.

Now the end plugs and bulkheads. Cut two pieces ¾ inch long from the balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches—the size you want, if your U is properly made, will be exactly 1-16x3-16. Make sure that they fit exactly—they must not bulge the ends—and then ambroid them and set them in place. For the bulkheads, cut a strip 1-16 inch wide from the 1-32 flat balsa, then cut off pieces 1-18 inch long—thirteen of them. Every piece must be precise—it must fit neither too tightly nor too loosely. When they are finished and you have found them to fit exactly by pushing them into place without glue, take them out one at a time, paint them with ambroid and reset them. There must be room left on top of the U, of course, so that the fourth side of the fuselage will fit in. Another thin strip, then sand the whole stick lightly to finish it.

Now you have the Abgarian fuselage less subject to twist by a wide margin, sound motor than the solid stick, and lighter by about the weight of the propeller.

Let 'Er Sail!

Now paint the stick with ambroid at each end, for added strength, and set the metal parts as shown in the drawing. If you made the solid stick ship last week, take the metal pieces from the old fuselage.

You can use your old tail group or build a new set, just as you choose. Careful cutting with your knife will remove the old group from the McCoy model. Set it into the rear end of the motor stick, cutting grooves for the spars as shown at the left of the diagram.

Now clip on your wing, hook up the motor and propeller and let 'er sail! You'll find, if everything is done just right, that you've built your finest indoor model. It will be the lightest for its size, the strongest and the most enduring flyer.

Free Trips to Europe.

And perhaps it will win for you a trip to Europe! For, after THE TRIBUNE holds local contests to select champions, these champions will be sent to Detroit as the guests of this newspaper. And there they will compete with other city champions for cups, medals, other awards and—best of all—free trips to Europe, offered by the American Boy magazine.

Watch this paper for forthcoming airplane model articles. They will tell you how to build other record smashing models—how to compete for other trips to Europe. The next comes one week from today.

ELMWOOD PARK STUDENT WINS SPELLING BEE

Stasee Janko, an eighth grade student at Elmwood Park school, was awarded first prize for spelling at the recent contest held at Franklin Park school. The Franklin Park school acted as host to the two schools of Divisions 1 and 2 at the preliminary contest sponsored by the Cook county board of education.

Second place in the preliminary contest was won by Ruth Bottorff of Franklin Park. The two girls will compete with other Cook county champions when the final contest is held in Chicago Wednesday.

Represented in the preliminary contest were the Schiller Park, River Grove, Franklin Park, Mannheim, Irving, Wolf, Rhodes, Elmwood Park, Fairview, and River and Higgins public schools.

Park Ridge University Club Elects Harry A. Ackerburg

The University club of Park Ridge, an organization of college men, was recently formed at a meeting held in the auditorium of the Park Ridge State bank. Thirty-three colleges and universities were represented, the members of the club being graduates of their respective alma maters throughout the period from 1901 to 1928. Temporary officers and directors were elected to serve until the annual meeting of the club in May. The following were chosen: President, Harry A. Ackerburg; vice president, William F. McCaughey Jr.; secretary, Charles G. Thomas, and treasurer, J. R. Lawrence, and directors, Dr. L. A. Platts, Owen E. Grigsby, and Chester K. Hayes.

Portage Park Gymnasium Corner Stone Is Laid

The cornerstone of the new Portage Park gymnasium, Central and Berteau avenues, was laid yesterday. The building will measure approximately 150 by 300 feet and will provide residents of the community with facilities for sports during all seasons of the year. Commissioners John J. Butler and Frank J. Huckin Jr., presided at the ceremonies. It is expected that the building, which will cost $100,000, will be ready for use in July.

BY QUIN RYAN.

IN THE rotogravure section of this paper you will find pictures of those famous comic characters, "Herr Louie" and the "Weasel," who are heard every evening in the German band act at 10:15. Herr Louie, the fat one in the photo, is in reality, Hank Moeller, formerly of Davenport, Ia., and for many years a partner in the theatrical producing business with Hal Gilles, formerly of Evansville, Ind., who plays the Weasel.

Every afternoon they can be found bent over a typewriter, concocting the laughs for the evening's episode. Here is the way one of their scenarios looks when they take the air:

LOUIE'S HUNGRY FIVE DISCUSS THE WEATHER, ETC.

BAND—"Ach du lieber augustine."

LOUIE—Py chorge, I only vish dat diss vinter vedder voss first over mit.

WEASEL—Chess, isn't it de trute; Py golly diss iss von of de best of de vorst vinters ve had in a long time yet.

LOUIE—Ya I should said it iss.

WEASEL—Chee vies, how I'm vatin for de good ole summertime, ven a guy kin go oudt undt get hisself a lung full of fresh air vonce in a vile.

LOUIE—Now lissen vonce Veasel: Dares plenty fresh air outside now if you vant it, but, dat vosn't vat I voss deferring to. Vat I meant to said voss diss. If de vinter voss first over, den ve could get oudt undt get some fresh bissness in.

WEASEL—Oh, now I see vat you mean. You mean so ve kin get our finanshul aitchoosshuns in good shape again, hu?

LOUIE—Eggsackly. Diss inside bissness so much, always makes us shtale, undt also makes youse all so irritationed.

WEASEL—Ve didn't did so bad doe diss year Herr Louie.

LOUIE—Vat you mean ve didn't did so bad? Vere only a couple dollars from de poorhouse.

WEASEL—Oh for gootness grashus mercy sakes, iss dat so?

LOUIE—Ya shure dats so. Undt if I vould haff shtayed long in de hospitoll sick, youse vould probly be now allreddy in it.

WEASEL—Oh I gess ve vouldn't.

LOUIE—You vouldn't hu?

WEASEL—No. Vere shtill out of it, isn't it?

LOUIE—Vell, it isn't your fault dat you iss, I tell you; didn't dat letter giff me a exsampel how tingu iss ven I'm not here, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, vy should ve get de blames for someting dat somevon else did, or didn't did? CHEE VISS!

LOUIE—Nun vart mal ein augenblick; chust hold de horses for von minuts. Who iss de von dat's supposing to handle de bissness ven de suferior iss avay, hu? Who iss de von?

WEASEL—Vell, now dat's something I got to puf some considerashun on; I should tink anyvon in de band vould be de von to handle it.

LOUIE—Uh hu! Your chust de kind of a tripe dat vould tink someting like dat. Now, you lissen vonce to me. Vir going to play now a tune, undt den I'm going to lay down de rules, dat everybody, undt even you kin undershtood.

WEASEL—Chess!

LOUIE—Awrite; Vir shpiein Zu Lauterbach Hab Ich Mein Shtrumpf Faloren; Nun Zusammen! Eins, Swei, Shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, shtay right vare your sitten. For vonce in my life I'm going to haff a clear misundershtanding between ourselfs.

WEASEL—Vill it be nezzessary for me to take down notes, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—No; now den: Youse all remember dat ve had a cheneral agriement a long time back allreddy about who iss who und vy in de band; isn't dat right? Vell, am I asking myself someting, or vass ist diss fur dummheit.

WEASEL—You mean dat meeting dat ve had ven ve dissapointed differens vons for different tings, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Eggsackly, dat's vat I mean.

WEASEL—Ach, I should said I do remember dat. Dat voss ven youse gafe me de chunsaninous dissapointment as secretare.

LOUIE—Now, you said it. You voss dissapcinted secretare in cheneral, una vat voss supposing to be your duties, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, now let me tink a minute, und don't rush me too fast, or else I maybe forget some of dem.

LOUIE—Ach, you couldn't tink. You voss, undt are supposing to hendle de bisness end of de band if I ain't here, or if I'm inexchposed und laid out.

WEASEL—Vell, isn't dat vat I've bin doing, isn't it?

LOUIE—No, dat isn't vat you've bin doing, isn't it. If you vould haff bin doing your duties, den you vould haff bin here de odder night ven dies fella came und voss looking for me.

WEASEL—Vell, for gootness grashus mercy sakes, I had to keep your girl Chulia kwiet. Chee vies! She voss running around like a shicken mit its neck cut off.

LOUIE—Voss hast du gesecht?

WEASEL—I said dat ven you voss in de hospitoll in, Chulia, chust simply vent all to peaces. Py golly, ven I seen her first I tot maybe you broke your leg und dey voss going to shott you or someting.

LOUIE—Awrite, now don't shtart cooking any fish shtories togedder again. Vat has Chulia got to do mit your duties as secretare, dat's vat I'd like to know.

WEASEL—Ach himmel, such a ask!

LOUIE—Na du dummes gesell, vat's de matter mit dat ask. Dat's a civilized kvestion.

WEASEL—Vell, don't get so sore; chee viss!

LOUIE—I ain't gettin' sore. Here I'm trying for years to learn you some reshponsitivities, und vat's de outcome of de results?

WEASEL—Vell, py golly, if you ask me, I tink I did purty darn good for de little inexshperiences I had.

LOUIE—De whoal trouble iss, you don't try to learn more. Ach, veil, I don't care if you vant to shtay a dummy your whole life, go hed. Come on, boys, let's play von. I'm gettin' discustered mit diss kind of bissness. Let's play "My Bonnie Lies Over De Ocean Over." Ready; eins, swei, shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, I tell you vat I do, Veasel. Dat iss, if you promise me you learn so much as you kin, UND if you vill promise me, too, dat you vill shtick mit us, und not after I shpent a couple years on you learning you someting, shneak out undt get marriaged,

WEASEL—O, vell, now you're asking me something, Herr Louie, dat's a sensitive proposishun. You know yourself dat Chenny und me iss crazy, von for de odder, undt I almost exshpeck any day to hear Chenny ask me to be de better half of her.

LOUIE—Now, you see? Und dat's supposing to be granitude, hu?

WEASEL—Ha, ha, ha, ha. Vy don't you marriage Chulia, Herr Louie, den ve could haff togedder a double marriage. Chee vies!

LOUIE—Vass faelt dir, bist du farükt? Here I try undt talk some senseful bissness, und try to make someting out of dies hand out, und dat's de corporation I get.

EMIL—Let him vent for hisself, Herr Louie. I vouldn't vorry no more for him.

WEASEL—Aw, you shut your bisness, Emil. Nobody vosn't talking to you, any how.

LOUIE—Dat's enuff—dat's enuff! Vir shpiein yets eins, und dan gaen vir drausen cause I don't feel no good.

WEASEL—Ach, chee viss! Vat's de sense going out in de middle of de night?

LOUIE—Schweig shtill. Mench, its gettin' so lately a man couldn't even be sick no more und enchoy it. Vir going to play von, und it's Glückauf. Maybe dat helps de sitchoosshuns out.

WEASEL—Do you know someting, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Ya, I know if you don't keep shtill purty soon, you get trowed out heads backvards. Awrite, de tune now. Eins, swei, drei, shpielt!

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00 7:55 11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n' that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tune as only they can.

RUSSIAN CHURCH MUSIC FEATURES EASTER PROGRAM

W-G-N Will Broadcast It Tuesday.

The rich liturgical music of the Russian church, considered the most magnificent in the world, will feature a special Easter program to be broadcast Tuesday night from New York. It will go on the air at 8 o'clock Chicago time and will be carried by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station in the Drake hotel and a chain of 28 others.

The famous Russian Cathedral choir of New York, under the direction of Nikolai Vasilieff, will sing many of the liturgical chants which were written for the Russian church by some of the greatest Slavic composers.

Jozef Stanley, noted bass, and soloist of the New York Symphony and the Russian Symphony orchestras will also be on the program. A full symphonic orchestra under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret will play a series of Russian sketches.

The first part of the program will feature Russian folk music, esteemed the world over for its beauty and sincerity. This music, all written before the Russian revolution, has a wild gayety in marked contrast to the peasant's somber existence and seemed to be his only escape from grim reality.

Tschaikowsky's immortal musical description of Easter eve in Moscow will be one of the principal numbers on the program. This great symphonic composition depicts the procession of the priests, which begins at midnight. Followed by the entire congregation, the procession, in the flickering light of hundreds of candles, marches solemnly around the cathedral bearing ikons of the saints and church banners. The deep voiced carillons of the cathedral boom into the cold night air, and suddenly in a blaze of light the procession reënters the church. The priests greet the congregation with the words "Christ is risen" and the people answer: "He is risen indeed."

MANY OPERATIC COMPOSITIONS IN FAMILY PARTY

The compositions of such masters of opera as Bizet, Gounod, Leoncavallo, Von Flotow, Wagner, and Verdi are to be knit into a concert during the family party program over W-G-N THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, tomorrow evening. Florence Easton, the English soprano, who is welcomed with equal heartiness from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera company or in the home, Alfio Tedesco, the newest Italian tenor of the Metropolitan and an operatic orchestra and chorus directed by Carlos Sagna, are to provide the program.

HE PLAYS THE CLARINET.

Former Attorney General John Dewitt Sargent was only heard on the air once. It would seem that his successor, William Dewitt Mitchell often more possibilities to the broadcasters. Mr. Mitchell plays the clarinet.

Missouri Auction Bridge Experts Compete in Radio Game Over W. G. N.

The twentieth and last game of the present series of radio auction bridge games will be broadcast from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.

One hundred and nineteen radio stations broadcast bridge games during the present season, reaching an estimated audience of several million a week. Announcement has been made that the fifth series of bridge games, featuring widely known players, will be inaugurated next fall with even a larger lineup than the present series.

The contestants in the twentieth game are William J. Wall of Ottawa, Canada, skilled as a player, writer and analyst of bridge tactics, playing with J. H. Landerkin of Toronto, Canada, one of the outstanding players of Toronto, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, who have been featured in all the games.

Following are the advance hands for game twenty:

For the nineteenth of this season's radio bridge games, which was broadcast Tuesday from station W-G-N, Mr. Work had for his partner Mrs. Clyde Bissett, a well known bridge teacher and lecturer of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Whitehead was paired with C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, Mo., one of America's champion players.

The experts held the following hands:

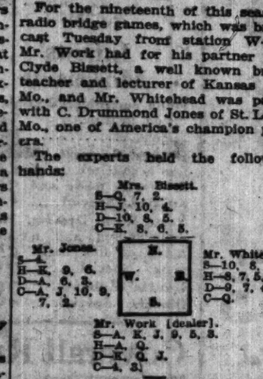

Mr. Work, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one spade. Mr. Jones, west, said two clubs, and Mrs. Bissett, north, and Mr. Whiteside, east, both passed.

Mr. Work increased his own bid to two spades, which obtained the contract, as Mr. Jones, west, was unable to continue clubs without an assist, which his partner, Mr. Whitehead, east, was unable to give.

Saves King of Clubs.

Opening the play, Mr. Jones, west, led the ace of spades. From Mrs. Bissett's, north's, hand which became dummy, Mr. Work, declarer, played the 5 of clubs. Mr. Whitehead, east, played his singleton queen, and Mr. Work, south, declarer, played the 3.

Mr. Jones, west continued with the jack of clubs. Mr. Work realized that if he covered with dummy's king, Mr. Whitehead, east, would trump the trick. If he did not cover, the jack would be good. Since the trick had to be lost in either case, Mr. Work, declarer, played dummy's 6 of clubs, instead of needlessly sacrificing the king. He planned to use the king of clubs later, if possible, for the discard of his own queen of hearts, which would obviate the necessity of attempting a heart finesse.

Mr. Whitehead, east, appreciated Mr. Work's probable intention of later making use of the king of clubs for a discard. Therefore Mr. Whitehead considered the advisability of trumping his partner's good jack, in order to lead a heart or diamond through Mr. Work's hand up to dummy's weakness. This would have given Mr. Jones, west, an opportunity to make a high card of one of those suits, before Mr. Work could secure the discard which he apparently would be able to make later, through entry into dummy with the queen of trumps.

Wins Third Round.

However, Mr. Whitehead was deterred from attempting this coup by two sound reasons: First, Mr. Work, south, might hold three clubs, in which care, if Mr. Whitehead held off, the latter's partner might be able to take a third trick in clubs unless declarer came up with dummy's king. Second, if Mr. Whitehead trumped the trick he would not know whether to lead a heart or a diamond, as he had no basis for a decision as to the suit from which declarer might wish to effect a discard.

Therefore Mr. Whitehead discarded on the jack of clubs his 2 of diamonds; Mr. Work played the 4 of clubs.

Mr. Jones, west, continued with the 10 of clubs. Dummy, north, played the 8-spot. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 4 of diamonds. To have discarded the 2 of hearts to show weakness in that suit also, would have given more valuable information to the declarer than to Mr. Whitehead's partner. Mr. Work, declarer, trumped with the 3 of Spades.

Mr. Work led the ace of spades, to which Mr. Jones followed with the 4; dummy with the 2; Mr. Whitehead with the 6. Mr. Work led the king of spades. Mr. Jones discarded the 9 of hearts as an indication to his partner, Mr. Whitehead, to lead that suit should he have an opportunity. Dummy played the 7 of spades; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

Mr. Work then led the 5 of spades, overtaking with dummy's queen. Mr. Jones, west, discarded the 2 of clubs; Mr Whitehead, east, dropped his last spade, the 10-spot.

Concedes Ace of Diamonds.

Dummy then led the king of clubs, giving Mr. Work, declarer, the much desired discard of his queen of hearts. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 7 of diamonds; Mr. Jones, west, played the 7 of clubs.

Mr. Work, declarer, then laid down his hands, conceding the ace of diamonds and claiming the rest of the tricks. His claim was allowed, and he therefore scored four-odd on the hand, with 36 trick points, and 40 for four honors divided.

In contract, the play of this hand would be exactly the same as in auction. The bidding, however, would be distinctly different, according to Mr. Work's analysis. There are many different systems of initial bids in contract, but Mr. Work gives preference to the one which would bid three spades on south's hand, although he recognizes that many players would bid only two.

However, by bidding three, Mr. Work would make certain that his partner would jump him to four if he had a probable trick. It needs only that much in partner's hand to make a game-going bid desirable.

Of course, for those whose two-bid forces the partner to bid, two in this case would be amply sufficient; but that is a system which, in Mr. Work's opinion, produces many losses in the long run. Mr. Work does not want to force his partner to bid with a bust hand. On the other hand, by bidding the full strength of his own hand, he enables his partner to read his strength in the most satisfactory manner, thereby producing the best bid that is in the two hands.

Germany Plans to Increase Power of Radio Stations

BERLIN.—In order that programs from here may be picked up throughout Germany, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Reichsfunk to increase the power of the Zeesen transmitter to 200 kilowatts. Likewise, it is reported, the relay station at Freiburg is to receive a more powerful plant, in view of the decision of the French to erect a high power station at Strasbourg.

NEW DOMINICAN HIGH SCHOOL READY IN FALL

$750,000 Is Being Spent on Initial Construction.

Dominican High school, the new west side school for boys, will be ready for opening in September, the Rev. Leo C. Gainor, O. P., president, announced yesterday.

The school is located in Oak Park on Washington boulevard, between East and Scoville avenues. Approximately $750,000 is being spent on the initial construction.

Plans for the building call for a fireproof structure of Gothic design with a central tower. It will extend along Washington boulevard 290 feet. The front will be finished in seam-faced Massachusetts granite with Indiana limestone trim, somewhat similar in general architectural effect to the Dominican house of studies in River Forest. The plans were drawn by Wilfred E. Anthony of New York and the construction work is in charge of the Frank A. O'Hare company.

Room for 700 Students.

It will be a three story structure with a full English basement and will provide accommodations at once for nearly 700 students, with an ultimate capacity of more than 1,000. The initial construction will provide seventeen classrooms, laboratories, library, cafeteria, swimming pool and gymnasium.

A section of the gymnasium basement will contain a swimming pool 75 by 25 feet, with an encircling balcony for spectators. The depth of the pool will be graduated from four feet at one end to eight and one-half feet. It will be provided with continuous flowing water, a sterilizing, heating and ventilating plant.

The gymnasium proper will occupy the entire west end of the building and will have a clear floor space of 80 by 125 feet with a maximum ceiling height of 40 feet. A permanent balcony will be provided at one end and demountable bleachers on the floor level will provide flexible capacity for additional visitors. The gymnasium will also be used for a temporary school chapel and assembly hall until the ultimate auditorium is completed.

Classrooms on First Floor.

On the first floor of the school will be five classrooms, the library, cafeteria, administration offices, student council rooms, and athletic director's quarters. The library will provide shelf space for 10,000 volumes and seating capacity for 200 readers. The cafeteria will be equipped with steam tables, full kitchen and refrigeration apparatus.

Second and third floors will be devoted exclusively to classrooms. Space is also provided for chemistry, physics, and biology laboratories with their associated dark rooms and lecture halls.

Faculty members of the school will be housed for the present in the two large three story residences on the East avenue side of the school property. These houses are the former Thomas Cusack mansion and the Dr. Martin D. Jones home. They have been remodeled and the two buildings have been connected with an enclosed passageway.

Approved by Cardinal.

The official title of the school will be the Dominican High school. The faculty, aside from athletic director and gymnasium instructors, will be composed entirely of Dominican fathers, a preaching and teaching order in the Catholic church, with headquarters in New York and River Forest. Cardinal Mundelein has for some time desired a Catholic high school for boys on the far west side, and it was at his invitation that the Dominican fathers proceeded.

It is planned to open the school in September with the two first year classes. The junior year will be added in 1930 and the senior year in 1931. A four year course will be provided in all branches of classical, academic, and scientific studies. The school is designed exclusively for day students.

NORTH MAYFAIR ORGANIZES TO BOOST DISTRICT

Property owners of North Mayfair formed a new improvement association at a meeting last Tuesday night in the Palmer grammar school, 5031 North Kenneth street. More than 100 members are expected to join by the time the charter is received.

Th group went on record as favoring the extension of Foster avenue through to Milwaukee avenue, the erection of a station at Foster avenue on the Mayfair branch of the Chicago and North Western railway, the installation of electric lights throughout the district, and better garbage and ash collection. Better police protection was asked also, and commissioners of the Jefferson park district promised support in the attempt to get a park and playground in the district served by the association.

Officers elected are: President, Gustave Reich, 4816 North Kentucky avenue; vice president, Benjamin Tollsen, 5144 North Kolmar avenue; secretary, Irvin C. Reiff, 5067 North Kolmar avenue; treasurer, A. C. Bruns, 5130 North Kolmar avenue.

WALTER KILMEK HEADS SENIORS' CLUB AT SCHURZ

Walter Kilmek has been elected president of the Senior Boys' club of Schurz High school, 3601 Milwaukee avenue, it is announced. Other new officers are: Vice president, Edward A. Johnson; secretary, Ted Weiskotten; treasurer, Jack Silverman; sergeant-at-arms, Tom E. Feth.

The Dramatic club of Schurz also elected officers as follows: President, Tom Feth; vice president, Joan Pound; secretary, Marion Rudolph; treasurer, Edward C. Johnson.

Meetings of the club are to be held once a month, at each of which a play will be presented by some of the members.

NEW TOWN HALL IN AUSTIN TO BE OPENED APRIL 5

Dedication Program Being Arranged.

The new Austin town hall, Lake street and Central avenue, will be formally opened Friday evening, April 5. Erected by the west park commissioners at a cost of $450,000, the new town hall is one of the most distinguished public buildings in the city. A committee of west side leaders headed by George J. Dehn is arranging the dedicatory program. The new town hall has a frontage of 243 feet and a depth of 223 feet. It is two stories tall, with a tower several stories higher. The building is modeled after the famous Independence hall in Philadelphia. Finished in red brick with white terra cotta trim it presents a striking picture of colonial architecture. Michaelsen and Rognstad were the architects.

Fine Equipped Community Center.

The building has been designed to provide every convenience for the use of residents and organizations of the west side who will use it. There is a large auditorium, equipped with a stage and seats for 1,200; a gymnasium, 41x77 feet; a natatorium; a rifle room designed for rifle matches and target shooting; several clubrooms and halls for conventions and meetings, and banquet and reception rooms. The town hall will offer to the people of Austin a centrally located meeting place thoroughly equipped for every occasion.

The executive committee appointed by Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the west Chicago park commissioners, to make arrangements for the opening of the town hall is made up of the following: George J. Dehn, chairman; P. D. Castle, Dr. Edward H. Fox, Frank W. Savage, and Frank E. Hamm.

A meeting of this committee was held in the new hall Monday evening and plans for the dedication were discussed. An advisory board comprising 50 prominent business men, manufacturers, merchants, and clergymen of the west side has been appointed to assist the park commissioners and other state officials on the opening night in behalf of the community. A large number of the members of this board attended the meeting of the executive committee Monday evening.

Meeting Place for Civic Groups.

Arrangements have been made, according to Mr. Dehn, chairman of the executive committee, to accommodate all patriotic and civic organizations of the community who wish to conduct their meetings in the new hall. It is expected that the majority of the neighborhood groups will avail themselves of this opportunity. Such patriotic organizations as the Austin post of the American Legion, the Gladstone post of the American Legion, the Spanish War Veterans, the G. A. R., and the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet in the new hall. Among the civic groups which will also congregate there are the Austin Lions, the Austin Kiwanis, the Rotarians and similar clubs. By giving the neighborhood organizations facilities for meeting in the town hall, Mr. Dehn feels that a better community spirit will result.

CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE GETS BUSY IN LEWIS DRIVE FOR $1,000,000

Work on the campaign being undertaken by the Lewis union, the alumni organization of Lewis Institute, to obtain an endowment of $1,000,000 for that alma mater progressed rapidly during the last week. A campaign committee is now arranging to obtain funds for the carrying on of the endowment drive. The chairman of the committee is Alexander D. Bailey, and the other members are Charles F. Axelson, Arthur J. R. Curtis, Elmer Scholl and Paul Oehmig. George William Carman is director of the institute.

Miss Grace Hinchliff, alumni secretary, reports that several alumni have written to officials of Lewis stating their willingness to cooperate in the campaign. An endowment plan prepared by the Lewis union has been submitted to the board of trustees for approval. The trustees are: President Charles S. Cutting; vice president A. A. Eckhart; treasurer, Dr. Frank R. Herrick; and Bion Arnold and Andrew R. Dole.

Yearly Lilac Fete Planned for Lombard

"Lilac Time in Lombard" is a phrase destined to have currency throughout the United States, if plans set on foot in that Chicago suburb, twenty miles west of the loop, are carried through in accordance with the program being worked out by its citizens.

This program provides for an annual lilac pageant for Lombard, centralized around the well known Lilacia park, which was the legacy to the village of the late Col. William A. Plum, who was known around the world in botanical circles as a collector of more than 300 varieties of lilacs.

The organization of a general committee of Lombard citizens, to be known as the lilac time in Lombard committee and to have general charge of the pageant, was started last week. A meeting of the representatives of the various clubs and business men's organizations has been called for Monday evening, April 1. At that time the organization of the general committee will be effected, and plans worked out in detail for the first pageant, which probably will take place during the spring of 1930.

The initiative in the movement was taken at a meeting of the Lions club, at which a special committee on lilac time was appointed, composed of Frank A. Jirsa, editor of the Lombard Spectator, Judge F. W. Robison, and Harrison A. Bliss, a real estate man. The invitation to other organizations to take part in the project was sent out, and the committee adopted as its slogan henceforth — "Lombard, the gem of Chicagoland."

Park Is Being Landscaped.

Lilacia park, which for many years was the site of the home of Col. Plum, is being considerably enlarged and landscaped under the direction of Jens Jensen, the landscape artist. Annually the mecca of visitors from all parts of the country, it is expected that when the transformation is complete the annual spring flowering of the lilacs will be attractive to even greater numbers. The park stands in the center of the village, adjoining the business section, and is on the main highways.

The old Plum home, which is now the village library, is in the center of the richly wooded grounds, and, to use the expression of a recent magazine writer, "is like a piece of the '60s restored." To the gardens themselves the faraway places in China, Japan, Africa, and Europe have contributed their varieties of lilacs, for Col. Plum was an assiduous collector. Every week, it seemed, the village expressman delivered burlapped bundles containing slips from remote points on the globe.

Thus it is that within a few weeks now, visitors to Lilacia will be confronted with a maze of color in the more than 300 varieties and more than 500 bushes which will then be loaded with magnificent blossoms, the like of which cannot be seen any where else, according to those who are experts in such matters.

There will be the President Lincoln, the bluest of all blue lilacs; the Lucie Baltel, with its huge spikes of coral pink; Mont Blanc, the giant double flowered white; Macrostachya, with its delicate pale pink buds; Congo, perhaps the most striking of all in its gorgeous purple; Catherine Havemeyer, whose pale blue flowers are massed in pliant spikes; President Fallieres, another pinkish variety, and Toussant L'Overture, named after the San Domingo martyr, deep wine colored.

National Colors on the Bush.

And on one particularly interesting while lilac bush upon which Col. Plum had budded in blue and red flowers, will be found a combination of the national colors that stands out like a flag.

It is around this splendid lilac collection that the projected pageant is to be centered. While it is a bit early to attempt the details of the proposed programs to be carried out, it is the idea of those backing the movement to have an annual lilac parade and show, with appropriate exercises to be presented within Lilacia park itself.

Meantime, the general committee will take it upon itself to induce the citizens to plant lilacs of the different varieties available in the park, so that when these annual pageants are held, Lombard—the whole of Lombard—will be literally, "Lombard, the Lilac Village."

ST. SYLVESTER'S STUDENTS STAGE DRAMA PROGRAM

The commercial class of St. Sylvester's school, Palmer and Richmond streets, presented "The Coming of Geraldine" in the school hall Monday night. The play was directed by Catherine A. Daly, and music was furnished by the school orchestra. Preceding the performance the fourth grade of the school presented "Little Eskimos."

The cast for "The Coming of Geraldine" included Jane Schultz, Mary McGovern, Lucille Walton, Eileen Fergus, Agnes Klatt, Adeline Rozycki, Anna Zyburt, Lauretta Quinn, Margaret Readdy, Evelyn Cera, Rose Hennessy, Bernice Sandhoefner, Marie Cummins, Florence Karschnick, Louise Brunner, Helen Stanger, Annette Lally, Margaret Wilcox, Dolores Meyer, Dorothy Roeder, Anne Drufke and Esther Stephens.

Pupils of the school appearing as Dutch girls were Anne Drufke, Eleanor Franzak, Dorothy Gorski, Margarnor Franzak, Dorothy Gorski, Margarnor Franzak, Rose Hennessy, Marie Kennerly, Ann Lachance, Rose Mueller, Lucille Nowak, Irene Papineau, Mary Alice Piper, Clara Skaja, Esther Stephens and Jennie Wolska.

The following were cast as Quakers: Evelyn Cera, Dina Dini, Eileen Fergus, Anne Ferrigan, Adeline Fourier, Jeannette Franzak, Florence Getzelmann, Agnes Klatt, Adeline Rozycki, Josephine Rush, Bernice Sandhoefner, Helen Stanger, Cecilia Stoesser, Lucile Swan, Loretta Vogel and Anna Warzenski. Girls of the sixth grade appeared as Irish colleens.

NINE ALDERMEN O. K. WEST SIDE PLANNING BODY

Pledge Support for Improvements.

Nine west side aldermen, who will be asked to act as ex-officio members of the West Town Planning commission being formed under the auspices of the West Town Chamber of Commerce, have declared themselves in accord with the forming of the new board and have pledged themselves to lend every effort toward the completion of west side improvements started but never finished by the Chicago Plan commission.

The West Town commission will take definite lines following the meeting of the board of directors of the chamber April 2. After that date, invitations will be sent to 100 west side men and women and the 22 west side aldermen to become members of the group.

Neglected, Maypole Says.

"The Chicago Plan commission has never done anything of direct benefit to the west side," Ald. George M. Maypole [28th] declared. "All it ever planned were arteries to lead the people out of that district into the suburbs. I am absolutely in accord with the movement to form a West Town commission, and welcome the invitation to work as a member."

"Such a body can do a great deal of work, and there is a great deal to be done," Ald. A. J. Horan [29th] said. "I am for such a body. One has long been needed on the west side."

"All uncompleted improvements should be finished before any new ideas are even talked about," said Ald. Joseph H. Smith [32d]. "If the West Town commission will work for that, I will work with them."

"I think the Chicago Plan commission has neglected the west side," Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] charged. "I am certainly for the forming of a west side body. I believe it can do more to obtain improvements than the aldermen themselves."

"Much Started, Little Finished."

Ald. Frank A. Sloan [26th] agreed that the Chicago commission has been guilty of neglect of the west side. "The commission started many improvements on the west side, but finished very few," he said.

"I am of the opinion that the Chicago Plan commission has done many things for other parts of the city but has neglected the west and northwest sides," Ald. T. J. Bowler [41st] said. "Furthermore, that body has made some glaring mistakes. For example, Avondale highway could have been approved as it was originally planned—an $11,000,000 project—but the commission killed it by making it a $60,000,000 improvement.

"A commission working directly for the west side would know more about the district and could do more than the Chicago body has succeeded in doing."

Calls Loop Chief Beneficiary.

"Activities of the Chicago Plan commission have been directed largely for the benefit of loop interests, and the outlying districts have been neglected as a consequence," Ald. Wiley W. Mills [37th] declared.

Ald. John Chapman [40th] agreed with Ald. Mills that the loop has received the benefit of most of the plan commission's efforts, and that a west side group is both timely and necessary.

Ald. Frank R. Ringa [39th] pointed to many needed improvements on the northwest side as evidence that a commission which will actually work for the district is necessary, and will receive his support.

MacDowell and Grieg Topics of Music Club

MacDowell and Grieg were discussed at the meeting last week of the Music club of the Oak Park and River Forest township high school. Slides made in the high school dark room from pictures concerning the lives of the two men, which she had gathered, were explained by Lenore Scharschug. Virginia Orebaugh gave a talk on the life of Grieg.

Janet Strong, William Schuessler, and Richard Wickam gave some interesting musical selections.

Recitals will feature the next two meetings of the club. These meetings will both be open to guests.

Marshall High Enrolls Board of Counselors

A community advisory council is being formed at Marshall High school, 3250 West Adams street, under the direction of G. A. Beers, principal. This is part of a city wide movement to enlist the support of citizens in school activities.

The council at Marshall was started on the suggestion of Benjamin F. Buck, assistant superintendent of schools. The immediate purposes are: First, to help select a delegation of adults to attend the Central Civic assembly to be held on the lake front during the week of May 13; second, to assist in selecting a public school graduate from the community of five years' standing who has made the best civic achievement or contribution to Chicago's life; third, to assist in preparing for local civic assemblies or public meetings to be held in the future.

100 to Be in Delegation.

The delegation which will attend the central civic assembly will number 100. It may be composed of members of the school faculty, members of the senior class and representatives of the junior high and elementary schools in the neighborhood.

The public school graduate selected by the council for civic achievement will receive suitable recognition of his services from some distinguished citizen of the city.

It is the hope of Mr. Buck that the community advisory councils throughout the city will be instrumental in giving the public information concerning the service which the schools are rendering year after year.

Organizations Invited to Join.

The community organizations which have been asked to join the community advisory council at Marshall include the West Town Chamber of Commerce, the West Park Board of Commissioners, the Booster club, the Garfield Community center, the Franklin Park Welfare organization, the West Side Woman's club, the Progressive league, the West Town forum, the West Town Active club, the West Central Lyons club, and the Co-educational club.

Several prominent business men and clergymen of the district have promised their cooperation.

Mothers' Club to Hear the Rev. L. W. Frawley

The Rev. L. W. Frawley, pastor of St. Giles church of Oak Park, will address the Mothers' club of Trinity high school in River Forest, at the school assembly hall next Tuesday afternoon. At a business meeting to follow the address, the club will complete arrangements for a benefit card party to be held on Saturday afternoon, April 20. Mrs. Albert J. Crowe is chairman of the committee in charge of the party. Mrs. Michael A. McGrath, 725 South East avenue, Oak Park, is president of the club.

$50 Buys Plate at Hadassah Charity Luncheon

Members of the west side chapters of the Hadassah are working hard to sell 1,000 plates to the $50 honor luncheon which will be held April 10 at the Palmer house to raise $50,000 for charitable organizations the Hadassah group supports. Left to right: Mrs. S. H. Soboroff, Mrs. Harry Schoolman, president of the northwest side; Mrs. William Weinberg, president of the Austin-Lawndale area; Mrs. H. D. Brenner, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Wexler, president of the Albany Park district; Miss. Evelyn Halter Fox, president of the western suburbs, and Mrs. Mae Rosenwald Herbst, buying a plate.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs Anent the Passing Throng.

BY FRED PASLEY.

GLEN ELLYN stands at Armageddon and battles for the Lord's Day alliance in the pending election of April 16, through its Civic Betterment league, of which Albert McCollum, who sells insurance in Chicago six days a week, is president. It is admonishing the citizenry to vote "No" on Sunday movies and asking them, "Shall Glen Ellyn be changed into a Wilson avenue district?" The Sunday movie, we learn, is "one of the most subtle dangers that ever sank its fangs into the welfare of a suburban community." We are informed that the Central Uptown Chicago association, which comprises the Wilson avenue district, shopping center of 100,000 people and market for considerable insurance, is issuing an invitation to Mr. McCollum to come up and get acquainted.

Our west side correspondent reports that Dr. James H. Taylor of the loop and 446 North Pine avenue is assured the support of all the barbers in the Thirty-seventh ward in his race for alderman, as he stands four square for the return of the old-fashioned moustache cup and bigger and better pompadours.

* *

AFTER viewing various of our suburbs and comparing their charms, Mr. John W. Gow, the genial shoe man of East Madison street, has chosen for the permanent residence of himself and family Park Ridge, which has Sunday movies and such; fine neighbors, darned pretty front yards, gardens, commuting trains that run on time, and everything. Mr. Gow has bought the seven room house at 109 North Washington street, which, it will be recalled, was built by B. V. Morris, the contractor, last spring.

Betty Lou is not going to forget Feb. 26, because that is the day Dr. Stork delivered her at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Neuhaus, 1644 North Kildare avenue, and also the date of the birthday of her grandma, Mrs. Annabel Bieberitz of the same address.

* *

Henry D. Crooks, proprietor of the terminal warehouse, has returned with Mrs. Crooks and their daughter, Virginia, from his trip around the world, during which the Bey of Tunis personally decorated him, making him a commander of the Order of Nicham Iltiker. Henry is a local boy, born and reared on the northwest side, and level headed, so the honor has not changed him one whit.

Hy Wurwitz, of the Windmiller Department store, is the latest townsman to get back safely from Havana, Cuba. He says the situation is about the same.

HON. CHARLES H. BARTLETT, mayor of Evanston, journeyed to Berwyn Monday, to the parlors of the Presbyterian church, and spoke on "An Efficient Garbage Incinerator"; Mr. John J. O'Brien, village manager of Riverside, spoke on "Riverside's Waste Disposal"; Mr. Frederick H. Dole, chairman of the investigating committee of the Berwyn Better Government association, spoke on "Berwyn's Garbage Problem." The Berwyn League of Women Voters conducted the meeting, which, we learn, had to do with garbage.

WE RECOMMEND to our readers for a pleasant evening "The Hoosier Schoolmaster," which will be given in the auditorium of the First Lutheran church, Fullerton avenue and Ballou street, Monday evening, April 1, under the auspices of the ladies' organizations of that church. The presentation is by Noah Beilharz, who takes the part of seventeen characters. The entertainment is offered for the modest price of 50 cents for adults and 25 for children.

Judge Claire C. Edwards of the Lake county Circuit court is preparing to hear the divorce suit of a Lake Forest lady—Mrs. Blank, let us say. Among other charges she recites that after one libation Mr. Blank refuses to escort her pet Pekingese poodle out for its evening walk; that after two shots he actually utters slurring remarks about it. Here we have a true picture of the curse of strong drink, its debasing influence on the human mind. We see man, supposed to represent the highest thought in the universe—endowed with an immortal soul, intellect, and reason—so bereft of his faculties as to be incapable of a kind thought for our four footed friend. We see the Pekingese poodle, its noble face upturned, its trustful eyes, beautiful with faith, fixed expectantly upon him; its tail wagging. We hear its glad yip-yip as it seizes its leash for Mr. Blank to take. Then we see this otherwise gentle, thoughtful, dutiful husband brutally repulsing it; we hear him heaping coarse maledictions on the head of the little pet of the woman he has solmenly vowed to love and to cherish, to have and to hold for better or for worse. We see the poodle creeping to its corner; brokenhearted; deprived of its evening airing; one more victim of the hated demon rum. The pathos, the shame of it, friends. Let us heed the lesson.

OAK PARK'S grandmothers possibly are not as precocious as those of its esteemed rival, Evanston, but otherwise we believe there is little, as the sports critics say, to choose between these silk stocking communities. We doubt if even in Evanston there is a youngster that can compose as good a tongue twister as this from Dorothy Bennethum of the seventh grade of the Lowell grammar school:

Sam Sax sacked six slick slippery salmon.

Or this from Billy Ross of the 7B Lincoln:

Sally Simpson sewed six sailors' shirts.

Say them fast. Bet you can't.

MRS. McCULLOUGH NAMED TO HEAD MAYWOOD CLUB

Election of officers was held recently by the Maywood Twentieth Century club. The following were chosen: President, Mrs. J. E. McCullough; first vice president, Mrs. G. E. Shaffer; second vice president, Mrs. Eugene La Rowe; recording secretary, Mrs. J. M. Wessling; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Frederick Radcliffe, and treasurer, Mrs. Tillman Van Gunten.

The chairmen of the various departments of the association are: American citizenship, Mrs. S. A. Rieschl; American home, Mrs. R. B. Edgerton; art, Mrs. A. J. Knopf; community service, Mrs. J. J. Holland; conservation, Mrs. William Cobden; education, Mrs. L. S. Harmer; industrial and social conditions, Mrs. M. P. Ford; literature, Mrs. W. J. Southward; music, Mrs. John Brockman; press and publicity, Mrs. O. W. Wills, and public welfare, Mrs. Frank Guy.

Crane Seniors Saving Pennies for Their Prom

While seniors at Crane Technical High school, Jackson and Oakley boulevards, are hoarding pennies for their prom, juniors are learning how to dance in preparation for their class affair, and members of Excalibur, R. O. T. C. honor society, are jubilating over their first ball to be held independently of the college unit.

No junior has any excuse for not knowing how to dance. Classes are being held after school hours to teach inexpert students the newest steps. The boys are being taught by their fellow classmen, also boys, who are more adept. All this is a means of giving every member the opportunity to attend the class dance to be held May 24 in the Crane gymnasium.

Harry Leburkien, a junior, is in charge of the dancing class.

Officers of Class.

Class officers are: President, Oreal Elias; vice president, Ben Citron; secretary, Edward Schar; treasurer, Abe Stern; sergeant at arms, Stanley Gandne; publicity, Hyman B. Shayne.

The senior class has established a bank in which students may deposit their spare money, so they will have sufficient funds to attend the dance. Already more than $300 has been deposited. On June 7, one week before the prom is to be held, each member of the class will receive the money he has deposited.

Arrange for Class Pins.

A committee has been appointed to make arrangements for class pins and rings. It includes Sidney Morris and Irving Melamed. Another committee has also been announced to prepare articles for the senior year book. The chairman is Louis Berkelhamer, and he will be assisted by Milton Schnair and Edward Norman.

The R. O. T. C. honor society, Excalibur, is making preparations for the military ball to be given in the Pompeian room of the Belmont hotel on May 31. The affair is being sponsored by Maj. H. A. White and Sergt. Carter O. Garber. The officers of the Order of Excalibur are: Commander, Cadet Lieutenant Colonel Joe Succimairo; vice commander, Cadet Captain Harvey Jacobson; treasurer, Cadet Major Joseph Ungari; secretary, Cadet Major Bernard Sweet.

Oak Park Grade Teachers to Hear College President

President J. C. Brown of the Northern Illinois Teachers college, De Kalb, Ill., will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Elementary Teachers council at the Lowell school, Oak Park, tomorrow afternoon.

WEST 26TH STREET TO CELEBRATE ITS 34TH ANNIVERSARY

West 26th street is to celebrate its 34th anniversary as a business center April 3 to 17, the jubilee to be held in conjunction with the official opening of the new county building at California avenue and 26th street.

The street will be decorated for the occasion, and the fourteen day program will open with a welcome on the part of the business men of the district to the officials of the new Cook county building and to 26th street.

LOUIS SOLAR.

Some five hundred business houses, it is said, will participate in the activities, and many of them are arranging individual contests. There will be stunts and side shows, an American Legion parade made up of posts from the Fourth district, a big free dance at Pilsen park, and a float parade led by the Lawndale-Crawford American Legion post drum and bugle corps, in which the merchants and manufacturers will take part.

Officials for the jubilee are Louis Solar, chairman of the executive committee; Albert Hlavka, secretary; Joseph Klicka, treasurer.

S. S. Jasinski and J. Russell Ward are managers of the celebration.

SUPERHIGHWAY WINS APPROVAL OF MANY BODIES

Indorsements Pour In to Park Board.

Indorsement of plans for the proposed elevated highway to be built by the west park commissioners from the loop to the western city limits are being given to Dr. John Dill Robertson, president of the park board, daily by civic groups from various parts of the west side, following the huge gathering in behalf of the project held March 15.

M. K. Northam recently assured Dr. Robertson that the Crawford Avenue Improvement association, of which he is president, will lend its support to a completion of the project.

"The association members are in hearty accord with your ideas of an artistic elevated highway which so admirably fits into the project for Crawford avenue development. They gladly extend to you their moral support and hope to see the fruition of your plans in the near future," Mr. Northam said.

Officers of the group who joined Mr. Northam in support of the superhighway project are: Vice president, A. Glenn Pickett; treasurer, Roman I. Smook; secretary, H. R. Currey; counsel, Ralph G. Crandell; consulting engineer, Paul E. Green, and Paul A. Hoffman, J. H. Maier, M. A. Seymour, and Thomas E. Sullivan.

Division Street Body Acts.

At a meeting of the West Division Street Business Men's association recently, a resolution indorsing the improvement was adopted and sent to Dr. Robertson.

From the southwest side came an indorsement of the project as a whole, but a disagreement with a selection of any of the tentative routes recommended by the Chicago Plan commission.

B. R. Plethewicz, secretary of the West End Business Men's association, said that his group agrees that there has been neglect as to public highways on the west side in the past, and that the elevated route would do much to relieve present congestion in that section of the city. He declares, however, that such a highway should not be built over Monroe, Congress, or Polk street, as recommended by the plan commission, but should be built farther south to serve that association's district.

Engineers Submit Report.

The report of the advisory engineering council which has been studying the project since last November was given for the first time at the March 15 meeting by Edgar S. Nethercut. The council consists of engineers recommended by the Western Society of Engineers, and has worked separately from the engineering staff of the parks.

Included are W. W. De Berard, Earl J. Reeder, Fred A. Rogers, Hugh E. Young, Ivan C. Peterson, Henry L. Kellogg, Paul E. Green, R. P. Brennan, George C. D. Leath, Julius G. Gabelman, Joseph Moore, Albert W. Dilling, I. F. Stern, and Mr. Nethercut.

"Burdens have been imposed on streets designed long years before the elevator, the high building, or the automobile," the report said. "Both the south and north sides, through their park boards, have contributed to the solution of the problem. Now the great west side proposes to contribute toward the general improvement of intercommunication between the parts of this city.

"Our commission has studied this problem, and believe a 50 foot roadway giving five lanes of traffic would be feasible. During rush hours three of these lanes can be allocated to the prevailing traffic.

"Chicago streets are generally 66 feet wide between building lines. A 50 foot roadway can be carried on columns with 48 feet clear roadway beneath and with clearance under the structure for normal traffic trucks or street cars and normal access to all buildings.

Cost Estimated at $15,000,000.

"With steel encased concrete which can be used economically and assure reasonable durability, with pleasing design, and providing a 50 foot paved roadway and railings, the highway can be constructed for $15,000,000.

"In arriving at this sum, consideration was given to the several routes, and while some may be more expensive in some respects, we feel the above stated amount may well be considered as a safe estimate. This, however, does not include property damage, which can be determined with reference to specific routes.

"Property benefits should also be considered as is exemplified by increased values along Michigan avenue from Lake street to Grand avenue, and along Wacker drive.

"Members of this commission agree that citizens of the West Chicago Park district should be encouraged to proceed with this valuable improvement. It is feasible and can prove to be of great economic value to the west side and the entire city."

The estimate of the engineering council as given by Mr. Nethercut is $1,000,000 larger than the figure for which a bridge company said it could do the work. The cost of construction plus the cost of condemnation of property should still keep the total well within the $20,000,000, which the board desires to obtain for the project by issuing bonds, according to Dr. Robertson.

Legislation which would permit the board to hold a referendum on the bond issue is now being considered by the committee on municipalities of the Illinois house of representatives.

A. I. U. Card Party.

Mrs. H. R. Steinfeld, 9216 Elizabeth street, will be hostess Wednesday evening at a card and bunco party sponsored by Friendship chapter, A. I. U., to be held in the lodge hall, 103d and Charles streets.

ELECTIONS STIR UP INTEREST IN COUNTY TOWNS

Voting in River Forest to Take Place April 2.

Considerable interest has developed in connection with the spring elections to be held in various villages and towns in the Chicago metropolitan area.

At the village of River Forest election, which will be held on April 2, the Nonpartisan ticket presents a list of candidates as follows:

Frank H. Shaw, president; William J. Lynch, Theodore F. Olson and William C. Schmitz, trustees; George Arthur Rossman, police magistrate; Gordon C. Abbott and S. Austin Pope, directors of the library board. On the Independent ticket, William C. Rogers is candidate for police magistrate.

River Forest Candidates.

At the town of River Forest election, the Nonpartisan candidates are: William A. Lally, supervisor; Frank H. Chase, assessor; Arthur S. Hatch, collector; John E. Adams, clerk; Charles M. Atkinson, Hal G. Stewart, R. F. Conboy, Hugh G. Gardner, Orville C. Green, justices of the peace; Frank W. Laatz, John P. Mahon, Ray J. Rheingruber, H. G. Johnsen, C. W. Soderlin, constables. On the Independent ticket, F. Harold Brasee is candidate for justice of the peace, and F. M. Torode for constable.

Two Brookfield Tickets.

At Brookfield, the candidates on the taxpayers' harmony ticket are: E. B. Graham, president; J. T. O'Brien, John Fisher, J. F. Tichy, trustees; A. J. Robinson, A. C. Bonn, and Mrs. Stella Langeley, library trustees.

The candidates on the regular taxpayers' ticket are: John Bergman, president; A. G. Fox, John Van Leewen, Charles Lohse, trustees; Mrs. William P. Randall, Harry F. Varney, J. C. McIntrye, library trustees.

Palatine Township.

The candidates who have filed in Palatine township are as follows:

For supervisor, John Meyer; for assessor, A. W. Timmerman, H. H. Deverman, Clarence Hans; for collector, William A. Roesner, Harry Scott, Henry Gaare, Oscar Weide, Emma Westrope, H. J. Schroeder, Ed H. Wiehrdt, Henry F. Luerssen, Reinhold H. Remus, Frank T. Fraser, Charles A. Kellogg, Edward J. Weber, William Helms; for justice of the peace [two to be elected], Henry J. Harz, A. W. Timmerman; for constable [two to be elected], George W. Meyer, H. C. Schroeder, Vern F. Long; for school trustee, Charles Langhoff.

Wheeling Township.

The following candidates have filed in Wheeling township: For supervisor, William F. Meyer, Alexander Lips; Charles Grandt; for town clerk, Howard Helm, William Pfluger, John Duthorn; for assessor, J. Schwingel, J. O. Bouffard; for collector, Henry Metz, William Neuman, William Annen, H. W. Moehling, Charles H. Menard, Ella Boeger, Otto Utpadel, John C. Katz, William Weber, George Max Adam; for justice of the peace (four to be elected), L. L. Campbell, Ira N. Bubert, Frank J. Sachs, Gustav F. Heidorn, William A. Brown, Wilbert J. Klehm, William C. Kopplin, Herman Dodge, Charles Duncan, Ernst Kruse; for constable (four to be elected), Arthur Dieball, Guy H. Wilson, Carl H. Skoog, Henry W. Hoeft, Duncan T. MacNab, Alfred Matchen, Arthur J. Meyer, Joseph Hinsberger, Henry Grandt Jr., Henry Busse, William Wilke; for school trustee, Andrew Hinsberger.

The name of Mr. Bubert appears on two tickets as candidate for justice of the peace and the name is true of the name of J. Schwingel for assessor.

Elk Grove.

There are five candidates for collector in Elk Grove and two for the office of town clerk. Otherwise it promises to be a quiet election in Elk Grove. The candidates are as follows: For supervisor, Albert Wille; for town clerk, Herman Busse, Art Heimsoth; for collector, William Rohlving, Otto Busse, Otto Maleske, John Gerkin, Ed Pingel; for assessor, George Meier; for justice of the peace, Frank Lueders, Theodore C. Moehling; for constable, William C. Mulso, William Kabel; for school trustee, Herman M. Beer.

YOUNG MANNEQUINS IN STYLE SHOW

Children of the west side as mannequins parading in the latest spring fashions were a feature of Madigan brothers' style show last week. In the picture are shown, left to right: Louise Sidell, 4321 Elston avenue; Jack Mariner, 632 South Grove street; Thomas Sheehy, 8023 South Peoria street; William Hickok, 6201 Drexel boulevard, and Beverly Allen, 39 North Central avenue.

EIGHT CHANGES IN ZONING APPROVED FOR WEST SIDE

Action on Four Others Is Deferred.

Eight changes in the zoning ordinances affecting the west side were approved by the city council committee on building and zoning last Monday and ordered deferred and published by the council later in the day.

All of these matters are expected to be passed at the next session of the council, according to the usual procedure. Four additional west side zoning changes under consideration by the committee were referred to a subcommittee for further investigation.

Although more than 100 persons attended the committee meeting in behalf of the ordinances taken up, there was no debate and no opposition to any of the ordinances approved or sent to the subcommittee.

Changes That Are Approved.

The committee approved for change the following lots:

On Laramie avenue between Cornelia and Newport avenues; from a residential to an apartment district.

On Touhy avenue between the alley east of Mason avenue and the city limits—zoned as residential property. This area was annexed to the city a year and a half ago, and was zoned for the first time.

On the west side of Waller avenue between West End avenue and Washington boulevard, from a residential to an apartment district.

On Austin avenue between the alley southwest of Grand avenue and Dickens avenue, from an apartment to a commercial area.

On Huntington avenue between the alley southwest of Milwaukee avenue to the alley east of Nagle avenue, from a two flat to a residential district.

On the west side of Austin avenue between Gunnison avenue and a line 125 feet north of Lawrence avenue, from an apartment to a commercial district.

On the west side of Harlem avenue between Farwell and Pratt avenues, from an apartment to a commercial district.

WHO SAID IT? When, Where and Why

THE TRIBUNE will pay $3 for each snappy quotation printed and $5 for the best answer. Send your answers and quotations to the Who Said It editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THROUGH an oversight answers to two quotations were omitted last week. They are printed below with the answers to a third quotation which has aroused interest among readers. New quotations are omitted this week but will appear as usual next Sunday.

ANSWERS

Quotation—How to the line, let the chips fall where they may. And—*How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

Answer—The above quotation is a commonly used derivation of the following expression: "He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may." This was said by Roscoe Conkling [1829-1888], great American lawyer and senator from New York state, at the Republican national convention of 1886 in Chicago. He referred to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, whom he nominated for a third term as President.

The parody, "Hew to the line, let the quips fall where they may," was from the pen of B. L. T. [Bert Leston Taylor], who originated the "Line o' Type or Two" column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It was adopted as the motto of the column and is still used in that way. B. L. T. was born on Nov. 13, 1866, in Goshen, Mass., and got his early writing experience on the New Hampshire and Maine rural press. In 1899 he came to Chicago and in January, 1901, he became affiliated with THE TRIBUNE and founded "A Line o' Type or Two." He was one of the first column conductors to use the contributions of readers instead of writing it all himself. In addition to being a delightful humorist he was a sane and penetrating critic of music, art and literature. His death occurred on March 19, 1921, but the memory and influence of this beloved, wise, witty writer lives on.—Mary Bryant, 181 31st street, Milwaukee, Wis.

NOTE—Richard Henry Little, present conductor of the column founded by B. L. T., says the expression, "Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may," originated in the American pioneer days when log cabins were the fashion in residences. Whole communities would gather to assist a neighbor in building his home. The men would bring their axes and would make a friendly contest of trimming the logs to the proper size. With the lines marked out on the logs and the women and children gathered around to cheer on the contestants, all would start to work at a given signal. Then as the axes rang on wood and the chips flew fast and furiously among the spectators the cry would arise, "Hew to the line, let the chips fly." And thus, says R. H. L., it all began.

Quotation—*Be sure you are right, then go ahead.

Answer—This was one of the favorite sayings of David Crockett, American frontiersman, born in Greene county, Tennessee, on Aug. 17, 1786. In 1813 he enlisted under Gen. Andrew Jackson for the Creek Indian war. The quotation was his motto during the fighting. From 1821 to 1824 Crockett was a member of the Tennessee legislature, having won his election not by political speeches but by telling stories. In 1828 he was elected to the national house of representatives as a Jackson Democrat. His shrewdness, eccentric manners, and peculiar wit made him a conspicuous figure, but he was too independent to support all of Jackson's measures and finally lost his seat in 1832. Discouraged and disgusted, he left his native state and went to Texas, then engaged in its struggle for independence from Mexico. There he lost his life as one of the defenders of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836.—Gladys Lammis, 4949 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

NEW COMMERCE BODY SUPPORTS CAR EXTENSION

Joseph Klicka Is Named President of Chamber.

The southwest chamber of commerce, organized last month by business men of the southwest side, has started upon its program of activities. Election of officers was held recently and the purposes of the organization were announced. Meetings are conducted every Friday noon at Otto and Jerry's restaurant, 4047 West 26th street.

The president of the chamber is Joseph Klicka, also president of the Adams State bank, 3951 West 26th street. The other officers are: Vice presidents, Norbert F. Kochka, James J. Klecka, Dr. J. J. Tingler, Charles Cline, Edward R. Novak and Rodolph Ginsburg; treasurer, Joseph J. Janda, and secretary, Jacob L. Frank. The directors are: Dr. E. G. Trafelet, Dr. A. J. Fearlman, Emil Denemark, Bob Mikota, Edward R. Novak, Joseph F. Prybil, Jack H. Stone, C. M. Povarnik and C. Tourek.

Seek to Increase Coöperation.

The aim of the chamber of commerce, according to Mr. Klicka, the president, is not to take the place of any of the business organizations now existing in the district but rather to effect a greater coöperative spirit and to unite the efforts of these organizations in promoting a comprehensive development program.

Present plans of the chamber are to meet with the various local groups of the neighborhood; to adopt a schedule of civic and social improvements, and to keep the public informed of the aims of the chamber and of the progress made.

Among the projects in which the chamber is interested is the extension of the 26th street car line from Kenton avenue to the zoological gardens in Riverside. This would mean extending the line through Cicero and Berwyn. At the present time the chamber is working on plans for a bus to traverse this distance. The Crawford Business Men's league is also supporting the extension of the car line to the zoological gardens.

Propose to Extend 21st Street.

Other projects in which the chamber is concerned include: procuring of an extension of 21st street from Marshall boulevard to Ogden avenue; the widening of Ogden avenue westward from Crawford avenue, and the removal of a triangular structure at Ogden and Crawford avenues, which is declared to be an eyesore.

Each of the vice presidents of the chamber has been put in charge of a division of activities in which the organization is interested. The various divisions and the men in charge follow: Transportation, Mr. Kochka; publicity, Mr. Klecka; recreation and welfare, Dr. Tingler; roads and traffic, Mr. Klicka; membership, Mr. Novak, and publicity, Mr. Ginsburg.

SPEED BUILDING NEW AUSTIN HIGH AS SPRING COMES

Work on the new Austin High school building, directly across the street from the present structure, 5417 Fillmore street, is to go forward speedily following a delay caused by unfavorable weather conditions. Construction of the new building advances from north to north, and, consequently, part of the new school will be ready for occupancy before the entire edifice is completed. The lunch room will seat 1,200, and the school auditorium 2,500. A thoroughly equipped stage, with a fireproof curtain, is to be one of the features of the auditorium. The new school is the most important building enterprise being undertaken by the board of education now.

YOUTHS OF SUBURBAN CHURCHES WILL OPEN CONFERENCE APRIL 12

THE REV. R. W. SCHLOERB.

The Rev. Reiland W. Schloerb, pastor of Ryde Park Baptist church, has been selected as one of the principal speakers at the fourth annual interchurch older boys' conference of the west-side suburbs of Chicago. The sessions will be held at Grace Episcopal church of Oak Park April 11 and 12.

The boys' division of the Oak Park Y. M. C. A., assisted by a group of key boys and adult advisers, is arranging the program.

The committee in charge of the program is made up of Elwood Boyles, John Bullock, and Fred W. Raymond of Oak Park and Edward Davis and Richard Clever of Maywood.

On the publicity committee, in addition to the Rev. W. A. Keith, there are Bob Mackey and Charles Lee of Maywood, Eric Smith of Forest Park, and Walter Lunde, George Hardtke, and Frank Lenox of Oak Park.

The arrangements committee is made up of James Gowdy, Burtis Jones, Wallace Austin, Wilbur Grim, and the Rev. Frank Hutchins, all of Oak Park.

The registration committee includes J. B. Adkins, Grover Wickenden, and Norman Press of Maywood, Robert Adamson of Melrose Park, and Dick Potter, Arthur Ticknor, and Fred Bichel of Oak Park.

Shelby Slatterman, Gordon Galaty, and Clinton Cooper, all of Oak Park, are on the music committee.

The nominating committee is made up of James Forbes, Howard Pickett, and Edward Pryor. They are all Oak Parkers.

John Bullock, Albert Sawyer, and Frank Lennox, all of Oak Park, have been designated to arrange [illegible]

COURTS APPROVE TWO PAVING JOBS FOR WEST SIDE

Two more west side paving jobs have been confirmed by the courts during the last two weeks, officials of the board of local improvements announced yesterday, bringing the total number of contracts to be advertised for bids within the next few weeks to 13.

Work can be done on most of these jobs during the summer and fall, and all but a few will be completed this year, board engineers say. The remainder will be held over and completed in spring, 1930.

The jobs approved recently are: Pensacola avenue, from Central avenue to Major avenue, and Lovejoy avenue, from Central avenue to Catalpa street. Both of these streets will be paved with concrete.

ELMWOOD PARK LEGION FORMS SCOUT TROOP

A charter and an American flag were presented to a group of Boy Scouts in Elmwood Park last Monday night by the Elmwood Park American Legion post, No. 686. The ceremony was held at the Odd Fellows hall, Harlem and Grand avenues.

This Boy Scout troup belongs to the Oak Park Boy Scout council and will be called the Elmdale Boy Scout troup No. 686. It will be sponsored by the Elmdale Legion post. Winstone Phipps is commander of the post.

McWorter is chairman of the Coo. County Council of the American Legion's committee in charge of Boy Scout troups.

Speakers at the presentation ceremony were: Mr. McWorter and W. C. Groom, scout executor of the Oak Park Boy Scout council.

Chicago Gets Convention of P. E. O. in Fall

The eleven chapters of the P. E. O. sisterhood located on the west side and in the west suburbs are preparing reports and making plans for the national bi-ennial convention of P. E. O. which will be held in Chicago for the first time in thirty years next Sept. 1 to 20. It will be held at the Stevens hotel and 800 delegates in addition to many visitors from all over the country are expected.

Capter I on the west side will send as a distinguished guest, Mrs. Samuel Shaw Parks, past president of supreme chapter as well as of Chapter A in Chicago and chapter I and Illinois State chapter.

Founded in 1869.

The organization of P. E. O. was founded at Ohio Wesleyan college, Mount Pleasant, Ia., Jan. 21, 1869. It began there originally as one of the early social college sororities, although instead of taking Greek letter name, it always retained the initials, P. E. O. When the seven young women who had founded the group were graduated from college, they desired to retain their ties of mutual ideals, principals and friendship and so they continued the work of their organization beyond school days.

Since that time their secret society has grown steadily until it now has 90,000 woman members in forty states and provinces of this country and Canada, all united under the five pointed gold star originally chosen as their emblem.

The convention will take the form of a memorial to the seven charter members, the remaining one of whom died last year. A portrait of each of them will be unveiled and Lorado Taft will deliver the dedicatory address.

Loan Fund for Girls.

The chief philanthropy of the P. E. O. is an educational loan fund for girls who wish to complete their college education. This fund now totals half a million dollars and more than 2,500 girls have been helped by it.

West side and west suburb chapters include: I, president, Mrs. George Wright Bonson; S, Maywood, Mrs. John E. McCullough; AU, Glen Ellyn, Mrs. Alta Burton Mitchell; AV, Berwyn, Mrs. M. H. Baldwin; BA, Joliet, Mrs. Alice P. Perrin; BI, Oak Park, Mrs. Guy O. Miller; BT, Aurora, Mrs. Alice M. Braddock; CG, Oak Park, Mrs. Edward L. Hammedien; CH, Riverside, Mrs. Ross C. H. Hinkle; CK, Hinsdale, Mrs. Nettie S. Neumann; CO, Oak Park, Miss Jeannette Magowan.

Girl Mayor of School and Her Aids Visit City Hall

A delegation of officials in the student government of Sabin Junior High school, 2216 Hirsch street, attended the city council meeting Monday afternoon. The first girl ever to be elected mayor of Sabin school, Jane Kubacki, headed the delegation, which included Bella Schy, city clerk; Anthony Grabowski, chief of police; Sam Freifeld, alderman of the 101st ward [room]; and Oscar Boxer, reporter for the school publication, the Sabinite.

M'KINLEY HIGH SENIORS ELECT LARRY DU FOUR

Election of officers of the June senior class was held last week at McKinley High school, 2040 West Adams street. The results were as follows: President, Lawrence Du Four; vice president, Dorothy Marvin; secretary, Anna Ocwieja; treasurer, Margaret Oakley; assistant treasurer, Harriet Shaw; sergeant at arms, Joseph Cascino; orator, Paul Tscheshlog; historian, Irma Cline; prophet, Alfred Drummond; poet, Josephine Cirrincione; executor, Rocco Carnavale; pianist, Dolores Garramone; elocutionist, Emily Picerno; violinist, Sophie Bielawa, and vocalist, Anthony Muffaletto.

The method of election in use at McKinley required the selection of a committee of 15 members by the seniors to interview each candidate and investigate his scholarship and citizenship record. Candidates for office had to average approximately 85 in scholarship. The election was supervised by the senior sponsor, who had previously registered each voter's name. Printed ballots were distributed among the members of the class.

AVIATION CLASS AT CRANE HIGH OBTAINS PLANE

Future aviators at Crane High school, Jackson and Oakley boulevards, now have access to a real seaplane, which was obtained from the Hampton Roads navy yards. It has a sixty foot wing spread and is fifty feet long. In addition to the plane the government sent a 400 h. p. twelve cylinder Liberty motor and a ten foot Hamilton propeller.

There are four classes in aeronautics at Crane under the direction of J. B. Leake. The students become familiar with the principle of flying and also receive instructions in making model planes and landing fields.

VETERANS TO GET PLANTS IN BLOOM FOR EASTER DAY

Every Man in Hospital to Be Remembered.

MRS. MELVILLE MUCKLESTONE.

Cook county council of American Legion auxiliaries will distribute 2,000 blooming plants at Easter to every hospitalized veteran in Cook and Lake counties. This custom was established in 1923, when Mrs. George M. Kellogg was president of the council, and has been continued for the last six years.

Mrs. Melville Mucklestone is president of the council this year, and the seventy-six auxiliaries forming the organization have contributed to the fund to purchase the flowers for the service men. Members of the auxiliaries will wrap the pots with harmonizing crepe paper and distribute them with a personal word of greeting.

Miss Dagmar Romer, rehabilitation chairman of the council, is in charge of the distribution of plants as follows: Edward Hines Jr. [Speedway], 950; Great Lakes, 450; North Chicago, 400; Oak Forest, 60; Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium, 85; Cook county hospital, 60 or more.

Distribution will be made at Speedway on Saturday morning from 9 to 11, at Great Lakes and North Chicago hospitals on Friday, at the other hospitals Thursday or Friday.

Edward Feeley post, No. 190, of Brookfield, will be host to the posts of the Fifth district on Wednesday night at Legion hall, Prairie and Grant avenues, Brookfield. Commander Grange has arranged a big program and the evening's festivities will terminate with refreshments. The meeting will be called to order at 8:15. "Everybody," urges Commander William A. Schlupp, "turn out and show Brookfield who the Fifth district is."

Berwyn post, No. 422, is planning a housewarming and dedication when its new quarters are completely decorated and furnished. Promises are being made that the event, which will take place early in April, will be celebrated by one of the biggest and best dinner get-togethers that post has ever put over. Tom Preece and his committee have arranged for turkey and trimmings.

Eight amateur boxing bouts, sanctioned by the A. A. U., will be presented by Blackhawk post, No. 107, on Monday night, April 1, at Hollywood barns, 4823 North Kedzie avenue. Proceeds of the event will be used as a trust fund to perpetuate the care of the graves of comrades from the post. The committee in charge is headed by Judge Joseph Burke. The other members are Al Goodman, Richard Rogers, E. J. Barrett, and Michael Cullen, D. S. C.

Heeding the request of their community, members of Elmwood Park post, No. 686, have organized a Boy Scout troop, to whom they presented a stand of colors last Monday. It is the post's intention to have one of the finest troops in Cook county.

Harrison High Student Club to Give Operetta

The Beseda club of Harrison High school, formed from students of Bohemian descent, will give a Bohemian program Wednesday evening, April 3, in the Harrison auditorium, 2250 West 24th street. Miss Adeline Korecky is president of the club. Proceeds will be used to send Bohemian students to Czecho-Slovakia.

THEY COME IN PAIRS

WOMEN'S CLUB TO STAGE THREE PLAYS IN CICERO

A group of three one-act plays will be produced Tuesday and Wednesday evenings by members of the Clyde Woman's club of Cicero in the Little theater of J. Sterling Morton High school.

The casts for "The Trysting Place," by Booth Tarkington, and "The Boor," by Anton Tchekoff, will be directed by Mrs. Ethel Hickes, and will include Mrs. Hickes, Edward Parkhurst, Mrs. Glenn Pierce, Miss Ada Larson, V. P. Barta, Herbert Schactner, C. J. Palmer, Mrs. Joseph Peters, and A. J. Larson.

"Miss Mary Smith," by Irving Metcalf, will be given by the junior auxiliary of the club, directed by Mrs. Florence Wilmott Schactner. Taking part in the play will be Miss Edith Nielsen, Miss Jean Fletcher, Miss Laurette Phillips, Miss Doris Gould, Miss Elva Mongreig, Miss Alice Necrosby, and Miss Phyllis Parkhurst.

Street Paving Voted by Hollywood Board

With a desire to dress up their community in keeping with the progress of the nearby zoo, a majority of the property owners in Hollywood, at a public hearing before the Brookfield village board on Monday night, expressed themselves in favor of concrete paving for their streets. Following discussion and vote on the subject, the village board was unanimous in passing an ordinance calling for the improvement.

FOUR PAIRS

Twin toddlers, four pairs of them, and all about the same age, pursue their kindergarten studies at the Cositt Avenue school in La Grange. Two of them, Catherine and Catheleen Wood, are so nearly identical that no one is known who can tell them apart.

No one, that is, except Miss Gladys Zak, director of the kindergarten, who has detected a more mischievous twinkle in the eyes of Catheleen than in those of Catherine. The two youngsters live at the Illinois Masonic Orphan home in La Grange.

The other children are Kenneth and Francis Sippy, sons of Dr. and Mrs. Burne O. Sippy, 204 Sunset avenue; Eudora and Orrin Carr, children of Dr. and Mrs. C. T. Carr, 61 South 6th avenue; Donald and Marguerite Lange, children of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Lange, 121 West Calendar avenue.

Each set has attained the age of approximately five and a half years.

British Flying Corps Ace Heard by Oak Park P.-T.

Capt. J. H. Hedley, formerly of the British Royal Flying corps, spoke before the Parent-Teacher association of Whittier school, Oak Park, Tuesday evening. Capt. Hedley participated in fifty-three air battles during the war, in one of which he was brought down by the famous Red Knight of Germany. The musical part of Tuesday evening's program was presented by Harriet Krauth of the Chicago Civic opera company.

An Easter sale of women's coats true to fashion

Never were spring coats more attractive. Fashion favors the straightline effect, although a slight flare is a clever variation. Capes, scarf and throws as well as fur collars are effectively used to add a charm and beauty to the coat. The tailoring of these coats is worthy of special mention.

Sketched is a coat of kasha material with an American broadtail fur collar. The clever shoulder capes are decidedly different and very smart.

The other model sketched is of fashionable basket weave fabric, beautifully lined with heavy satin crepe. The back of the coat is effectively developed with fine tucking in a graceful design. The cuffs are finished with novel buttons; large mushroom collar is of natural mole, other models in both regular and extra sizes 16 to 44, 46 to 52, black, middy blue, tan, and gray.

These Sketches from the Actual Garments

The All-Steel, Completely Shielded Chassis

All parts of the receiver itself are permanently, immovably secured to a welded, heavily braced steel chassis. The movable tuning elements are completely enclosed and shielded by a steel housing. On the under side of the chassis, one finds the coils handling radio frequency currents enclosed in heavy copper shields for long distance reception and sharp selectivity. The transformers handling the energy after it becomes audible frequency current are sealed in individual cases with air and water-proof compound. Note the telephone switchboard type wiring employed—the individual shields provided for each of the three tubes handling radio frequency current. Every feature that research engineers have found will aid perfect reception is applied in Majestic Radio.

The Power Pack Is Large—Husky—Rugged

The Power Supply Unit in a Majestic Radio is very nearly as large as some of the table model receivers on the market which include set and power unit. The huge transformers for plate and filament power supply cannot overheat or burn out—are more than adequate for any demands that may be made upon them. The condensers which are part of the current filter are of exceptionally large capacity and carefully tested on high voltage. Nothing approaching the Majestic "Ballast" is to be found in any other Radio. House lighting currents may vary from 90 up to 130 volts (normally 110), but the Majestic "Ballast" maintains an even, constant flow of power to the receiver. Compare this Power Supply with any other!

NEW DOMINICAN HIGH SCHOOL READY IN FALL

$750,000 Is Being Spent on Initial Construction.

Dominican High school, the new west side school for boys, will be ready for opening in September, the Rev. Leo C. Gainor, O. P., president, announced yesterday.

The school is located in Oak Park on Washington boulevard, between East and Scoville avenues. Approximately $750,000 is being spent on the initial construction.

Plans for the building call for a fireproof structure of Gothic design with a central tower. It will extend along Washington boulevard 290 feet. The front will be finished in seam-faced Massachusetts granite with Indiana limestone trim, somewhat similar in general architectural effect to the Dominican house of studies in River Forest. The plans were drawn by Wilfred E. Anthony of New York and the construction work is in charge of the Frank A. O'Hare company.

Room for 700 Students.

It will be a three story structure with a full English basement and will provide accommodations at once for nearly 700 students, with an ultimate capacity of more than 1,000. The initial construction will provide seventeen classrooms, laboratories, library, cafeteria, swimming pool and gymnasium.

A section of the gymnasium basement will contain a swimming pool 75 by 25 feet, with an encircling balcony for spectators. The depth of the pool will be graduated from four feet at one end to eight and one-half feet. It will be provided with continuous flowing water, a sterilizing, heating and ventilating plant.

The gymnasium proper will occupy the entire west end of the building and will have a clear floor space of 80 by 125 feet with a maximum ceiling height of 40 feet. A permanent balcony will be provided at one end and demountable bleachers on the floor level will provide flexible capacity for additional visitors. The gymnasium will also be used for a temporary school chapel and assembly hall until the ultimate auditorium is completed.

Classrooms on First Floor.

On the first floor of the school will be five classrooms, the library, cafeteria, administration offices, student council rooms, and athletic director's quarters. The library will provide shelf space for 10,000 volumes and seating capacity for 200 readers. The cafeteria will be equipped with steam tables, full kitchen and refrigeration apparatus.

Second and third floors will be devoted exclusively to classrooms. Space is also provided for chemistry, physics, and biology laboratories with their associated dark rooms and lecture halls.

Faculty members of the school will be housed for the present in the two large three story residences on the East avenue side of the school property. These houses are the former Thomas Cusack mansion and the Dr. Martin D. Jones home. They have been remodeled and the two buildings have been connected with an enclosed passageway.

Approved by Cardinal.

The official title of the school will be the Dominican High school. The faculty, aside from athletic director and gymnasium instructors, will be composed entirely of Dominican fathers, a preaching and teaching order in the Catholic church, with headquarters in New York and River Forest. Cardinal Mundelein has for some time desired a Catholic high school for boys on the far west side, and it was at his invitation that the Dominican fathers proceeded.

It is planned to open the school in September with the two first year classes. The junior year will be added in 1930 and the senior year in 1931. A four year course will be provided in all branches of classical, academic, and scientific studies. The school is designed exclusively for day students.

FARRAGUT JUNIOR SCHOOL COUNCIL GETS UNDER WAY

Thos. F. Chval Heads New Group.

Residents in the neighborhood of Farragut Junior High school, 2336 South Spaulding avenue, have lost no time in organizing community council, following instructions to proceed with the work given by the board of education officials last week, according to Peter B. Ritzman, principal.

The Farragut council claims to be completely established and ready for business. Officers have been elected, and propositions for community betterment have already been voted on by the group.

Officers are: President, Thomas F. Chval; vice president, Miss Edna Class; secretary, Miss May A. Gilbert; treasurer, Norbert F. Kostka.

Members of the council are: J. H. Boorman, Ald. Joseph Cepak [22d], Anton J. Cermak, president of the Cook county board; John A. Cervanka, Mr. Chval, Miss Class, Joseph L. Donat, Miles Gertner, Frank J. Hajicek, J. M. Kralovec, Dr. Virginia S. Narbutt, Dr. E. F. Napieralski, Dr. John Poslusny, Joseph J. Salat, Louis Solar, Henry Sonnenschein, Frank P. Taubler, Mrs. Walter True, Adolph J. Kaiser, Joseph Klicka, Mr. Kostka, Frank J. Kozelka, Mr. Ritzman, Miss Gilbert, Mr. True, Vladimir Vesely, Charles Vetter, John V. Zelezny, Anthony Hosny, and Miss Sarah B. Touhy.

At its first meeting recently, the council voted to do four things:

1. To coöperate with the superintendent of schools in all matters, but particularly in connection with the city-wide civic assemblies.
2. To bring about better coöperation between the community and the school.
3. To take steps toward securing playground facilities for the Farragut school.
4. To take steps to secure the paving of Spaulding avenue, the street in front of the school.

Austin Council Progresses.

The advisory council of Austin high school has held two meetings this year, W. H. Wright, principal, reports, and is already a well organized body. Thirteen groups of Austin were represented at a meeting of the council recently, Mr. Wright says.

Those who sent representatives are: Austin high school Parent-Teacher association; Austin high school Fathers' club, Austin Women's club, Austin North End Woman's club, Optimist club, West End Catholic Women's club, Austin Lions and Kiwanis clubs, Austin Business Men's association, West End Women's club, American Legion, Columbus and Austin posts, and the Austinite.

Mr. Wright also promises to coöperate in making a success the board's citywide civic assembly which is planned to be held on the lake front May 19, and the Austin group will shortly begin the selection of 100 delegates who will represent that community at the gathering.

OAK PARK GIRLS JOIN PROVISO IN GIVING PAGEANT

About sixty girl students of the Oak Park and River Forest Township and Proviso Township High schools will take part in a pageant, "The Will o' the Wisp, or the Star," to be presented by the carry over committee of girls' conference. The affair will be presented Wednesday afternoon at the First Baptist church community house, Oak Park avenue and Ontario street. Mrs. E. E. Thompson and Miss Martha Dennison are coaching the girls.

Every girl student at the two schools, whether or not she was a delegate to Girl's conference last fall, is invited to the meeting, of which Nina Tucker will be general chairman. The committees in charge are as follows: Property, Glenna Snapp, Ruth Warren, Mary McAuliffe, and Eleanor Slipgiuff; music, Murial Van Wagoner; costumes, Barbara Harris, Eleanor Burton, Elta Forkel, and Jane McGregor. Laura Gage is chairman of the carry over committee. Tea will be served before the meeting by the Ladies' Service guild of the First Baptist church of Oak Park.

Prague Teachers' Chorus Sings at Morton High

The Prague Teachers' chorus presented a concert at J. Sterling Morton High school, Cicero, recently. The performance of this well known musical group was arranged by H. Lee Church, principal of the school, and Frank A. Svoboda, member of the board of education. The Prague Teachers' chorus is made up of sixty men who are associated with the various schools and universities of Prague. The Cicero board of education is composed of the following: President, George G. Tucker; secretary, Oscar E. Rix; superintendent, H. V. Church; controller, X. Neumeister; members, Henry Langner, John J. Sherlock, and Frank A. Svoboda.

LA GRANGE ACTS APRIL 16 ON MOVE FOR PARK BOARD

Committee Favors Buying Small Sites.

La Grange will vote on the question of creating a park district at a special election to be held in the village on April 16.

GROVER D. ROSE. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A little more than a year ago three organizations—the La Grange village board, the La Grange chamber of commerce and the La Grange Civic club—each appointed a member to form a committee of investigation on the possibility of creating a park.

This committee consisted of Grover D. Rose, chairman; Charles Hodge and A. N. Sanquist.

"We found at Oak Park that, from a small beginning, that village now has about $2,000,000 worth of park properties," said Mr. Rose. "Their parks were extensively used by their people, playgrounds had been developed, spots had been beautified, and in every way they appeared to have been a good investment.

Sees Need for Small Parks.

"We also visited Evanston, Winnetka, Wilmette and other suburbs. Our conclusions were that while the time had gone by for a big central park in La Grange, property no longer being available, time would shortly go by for getting small neighborhood parks.

"Our investigations decided us that La Grange ought to have parks. The only way to get them was to submit the question of organization of a park district to a vote. A petition was filed before the county judge calling the special election, which has been set for the same date as the village election. We are hopeful that the project will carry.

"La Grange has never been a boom town, but during the last ten years it has developed to the stage where it is practically all built up. It is noted for being a fine residential town and, in the past, with surrounding open fields and the forest preserve, there was not felt a need for parks. La Grange, residents felt, was itself a park.

"Development has been such, however, there is no place in the main part of town for children to play. They are beginning to play on the streets. We are in need of breathing spots and beauty spots."

Considered by Organizations.

The park question has been considered by various groups in La Grange, including the La Grange Women's club, of which Mrs. Harry Gibson is president; the Kiwanis club, and the Garden club, which has sixty members active in making the village beautiful.

Five candidates for park commissioners, representing five different sections of the town, will appear on the ticket at the special election, the result sought being the creation of small parks and playgrounds that will be available to all.

These five candidates are:

W. E. Keeler, former president of the La Grange State bank.

Arthur Hall, member of the La Grange school board.

Leslie Rice, works manager at the Western Electric company.

Edward Barrett, Chicago business man.

WORK STARTED ON ADDITION TO MARSHALL HIGH

The long expected addition to the John Marshall High school, 3250 West Adams street, is under way. Following the breaking of ground last Wednesday work was begun on laying the foundations. It will be U shaped, starting at the assembly hall of the old building, running along Monroe street to Kedzie avenue, along Kedzie avenue to Adams street, and along Adams street until it meets the zoölogy laboratory. There will be a small court in the middle. The total capacity of the addition will be 2,000.

On the ground floor will be the lunchroom, the print shop, the swimming pool, the social hall, the civic room, the office and several classrooms. The lunchroom is to be equipped with five steam tables. Twelve hundred pupils will be enabled to take lunch there at the same time.

The social room, which will be equipped with a stage, will be the scene of future dramatics and debates sponsored by the school. Also, this room will be available for school dances and other activities promoted by the various clubs of the students.

The second floor will contain the library, a botany suite, a chorus room, the gymnasium and numerous classrooms. The library is to be housed in two adjoining rooms.

Two laboratories, a lecture room, a work room and a plant room will make up the botany suite. The chorus room with its raised tiers of seats will accommodate the large Marshall chorus. There are to be three gymnasiums, one for the boys which will be the scene of the important interscholastic basketball games, and two for the girls.

On the third floor will be located the physics suite, a chemistry suite, a band room, four commodious classrooms and several class rooms. The physics and the chemistry suites will follow the general plan of the botany suite, each having two lecture stories, a work room, and a balance room.

The drawing rooms, which will have north light, will be large enough to hold an entire class at one time. Like the other divisions of the new building, the band room will be thoroughly up to date. It will contain 200 separate compartments for the various instruments in use and will be sound proof, the last feature benefiting other classes throughout the school.

BUILT-UP MOTOR STICK MADE BOY WORLD'S CHAMP

Here's Chance to Profit by His Experience.

Here is the sixth of The Tribune's articles on building scientific airplane models. It tells how to construct the built-up motor stick for the championship tractor described last week. If you have questions on it send them, with a 2 cent stamp for answer, to Merrill Hamburg, A. M. L. A., American Building, 2d and Lafayette boulevard, Detroit, Mich. He'll answer them.

BY MERRILL HAMBURG.
[Secretary Airplane Model League of America.]

Last week THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Airplane Model league of America in Chicago, promised an improvement on the championship tractor with its cambered wings—an improvement that makes it perform even better than it did for Ernest McCoy, its designer. The improvement is a built-up motor stick—a hollow stick with internal supports that is both stiffer and lighter than the solid stick.

And the boy who first used it effectively made himself world's champion.

He is Aram Abgarian, 15 year old member, who used the cambered wing and tail you learned about last week, plus his hollow motor stick—and flew his model to a new world's record of 353.6 seconds at the First National A. M. L. A. contests, held by the American Boy magazine at Detroit in 1928. Here are the plans of his motor stick. You can incorporate them in your Champ tractor.

Study the Diagram.

And you can get the materials you'll need—1-32 inch flat balsa 15¼ inches long, a balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches and ambroid—in the same kit you bought last week for the McCoy ship. It includes all of them. If you haven't yet obtained the kit, you can get it by sending 85 cents in check or money order to the supply department, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. It will give you all your materials for the complete ship, with either type of motor stick; an A. M. L. A. The manual is included as well. With the materials in hand, you're ready to start. First, read all through these directions and study the diagram thoroughly, so you'll know exactly the steps to follow. Then get to work.

The outside dimensions of the motor stick are ⅛x¼x15 inches. For the four walls you need four strips of balsa, 1-32x¼ inches. Two are cut ¼ inch wide and the other two 1-16. Before they are cut they should be marked for plugs and bulkheads—the plugs inside reinforcements set at one inch intervals.

Manual Tells How.

First, sand carefully a strip of 1-32 inch flat balsa, cutting it to the exact 15 inch length. Draw light pencil lines across the strip ⅝ inch from each end, and at 1 inch intervals between these last two marks. Now you have located the thirteen bulkheads and the two end plugs.

Next split the strip lengthwise—with a very sharp knife and a straight edge—into the four side walls of the fuselage. The manual tells you how. Take one of the 1-16 inch strips and paint the two edges with ambroid, taking extra care not to get it on either face. Lay it flat on the table and stand the two ¼ inch side walls up against it to form a square turned U. If you have laid the strips properly the pencil lines will correspond exactly; if they don't one or more of the strips must be reversed, end for end.

Must Be Precise.

Now the end plugs and bulkheads. Cut off two pieces ⅝ inch long from the balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches—the piece you want, if your U is properly made, will be exactly 1-16x3-16. Make sure that they fit exactly—they must not bulge the ends—and then ambroid them and set them in place. For the bulkheads, cut a strip 1-16 inch wide from the 1-32 flat balsa, then cut off pieces 3-16 inch long—thirteen of them. Every piece must be precise—they must fit neither too tightly nor too loosely. When they are finished and you have found them to fit exactly by putting them into place without glue, take them out one at a time, paint lightly with ambroid and reset them.

There must be room left on top of them, of course, so that the fourth side of the fuselage will fit in. Ambroid this in place, then sand the whole stick lightly to finish it.

And you have the Abgarian fuselage—one less subject to twist by a tightly wound motor than the solid stick, yet lighter by about the weight of the propeller.

Let 'Er Sail!

Now paint the stick with ambroid at each end, for added strength, and set the metal parts as shown in the drawing. If you made the solid stick ship last week, take the metal pieces from the old fuselage.

You can use your old tail group or build a new set, just as you choose. Careful cutting with your knife will remove the old group from the McCoy model. Set it into the rear end of the motor stick, cutting grooves for the spars as shown at the left of the diagram.

Now clip on your wing, hook up the motor and propeller and let 'er sail! You'll find, if everything is done just right, that you've built your finest indoor model. It will be the lightest for its size, the strongest and the most enduring flyer.

Free Trips to Europe.

And perhaps it will win for you a trip to Europe! For, after THE TRIBUNE holds local contests to select champions, these champions will be sent to Detroit as the guests of this newspaper. And there they will compete with other city champions for cups, medals, other awards and—best of all—free trips to Europe, offered by the American Boy magazine.

Watch this paper for forthcoming airplane model articles. They will tell you how to build other record smashing models—how to compete for other trips to Europe. The next comes one week from today.

BY QUIN RYAN.

Down in the loop, in the office of one of radio's well known figures, Harry Spingold, director of the W-G-N players and an excellent player in his own right, is a little box, a filing cabinet—in which one can spend a most interesting hour.

For a quarter of a century, Harry has been a manager of all manner of actors and vaudevillians. Thumbing through the cards in the little box, he proudly points out his bookings of obscure vaudeville acts of fifteen and twenty years, and chuckles as he explains who these people are today. Whenever they are in town, they drop in and hark back to the struggling days.

In the file labeled "1917," we come upon a girl team breaking in on their first week in vaudeville, who call themselves the Duncan Sisters. During that week they played the College theater, in Chicago, and the Academy of Music, and spent Sunday at the Lincoln theater. Their weekly stipend, out of which they paid all traveling and living expenses and commissions, was $125.

We come upon the plain names of "Coogan and Cox," hoofers de luxe, earning $200 during the weeks they worked — and hopping all over the middle west to Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, La Salle and Ottawa. Today Coogan is a millionaire. But the hoofing days were before little "Jackie" was born.

In 1916 we note that a team of cut ups were making the rounds of the houses, going by the name of "Bernie and Baker," in an act entitled, "This Is Not a Movie." And Harry rethinds us that nowadays we know these boys are Ben Bernie, the famous orchestra leader, and Phil Baker, the comedian and accordionist, whose weekly salaries are now over ten times the figures that both of them used to split—$350.

And then, in a quaint family picture, we discover "The Five Columbians," father and mother and three daughters, for whom Harry demanded the astounding weekly wage of $350. They were known as the Miller family—and last Saturday night Harry attended their happy reunion in the Drake hotel—in daughter Marilyn's room!

IN THE rotogravure section of this paper you will find pictures of those famous comic characters, "Herr Louie" and the "Weasel," who are heard every evening in the German band act at 10:15. Herr Louie, the fat one in the photo, is in reality, Hank Moeller, formerly of Davenport, Ia., and for many years a partner in the theatrical producing business with Hal Gilles, formerly of Evansville, Ind., who plays the Weasel.

Every afternoon they can be found bent over a typewriter, concocting the laughs for the evening's episode. Here is the way one of their scenarios looks when they take the air:

LOUIE'S HUNGRY FIVE DISCUSS THE WEATHER, ETC.

BAND—"Ach du lieber augustine."

LOUIE—Py chorge, I only vish dat diss vinter vedder voss first over mit.

WEASEL—Chess, isn't it de trute; Py golly diss iss von of de best of de vorst vinters ve had in a long time yet.

LOUIE—Ya I should said it iss.

WEASEL—Chee viss, how I'm vatin for de good ole summertime, ven a guy kin go oudt undt get hisself a lung full of fresh air vonce in a vile.

LOUIE—Now lissen vonce Veasel: Dares plenty fresh air outside now if you vant it, but, dat vosn't vat I voss deferring to. Vat I meant to said voss diss. If de vinter voss first over, den ve could get oudt undt get some fresh bissness in.

WEASEL—Oh, now I see vat you mean. You mean so ve kin get our financhul sitchooashuns in good shape again, hu?

LOUIE—Eggsackly. Diss inside bisness so much, alvays makes us shtale, undt also makes youse all so irritationed.

WEASEL—Ve didn't did so bad doe diss year Herr Louie.

LOUIE—Vat you mean ve didn't did so bad? Vere only a couple dollars from de poorhouse.

WEASEL—Oh for gootness grashus mercy sakes, iss dat so?

LOUIE—Ya shure dats so. Undt if I vould haff shtayed long in de hespitoll sick, youse vould probly be now allreddy in it.

WEASEL—Oh I gess ve vouldn't.

LOUIE—You vouldn't hu?

WEASEL—No. Vere shtill out of it, isn't it?

LOUIE—Vell, it isn't your fault dat you iss, I tell you; didn't dat letter giff me a exsampel how tings iss ven I'm not here, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, vy should ve get de blames for someting dat somevon else did, or didn't did? CHEE VISS!

LOUIE—Nun vart mal ein augenblick; chust hold de horses for von minuts, Who iss de von dat's supposing to hendle de bisness ven de superior iss avay, hu? Who iss de von?

WEASEL—Vell, now dat's something I got to put some considerashun on; I should tink anyvon in de band vould be de von to hendle it.

LOUIE—Uh hu! Your chust de kind of a tripe dat vould tink someting like dat. Now, you lissen vonce to me. Vir going to play now a tune, undt den I'm going to lay down de rules, dat everybody, undt even you kin understhood.

WEASEL—Chess!

LOUIE—Awrite; Vir shpieln Zu Lauterbach Hab Ich Mein Shtrumpf Faloren; Nun Zusammen! Eins, Swei, Shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, shtay right vare your sitten. For vonce in my life I'm going to haff a clear misunderstanding between ourselfs.

WEASEL—Vill it be nezzesuary for me to take down notes, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—No; now den: Youse all remember dat ve had a cheneral agriement a long time back allreddy about who iss who und vy in de band; isn't dat right? Vell, am I asking myself someting, or vass ist diss fur dummheit.

WEASEL—You mean dat meeting dat ve had ven ve dissapointed different vons for different tings, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Eggsackly, dats vat I mean.

WEASEL—Ach, I should said I do remember dat. Dat voss ven youse gafe me de chunanimous dissapointment as secretare.

LOUIE—Now, you said it. You voss dissapointed secretare in cheneral, una vat voss supposing to be your duties, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, now let me tink a minute, und don't rush me too fast, or else I maybe forget some of dem.

LOUIE—Ach, you couldn't tink. You voss, undt are supposing to hendle de bisness end of de band if I ain't here, or if I'm inexschposed und laid out.

WEASEL—Vell, isn't dat vat I've bin doing, isn't it?

LOUIE—No, dat isn't vat you've bin doing, isn't it. If you vould haff bin doing your duties, den you vould haff bin here de odder night ven diss fella came und voss looking for me.

WEASEL—Vell, for gootness grashus mercy sakes. I had to keep your girl Chulia kwiet. Chee viss! She voss running around like a shicken mit its neck cut off.

LOUIE—Voss hast du gezacht?

WEASEL—I said dat ven you voss in de hospitoll in, Chulia chust simply vent all to peaces. Py golly, ven I seen her first I tot maybe you broke your leg und dey voss going to shott you or someting.

LOUIE—Awrite, now don't shtart cooking any fish shtories togedder again. Vat has Chulia got to do mit your duties as secretare, dat's vat I'd like to know.

WEASEL—Ach himmel, such a ask!

LOUIE—Na du dummes gezell, vat's de matter mit dat ask. Dat's a civilized kvestion.

WEASEL—Vell, don't get so sore; chee viss!

LOUIE—I ain't gettin' sore. Here I'm trying for years to loarn you some reshponsitivities, und vat's de outcome of de rezults?

WEASEL—Vell, py golly, if you ask me, I tink I did purty darn good for de little inexshperiences I had.

LOUIE—De whoal trouble iss, you don't try to learn more. Ach, vell, I don't care if you vant to shtay a dummy your whole life, go hed. Come on, boys, let's play von. I'm gettin' discustered mit diss kind of bisness. Let's play "My Bonnie Lies Over De Ocean Over." Ready; eins, swei, shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, I tell you vat I do, Veasel. Dat iss, if you promise me you learn so much as you kin, UND if you will promise me, too, dat you vill shtick mit us, und not after I shpent a couple years on you learning you someting, shneak out undt get marriaged.

WEASEL—O, vell, now you're asking me something, Herr Louie, dat's a sensitive propozishun. You know yourself dat Chenny und me iss crazy, von for de odder, undt I almost exshpeck any day to hear Chenny ask me to be de better half of her.

LOUIE—Now, you see? Und dat's supposing to be granitude, hu?

WEASEL—Ha, ha, ha, ha. Vy don't you marriage Chulia, Herr Louie, den ve could haff togedder a double marriage. Chee viss!

LOUIE—Vass faelt dir, bist du farükt? Here I try undt talk some senseful blasness, und try to make someting out of diss band out, und dat's de corporation I get.

EMIL—Let him vent for hisself, Herr Louie. I vouldn't vorry no more for him.

WEASEL—Aw, you shut your bissness, Emil. Nobody vosn't talking to you, any how.

LOUIE—Dat's enuff—dat's enuff! Vir shpielt yets eins, und dan gaen vir drausen cause I don't feel no good.

WEASEL—Ach, chee viss! Vat's de sense going out in de middle of de night?

LOUIE—Schweig shtill. Mench, its gettin' so lately a man couldn't even be sick no more und enchoy it. Vir going to play von, und it's Glückauf. Maybe dat helps de sitchooashuns out.

WEASEL—Do you know someting, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Ya, I know if you don't keep shtill purty soon, you get trowed out heads backvards. Awrite, de tune now. Eins, swei, drei, shpielt!

OLD TIME PRIZE FIGHTS WILL BE RESUMED AT W-G-N

The old time prize fights broadcast several years ago from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, are to be resumed. The famous Sullivan-Kilrain bout will be broadcast by Quin Ryan, W-G-N announcer, as though he were at the ringside. Unlimited time and effort have been spent in reconstructing a broadcast as it would have occurred at Richburg on that hot July afternoon in 1889. You will be able to visualize many of the more important rounds in his leisurely 75 round tussle. You'll hear the first round at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

ROBERT ELSTON NEW ANNOUNCER AT TRIB STATION

That new tenor voice you have been hearing from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, is that of Robert Elston. He is a young man who formerly was featured as soloist in the Paulist choristers.

Mr. Elston's first radio appearance was through the microphones of WAMD, Minneapolis. His stay there was cut short by the winning of a contest to find the best radio announcer for KWK, St. Louis, Mo. He was selected from 200 competitors. He now is staff announcer with W-G-N.

JACKSONVILLE STATION GIVES AVIATION COURSE

JACKONVILLE, Fla.—(AP)—Station WJAX is conducting an armchair course in flying in conjunction with the Reserve Officers' association of this city.

The course is held at 6 p. m. each Wednesday and consists of simple lessons, designed principally for those with no previous knowledge of flying. Instructions in taking off and landing are given by noted civilian and army aviators.

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00 7:55 11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n' that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tune as only they can.

Missouri Auction Bridge Experts Compete in Radio Game Over W. G. N.

The twentieth and last game of the present series of radio auction bridge games will be broadcast from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.

One hundred and nineteen radio stations broadcast bridge games during the present season, reaching an estimated audience of several million a week. Announcement has been made that the fifth series of bridge games, featuring widely known players, will be inaugurated next fall with even a larger lineup than the present series.

The contestants in the twentieth game are William J. Wall of Ottawa, Canada, skilled as a player, writer and analyst of bridge tactics, playing with J. H. Landerkin of Toronto, Canada, one of the outstanding players of Toronto, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, who have been featured in all the games.

Following are the advance hands for game twenty:

For the nineteenth of this season's radio bridge games, which was broadcast Tuesday from station W-G-N, Mr. Work had for his partner Mrs. Clyde Bissett, a well known bridge teacher and lecturer of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Whitehead was paired with C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, Mo., one of America's champion players.

The experts held the following hands:

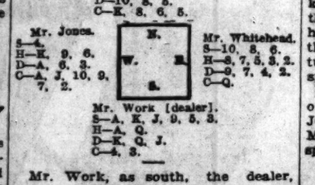

Mr. Work, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one spade. Mr. Jones, west, said two clubs, and Mrs. Bissett, north, and Mr. Whiteside, east, both passed.

Mr. Work increased his own bid to two spades, which obtained the contract, as Mr. Jones, west, was unable to continue clubs without an assist, which his partner, Mr. Whitehead, east, was unable to give.

Saves King of Clubs.

Opening the play, Mr. Jones, west, led the ace of spades. From Mrs. Bissett's, north's, hand which became dummy, Mr. Work, declarer, played the 5 of clubs. Mr. Whitehead, east, played his singleton queen, and Mr. Work, south, declarer, played the 3.

Mr. Jones, west continued with the jack of clubs. Mr. Work realized that if he covered with dummy's king, Mr. Whitehead, east, would trump the trick. If he did not cover, the jack would be good. Since the trick had to be lost in either case, Mr. Work, declarer, played dummy's 6 of clubs, instead of needlessly sacrificing the king. He planned to use the king of clubs later, if possible, for the discard of his own queen of hearts, which would obviate the necessity of attempting a heart finesse.

Mr. Whitehead, east, appreciated Mr. Work's probable intention of later making use of the king of clubs for a discard. Therefore Mr. Whitehead considered the advisability of trumping his partner's good jack, in order to lead a heart or diamond through Mr. Work's hand up to dummy's weakness. This would have given Mr. Jones, west, an opportunity to make a high card of one of those suits, before Mr. Work could secure the discard which he apparently would be able to make later, through entry into dummy with the queen of trumps.

Wins Third Round.

However, Mr. Whitehead was deterred from attempting this coup by two sound reasons: First, Mr. Work, south, might hold three clubs, in which care, if Mr. Whitehead held off, the latter's partner might be able to take a third trick in clubs unless declarer came up with dummy's king. Second, if Mr. Whitehead trumped the trick he would not know whether to lead a heart or a diamond, as he had no basis for a decision as to the suit from which declarer might wish to effect a discard.

Therefore Mr. Whitehead discarded on the jack of clubs his 2 of diamonds; Mr. Work played the 4 of clubs.

Mr. Jones, west, continued with the 10 of clubs. Dummy, north, played the 8-spot. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 4 of diamonds. To have discarded the 2 of hearts to show weakness in that suit also, would have given more valuable information to the declarer than to Mr. Whitehead's partner. Mr. Work, declarer, trumped with the 3 of Spades.

Mr. Work led the ace of spades, to which Mr. Jones followed with the 4; dummy with the 2; Mr. Whitehead with the 6. Mr. Work led the king of spades. Mr. Jones discarded the 9 of hearts as an indication to his partner, Mr. Whitehead, to lead that suit should he have an opportunity. Dummy played the 7 of spades; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

Mr. Work then led the 5 of spades, overtaking with dummy's queen. Mr. Jones, west, discarded the 2 of clubs; Mr Whitehead, east, dropped his last spade, the 10-spot.

Concedes Ace of Diamonds.

Dummy then led the king of clubs, giving Mr. Work, declarer, the much desired discard of his queen of hearts. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 7 of diamonds; Mr. Jones, west, played the 7 of clubs.

Mr. Work, declarer, then laid down his hands, conceding the ace of diamonds and claiming the rest of the tricks. His claim was allowed, and he therefore scored four-odd on the hand, with 36 trick points, and 40 for four honors divided.

In contract, the play of this hand would be exactly the same as in auction. The bidding, however, would be distinctly different, according to Mr. Work's analysis. There are many different systems of initial bids in contract, but Mr. Work gives preference to the one which would bid three spades on south's hand, although he recognizes that many players would bid only two.

However, by bidding three, Mr. Work would make certain that his partner would jump him to four if he had a probable trick. It needs only that much in partner's hand to make a game-going bid desirable.

Of course, for those whose two-bid forces the partner to bid, two in this case would be amply sufficient; but that is a system which, in Mr. Work's opinion, produces many losses in the long run. Mr. Work does not want to force his partner to bid with a bust hand. On the other hand, by bidding the full strength of his own hand, he enables his partner to read his strength in the most satisfactory manner, thereby producing the best bid that is in the two hands.

Germany Plans to Increase Power of Radio Stations

BERLIN.—In order that programs from here may be picked up throughout Germany, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Reichsfunk to increase the power of the Zeesen transmitter to 200 kilowatts. Likewise, it is reported, the relay station at Freiburg is to receive a more powerful plant, in view of the decision of the French to erect a high power station at Strasbourg.

LUCREZIA BORI WILL BROADCAST KENT PROGRAM

Character studies in tone by Lucrezia Bori, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be heard during the Atwater Kent radio hour tonight over W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel and a coast to coast network.

From the evening this Spanish artist electrified an audience in Rome with her interpretation of the moods and hopes and fears of Micaela, in a production of Bizet's "Carmen." Mme. Bori has steadily progressed in her art of conveying every shade of drama through her music. As a result, she is today regarded as the most versatile soprano on the operatic stage.

Her debut in Rome as the simple village maid of the Bizet opera, filled with fear and timidity, was not all acting. Born in Valencie and having studied music and opera from the age of six, she was in fact as well as in character a very young Spanish girl full of hopes and fears when she appeared before her first audience. But her conception of the character was greeted as a brilliant bit of acting, as have been her conceptions of all the characters she has mastered in opera. When one hears Bori and sees Bori one is conscious rather of the character that is being interpreted than of the personality of the singer herself.

Oak Park School Board Election to Be on April 13

The annual Oak Park elementary school board elections, District 9, will be held Saturday, April 13, in the various schoolhouses which constitute the voting places of the eleven precincts. A president will be elected to serve one year, and three members to serve three years each. The retiring president, James J. Garvey, has served four years. The retiring members of the school board are John N. Walton, Mrs. Charles H. Hubbard and A. E. McClintock.

R. M. A. PLANS BIG RADIO SPECTACLE AT TRADE SHOW

One of the greatest all-star broadcast programs ever attempted is being arranged jointly by the Radio Manufacturers association, comprising virtually all prominent radio producers, and the National Broadcasting company and associated stations. The super-program will be presented on the evening of June 5 from Chicago during the fifth annual convention and trade show of the R. M. A.

Outstanding celebrities of the stage, operatic world and famous musical organizations will appear on the program to be broadcast from the annual banquet at the Stevens hotel, on a coast to coast hookup through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting company and its associated stations. The program is planned to be a superlative air event of 1929.

Radio industry leaders, from the manufacturing, broadcasting and distributing fields, including nearly 25,000 jobbers and dealers, are expected to assemble at Chicago during the R. M. A. convention and trade show week beginning June 3.

24 ENGLEWOOD CHURCHES UNITE ON GOOD FRIDAY

Period Service Will Be Held.

Twenty-four Englewood churches, under the auspices of the Englewood ministers' association, will unite for the annual Good Friday services on Friday, starting at noon, at the Liberal theater, 63d and Halsted streets.

The Rev. J. H. De Lacy, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal church, Wood and Paulina streets, is general chairman, and the Rev. Hampton H. Smith, pastor of Englewood First Methodist Episcopal church, 64th street and Stewart avenue, is in charge of arrangements for the program.

The program will consist of seven fifteen minute periods, with a musical interlude between. The seven last words from the cross will be used as themes for the seven periods.

11 Pastors Take Part.

Twenty-two ministers will take part in the services. The following pastors will read the scriptures for the seven periods: The Rev. J. M. Findlay of Auburn, the Rev. Arthur W. Taylor, the Rev. C. G. Kindred, the Rev. Albert A. George, the Rev. Clinton C. Dickinson, the Rev. James E. Congdon, the Rev. Dr. F. J. Thomas.

The prayer for each of the seven periods will be given by the following: The Rev. W. G. Schurman, the Rev. M. Kesselring, the Rev. Thomas Thornburg, the Rev. John John, the Rev. J. Van Westenburg, the Rev. Dr. Lee McLendon, and the Rev. E. J. Lee.

The speakers for the seven periods will be as follows: The Rev. C. Emil Wagner, the Rev. Richard D. Hughes, the Rev. Clifford Littell, Le Duc, the Rev. J. H. De Lacy, the Rev. Bruce Brown, the Rev. Charles H. Draper, and the Rev. Christian F. Kleinhauer.

Music by U. of C. Quartet.

Special music for each period will be presented by a quartet composed of members of the University of Chicago choir, Elwood Daskill, secretary of Hyde Park Evans, organist and choir master of the University of Chicago church, is making arrangements for the music.

Every community resident is invited to attend the services, members of the ministers' association say. It is pointed out that it will not be necessary to remain throughout the entire program and working people are urged to attend during their lunch hour.

Churches Joining in Service.

The following churches together with the Englewood Y. M. C. A., 66th street and Union avenue, are cooperating in the services: Englewood Baptist, Normal Park Baptist, Englewood Christian, Green Street Congregational, Swedish Evangelical, Auburn Park Evangelical, Bethel Lutheran, Calvary Methodist Evangelical, Englewood First Methodist Evangelical, Garfield Boulevard Methodist Evangelical, Norwood Park Methodist Evangelical, Ogden Park Methodist Evangelical, Sandburg Methodist Evangelical, Thornton Methodist Evangelical, Mennonite Meeting, First Nazarene, Drexel Park Presbyterian, Emerald Avenue Presbyterian, Englewood Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian, Eighth Presbyterian, Bishop Cheney memorial, and the Hope Reformed.

ADD 7 SOUTH SIDE PAVING JOBS TO SPRING PROGRAM

Confirmation by the courts of plans covering sections of seven south side streets has brought the total number of jobs sanctioned and clear of legal hindrance to 47, officials of the board of local improvements announced yesterday.

With two or three additional jobs awaiting the approval of the courts every week, it is expected that the entire number of contracts to be awarded within the next few weeks will reach 60. All of these contracts will be advertised for bids shortly, and all except a few jobs will be completed before the winter, the board of engineers said. The remainder will be held over and completed in the spring of 1930.

Public hearings have been held for the following paving jobs:

Kingston avenue, from 81st street to the 152 feet north of that street, to be paved with asphalt.

Seventy-fourth place, from Stony Island avenue to East End avenue, and East End avenue from 83d street to 84th street, both to be paved with brick.

Green street, from 111th street to 112th street, and 112th street, from Green street, asphalt.

Union street, from 103d street to 104th street, concrete.

Vincennes avenue, from 91st street to 95th street, concrete.

SIDE HEBREW JUNIORS PLAN SOCIAL EVENTS

Members of the junior assembly of the South side Hebrew congregation have made plans for a number of social affairs to which all young people of the south shore territory will be invited. These affairs will be held in connection with a drive being carried on to increase the membership from 100 to 150. The officers of the organization are Nathan Rosenberg, 2311 East Sixty-sixth street, president; Elmer Cohen, 7320 Merrill avenue, vice president; Gloria Greenwald, 7417 Chappel avenue, corresponding secretary; Dave Cohen, 7043 Clyde avenue, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Weinhouse, 2046 East Seventy-first street, chairman of the membership committee and publicity director.

CARL P. MORGAN, president of the big Wicks department store at 7357 Cottage Grove avenue, is back from his five weeks' sojourn in sunny southern California, and glad to be here. BUT, says Carl, it's certainly a grand and glorious climate, and the Glendora bungalow in which he lived was so completely surrounded by orange groves that he could reach out of any window and pluck one whenever he had the impulse. California folks are rightfully proud of their crop diversity, particularly since they took to producing Presidents, says Carl.

Hyde Pk. High Light Opera Casts Chosen

"The Pirates of Penzance," one of the most popular of the light operas of Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented by the students of the Hyde Park High school, under the direction of O. E. Robinson, musical instructor. The opera will be presented Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday evening, April 5 and 6, in the high school auditorium, 62d street and Stony Island avenue.

Different persons will play the principal roles in each of the three performances, so that senior students with talent will be given a final opportunity of using that talent in a high school presentation before they are graduated.

Leading Members of Cast.

Richard, the pirate chief, the principal role, will be portrayed by Arthur Peters, Stanley Harris and Charles Sperekas. Oother leading roles will be played by Herbert Woolner, Daniel Aaron, Paul Sourin, Samuel Dashow, Norman Sider, Samuel Finley, Phillip Body, Al Booknis, Earl Frankle, Delight Babcock, Myrtle Schoen, Eileen Humiston, Martha Bohart, Charlotte De Wolfe, Emily Robinson, Josephine Chittick, Miriam Gordon, Ethel Smith, Dorothy Beckham, Dorothy Steinberg, Jessie Keswick, Elizabeth Mulaski and Dorothy Lang.

Accompaniment by Orchestra.

Under the direction of Miss Katherine Finley, the school orchestra of 40 students will play the accompanying music. Florence Laporte and Shirly Shank will accompany the soloists.

The dancing classes of the school, under the supervision of Mrs. Sadie B. Hayden, will present the dances that are part of the operetta. Costumes for these dances will be made by the students.

The students of the art classes, under the supervision of Miss Helen S. Gilbert, are constructing the scenery for the opera. A number of the pupils, with the aid of Miss Gilbert, have made models of the scenery, from which student carpenters are constructing the sets.

The student stagehands will handle all of the work behind the scenes. Frederick Brucker is the manager of the force and Buell Randolph is chief electrician. Their assistants are Herbert Temple, Thomas Kelly, Robert Nolan, Herman Getner, John Hess, Oscar Marienthal, Herbert Kahn, Sydney Fox, David Wolfe, Floyd Cerf, and Frederick Orcutt.

Parker High Graduate to Attend Washington Session

James Thomson, a graduate of Parker Senior High school in the February, 1929, class, has been chosen to attend the Red Cross convention at Washington, D. C., to be held April 22 to 25. ## PARK OBSERVES BIRTHDAY WITH VARIED SHOWS

Gage park, the youngest park in the south park system, observed the first anniversary of the opening of its fieldhouse at 2411 West 55th street with a three day celebration Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Thursday evening the fieldhouse was given over to the Hamilton Park players, who presented three one-act plays under the direction of their dramatic supervisor, Miss Hazel Woods.

The plays given were "Rosalie," by Max Maurey, in which Merrill Fugit, Mabel Ruth Jackson, and Hermia G. Brile took part; "Honor Bound," by Sidney Grundy, with a cast which included A. O. Jackson, A. Prentice Morrisson, May Cass, and Mable Ruth Jackson, and "The Professor of Love," by Katherine Kavenaugh, with characters portrayed by Leonard Morris, Flossie Jenkinson, Hermia Brile, May Cass, Richard Jackson, and A. Prentice Morrisson.

Demonstrations of gymnasium work were held Friday and Saturday nights in both the women's and men's gymnasiums. Miss Aileen Gates, the women's instructor, presented her classes in singing games, drills, Maypole dances, and calisthenics. Her pupils include children, school girls, and matrons.

At the same time demonstrations of a different sort were going on in the men's gymnasium. There the classes of B. A. Todd, the gymnasium director for men and boys, put on tumbling acts and Indian club drills, as well as showing samples of apparatus work and marching. Saturday night there was also a basketball game between the Gage Park Hawks and the Geneva, Ill., Athletic club.

'Switch Fest' to Be Held in Cornell Park

Cornell park is planning to sponsor a switching fiesta for Easter Monday, when some 400 switches will be provided boys and girls by the landscape division of the south parks, in order that they may indulge themselves in the ancient folk custom still prevalent in some countries of switching each other on that day.

In this country, where colonies of German, Bohemian or Polish people have gathered, the old switching custom has been retained in a spirit of fun and hilarity rather than with the religious verve with which their ancestors ages back whipped each other. In fact, Cornell park has been troubled with children and adults as well who cut up bushes of the park in order to celebrate the day. In spite of police protection residents of the neighborhood persisted annually in destroying the beauty of the park.

Will Cooperate This Year.

This year, instead of calling an extra squad of policemen to guard the grounds, Cornell park will not only provide the switches, but will also allow the switching participants to partake of their favorite Easter sport on the park grounds.

With the assistance of V. K. Brown, superintendent of playgrounds, F. W. Bosserman, director of Cornell park, has devised a series of original games which will provide plenty of fun and at the same time prevent rough treatment and unnecessary accidents, he believes.

According to Mr. Bosserman, Easter Monday in Cornell park neighborhood has become a day when boys and men attempt to frighten the girls and women. However, he says that although the boys ran rough shod over the streets while the girls found some place to hide, the women usually waited within their homes with buckets of cold water, which they dashed over any neighborhood men who attempted to take advantage of the privileges of the day to enter and switch their friends' wives.

Battle Royal Planned.

The program as outlined by Mr. Bosserman and Mr. Brown will include a game for older boys when 60 or 70 of them will be given switches and placed inside a large circle for a switch battle royal. Any boy will be permitted to step outside the circle at any time and the one who remains inside the longest will win a prize of a chocolate Easter egg.

A game for the younger boys will consist of each fastening a balloon to a string around his waist, and the one who succeeds in keeping his balloon from being burst by a switch will win the prize of a large chocolate rabbit.

While these games are going on among the boys Mr. Bosserman proposes to give a party for the girls in the assembly hall of the park field house. Admission to the party will be an Easter egg which will be numbered when it is presented and in return the girl will be given a slip containing the same number. Later the eggs will be passed out and the girl who first succeeds in getting her original egg will receive a prize while the last girl to find her egg will receiving a switching administered by the winner.

Origin of Custom.

Following these games the girls will join the boys to be entertained by a program of Easter dances. The program at the park will begin at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. Several hundred mothers of the children participating are expected to be in attendance and if the weather permits an evening session of games will be held in order that fathers may attend.

The idea of friends and neighbors switching each other is believed to have originated from the fact that Christ was lashed and beaten on the cross and in Germany, Bohemia, and Poland where this custom still prevails, it is considered a favor to be whipped.

Fathers' Night at School.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Ruggles school, 7831 Prairie avenue, held its annual fathers' night program Friday. Students under the direction of Miss Marie L. Mann, presented the operetta, "The Awakening of Spring."

DEMAND RAILS CLEAR WAY FOR STREET PLANS

River Project Stirs Terminal Move.

Every effort of the South Terminal District association during the next few months will be made toward obtaining the adoption of a plan for streets immediately south of the loop following determination by the railroads of their terminal plans in this district, according to Henry L. Rissman, president of the association.

The group will join with other south side organizations and the city council in bringing pressure to bear on the railroads to build a terminal without wasting time after the river straightening is completed, Mr. Rissman said. As yet no plans for a terminal have been submitted by the railroads, and as a result the future plan of the district is being held up.

The directors of the Terminal association believe it would be unwise and expensive to put into effect a comprehensive street plan in the district until the terminal question has been definitely decided. One without the other would not only result in waste, but would be detrimental to the final completion of these projects, they say.

Way Open for Five Streets in Fall.

"Digging on the new channel of the south branch of the river which began Sept. 29, will be finished, according to the latest reports, Oct. 1. When this bend in the river is straightened out, Market, Franklin, Wells, La Salle, and Dearborn streets can be opened as well as certain east and west streets," Mr. Rissman said. He believes that Congress street in particular should be opened across the river to Michigan avenue.

A detailed plan for these streets was presented five weeks ago by Edward J. Noonan, consulting engineer of the railway terminals committee of the city council, and was said at that time to be so logical and so much needed that its ultimate working out could safely be predicted. All improvement in the district, Mr. Rissman pointed out, depends on the railroads, which are charged with holding back the progress of the section.

"The great railroads entering Chicago receive a larger revenue from this territory and this city than any other spot in the United States, not excluding New York," Mr. Rissman continued. "Yet these railroads controlled by eastern directors can pour millions into eastern cities for modern terminal facilities and still refuse to spend a dime in Chicago. It is time that at least a portion of the large revenue taken from this city be utilized to provide comfortable and artistic railway passenger terminals.

Asserts Roads Agreed.

"Chicago is spending millions in straightening the Chicago river for redemption of the near south side and more millions will be spent in extending streets through the district with the distinct understanding given nearly two years ago by the railroad executives that they would arrange their properties and build a modern union station.

"Further delay of the south side terminal project is unfair to the best interest of Chicago, Mr. Rissman asserted, "and unless immediate action is taken, lack of proper terminal facilities will make it almost impossible to handle the fair in 1933.

"The citizens of Chicago should back up their city council railway terminals committee," he concluded, "and see to it that the buckpassing of the railroad presidents should once and for all cease to be their favorite pastime as far as Chicago is concerned."

RIVALS BOOST EACH OTHER IN THIS ELECTION

The annual election of officers and the election of directors which occurs every two years will take place at the meeting of the Marquette Park Lions club Wednesday evening. Each of the nominees for president is electioneering for his opponent.

Two slates of candidates have been submitted, one drawn up by the retiring directors and the other by a committee of members.

The director's slate includes the following: Dr. John B. Karr for president, Otto B. Sund for first vice president, Matthew Weber for second vice president, R. J. Heyna for third vice president; Edward P. Carone for secretary, B. M. O'Connell for treasurer, Harry Mapp for tail twister, A. L. Strachan for lion tamer, and Dan P. Burke and Stanley Baske for directors.

Those nominated by the member's committee are: Harry Mapp for president; Dr. John B. Karr for first vice president, Edward J. Kennedy for second vice president, A. L. Strachan for third vice president, Dr. David R. Levitt for secretary, B. M. O'Connell for treasurer, Matthew Weber for tail twister, Otto B. Sund for lion tamer, and Chester S. Patrick and James V. Bray for directors.

Dr. Levitt is now secretary and Mr. O'Connell is treasurer. Chester Patrick is the retiring president.

Southwest Side to Select Traction Leader April 1

Selection of a spokesman to represent the entire southwest side in demanding additional transportation for the district has been postponed until April 1, according to M. A. Seymour, secretary of the Southwest Federation of Improvement Clubs, which is sponsoring the movement in behalf of 5,000 residents of that section. Representatives of all improvement clubs of the southwest side will meet at that time at the Clearing Industrial club, 56th avenue and 65th street, and make plans for an appeal to the city council, the citizens' advisory committee on transportation, and the Illinois commerce commission.

PROPOSES PLAN OF RESURFACING AT SMALL COST

City Offers to Do Work if Property Owners Pay.

The policy of the department of public works in dealing directly with local property owners in making up its program of street repairs is rapidly developing, and residents of three parts of the south side are already availing themselves of the opportunity to have their streets resurfaced according to the plan outlined by Commissioner Richard W. Wolfe.

In instances where the streets are in such poor condition that they cannot be patched with money from the vehicle tax fund, the department offers to employ its material and labor to resurface the entire roadway, the cost to be born entirely by property owners.

This would be done instead of having a new pavement laid by the board of local improvements with funds obtained by special assessment, often of prohibitive amount. Commissioner Wolfe estimates that his department can put streets in good condition for one-sixth of what it would cost if the board of local improvements put in entirely new streets.

Old Matrials Salvaged.

This saving is brought about partly by using money derived from salvage of materials in the old pavement to pay part of the cost, instead of junking the old materials and paving anew. For the stretch on Hoyne avenue between 111th and 112th streets, the department estimates the cost at $4.10 a front foot. A special assessment levied by the board of local improvements on property owners on the same street would amount to $26.10 a front foot.

Eager to have their street put in good condition at $4.10 a running foot, property owners, under the leadership of Enoch J. Price, president of the board of trustees of Morgan Park academy, have already collected the necessary amount, $5,900, and are awaiting favorable weather when the department of public works can begin work.

Calumet Avenue Estimate Asked.

Property owners along Calumet avenue between 98th and 99th streets also have the plan under consideration, and have asked the commissioner to furnish them with an estimate of the cost. The figure submitted was $11,400.

In Auburn Park a group has under consideration the paving of six streets where again the work can be done by the department of public works for much less money than by the board of local improvements.

The commissioner has estimated that for $103,940 portions of the following streets may be resurfaced: Eggleston, Normal, Winneconda, and Fielding avenues, 77th and 78th streets.

Sigma Kappa Pi Sorority to Initiate Three Chapters

Sigma Kappa Pi sorority will hold initiations for three new chapters, Chi, Gamma and Zeta, today in the Morrison hotel. Mrs. Edna Kallman, president of the supreme chapter, will officiate.

Teachers' day was observed by the Park Manor Parent-Teacher association Friday afternoon at a meeting of the organization in the assembly hall of the school, 71st street and Rhodes avenue. Miss Anna Higgins, principal of the school, was the principal speaker.

WHO SAID IT? When, Where and Why

THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each snappy quotation printed and $5 for the best answer. Send your answers and quotations to the Who Said It editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THROUGH an oversight answers to two quotations were omitted last week. They are printed below with the answers to a third quotation which has aroused interest among readers. New quotations are omitted this week but will appear as usual next Sunday.

ANSWERS

Quotation—How to the line, let the chips fall where they may. And—*How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

Answer—The above quotation is a commonly used derivation of the following expression: "He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may." This was said by Roscoe Conkling [1829-1888], great American lawyer and senator from New York state, at the Republican national convention of 1880 in Chicago. He referred to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, whom he nominated for a third term as President.

The parody, "Hew to the line, let the quips fall where they may," was from the pen of B. L. T. [Bert Leston Taylor], who originated the "Line o' Type or Two" column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It was adopted as the motto of the column and is still used in that way. B. L. T. was born on Nov. 13, 1866, in Goshen, Mass., and got his early writing experience on the New Hampshire and Maine rural press. In 1899 he came to Chicago and in January, 1901, he became affiliated with THE TRIBUNE and founded "A Line o' Type or Two." He was one of the first column conductors to use the contributions of readers instead of writing it all himself. In addition to being a delightful humorist he was a sane and penetrating critic of music, art and literature. His death occurred on March 19, 1921, but the memory and influence of this beloved, wise, witty writer lives on.—Mary Bryant, 181 31st street, Milwaukee, Wis.

NOTE—Richard Henry Little, present conductor of the column founded by B. L. T., says the expression, "Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may," originated in the American pioneer days when log cabins were the fashion in residences. Whole communities would gather to assist a neighbor in building his home. The men would bring their axes and would make a friendly contest of trimming the logs to the proper size. With the lines marked out on the logs and the women and children gathered around to cheer on the contestants, all would start to work at a given signal. Then as the axes rang on wood and the chips flew fast and furiously among the spectators the cry would arise, "Hew to the line, let the chips fly." And thus, says R. H. L., it all began.

Quotation—*Be sure you are right, then go ahead.

Answer—This was one of the favorite sayings of David Crockett, American frontiersman, born in Greene county, Tennessee, on Aug. 17, 1786. In 1813 he enlisted under Gen. Andrew Jackson for the Creek Indian war. The quotation was his motto during the fighting. From 1821 to 1824 Crockett was a member of the Tennessee legislature, having won his election not by political speeches but by telling stories. In 1828 he was elected to the national house of representatives as a Jackson Democrat. His shrewdness, eccentric manners, and peculiar wit made him a conspicuous figure, but he was too independent to support all of Jackson's measures and finally lost his seat in 1832. Discouraged and disgusted, he left his native state and went to Texas, then engaged in its struggle for independence from Mexico. There he lost his life as one of the defenders of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836.—Gladys Lummis, 4949 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

Quotation—*Retreat, hell! I just got here.

Answer — The above words were spoken by Col. Manus McCloskey of the American expeditionary forces during the world war. On June 3, 1918, Col. [later Brig. Gen.] McCloskey, commanding the 12th field artillery, 2d division, selected positions for his batteries between Ferme de Paris and Ferme d'Issonage, near the Paris-Chateau Thierry road, in order to relieve the 12th French field artillery.

In plain view of the German observers in their Drachen balloons and under a heavy shell fire, Col. McCloskey posted his guns in the positions vacated by the French in order to have the advantage of their firing data. The German advance was continuing steadily, in what the Germans thought was their last, victorious march on Paris.

The commander of the French regiment remonstrated with Col. McCloskey. "It is impossible to remain here; surely you are going to retreat?" he said.

"Retreat? Heli, no!" answered the American artilleryman. "We just got here."

The writer is the son of Col. McCloskey. — Monre McCloskey, care Clark and Trainer, 30 North Michigan avenue, Chicago.

Answer—This remark was made by Col. Frederick M. Wise, U. S. M. C., of the 5th regiment of marines, 2d division, at Belleau wood. As Wise's men neared the front line they encountered French detachments in retreat. A French officer beseeched the American, "Retirez, retirez," before it was too late.

When Wise got the gist of the discourse through his interpreter he made this characteristic remark: "Retreat, hell! You tell him we just got here. Let's go!"

Col. Wise was a brother officer and personal friend of mine, and after our return to this country, having heard the remark attributed to him, I questioned him as to its authenticity and he related the occurrence. — C. T. Blackburn, ex-commander, U. S. navy, 416 Greenwood boulevard, Evanston, Ill.

Hyde Park Travel Club Has Birthday

The fortieth aniversary of the Hyde Park Travel club will be observed tomorrow noon with a luncheon at the Windermere East hotel, at which the past presidents will be special guests. Mrs. John J. Gill, 5708 Harper avenue, president, will preside at the speakers' table, and the other guests will be grouped at the four departmental tables.

A huge birthday cake with forty candles will adorn the head table, and at each corner will be placed a brass candlestick with candle to represent each of the four departments—home, art, civic, and philanthropy, and ex-service. Low bowls of flowers, ferns, and attractive place cards will provide the other table decorations.

Among the past presidents who will attend are Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. Willis O. Nance, Mrs. Henry V. Hardy, Mrs. Willard H. James, Mrs. Edward T. Skene, Mrs. Elmer A. Eulass, and Mrs. George D. Taylor. Mrs. John A. Cole, 1346 East 63d street, one of the charter members, will also be a special guest.

Department Chiefs Preside.

Each of the departmental tables will be presided over by the chairman of that division, and the members of each respective board. Mrs. Arthur E. Hansen, 2215 East 68th street, is chairman of the public welfare department, which was organized about fifteen years ago by Mrs. Frederick Huntington.

The ex-service department, which is the next oldest, having been active for nearly eleven years, was organized and is still in charge of Mrs. Arthur B. Cody, 5830 Stony Island avenue. Most of its work is in connection with Speedway hospital.

The art department, in its sixth year, was organized by Mrs. Lange B. Travis, 5343 Kimbark avenue, and is now headed by Mrs. John W. Stroup, 6857 Paxton avenue. Mrs. Joseph N. Gilby, 5423 Blackstone avenue, is chairman of the home department, which was formed four years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Laurents, 5221 Kenwood avenue.

Short talks will be given by the presidents and the department chairmen and Leonard J. Huber, baritone will furnish a musical program.

Formed as Study Group.

The Hyde Park Travel club, the oldest club of its kind in the city, was originally formed as a study group in 1888. For about two years it continued in this form. One of the most prominent leaders in the earlier years of the club was the late Miss Agnes Ingersoll.

Meetings are held each Monday and the club topics consist of studies of foreign countries and places of interest throughout the world as is implied by the club motto, "No Country Is Unknown to Us." The club colors are red, white and blue.

SALES METHODS DISCUSSED BY SCHOOL EDITORS

Circulation and selling methods for high school papers were discussed at the second meeting of the high school press clinic held in Wieboldt hall on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university under the auspices of Medill School of Journalism. The next clinic was planned for April 6.

Dean H. F. Harrington of Medill school conducted the meeting, which was thrown open for discussion. Mrs. Mary Devereux of Crane Technical High school told of the problems at Crane and their solution.

Emphasis was placed on advertising the papers and using novel stunts for selling subscriptions. Generally the clinic meetings, which are an outgrowth of the disbanded Chicago High School Press association, are devoted to the editorial side of newspaper making.

Among the south side schools which sent representatives are Englewood and Bowen. Bowen sent Miss Ruth Cowan and Philip Weck, associate editors of the Bowen Arrow, and McClure Hudelson, business manager.

Leo Knights of Columbus to Hold Easter Ball April 1

The Easter Monday ball of Leo council, Knights of Columbus, will be held Monday evening, April 1, in the Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Judge John J. Sullivan, chief justice of the Criminal court and chairman of the affair, promises a variety of entertainment which will include theatrical and radio stars. Assisting the chairman will be John Ruberry, grand knight of the council; Deputy Fire Commissioner Maloney, Ald. William O'Toole, Alfred F. Gorman, Harry Hill, John Conroy, Arthur Goodman, William Goodman, William Cullins, and Sidney M. Doheny.

WEST PULLMAN WOMEN PERFORM FOR HUSBANDS

A musical satire on a woman's club proved the piece de resistance of a program given recently by the West Pullman Woman's club, to entertain their husbands. The sketch, entitled "A Woman's Club," was given by the chorus of the club.

The program was completed by an address on "Trade Retail With Foreign Countries" by John F. McKeon, and readings given by Mildred Dexter and June Landle, members of the junior auxiliary to the club.

Plans were made at this meeting for the annual spring luncheon and style show to be held in the Wedgewood room of Marshall Field & Co.'s store April 5. Mrs. J. T. Edwards is chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon.

SACRED MUSIC PROGRAM TODAY IN MORGAN PARK

The united choirs of Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church will present a program of sacred songs this afternoon in the church for an afternoon Palm Sunday service.

All three units of the united choirs, the juniors, seniors, and melodians, will open the program with Gounod's "Unfold, Ye Portals," after which each separate unit will sing a group of selections.

Soloists will be Miss Florence Cook and Richard Beardsley and "The Crucifix" will be sung as a duet by Russell Besser, tenor, and I. Edwin Peterson, bass. The choir is under the direction of Mr. Peterson and Mrs. James Todd is organist.

AIDS BENEFIT

MISS ADELE BALASKY.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the annual dance and card party given by the Congregation Beth Jacob B'nai Bezalel Anshe Misrach tomorrow evening at the Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Benjamin Mark, assisted by Miss Adele Balasky, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Card Party to Boost Fund for Addition to Nursery

Members of the Daughters of Jacob will hold their annual card party April 14, at the Canton Tea garden, according to announcement made public last week by Mrs. Julius Cohen, 6400 Peoria street, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. Proceeds from the sale of tickets for the party will be used to help pay for an addition to the Day and Night nursery, maintained by the organization.

GRESHAM WINS LONG FIGHT FOR SCHOOL ANNEX

Promised Building Will Be Enlarged This Year.

After years of agitation, the residents of the Gresham community were finally assured that an addition to Gresham school, 85th and Green streets, will be constructed before the end of the year.

This promise was made by Theophilus Schmid, in charge of the building department of the board of education, last week at a massmeeting sponsored by the members of the Gresham Improvement association in St. Kilian church hall, 87th street and Aberdeen avenue.

Mr. Schmid pointed out that it was only the insistent demand of the members of the association over a period of years that convinced the board of education that there was a need for the addition and included the money for the improvement in this year's building budget.

50 Schools' Need as Great.

He declared that more than 50 schools throughout the city were as badly overcrowded as the Gresham school, but the residents of the communities have not been insistent in voicing their demands. The board, because of the present lack of funds, improves the schools in the districts where residents have made emphatic appeals, he said.

The new addition will contain eight class rooms, a gymnasium, an assembly hall, a household arts room, a manual training room, a kindergarten and an office for the principal.

A report from the police committee of the organization, stated that five more policemen have been added to the Gresham force by Commissioner William F. Russell. The new men are members of the class of 224 patrolmen who have just completed a course of training as a result of the recent ordinance increasing the force.

Work with Experienced Men.

For a week, the report stated, the five new men will travel the beats in company of experienced policemen in order that they may become acquainted with the police routine in the Gresham district. The new men are John J. Bommey, Fred Jurgens, Thomas Kane, Patrick McMahon, and William J. Touhy.

John Dillon of the department of public works, represented Commissioner Richard W. Wolfe at the meeting.

He reviewed the record of demands made by E. H. Arnold, president of the association, the coöperation extended by the department of public works and the exact promises they obtained from the officials of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad at a recent meeting in Mr. Wolfe's office.

Dixon P.-T. to Meet.

The Arthur Dixon Parent-Teacher association will meet tomorrow in the assembly hall of the Martha Ruggles school. Miss Estelle Weltman, head of the Red Cross Home hygiene department, will be the principal speaker.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

Patient—I am not well, doctor.
Doctor—How do you live?
Patient—Like any other poor dog. I work like a horse all day, when I come home I'm as ravenous as a wolf, then I am tired as a dog and sleep like a bear.
Doctor—I think you had better consult a veterinary surgeon.
JOHN WILLARD,
240 West 113th place.

Mrs. Jones—Have you given the goldfish their water yet?
Jane, the new maid—No, mum, they ain't finish what I give them yesterday.
NORMAN BARTHOLOMEW,

Jones—Are you quite sure that was a marriage license you sold me two weeks ago?
Clerk—Yes, why?
Jones—Well, I've been leading a dog's life ever since.
PATRICK GROSS,
1307 West 71st street.

Passenger—Really, steward, I have forgotten my cabin number?
Steward—That's difficult, madam. Haven't you any idea where it is?
Passenger—O, yes, I remember now; the window looked out on a lighthouse.
RUTH WALLACE,
83 West Main street, Chicago Heights.

Jim—I kissed her when she wasn't looking.
Tim—What did she do?
Jim—She wouldn't look at me for the rest of the evening.
RUTH HIPPI,

Co-ed—Can you dance on your toes?
Freshie—Are you trying to kid me?
Co-ed—No, I just wondered, because you dance so beautifully on mine.
JOSEPH KENNELLY,
7706 South May street.

Hank—How does Bill like living in the apartment below those college girls?
Horace—He says the women are wild over him.
MARGARET HERATY,
7006 South Ada street.

Frosh—Can you tell me the way to the recitation hall?
Senior—Sorry, but I'm a student here myself.
DOROTHY KHINBOFF,
1331 Roosevelt road.

Little Elizabeth was curious about sardines, and her mother was telling her about them, saying: "These little sardines are sometimes eaten by larger fish."
"But, mother," said little Elizabeth, "how do the larger fish get the cans open?"
JOHN REDMAN,
11034 Morgan street.
3348 North Ridgeway avenue.

Wife—John, I have a run in my stocking!
John, subconscious from the night before—What is it? A straight or a flush?
BURTON E. MIDDLETON,
6242 Woodlawn avenue.

CHUCKLES.

The Tribune wards some smiles, chuckles, and hearty laughs for this column from the high school students of Chicago. Two dollars will be paid for each original contribution, joke, jingle, verse, or anecdote. Address them to the Metropolitan editor of The Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Judge—I sentence you to be hanged by the neck.
Prisoner—O, your honor, you wouldn't string me, would you?
S. DORICH,
2626 South Wells street.

He—Every time I look into your eyes I feel intoxicated.
She—Isn't it funny what two little eye-balls will do!
LORETTA BARR,
1108 East Marquette road.

Teacher—Did you come to school to throw wads of paper on the floor?
Freshie—No, mum, I came to throw them at Willie.
NORMAN TAUB,
906 East 56th street.

Junior—I guess I know a little.
Senior, not to be outdone—I guess I know as little as any one.
D. E. COLLEY,
7627 Rhodes avenue.

Eager Youth—One kiss from you and I could die happy.
Bored Co-ed—Well, here's your kiss.
JOHN KACPAS
7120 South Washtenaw avenue.

Stude—Did your roommate hang up his sock on Christmas eve?
Second freshman—Yeh.
Stude—Whaa did he get?
S. F.—A summons from the board of health.
ROBERT WEILAND,
3849 North Claremont avenue.

Officer—Hey, you, mark time!
Rookie—With my feet, sir?
Officer—Yes, you dummy. Have you ever seen anything mark time with its hands?
Rookie—Clocks, do, sir.
H. DEAN,
309 North Lamon avenue.

He—If you do not consent to marry me I will hang myself at your garden gate.
She—Heavens! You mustn't do that. Daddy objects to young men hanging around the place!
LUELLA ARMIN,
1411 North California avenue.

Bishop (to dying soldier)—Ah, my good man, I see you have not long to live. Tell me your name and I will tell your mother.
Soldier (with his dying breath)—My mother knows my name.
JOSEPH RENES,

31 NATIONALITIES IN MELTING POT AT TILDEN TECH

Students from Far Lands Organize Club.

A melting pot within a melting pot is Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue.

Thirty-one different nationalities are represented by the 142 foreign born boys attending school there.

One traveled all the way from India by way of Port Said, another came from Johannesburg, South Africa; one hails from Kiev, Russia.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, is represented and Karpost, Armenia; Sparta, Greece, and Okayama, Japan; Moravia and Mexico, Sweden and Switzerland, Canada and Czecho-Slovakia.

Revealed by Contest.

Students at Tilden has never realized themselves what an international peace conference was in session there, day in and day out, until the school paper, the Tilden Tech Times, conducted a contest for stories on foreign places written by students who were born and had lived in the countries.

Winners in the contest will be announced next Friday. Krishna Kurup, who traveled from Madras, India, unaccompanied just to attend Tilden, in his entry he said he came to Chicago to study modes of education here and intended to return to India to become a teacher, using the methods he learned at Tilden.

Contest judges are Norman Anderson, chairman; Miss Helen Johnson and Leslie Schaeffer, teachers at the school.

At a meeting of the Tilden All Nations club last week representatives from 26 different foreign countries were gathered together.

Roll Call of Nations.

They included Mark Randall of Leeds, England; John Doolin, Dublin, Ireland; Louis Vervoort, Antwerp, Belgium; Ernest Urbrock, Geestemund, Germany; Anthony Albert, Kollut, Jugo-Slavia; Isadore Kravets, Kiev, Russia; Charles Svidron, Moravia; Leo Favaro, Sicily; Inamisa James, Okayama, Japan; Ted Koycas, Sparta, Greece; Felix Nache, Leon, Mexico; Allen Pearson, Ottenby, Sweden; Blase Del Negro, Buenos Aires, Argentine; Christian Mostert, Groning, Holland; Luba Antonoff, Plevan, Bulgaria; Krishna Kurup, Madras, India.

VETERANS OF FOUR WARS LUNCHEON GUESTS

Twenty war veterans, residents of the Oak Forest home, were guests at a luncheon given by members of the Gresham Women's club, under the auspices of the ex-service men's committee, at the Seventh Presbyterian church, 86th place and Sangamon avenue, Wednesday. Mrs. E. R. Crossley, chairman of the ex-service men's committee, and Mrs. Emil Schlageter, were in charge of arrangements. Seated, left to right: George Hartman, Benjamin O'Connor and Leonard Jay of the world war, Andrew Giggee of the civil war and William H. Dunlap of the Spanish-American. In the rear row: Mrs. Schlageter, Mrs. Crossley, Mrs. C. E. Hill, president of the club, and Mrs. Frederick J. Nichols, chairman of the third district. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

REHEARSING FOR INDIAN OPERETTA AT PARKER HIGH

The halls of Parker High school ring constantly these days with the songs of young, clear voices. For rehearsals for the spring operetta are now progressing regularly and frequently. The entire school is working eagerly toward the success of the production of "Lelawala," the operetta which will be given the evenings of April 26 and 27.

Glee clubs and advanced music classes provide the characters and chorus for the operetta, and Miss Mabelle C. Daly, supervisor of music, is directing the production.

"Lelawala," an operetta by Charles Wakefield Cadman, is based on an Indian legend. Flower decked canoes, Indian braves and maidens, chiefs, war dances and campfires all will have a part in the staging.

Fred Trowbridge is in charge of lighting and staging the production, and has built the scenery and electrical appliances himself.

The leading rôles have been given to Willis Murray, who will play Shungeia; Albert Burner, who will be Wokomis; Francine Marlow, who will play Hintola, and Ruth Stevens, who will sing the title role.

Others who have the solo parts are: Robert Lemon, Edward Patterson, Paul Barth, Fred Church, Robert Allen, Margaret Buteson, George Raych, George McCracken, Olive Greenelch, William Stoudt, Maybelle Orth, Paul Grimes, and Donald Carpenter. In addition there is a chorus composed of 60 voices.

Tells Scott P.-T. Body How to Teach Children to Play

"Teaching Children to Play" was the subject of an address by Mrs. L. M. Fetherston of the Elisabeth McCormick Memorial foundation at a meeting of the Walter Scott Parent-Teacher association Monday afternoon in the assembly hall of the school, 64th street and Blackstone avenue. A musical program was furnished by pupils of the school.

MRS. MARY BERRY CELEBRATES HER 92D BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary A. Berry celebrated her 92d birthday last Wednesday at her home at 4438 Woodlawn avenue and her daughter, Miss Lillian Berry, who makes her home with her, held open house for her all day. By evening Mrs. Berry's room was a bower of flowers.

Mrs. Berry is still well, and, according to her daughter, enjoys life to the utmost. She reads a great deal and particularly keeps herself informed on current events.

Four of her five children are still living. A son, Frank C. Berry, in addition to Miss Berry makes his home with her. Another daughter, Mrs. Kirk H. Emerick, resides at 7401 Parnell avenue while a third daughter, Dr. C. Helen D'Almaine, lives in Newark, N. J. Mrs. Berry also has seven grandchildren, all but one of whom live in Chicago, and seven great-grandchildren, all of whom live here.

Mrs. Berry was born in Fort Covington, N. Y., and came to Chicago in 1883. She has lived in the same house on Woodlawn avenue since 1892.

Marquette Church Women Elect Mrs. Wittbecker

Mrs. Robert Wittbecker, 6337 Marshfield avenue, was reelected president of the Women's society of the Marquette Park Presbyterian church at a recent meeting of the organization. Other officers elected were; first vice president, Mrs. Paul Bennewitz, 6345 South Francisco avenue; second vice president, Mrs. Arthur Guillaudeu, 6536 Campbell avenue; recording secretary, Mrs. John Bryans, 6403 Campbell avenue; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edgar Foes, 6510 South California avenue, and treasurer, Mrs. Jesse Ryan, 6341 South Washtenaw avenue.

EIGHTH WARD PROMISED NEW LIGHTS SOON

Residents of the Eighth ward living south of 53d street, east of Cottage Grove avenue, who are becoming anxious at the delay in installing the new street lights, are advised by Ald. William D. Meyering that units delivered were found defective.

"I worked to get those lights in months ago," said Ald. Meyering. "I had the bond issue passed more than three years ago and the work was authorized at that time. After the posts were purchased under the direction of the commissioner of gas and electricity, and delivered for installation, it was found that the units were not constructed according to specifications and they were rejected.

"New posts are being made, however, and installation of the units will start in the near future."

South Bryn Mawr Group to Have Card Party April 4

The South Bryn Mawr Improvement association will hold a card party on Thursday, April 4, at the Southfield Community church, 78th and Cregier avenue. Mrs. E. W. Kraetsch is in charge of the women's committee on arrangements. Tickets may be obtained from Elmer M. Walsh, president, 7846 Euclid avenue.

Dr. Levi to Discuss Poems.

Morgan Park Church Club to Give Religious Drama

Members of the Players' club of the Morgan Park Methodist Evangelical church, 110th place and Longwood drive, will present "The Rock," a three act religious drama, next Sunday evening in the church auditorium. The leading rôles will be played by Arthur Bartels, Mrs. Earl Darflier, Mrs. Alfred Cooke, and Otto Kordewick. Mrs. Millie Hubbird is directing the play.

South Shore Women Voters to Hear Two Speakers

"The Legal Status of Women" will be discussed by Miss Esther Dunshee and "Women in Industry" by Mrs. Frank Halas at a meeting of the South Shore League of Women Voters in St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, 7350 Jeffery avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Halas is president of the Illinois Women's Trade Union league and a member of the state board of the League of Women Voters.

10,000 PUPILS SIGNING SAFETY PLEDGE CARDS

Will Look for Autos in Crossing Streets.

Easter will find the safety pledge inaugurated by the Marquette Park Lions club signed by 10,000 pupils, according to Chester Patrick, president of the club.

Five months ago business men of the southwest side became aroused by deaths and injuries to school children and embarked on a widespread safety campaign. It was the belief of many that more accidents were caused by children running blindly in front of passing cars and trucks than by careless driving of motorists.

Distributed in Nine Schools.

"We then conceived the idea of impressing on the minds of these children the grave danger of crossing the street without first looking to see if cars are approaching," Mr. Patrick said.

Ten thousand safety cards were printed to be distributed among the children of the nine public and parochial schools in the district bounded by Irving avenue, Central Park, 55th, and 74th streets. On these cards was printed the following:

"My pledge: I will always look both ways before crossing streets and alleys."

The schools have cooperated enthusiastically with members of the Lions club. Each evening the teacher of each class in all the schools reminds her pupils to repeat the pledge, which they have been asked to memorize, and asks them to repeat it each morning and noon to their parents before leaving home.

Although safety cards have been placed on all bulletin boards and all week will pass before each pupil owns his individual card. In order to impress the seriousness and importance of taking the pledge upon each student, the teacher gives out only three or four individual pledge cards a day.

Presentation Ceremonies Held.

A simple ceremony marks the presentation of each pledge card. The pupil is called to the teacher's desk, where he makes the pledge solemnly before the teacher and his classmates. He is then allowed to sign the pledge card and it becomes his possession.

"I believe that through the pledge and the safety education accompanying it the children will naturally grow into being more careful," Mr. Patrick declared. "And because of the real benefit which it accomplishes we are making the safety campaign the principal permanent project of the club."

Church of Peace Players Rehearsing for Operetta

Members of the Parish House Choral society of the Church of Peace are rehearsing for the presentation of "Up In the Air," a two act operetta, under the direction of C. P. H. Jones on the evenings of April 17 and 18 in the auditorium of the church, 78th and Bishop streets. The players are: Miss Lillian Giesen, Marvin Van Dera, John Grassell, Miss Anna Rehling, Miss Bertha Remie, William Pratscher, Elmer Boese, Miss Violet Stensel, Miss Anna Wagner, Walter Toppett, Miss Dorothy Schiele and Earl Ruth.

Englewood Athletic Club Women Hold Luncheon

Members of the Women's committee of the Englewood Athletic club held their monthly luncheon Tuesday in the Narcissus room of Marshall Field & Co. Mrs. George H. Buckley, assistant general chairman of committee, was in charge of the affair. She was assisted by Mrs. David I. Swanson, chairman of the entertainment committee, and Mrs. B. F. Bollis.

CHURCH'S STORY TO BE TOLD IN GIRLS' PAGEANT

The history of the Marquette Park Presbyterian church, covering the eight years of its existence, will be portrayed this morning by a group of nine girls in a Sunday school class taught by Mrs. James Spears, 6401 Washtenaw avenue.

Wearing the junior choir robes which were a part of the church service in the early history of the Presbyterian church, these girls will present a pageant, telling of each milestone the Marquette church has had and the work accomplished by him.

The girls taking part are: Jane Bryans, Adeline Bouquet, Vivian Rondquist, Evelyn Smith, La Verne Reid, Dorothy Uhlhorn, Marian Pehler, Irene Tysl, and Marian Johnston.

Mrs. J. S. Bryans, 6403 South Campbell avenue, assisted Mrs. Spears in directing the class.

The Rev. Leon Arpee, pastor of the church, will preach this morning on "What Makes a Christian." The Rev. Mr. Arpee has been pastor of the Marquette church for the last four years.

McHale Englewood Court Lays Party Plans April 11

The business meeting of McHale Englewood court, Catholic Daughters of America, scheduled for Thursday evening at McHale club, 50 West 69th street, has been postponed to Thursday evening, April 11. At this meeting final arrangements will be made for the court's luncheon and card party to be held Thursday, April 18, at 616 South Michigan avenue. Miss Elisabeth M. O'Brien, 7818 South Sangamon street, is chairman of the party, and Miss Loretta Dundon, 7854 Indiana avenue, is grand regent.

The All-Steel, Completely Shielded Chassis

All parts of the receiver itself are permanently, immovably secured to a welded, heavily braced steel chassis. The movable tuning elements are completely enclosed and shielded by a steel housing. On the under side of the chassis, one finds the coils handling radio frequency currents enclosed in heavy copper shields for long distance reception and sharp selectivity. The transformers handling the energy after it becomes audible frequency current are sealed in individual cases with air and water-proof compound. Note the telephone switchboard type wiring employed—the individual shields provided for each of the three tubes handling radio frequency current. Every feature that research engineers have found will aid perfect reception is applied in Majestic Radio.

The Power Pack Is Large—Husky—Rugged

The Power Supply Unit in a Majestic Radio is very nearly as large as some of the table model receivers on the market which include set and power unit. The huge transformers for plate and filament power supply cannot overheat or burn out—are more than adequate for any demands that may be made upon them. The condensers which are part of the current filter are of exceptionally large capacity and carefully tested on high voltage. Nothing approaching the Majestic "Ballast" is to be found in any other Radio. House lighting currents may vary from 90 up to 130 volts (normally 110), but the Majestic "Ballast" maintains an even, constant flow of power to the receiver. Compare this Power Supply with any other!

WOODLAWN POST GOING TO CHURCH ON EASTER DAY

Again Will Be Guests of the Rev. R. Keene Ryan.

Members of Woodlawn post, No. 175, are again to be guests of the Rev. R. Keene Ryan, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, at Easter services of the Garfield Boulevard Presbyterian church, which will be held in Halfield theater, 55th and Halsted streets, next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. A special program has been arranged that includes the Imperial quartet, Villa Cook, radio artist, and the motion picture, "King of Kings." Following the services, an exhibition drill will be given by the champion drill corps of the post under the leadership of Commander Hamlet C. Ridgway.

The "Gay Paree" company, transported by the Edward Hines Jr. chapter, No. 10, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, recently entertained convalescing veterans of the Edward Hines hospital with a snappy two hour show. Chic Sale and the 12 piece orchestra went along, and it was an event of cheer that will be long remembered. A microphone hookup carried the program to the remote corners of the hospital where the bed ridden cases could listen in. Edward Hines chapter is planning to make periodical pilgrimages of the sore to the hospital.

F. E. Stephenson, correspondent of Voiture 220 of the Forty and Eight, and also member of the board of directors and post relations officer of Hyde Park post, No. 34, has just completed visiting all posts in the third district. As a further good relationship messenger he is establishing contact between his own post and the various posts in the fourth district.

South Shore post band has been slated by the third district for an appearance in April or May at the Tower theater.

Roseland post, No. 49, now has 553 members, which gives an additional delegate to the state convention. Commander Ralph De Cook and Past Commanders Albert Price and George Nicolai are to be certified to the state department for membership citations.

Chicago Loop post, No. 144, will have as its guest speaker at noon Thursday, March 28, George Lytton, president of Henry C. Lytton & Sons. Mr. Lytton will talk on boxing, on which subject he is an authority. Commander Philip R. Davis announces that several other prominent men have agreed to speak at future meetings. The post now meets at the Great Northern hotel.

Following the challenge issued in this column on March 3 by Artists' post, No. 63, the bowling team of Peoples Gas post, No. 336, has accepted the defy and offers to play the challengers if they will communicate with Guy Howard, post athletic committee chairman.

Department Commander David L. Shillinglaw has offered a "working cigaret lighter"—with Legion emblem thereon—for the member of Ad post who brings in the most new members during March.

At the regular bimonthly meeting of Medill-Tribune post, No. 348, tomorrow night Lawrence E. McGann Jr., national vice commander, will be the guest speaker. Fred L. Boissy, American Legion "Playboy," will head the entertainment program.

[Monfort Photo.]

The All Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring its first benefit musical to be held at the home of Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, 1000 Lake Shore drive, Tuesday, at 2:30 o'clock.

The society was founded three years ago by Mrs. Charles R. Dalrymple to exhibit and promote the sale of the works of Illinois artists. Annual exhibits of the works of the artist members of the society of which there are more than 300 are held in Chicago. Many one man exhibitors are sponsored by the society. Mrs. Dalrymple is now president.

BUILT-UP MOTOR STICK MADE BOY WORLD'S CHAMP

Here's Chance to Profit by His Experience.

Here is the sixth of The Tribune's articles on building scientific airplane models. It tells how to construct the built-up motor stick for the championship tractor described last week. If you have questions on it send them, with a 2 cent stamp for answer, to Mr. Hamburg, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, 2d and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. He'll answer them!

BY MERRILL HAMBURG.
[Secretary Airplane Model League of America.]

Last week THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Airplane Model league of America in Chicago, promised an improvement on the championship tractor with its cambered wings—an improvement that makes it perform even better than it did for Ernest McCoy, its designer. The improvement is a built-up motor stick—a hollow stick with internal supports that is both stiffer and lighter than the solid stock.

And the boy who first used it effectively made himself world's champion!

He is Aram Abgarian, 15 year old Detroiter, who used the cambered wing and tail you learned about last week, plus his hollow motor stick—and flew his model to a new world's record of 353.6 seconds at the First National A. M. L. A. contests, held by The American Boy magazine at Detroit in 1928. Here are the plans for his motor stick. You can incorporate them in your Champ tractor.

Study the Diagram.

And you can get the materials you'll need—1-32 inch flat balsa 15¼ inches long, a balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches and ambroid—in the same kit you bought last week for the McCoy ship. It includes all of them. If you haven't yet obtained the kit, you can get it by sending 85 cents in check or money order to the supply department, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. It will give you all your materials for the complete ship, with either type of motor stick; an A. M. L. A. The manual is included as well.

With the materials in hand, you're ready to start. First, read all through these directions and study the diagram thoroughly, so you'll know exactly the steps to follow. Then get to work.

The outside dimensions of the motor stick are ¼x¼x15 inches. For its four walls you need four strips of balsa, 1-32x15 inches. Two are cut ¼ inch wide and the other two 1-16. Before they are cut they should be marked for plugs and bulkheads—the little inside reinforcements set at one inch intervals.

Manual Tells How.

First, sand carefully a strip of 1-32 inch flat balsa, cutting it to the exact 15 inch length. Draw light pencil lines across the strip ⅝ inch from each end, 1½ inches from each end, and at 1 inch intervals between these last two marks. Now you have located the thirteen bulkheads and the two end plugs.

Next split the strip lengthwise—with a very sharp knife and a straight edge—into the four side walls of the fuselage. The manual tells you how. Take one of the 1-16 inch strips and paint the two edges with ambroid, taking extra care not to get it on either face. Lay it flat on the table and stand the two ¼ inch side walls up against it to form a square cornered U. If you have laid the strips properly the pencil lines will correspond exactly; if they don't one or more of the strips must be reversed, end for end.

Must Be Precise.

Now the end plugs and bulkheads. Cut off two pieces ⅝ inch long from the balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches—the pieces you want, if your U is properly made, will be exactly 1-16x3-16. Make sure that they fit exactly—they must not bulge the ends—and then ambroid them and set them in place. For the bulkheads, cut a strip 1-16 inch wide from the 1-32 flat balsa, then cut off pieces 3-16 inch long—thirteen of them. Every piece must be precise—it must fit neither too tightly nor too loosely. When they are finished and you have found them to fit exactly by setting them into place without glue, take them out one at a time, paint lightly with ambroid and reset them.

There must be room left on top of them, of course, so that the fourth side of the fuselage will fit in. Ambroid this in place, then sand the whole stick lightly to finish it.

And you have the Abgarian fuselage—one less subject to twist by a tightly wound motor than the solid stick, yet lighter by about the weight of the propeller.

Let 'Er Sail!

Now paint the stick with ambroid at each end, for added strength, and set the metal parts as shown in the drawing. If you made the solid stick ship last week, take the metal pieces from the old fuselage.

You can use your old tail group or build a new set, just as you choose. Careful cutting with your knife will remove the old group from the McCoy model. Set it into the rear end of the motor stick, cutting grooves for the spars as shown at the left of the diagram.

Now clip on your wing, hook up the motor and propeller and let 'er sail! You'll find, if everything is done just right, that you've built your finest indoor model. It will be the lightest for its size, the strongest and the most enduring flyer.

Free Trips to Europe.

And perhaps it will win for you a trip to Europe! For, after THE TRIBUNE holds local contests to select champions, these champions will be sent to Detroit as the guests of this newspaper. And there they will compete with other city champions for cups, medals, other awards and—best of all—free trips to Europe, offered by the American Boy magazine.

Watch this paper for forthcoming airplane model articles. They will tell you how to build other record smashing models—how to compete for other trips to Europe. The next comes one trip from today.

CALUMET CADETS NAME COMMITTEE FOR SPRING BALL

Members of the Cadet Officers club of Calumet High school R. O. T. C. are perfecting plans for their semi-annual subscription ball to be given Friday night, April 12, at the Englewood Masonic temple.

Charles Teed, Eugene Shaffer, and Edward Holtsberg compose the committee of cadets in charge of the affair. They are being assisted by a committee of girls, including Ann Clow, Gertrude Johnson, Mattie Metzger, Dorothy Spears, Betty Congdon and Ruth Oliver.

A feature of the dance will be a grand march led by Bertram Kent, honorary colonel of the Calumet R. O. T. C., March 8, after being chosen from among more than 6,000 cadets in Chicago as the best cadet. The dance will be sponsored by the Calumet Fathers' club.

WESTCOTT HIGH PUPILS TO SHOW HANDIWORK

Forty-three pieces of clay modeling made by members of the Hobby club of Westcott Junior High school were sent away last week to be baked. As soon as they are returned, the pieces of pottery, with work in batik, hooked rugs, and silhouettes, also made by members of the club, will be put on display for other students of the school and those who are interested in work done by the school.

This class is supervised by Mrs. V. Soderstrum. The pottery includes vases, nut dishes, lamp bases, ship models, as well as heads of persons and animals.

WOMEN REVIVE FIGHT FOR NEW POLICE STATION

Englewood Building Is Called Inadequate.

Members of the Seventeenth Ward Branch Woman's club have renewed the fight to obtain a new police station and court to replace the present Englewood station at 64th street and Wentworth avenue.

Mrs. John A. Jacobs, 343 West Marquette road, chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign, says an effort will be made to enroll the members of every business men's group and property owners' association in the neighborhood in a concerted plea to the city council for a new station.

Money Once Appropriated.

Mrs. Jacobs recalled that $45,000 was appropriated several years ago by the city council to remodel the station. At that time, however, the residents of the community declared the money would be wasted if used for such purpose and demanded a new structure. Disagreement over a location caused a delay and the money reverted to the city treasury. A new appropriation now is necessary before any action can be taken.

The upper two floors of the present station were condemned several years ago and the court moved to the Grand Crossing station at 75th street and Maryland avenue. This made it inconvenient for residents of the district, which includes the territory from State street to Ashland avenue and from 55th to 75th streets.

Cells Are Inadequate.

It is pointed out that the three cells in the basement of the station, which have facilities for holding twelve persons, are inadequate. More than 50 persons are crowded in these cells on occasions and in addition the cells are often flooded after heavy rains.

Ald. James G. Coyle [17th] told the women he was aware of the conditions in the station but that nothing could be done until the city council is persuaded to make a new appropriation.

The Tri-Parks Business Men's association has gone on record favoring the movement of the club women.

Englewood W. C. T. U.

The Englewood W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Glasson, 240 West 60th place. Mrs. Blanche Allen, Mrs. A. Schofield, and Mrs. J. Leslie assisted in receiving.

CHATHAM C. OF C. SEEKS INCREASE IN STREET CARS

Wants Switch Tracks at I. C. Viaduct.

The transportation committee of the Chatham chamber of commerce, with L. D. Saxaugr as chairman, has outlined an improved street car program which its members hope to carry out within the next two months, according to William E. Mosby, president of the chamber of commerce.

Included in the program is better service on 76th and 83d streets and switch tracks on 79th street at the Illinois Central tracks. Since both 76th and 83d streets are through boulevards, residents of the Chatham district desire that cars run with greater frequency, Mr. Mosby believes.

Shows Need for Switches.

He pointed out that switch tracks are desirable on 79th street where the street passes under the I. C. tracks through a viaduct because the viaduct becomes impassable when flooded. Cars reaching the impassable viaduct are forced to return by the same tracks on which they came, thus running the risk of colliding with other cars using the same tracks in the opposite direction. Switch tracks would remedy this condition, permitting cars at least to change over to the right tracks in case of an enforced return trip from the viaduct, Mr. Mosby said.

During the last two weeks the Chatham chamber of commerce has succeeded in improving police protection in its district, including the addition of fourteen policemen.

Sees Need for 30 Policemen.

"Until recently we had only one policeman to each of the three shifts in our district, Mr. Mosby said. "For adequate protection we should have ten men in each shift, although the fourteen extra men distributed in the three shifts will be a big improvement."

At the next meeting, which will be held Wednesday noon at Miller's grill, 7906 South Park avenue, the reassessment of property for taxation purposes will be discussed.

CALL ASSEMBLY TO GIVE ADULTS USE OF SCHOOLS

Tilden Authorities First to Act on New Plan.

Following the first steps taken by the board of education in organizing community councils in eighteen junior and senior high schools throughout the city last week, Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue, is making arrangements for an open house and civic assembly to be held April 18.

ALBERT W. EVANS. [Morrison photo.]

Invitations to attend the event are being sent to 6,000 parents of Tilden students, according to Albert W. Evans, principal, and at least half that number of south siders are expected to look over the school and be present at the assembly, he said.

An entertainment of musical and dramatic numbers will be given. The Tilden Glee club, band, and orchestra will take part, and speakers of city wide prominence are being asked to address the gathering, Mr. Evans announced.

Bogan and Caldwell to Speak.

Superintendent William J. Bogan, President H. Wallace Caldwell of the board of education, and John J. Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, are among the speakers scheduled to appear.

All of the shops and special classes will be open for inspection at the open house and various clubs of the school will be in session in order to give the parents an idea of what Tilden boys learn other than from books. Gymnasium classes will be open where various exhibitions of athletic skill will be given, Mr. Evans said.

Exhibits and special conferences dealing with subjects of civic interest in connection with the council being formed at that school will complete the evening's activity.

Benjamin F. Buck, assistant superintendent of schools, was named last week by Mr. Bogan to take charge of the organization of the councils.

General Gathering May 19.

The subject which is to occupy the attention of the civic councils immediately upon their organization, Mr. Buck said last week in a letter to high school principals, is the selection of a delegation to attend the Central civic assembly, to be held on the lake front May 19.

Arrangements will be made for an audience of 3,000, permitting the attendance of more than 100 from each community. The delegation should include faculty and seniors at each school, Mr. Buck said.

The next activity will be the organizing of a civic assembly at each center. Illustrated talks about the Chicago school system should occupy a prominent place on the programs of these assemblies, according to Mr. Buck.

One change in a south side center was reported last week. Kelly Junior High school, recently opened at 42d street and California avenue, will be the center for the 23d district instead of the Sawyer Avenue school, 5248 South Sawyer avenue, as previously planned.

EXPOSITION OF HOME PRODUCTS BEING HELD ON SOUTHWEST SIDE

Everything from a box of face cream to a ton of coal is to be found on display at the Merchants' community exposition now being held in the lobby of the Midland National bank, Archer and Sacramento avenues. The exposition, which opened on March 15, will continue until April 27.

H. F. WUEHRMANN. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

All of the articles on exhibition are products manufactured or sold by merchants and manufacturers in the southwest community, and the particular object of the event is to further promote community spirit and to make better acquainted the merchant, manufacturer, and consumer, and thereby create a stronger feeling toward "patronizing your neighbor."

"Community development has been so rapid in Chicago in recent years," says H. F. Wuehrmann, president of the bank in which the exposition is being held, "that few residents or merchants in any community are conscious of the social, commercial, and industrial growth going on about them. The merchants and manufacturers have responded heartily to the idea of the exposition, and the public has shown its appreciation from the start."

Chester Kilkis and U. I. Vanicek have assisted Mr. Wuehrmann in arranging the displays of nearly 100 business men.

Chicago Lawn Women Hear Talk on Contemporary Art

"Contemporary Art Expression" was the subject of a talk by Miss Increase Robinson at a meeting of the Chicago Lawn Women's club Tuesday at the Chicago Lawn Masonic temple, 63d street and Homan avenue. The afternoon's program was in charge of the art department of the club under the supervision of Mrs. Alice Brening, 3814 West 63d place, chairman.

Marquette Manor Women Hold a Chop Suey Dinner

Members of the Marquette Manor Women's club held their first evening social affair Tuesday in the form of a chop suey dinner party at the Highway gardens, 63d street and Western avenue. Mrs. Edward Arff, 6343 South Washtenaw avenue, and an assisting committee of twenty-two members were in charge of arrangements for the affair.

WESTCOTT HIGH STAGES PLAYS AT ASSEMBLIES

Assembly hours of Wednesday and Thursday at Westcott Junior High school were given over to the presentation of one act plays by the Junior Dramatic club. Both plays were directed by Miss Mary O. Phelan.

"Murdering the Language" was given Wednesday with a cast composed of the following pupils: Ruth Byerly, Edith Carlson, Flora Gentleman, Rose Nilson, Elmer Warneke, Leroy Dinkel, Julia Almeyda, Albert Swanson, Eleanor Ormsby, Gertrude Burgess, Marie Reilly, and Estelle Tubelis.

The play presented Thursday was called "Organizing a Society," and those taking part were: Estelle Tubelis, James Borsch, Charles Ivins, Robert Banser, Kathleen Cannon, Ella Harrell, Ruth Smith, and Ruth Byerly.

Members of the Junior Dramatic club are beginners in the study of drama. Those who have had previous experience or instruction belong to the Senior Dramatic club, which is conducted under the supervision of Miss Olga Lawrence.

The students in the three groups into which the Senior club has been divided have selected a director from among their members, who will play, named a property man, are conducting their own tryouts for plays soon to be staged. Miss Davis is directing "Sauce for the Goslings," chosen by one group. Another members is directing "The Old ... and Gwendolyn Cassidy is in charge of "Good English."

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Down in the loop, in the office of one of radio's well known figures, Harry Spingold, director of the W-G-N players and an excellent player in his own right, is a little box, a filing cabinet—in which one can spend a most interesting hour.

For a quarter of a century, Harry has been a manager of all manner of actors and vaudevillians. Thumbing through the cards in the little box, he proudly points out his bookings of obscure vaudeville acts of fifteen and twenty years, and chuckles as he explains who these people are today. Whenever they are in town, they drop in and hark back to the struggling days.

In the file labeled "1917," we come upon a girl team breaking in on their first week in vaudeville, who call themselves the Duncan Sisters. During that week they played the College theater, in Chicago, and the Academy of Music, and spent Sunday at the Lincoln theater. Their weekly stipend, out of which they paid all traveling and living expenses and commissions, was $125.

We come upon the plain names of "Coogan and Cox," hoofers de luxe, earning $200 during the weeks they worked — and hopping all over the middle west to Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, La Salle and Ottawa. Today Coogan is a millionaire. But the hoofing days were before little "Jackie" was born.

In 1916 we note that a team of cut ups were making the rounds of the houses, going by the name of "Bernie and Baker," in an act entitled, "This Is Not a Movie." And Harry reminds us that nowadays we know these boys are Ben Bernie, the famous orchestra leader, and Phil Baker, the comedian and accordionist, whose weekly salaries are now over ten times the figures that both of them used to split—$250.

And then, in a quaint family picture, we discover "The Five Columbians," father and mother and three daughters, for whom Harry demanded the astounding weekly wage of $350. They were known as the Miller family—and last Saturday night Harry attended their happy reunion in the Drake hotel—in daughter Marilyn's room!

IN THE rotogravure section of this paper you will find pictures of those famous comic characters, "Herr Louie" and the "Weasel," who are heard every evening in the German band act at 10:15. Herr Louie, the fat one in the photo, is in reality, Hank Moeller, formerly of Davenport, Ia., and for many years a partner in the theatrical producing business with Hal Gilles, formerly of Evansville, Ind., who plays the Weasel.

Every afternoon they can be found bent over a typewriter, concocting the laughs for the evening's episode. Here is the way one of their scenarios looks when they take the air:

LOUIE'S HUNGRY FIVE DISCUSS THE WEATHER, ETC.

BAND—"Ach du lieber augustine."

LOUIE—Py chorge, I only vish dat diss vinter vedder voss first over mit.

WEASEL—Chess, isn't it de trute; Py golly diss iss von of de best of de vorst vinters ve had in a long time yet.

LOUIE—Ya. I should said it iss.

WEASEL—Chee viss, how I'm vatin for de good ole summertime, ven a guy kin go oudt undt get hisself a lung full of fresh air vonce in a vile.

LOUIE—Now lissen vonce Veasel: Dares plenty fresh air outside now if you vant it, but, dat vosn't vat I voss deferring to. Vat I meant to said voss diss. If de vinter voss first over, den ve could get oudt undt get some fresh bissness in.

WEASEL—On, now I see vat you mean. You mean so ve kin get our finanshul sitchoeashuns in good shape again, hu?

LOUIE—Eggzackly. Diss inside bissness so much, alvays makes us shtale, undt also makes youse all so irritationed.

WEASEL—Ve didn't did so bad doe diss year Herr Louie.

LOUIE—Vat you mean ve didn't did so bad? Vere only a couple dollars from de poorhouse.

WEASEL—Oh for gootness grashus mercy sakes, iss dat so?

LOUIE—Ya shure dats so. Undt if I vould haff shtayed long in de hospitoll sick, youse vould probly be now allreddy in it.

WEASEL—Oh I gess ve vouldn't.

LOUIE—You vouldn't hu?

WEASEL—No. Vere shtill out of it, isn't it?

LOUIE—Vell, it isn't your fault dat you iss, I tell you; didn't dat letter giff me a exsampel how tings iss ven I'm not here, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, vy should ve get de blames for someting dat somevon else did, or didn't did? CHEE VISS!

LOUIE—Nun vart mal ein augenblick; chust hold de horses for von minuta. Who iss de von dat's supposing to hendle de bisaness ven de superior iss avay, hu? Who iss de von?

WEASEL—Vell, now dat's something I got to put some considerashun on; I should tink anyvon in de band vould be de von to hendle it.

LOUIE—Uh hu! Your chust de kind of a tripe dat vould tink someting like dat. Now, you lissen vonce to me. Vir going to play now a tune, undt den I'm going to lay down de rules, dat everybody, undt even you kin understhtood.

WEASEL—Chess!

LOUIE—Awrite; Vir shplein Zu Lauterbach Hab Ich Mein Shtrumpf Faloren; Nun Zusammen! Eins, Swei, Shplelt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, shtay right vare your sitten. For vonce in my life I'm going to haff a clear misunderstanding between ourselfs.

WEASEL—Vill it be nezessary for me to take down notes, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—No; now den: Touse all remember dat ve had a cheneral agriement a long time back allreddy about who iss who und vy in de band; isn't dat right? Vell, am I asking myself someting, or vass ist diss fur dummheit.

WEASEL—You mean dat meeting dat ve had ven ve dissapointed different vons for different tings, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Eggzackly, dat's vat I mean.

WEASEL—Ach, I should said I do remember dat. Dat voss ven youse gafe me de chunanimous dissapointment as secretare.

LOUIE—Now, you said it. You voss dissapcinted secretare in cheneral, una vat voss supposing to be your duties, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, now let me tink a minute, und don't rush me too fast, or else I maybe forget some of dem.

LOUIE—Ach, you couldn't tink. You voss, undt are supposing to hendle de bisaness end of de band if I ain't here, or if I'm inexchposed und laid out.

WEASEL—Vell, isn't dat vat I've bin doing, isn't it?

LOUIE—No, dat isn't vat you've bin doing, isn't it. If you vould haff bin doing your duties, den you vould haff bin here de odder night ven diss fella came und voss looking for me.

WEASEL—Vell, for gootness grashus mercy sakes. I had to keep your girl Chulia kwiet. Chee viss! She voss running around like a shicken mit its neck cut off.

LOUIE—Voss hast du gesacht?

WEASEL—I said dat ven you voss in de hospitoll in, Chulia chust simply vent all to peaces. Py golly, Ven I seen her first I tot maybe you broke your leg und dey voss going to shott you or someting.

LOUIE—Awrite, now don't shtart cooking any fish shtories togedder again. Vat has Chulia got to do mit your duties as secretare, dat's vat I'd like to know.

WEASEL—Ach himmel, such a ask!

LOUIE—Na du dummes gezell, vat's de matter mit dat ask. Dat's a civilized kvestion.

WEASEL—Vell, don't get so sore; chee viss!

LOUIE—I ain't gettin' sore. Here I'm trying for years to learn you some reshponsitivities, und vat's de outcome of de results?

WEASEL—Vell, py golly, if you ask me, I tink I did purty darn good for de little inexshperiences I had.

LOUIE—De whoal trouble iss, you don't try to learn more. Ach, vell, I don't care if you vant to shtay a dummy your whole life, go hed. Come on, boys, let's play von. I'm gettin' discustered mit diss kind of bisaness. Let's play "My Bonnie Lies Over De Ocean Over." Ready; eins, swei, shplelt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, I tell you vat I do, Veasel. Dat iss, if you promise me you learn so much as you kin, UND if you vill promise me, too, dat you vill shtick mit us, und not after I shpent a couple years on you learning you someting, shneak out undt get marriaged.

WEASEL—O, vell, now you're asking me something, Herr Louie, dat's a sensitive propoxishun. You know yourself dat Chenny und me tas crazy, von for de odder, undt I almost exshpeck any day to hear Chenny ask me to be de better half of her.

LOUIE—Now, you see? Und dat's supposing to be granitude, hu?

WEASEL—Ha, ha, ha, ha. Vy don't you marriage Chulia, Herr Louie, den ve could haff togedder a double marriage. Chee viss!

LOUIE—Vass faelt dir, bist du farlikt? Here I try undt talk some senseful bisness, und try to make someting out of diss band out, und dat's de corporation I get.

EMIL—Let him vent for hisself, Herr Louie, I vouldn't vorry no more for him.

WEASEL—Aw, you shut your bissness, Emil. Nobody vosn't talking to you, any how.

LOUIE—Dat's enuff—dat's enuff! Vir shpiein yets eins, und dan gaen vir drausen cause I don't feel no good.

WEASEL—Ach, chee viss! Vat's de sense going out in de middle of de night?

LOUIE—Schweig shtill. Mench, its gettin' so lately a man couldn't even be sick no more und enchoy it. Vir going to play von, und it's Glückauf. Maybe dat helps de sitchooashuns out.

WEASEL—Do you know someting, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Ya, I know if you don't keep shtill purty soon, you get trowed out heads backvards. Awrite, de tune now. Eins, swei, drei, shplelt!

HOOPLAS and HISSES

W-G-N, Gentlemen:
I think your presentation of the "Hungry Five," at 10:15, is given every night PUNK, entirely overdone, and not a bit true to life.
Sincerely,
Emilie Bartholomans.

W-G-N, Hungry Five:
We certainly have been enjoying the episodes immensely. I wouldn't miss one on a bet. We laughed so terribly hard last Saturday night; you were a scream.
Mrs. Wegner.

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00
7:55
11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n' that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tune as only they can.

RUSSIAN CHURCH MUSIC FEATURES EASTER PROGRAM

W-G-N Will Broadcast It Tuesday.

The rich liturgical music of the Russian church, considered the most magnificent in the world, will feature a special Easter program to be broadcast Tuesday night from New York. It will go on the air at 8 o'clock Chicago time and will be carried by W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station in the Drake hotel and a chain of 28 others.

The famous Russian Cathedral choir of New York, under the direction of Nikolai Vasilieff, will sing many of the liturgical chants which were written for the Russian church by some of the greatest Slavic composers.

James Stanley, noted basso, and soloist of the New York Symphony and the Russian Symphony orchestras will also be on the program. A full symphonic orchestra under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret will play a series of characteristic Russian selections.

The first part of the program will feature Russian folk music, esteemed the world over for its beauty and sincerity. This music, all written before the Russian revolution, has a wild beauty in marked contrast to the peasant's somber existence and seemed to be his only escape from grim reality. Tschaikowsky's immortal musical description of Easter eve in Moscow will be one of the principal numbers on the program. This great symphonic composition depicts the procession of the priests, which begins at midnight. Followed by the entire congregation, the procession, in the flickering light of hundreds of candles, marches solemnly around the cathedral bearing ikons of the saints and church banners. The deep voiced carillons of the cathedral boom into the cold night air, and suddenly in a blaze of light the procession reënters the church. The priests greet the congregation with the words "Christ is risen" and the people answer: "He is risen indeed."

Germany Plans to Increase Power of Radio Stations

BERLIN.—In order that programs from here may be picked up throughout Germany, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Reichsfunk to increase the power of the Zeesen transmitter to 200 kilowatts. Likewise, it is reported, the relay station at Freiburg is to receive a more powerful plant, in view of the decision of the French to erect a high power station at Strasbourg.

Missouri Auction Bridge Experts Compete in Radio Game Over W. G. N.

The twentieth and last game of the present series of radio auction bridge games will be broadcast from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.

One hundred and nineteen radio stations broadcast bridge games during the present season, reaching an estimated audience of several million a week. Announcement has been made that the fifth series of bridge games, featuring widely known players, will be inaugurated next fall with even a larger lineup than the present series.

The contestants in the twentieth game are William J. Wall of Ottawa, Canada, skilled as a player, writer and analyst of bridge tactics, playing with J. H. Landerkin of Toronto, Canada, one of the outstanding players of Toronto, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, who have been featured in all the games.

Following are the advance hands for game twenty:

Mr. Whitehead.
S—A, J.
H—J, 10, 7, 5, 4, 3, 2.
D—J.
C—J, 4, 2.

Mr. Wall.

C—K, 10, 5.

Mr. Work (dealer).
S—K, 9, 4.
H—A, K.
D—9, 7, 6, 5, 2.
C—A, Q, 5.

For the nineteenth of this season's radio bridge games, which was broadcast Tuesday from station W-G-N, Mr. Work had for his partner Mrs. Clyde Bissett, a well known bridge teacher and lecturer of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Whitehead was paired with C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, Mo., one of America's champion players.

The experts held the following hands:

Mrs. Bissett.
S—Q, 7, 2.
H—J, 10, 4.
D—10, 8, 5.
C—K, 8, 6, 5.

Mr. Jones.

H—8, 7, 5, 3, 2.
D—9, 7, 4, 2.
C—Q.

Mr. Work (dealer).
S—A, K, J, 9, 5, 3.
H—A, Q.
D—K, Q, J.
C—4, 3.

Mr. Work, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one spade. Mr. Jones, west, said two clubs, and Mrs. Bissett, north, and Mr. Whiteside, east, both passed.

Mr. Work increased his own bid to two spades, which obtained the contract, as Mr. Jones, west, was unable to continue clubs without an assist, which his partner, Mr. Whitehead, east, was unable to give.

Saves King of Clubs.

Opening the play, Mr. Jones, west, led the ace of spades. From Mrs. Bissett's, north's, hand which became dummy, Mr. Work, declarer, played the 5 of clubs. Mr. Whitehead, east, played his singleton queen, and Mr. Work, south, declarer, played the 3.

Mr. Jones, west continued with the jack of clubs. Mr. Work realized that if he covered with dummy's king, Mr. Whitehead, east, would trump the trick. If he did not cover, the jack would be good. Since the trick had to be lost in either case, Mr. Work, declarer, played dummy's 8 of clubs, instead of needlessly sacrificing the king. He planned to use the king of clubs later, if possible, for the discard of his own queen of hearts, which would obviate the necessity of attempting a heart finesse.

Mr. Whitehead, east, appreciated Mr. Work's probable intention of later making use of the king of clubs for a discard. Therefore Mr. Whitehead considered the advisability of trumping his partner's good jack, in order to lead a heart or diamond through Mr. Work's hand up to dummy's weakness. This would have given Mr. Jones, west, an opportunity to make a high card of one of those suits, before Mr. Work could secure the discard which he apparently would be able to make later, through entry into dummy with the queen of trumps.

Wins Third Round.

However, Mr. Whitehead was deterred from attempting this coup by two sound reasons: First, Mr. Work, south, might hold three clubs, in which care, if Mr. Whitehead held off, the latter's partner might be able to take a third trick in clubs unless declarer came up with dummy's king. Second, if Mr. Whitehead trumped the trick he would not know whether to lead a heart or a diamond, as he had no basis for a decision as to the suit from which declarer might wish to effect a discard.

Therefore Mr. Whitehead discarded on the jack of clubs his 2 of diamonds; Mr. Work played the 4 of clubs.

Mr. Jones, west, continued with the 10 of clubs. Dummy, north, played the 8-spot. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 4 of diamonds. To have discarded the 2 of hearts to show weakness in that suit also, would have given more valuable information to the declarer than to Mr. Whitehead's partner. Mr. Work, declarer, trumped with the 3 of Spades.

Mr. Work led the ace of spades, to which Mr. Jones followed with the 4; dummy with the 2; Mr. Whitehead with the 6. Mr. Work led the king of spades. Mr. Jones discarded the 9 of hearts as an indication to his partner, Mr. Whitehead, to lead that suit should he have an opportunity. Dummy played the 7 of spades; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

Mr. Work then led the 5 of spades, overtaking with dummy's queen. Mr. Jones, west, discarded the 2 of clubs; Mr Whitehead, east, dropped his last spade, the 10-spot.

Concedes Ace of Diamonds.

Dummy then led the king of clubs, giving Mr. Work, declarer, the much desired discard of his queen of hearts. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 7 of diamonds; Mr. Jones, west, played the 7 of clubs.

Mr. Work, declarer, then laid down his hands, conceding the ace of diamonds and claiming the rest of the tricks. His claim was allowed, and he therefore scored four-odd on the hand, with 36 trick points, and 40 for four honors divided.

In contract, the play of this hand would be exactly the same as in auction. The bidding, however, would be distinctly different, according to Mr. Work's analysis. There are many different systems of initial bids in contract, but Mr. Work gives preference to the one which would bid three spades on south's hand, although he recognizes that many players would bid only two.

However, by bidding three, Mr. Work would make certain that his partner would jump him to four if he had a probable trick. It needs only that much in partner's hand to make a game-going bid desirable.

Of course, for those whose two-bid forces the partner to bid, two in this case would be amply sufficient; but that is a system which, in Mr. Work's opinion, produces many losses in the long run. Mr. Work does not want to force his partner to bid with a bust hand. On the other hand, by bidding the full strength of his own hand, he enables his partner to read his strength in the most satisfactory manner, thereby producing the best bid that is in the two hands.

West Side Schools Unite in Community Program

Representatives of elementary schools in the Austin High school district presented a community program Friday evening in the Austin High school auditorium, Fulton street and Long avenue. The schools taking part and the directors of the various acts in the program were: Hay, Myrtle E. Mattison; Key, Mrs. Cora L. Rigby; Spencer, Mrs. H. Satterlee; Cameron, A. Uvick; Howe, Hella Brin; Lewis, J. Rolenze; May, Betty Goldberg; Nash, Mrs. E. Clark, director. The Hay school mothers' chorus, directed by Mrs. E. McComb, sang two numbers. The Parent-Teacher association of the district sponsored the meeting.

For twenty years, ever since its inception, C. D. Denison of 3411 West 66th place, has been in the employ of the Englewood Business college. He has seen its enrollment grow from one student, when it opened March 1, 1909, to 1,000 at the present time. His duties have gradually enlarged until today he is not only instructor for beginners in business work, but secretary and superintendent. Wherefore, on the occasion of his twentieth anniversary of service Mr. Denison was presented by the college corporation with a beautiful basket of tulips.

Lloyd King of the first A grade of the Greenwood grammar school of Blue Island wrote a safety essay for school children, which was awarded first prize, and which we publish because of its general application:

Never cross the diagonal of the corner.

Never cross in the middle of the streets. We should never hitch on the back of an auto.

Look both ways before crossing the street.

Never go in back of an auto when it is coming out of a garage.

Be careful on Western avenue.

Do not get in a stranger's car.

Do not walk up to a car and ask for a ride.

The Lions club is sponsoring this worthy contest.

Our merchants are herewith warned of a new racket. A man entered the Reliable Radio store at 529 East 79th street and asked to have a set sent on approval to an address in Ingleside avenue. It was. A few days later a representative of the store called to see how the customer liked the set and found the place vacant. No one knew where the man had moved. The police believed he victimized other merchants in similar fashion.

Hyde Pk. High Light Opera Casts Chosen

"The Pirates of Penzance," one of the most popular of the light operas of Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented by the students of the Hyde Park High school, under the direction of O. E. Robinson, musical instructor. The opera will be presented Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday evening, April 5 and 6, in the high school auditorium, 62d street and Stony Island avenue.

Different persons will play the principal rôles in each of the three performances, so that senior students with talent will be given a final opportunity of using that talent in a high school presentation before they are graduated.

Leading Members of Cast.

Richard, the pirate chief, the principal role, will be portrayed by Arthur Peters, Stanley Harris and Charles Sperekas. Oother leading roles will be played by Herbert Woolner, Daniel Aaron, Paul Sourin, Samuel Dashow, Norman Sider, Samuel Finley, Phillip Body, Al Booknis, Earl Frankle, Delight Babcock, Myrtle Schoen, Eileen Humiston, Martha Bohart, Charlotte De Wolfe, Emily Robinson, Josephine Chittick, Miriam Gordon, Ethel Smith, Dorothy Beckham, Dorothy Steinberg, Jessie Keswick, Elizabeth Mulaski and Dorothy Lang.

Accompaniment by Orchestra.

Under the direction of Miss Katherine Finley, the school orchestra of 40 students will play the accompanying music. Florence Laporte and Shirly Shank will accompany the soloists.

The dancing classes of the school, under the supervision of Mrs. Sadie B. Hayden, will present the dances that are part of the operetta. Costumes for these dances will be made by the students.

The students of the art classes, under the supervision of Miss Helen S. Gilbert, are constructing the scenery for the opera. A number of the pupils, with the aid of Miss Gilbert, have made models of the scenery, from which student carpenters are constructing the sets.

The student stagehands will handle all of the work behind the scenes. Frederick Brucker is the manager of the force and Buell Randolph is chief electrician. Their assistants are Herbert Temple, Thomas Kelly, Robert Nolan, Herman Getner, John Hess, Oscar Marienthal, Herbert Kahn, Sydney Fox, David Wolfe, Floyd Cert, and Frederick Orcutt.

PARK OBSERVES BIRTHDAY WITH VARIED SHOWS

Gage park, the youngest park in the south park system, observed the first anniversary of the opening of its fieldhouse at 3411 West 55th street with a three day celebration Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Thursday evening the fieldhouse was given over to the Hamilton Park players, who presented three one-act plays under the direction of their dramatic supervisor, Miss Hazel Woods.

The plays given were "Rosalie," by Max Maurey, in which Merrill Fugit, Mabel Ruth Jackson, and Hermia, G. Brile took part; "Honor Bound," by Sidney Grundy, with a cast which included A. O. Jackson, A. Prentice Morrison, May Cass, and Mable Ruth Jackson, and "The Professor of Love," by Katherine Kavenaugh, with characters portrayed by Leonard Morris, Flossie Jenkinson, Hermia Brile, May Cass, Richard Jackson, and A. Prentice Morrisson.

Demonstrations of gymnasium work were held Friday and Saturday nights in both the women's and men's gymnasiums. Miss Aileen Gates, the women's instructor, presented her classes in singing games, drills, Maypole dances, and calisthenics. Her pupils include children, school girls, and matrons.

At the same time demonstrations of a different sort were going on in the men's gymnasium. There the classes of B. A. Todd, the gymnasium director for men and boys, put on tumbling acts and Indian club drills, as well as showing samples of apparatus work and marching. Saturday night there was also a basketball game between the Gage Park Hawks and the Geneva, Ill., Athletic club.

'Switch Fest' to Be Held in Cornell Park

Cornell park is planning to sponsor a switching fiesta for Easter Monday, when some 400 switches will be provided boys and girls by the landscape division of the south parks, in order that they may indulge themselves in the ancient folk custom still prevalent in some countries of switching each other on that day.

In this country, where colonies of German, Bohemian or Polish people have gathered, the old switching custom has been retained in a spirit of fun and hilarity rather than with the religious verve with which their ancestors ages back whipped each other. In fact, Cornell park has been troubled with children and adults as well who cut up bushes of the park in order to celebrate the day. In spite of police protection residents of the neighborhood persisted annually in destroying the beauty of the park.

Will Coöperate This Year.

This year, instead of calling an extra squad of policemen to guard the grounds, Cornell park will not only provide the switches, but will also allow the switching participants to partake of their favorite Easter sport on the park grounds.

With the assistance of V. K. Brown, superintendent of playgrounds, F. W. Bosserman, director of Cornell park, has devised a series of original games which will provide plenty of fun and at the same time prevent rough treatment and unnecessary accidents, he believes.

According to Mr. Bosserman, Easter Monday in Cornell park neighborhood has become a day when boys and men attempt to frighten the girls and women. However, he says that although the boys ran rough shod over the streets while the girls found some place to hide, the women usually waited within their homes with buckets of cold water, which they dashed over any neighborhood men who attempted to take advantage of the privileges of the day to enter and switch their friends' wives.

Battle Royal Planned.

The program as outlined by Mr Bosserman and Mr. Brown will include a game for older boys when 60 or 70 of them will be given switches and placed inside a large circle for a switch battle royal. Any boy will be permitted to step outside the circle at any time and the one who remains inside the longest will win a prize of a chocolate Easter egg.

A game for the younger boys will consist of each fastening a balloon to a string around his waist, and the one who succeeds in keeping his balloon from being burst by a switch will win the prize of a large chocolate rabbit.

While these games are going on among the boys Mr. Bosserman proposes to give a party for the girls in the assembly hall of the park field house. Admission to the party will be an Easter egg which will be numbered when it is presented and in return the girl will be given a slip containing the same number. Later the eggs will be passed out and the girl who first succeeds in getting her original egg will receive a prize while the last girl to find her egg will receiving a switching administered by the winner.

Origin of Custom.

Following these games the girls will join the boys to be entertained by a program of Easter dances. The program at the park will begin at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. Several hundred mothers of the children participating are expected to be in attendance and if the weather permits an evening session of games will be held in order that fathers may attend.

The idea of friends and neighbors switching each other is believed to have originated from the fact that Christ was lashed and beaten on the cross and in Germany, Bohemia, and Poland where this custom still prevails, it is considered a favor to be whipped.

Fathers' Night at School.

The Parent-Teacher association of the Ruggles school, 7331 Prairie avenue, held its annual fathers' night program Friday. Students under the direction of Miss Marie L. Mann, presented the operetta, "The Awakening of Spring."

DEMAND RAILS CLEAR WAY FOR STREET PLANS

River Project Stirs Terminal Move.

Every effort of the South Terminal District association during the next few months will be made toward obtaining the adoption of a plan for streets immediately south of the loop following determination by the railroads of their terminal plans in this district, according to Henry L. Rissman, president of the association.

The group will join with other south side organizations and the city council in bringing pressure to bear on the railroads to build a terminal without wasting time after the river straightening is completed, Mr. Rissman said. As yet no plans for a terminal have been submitted by the railroads, and as a result the future plan of the district is being held up.

The directors of the Terminal association believe it would be unwise and expensive to put into effect a comprehensive street plan in the district until the terminal question has been definitely decided. One without the other would not only result in waste, but would be detrimental to the final completion of these projects, they say.

Way Open for Five Streets in Fall.

"Digging on the new channel of the south branch of the river which began Sept. 20, will be finished, according to the latest reports, Oct. 1. When this bend in the river is straightened out Market, Franklin, Wells, La Salle, and Dearborn streets can be opened as well as certain east and west streets," Mr. Rissman said. He believes that Congress street in particular should be opened across the river to Michigan avenue.

A detailed plan for these streets was presented five weeks ago by Edward J. Noonan, consulting engineer of the railway terminals committee of the city council, and was said at that time to be so logical and so much needed that its ultimate working out could safely be predicted. All improvement in the district, Mr. Rissman pointed out, depends on the railroads, which are charged with holding back the progress of the section.

"The great railroads entering Chicago receive a larger revenue from this territory and this city than any other spot in the United States, not excluding New York," Mr. Rissman continued. "Yet these railroads controlled by eastern directors can pour millions into eastern cities for modern terminal facilities and still refuse to spend a dime in Chicago. It is time that at least a portion of the large revenue taken from this city be utilized to provide comfortable and artistic railway passenger terminals.

Asserts Roads Agreed.

"Chicago is spending millions in straightening the Chicago river for redemption of the near south side and more millions will be spent in extending streets through the district with the distinct understanding given nearly two years ago by the railroad executives that they would arrange their properties and build a modern union station.

"Further delay of the south side terminal project is unfair to the best interest of Chicago, Mr. Rissman asserted, "and unless immediate action is taken, lack of proper terminal facilities will make it almost impossible to handle the fair in 1933.

"The citizens of Chicago should back up their city council railway terminals committee," he concluded, "and see to it that the buckpassing of the railroad presidents should once and for all cease to be their favorite pastime as far as Chicago is concerned."

RIVALS BOOST EACH OTHER IN THIS ELECTION

The annual election of officers and the election of directors which occurs every two years will take place at the meeting of the Marquette Park Lions club Wednesday evening. Each of the nominees for president is electioneering for his opponent.

Two slates of candidates have been submitted, one drawn up by the retiring directors and the other by a committee of members.

The director's slate includes the following: Dr. John B. Karr for president, Otto B. Sund for first vice president, Matthew Weber for second vice president, R. J. Heyna for third vice president; Edward P. Carone for secretary, B. M. O'Connell for treasurer, Harry Mapp for tail twister, A. L. Strachan for lion tamer, and Dan P. Burke and Stanley Baske for directors.

Those nominated by the member's committee are: Harry Mapp for president; Dr. John B. Karr for first vice president, Edward J. Kennedy for second vice president, A. L. Strachan for third vice president, Dr. David B. Levitt for secretary, B. M. O'Connell for treasurer, Matthew Weber for tail twister, Otto B. Sund for lion tamer, and Chester S. Patrick and James V. Bray for directors.

Dr. Levitt is now secretary and Mr. O'Connell is treasurer. Chester Patrick is the retiring president.

Southwest Side to Select Traction Leader April 1

Selection of a spokesman to represent the entire southwest side in demanding additional transportation for the district has been postponed until April 1, according to M. A. Seymour, secretary of the Southwest Federation of Improvement Clubs, which is sponsoring the movement in behalf of 5,000 residents of that section. Representatives of all improvement clubs of the southwest side will meet at that time at the Clearing Industrial club, 54th avenue and 64th street, and make plans for an appeal to the city council, the citizens' advisory committee on transportation, and the Illinois commerce commission.

PROPOSES PLAN OF RESURFACING AT SMALL COST

City Offers to Do Work if Property Owners Pay.

The policy of the department of public works in dealing directly with local property owners in making up its program of street repairs is rapidly developing, and residents of three parts of the south side are already availing themselves of the opportunity to have their streets resurfaced according to the plan outlined by Commissioner Richard W. Wolfe.

In instances where the streets are in such poor condition that they cannot be patched with money from the vehicle tax fund, the department offers to employ its material and labor to resurface the entire roadway, the cost to be born entirely by property owners.

This would be done instead of having a new pavement laid by the board of local improvements with funds obtained by special assessment, often of prohibitive amount. Commissioner Wolfe estimates that his department can put streets in good condition for one-sixth of what it would cost if the board of local improvements put in entirely new streets.

Old Matrials Salvaged.

This saving is brought about partly by using money derived from salvage of materials in the old pavement to pay part of the cost, instead of junking the old materials and paving anew. For the stretch on Hoyne avenue between 111th and 112th streets, the department estimates the cost at $4.10 a front foot. A special assessment levied by the board of local improvements on property owners on the same street would amount to $26.10 a front foot.

Eager to have their street put in good condition at $4.10 a running foot, property owners, under the leadership of Enoch J. Price, president of the board of trustees of Morgan Park academy, have already collected the necessary amount, $5,900, and are awaiting favorable weather when the department of public works can begin work.

Calumet Avenue Estimate Asked.

Property owners along Calumet avenue between 98th and 99th streets also have the plan under consideration, and have asked the commissioner to furnish them with an estimate of the cost. The figure submitted was $11,400.

In Auburn Park a group has under consideration the paving of six streets where again the work can be done by the department of public works for much less money than by the board of local improvements.

The commissioner has estimated that for $103,940 portions of the following streets may be resurfaced: Eggleston, Normal, Winneconda, and Fielding avenues, 77th and 78th streets.

WHO SAID IT? When, Where and Why

THE TRIBUNE will pay $5 for each snappy quotation printed and $5 for the best answer. Send your answers and quotations to the Who Said It editor, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

THROUGH an oversight answers to two quotations were omitted last week. They are printed below with the answers to a third quotation which has aroused interest among readers. New quotations are omitted this week but will appear as usual next Sunday.

ANSWERS

Quotation—*How to the line, let the chips fall where they may. And—How to the line, let the quips fall where they may.

Answer—The above quotation is a commonly used derivation of the following expression: "He will hew to the line of right, let the chips fly where they may." This was said by Roscoe Conkling [1829-1888], great American lawyer and senator from New York state, at the Republican national convention of 1880 in Chicago. He referred to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, whom he nominated for a third term as President.

The parody, "Hew to the line, let the quips fall where they may," was from the pen of B. L. T. [Bert Leston Taylor], who originated the "Line o' Type or Two" column of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It was adopted as the motto of the column and is still used in that way. B. L. T. was born on Nov. 13, 1866, in Goshen, Mass., and got his early writing experience on the New Hampshire and Maine rural press. In 1899 he came to Chicago and in January, 1901, he became affiliated with THE TRIBUNE and founded "A Line o' Type or Two." He was one of the first column conductors to use the contributions of readers instead of writing it all himself. In addition to being a delightful humorist he was a sane and penetrating critic of music, art and literature. His death occurred on March 19, 1921, but the memory and influence of this beloved, wise, witty writer lives on.—Mary Bryant, 181 31st street, Milwaukee, Wis.

NOTE—Richard Henry Little, present conductor of the column founded by B. L. T., says the expression, "Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may," originated in the American pioneer days when log cabins were the fashion in residences. Whole communities would gather to assist a neighbor in building his home. The men would bring their axes and would make a friendly contest of trimming the logs to the proper size. With the lines marked out on the logs and the women and children gathered around to cheer on the contestants, all would start to work at a given signal. Then as the axes rang on wood and the chips flew fast and furiously among the spectators the cry would arise, "Hew to the line, let the chips fly." And thus, says R. H. L., it all began.

Quotation—*Be sure you are right, then go ahead.

Answer—This was one of the favorite sayings of David Crockett, American frontiersman, born in Greene county, Tennessee, on Aug. 17, 1786. In 1813 he enlisted under Gen. Andrew Jackson for the Creek Indian war. The quotation was his motto during the fighting. From 1821 to 1824 Crockett was a member of the Tennessee legislature, having won his election not by political speeches but by telling stories. In 1828 he was elected to the national house of representatives as a Jackson Democrat. His shrewdness, eccentric manners, and peculiar wit made him a conspicuous figure, but he was too independent to support all of Jackson's measures and finally lost his seat in 1832. Discouraged and disgusted, he left his native state and went to Texas, then engaged in its struggle for independence from Mexico. There he lost his life as one of the defenders of the Alamo at San Antonio on March 6, 1836.—Gladys Lummis, 4949 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

COUNCIL GROUP APPROVES ONE ZONING CHANGE

Action Is Deferred on Four Proposals.

One out of five changes in the zoning ordinances affecting the south side considered by the city council committee on building and zoning last Monday morning was approved, and was ordered published and deferred by the city council later in the day.

It is expected to be passed at the next session of the council, according to the usual procedure. The other four south side zoning changes under consideration by the committee were referred to a subcommittee for further investigation.

No Opposition Shown.

Although more than 100 persons attended the committee meeting in behalf of the ordinances taken up, there was no debate and no opposition to any of the ordinances approved or sent to the subcommittee.

The matter approved provides for placing within the fire limits the area bounded by Halsted street, Eggleston avenue, 89th street and 95th street. Frame structures may not be built within this area.

Other Changes Proposed.

Zoning changes affecting the following areas were held over for further investigation:

The alley south of 123d street, 124th street, Wallace avenue, and the C. C. & St. L. railway tracks, from a commercial to an apartment district.

Eighty-first street, 82d street, Bishop avenue, and the alley west of Bishop avenue, from an apartment to a residential district.

Thirty-first street, Lake Park avenue, 33d street, and the alley west of Ellis avenue, from a third to a fifth volume district.

From a line 125 feet north of 53d street, State street, Calumet avenue, and a line 125 feet south of 60th street, from a residential to an apartment district.

A Monument to the NEW MODE of LIVING

It's for you, flat dweller, you who pass by the tall buildings on the drive and wish they were homes like your own, at rents like your own. You like the idea of lobbies, of fast elevators with snappy, uniformed operators. You like the idea of looking down upon the city, and seeing clear across the lake. A beautiful setting is provided for your own furniture.

SOUTH SHORE TOWERS is indeed the new mode—a home like yours WHERE YOU MAY USE YOUR OWN FURNITURE, and where you may stay within your own budget. Take, for example, a three-room apartment at an average price of $95; you may deduct at least ten dollars for gas, electricity, refrigeration, window cleaning, carpeted floors and linoleum, which are included in the rental. You thus have a three-room apartment with four-room efficiency for $85.

Every requirement is fulfilled here—a furnished home—a serviced home. We have a plan whereby those who wish may select their own furnishings.

Two, Three and Four Rooms
TWO BEDROOM APARTMENTS
FURNISHED OR UNFURNISHED
$65 to $140

Gas, electricity, refrigeration (your cubes will freeze in less than an hour), window cleaning, carpeted and padded floors, and linoleum included in the rental. Uniformed elevator operator always on duty. Maid service available.

LIGHTER BUSES ARE DEMANDED BY PARK MANOR

Association Head Proposes Street Repairs.

Lighter buses and more of them will be advocated at the next meeting of the Park Manor Improvement association to be held on April 1, at Brooks hall, 71st street and South Park avenue.

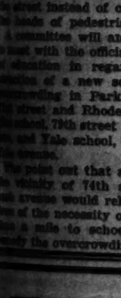

P. W. SCHROEDER.

The present heavy buses are found too cumbersome for the streets, according to Fred W. Schroeder, president of the association, which has 1,300 members. Spring has revealed the need of repairs in the community's thoroughfares, and the type of buses in use is given a share of the blame for the damage.

The Park Manor association is now in its eleventh year. Mr. Schroeder is serving his second term as president. Other officers are: W. V. Tyler, vice president; Charles S. Duffett, secretary; Fred R. M. Klippel, financial secretary; J. A. Johnson, treasurer. The following are chairmen of the various committees: M. J. Connelly, lighting; Gers M. H. Voss, building; William J. Cleary, streets and alleys; Daniel O'Connor, schools; John C. Hoffman, fire and police; W. V. Tyler, auditing; John O'Neill, sanitary, and E. J. Lehman, publicity.

Urges Street Repairs.

Mr. Schroeder asserted that more than one-third of the streets in the community were badly in need of repair and that he would urge the members of the association to sign a petition asking that the city council pass an ordinance for the repaving or resurfacing of many of the thoroughfares.

He asserted that if a large percentage of the money yielded by the motor car tax were given back to the ward from which it was collected, the streets would be properly maintained. South Park avenue, between 67th street and 71st street, is especially in need of repair because of the heavy traffic on it. Because of the importance of this thoroughfare, a special effort will be made to compel the city council to pass an ordinance for the immediate repaving of it.

Seek Drip Pans for Viaduct.

A committee will be appointed at the next meeting to meet with the officials of the New York Central railroad to compel those officials to place drip pans under the viaduct on Marquette road so that the water coming down from the tracks will run onto the street instead of coming down on the heads of pedestrians.

A committee will also be appointed to meet with the officials of the board of education in regard to the construction of a new school to relieve overcrowding in Park Manor school, 71st street and Rhodes avenue, Rugby school, 70th street and Prairie avenue, and Yale school, 71st street and Yale avenue.

The point out that a new school in the vicinity of 74th street and Wabash avenue would relieve many children of the necessity of walking more than a mile to school and would remedy the overcrowding.

WOMEN'S CLUB STAGES SATIRE ON WOMEN'S CLUBS

Hyde Park Travel Club Has Birthday

The fortieth aniversary of the Hyde Park Travel club will be observed tomorrow noon with a luncheon at the Windermere East hotel, at which the past presidents will be special guests. Mrs. John J. Gill, 5708 Harper avenue, president, will preside at the speakers' table, and the other guests will be grouped at the four departmental tables.

A huge birthday cake with forty candles will adorn the head table, and at each corner will be placed a brass candlestick with candle to represent each of the four departments—home, art, civic, and philanthropy, and ex-service. Low bowls of flowers, ferns, and attractive place cards will provide the other table decorations.

Among the past presidents who will attend are Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Mrs. Willis O. Nance, Mrs. Henry V. Hardy, Mrs. Willard H. James, Mrs. Edward T. Skene, Mrs. Elmer A. Eulass, and Mrs. George D. Taylor. Mrs. John A. Cole, 1346 East 63d street, one of the charter members, will also be a special guest.

Department Chiefs Preside.

Each of the departmental tables will be presided over by the chairman of that division, and the members of each respective board. Mrs. Arthur E. Hansen, 2215 East 68th street, is chairman of the public welfare department, which was organized about fifteen years ago by Mrs. Frederick Huntington.

The ex-service department, which is the next oldest, having been active for nearly eleven years, was organized and is still in charge of Mrs. Arthur B. Cody, 5830 Stony Island avenue. Most of its work is in connection with Speedway hospital.

The art department, in its sixth year, was organized by Mrs. Lange B. Travis, 5343 Kimbark avenue, and is now headed by Mrs. John W. Stroup, 6857 Paxton avenue. Mrs. Joseph N. Gilby, 5423 Blackstone avenue, is chairman of the home department, which was formed four years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Charles Laurents, 5221 Kenwood avenue.

Short talks will be given by the presidents and the department chairmen and Leonard J. Huber, baritone will furnish a musical program.

Formed as Study Group.

The Hyde Park Travel club, the oldest club of its kind in the city, was originally formed as a study group in 1888. For about two years it continued in this form. One of the most prominent leaders in the earlier years of the club was the late Miss Agnes Ingersoll.

Meetings are held each Monday and the club topics consist of studies of foreign countries and places of interest throughout the world as is implied by the club motto, "No Country Is Unknown to Us." The club colors are red, white and blue.

PRESIDENT

[Mabel Sykes Photo.]

The Chicago-Marquette club, an organization of Chicago students attending Marquette university in Milwaukee, has elected as president, Patrick J. Mulligan, 3740 Emerald avenue, a graduate of St. Ignatius academy and a freshman in the college of journalism. Other officers are: Vice president, Francis McElligott; secretary, John Wright; treasurer, James Fleming; corresponding secretary, Oscar Blattner, and sergeant at arms, William O'Shea.

WEST PULLMAN WOMEN PERFORM FOR HUSBANDS

A musical satire on a woman's club proved the piece de resistance of a program given recently by the West Pullman Woman's club, to entertain their husbands. The sketch, entitled "A Woman's Club," was given by the chorus of the club.

The program was completed by an address on "Trade Retail With Foreign Countries" by John F. McKeon, and readings given by Mildred Dexter and June Landle, members of the junior auxiliary to the club.

Plans were made at this meeting for the annual spring luncheon and style show to be held in the Wedgewood room of Marshall Field & Co.'s store April 5. Mrs. J. T. Edwards is chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon.

SALES METHODS DISCUSSED BY SCHOOL EDITORS

Circulation and selling methods for high school papers were discussed at the second meeting of the high school press clinic held in Wieboldt hall on the McKinlock campus of Northwestern university under the auspices of Medill School of Journalism. The next clinic was planned for April 6.

Dean H. F. Harrington of Medill school conducted the meeting, which was thrown open for discussion. Mrs. Mary Devereux of Crane Technical High school told of the problems at Crane and their solution.

Emphasis was placed on advertising the papers and using novel stunts for selling subscriptions. Generally the clinic meetings, which are an outgrowth of the disbanded Chicago High School Press association, are devoted to the editorial side of newspaper making.

Among the south side schools which sent representatives are Englewood and Bowen. Bowen sent Miss Ruth Cowan and Philip Weck, associate editors of the Bowen Arrow, and McClure Hudelson, business manager.

AIDS BENEFIT

MISS ADELE BALASKY.

More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend the annual dance and card party given by the Congregation Beth Jacob B'nai Bezalel Anshe Misrach tomorrow evening at the Trianon ballroom, 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Benjamin Mark, assisted by Miss Adele Balasky, is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Leo Knights of Columbus to Hold Easter Ball April 1

The Easter Monday ball of Leo council, Knights of Columbus, will be held Monday evening, April 1, in the Trianon ballroom, 63d street and Cottage Grove avenue. Judge John J. Sullivan, chief justice of the Criminal court and chairman of the affair, promises a variety of entertainment which will include theatrical and radio stars. Assisting the chairman will be John Ruberry, grand knight of the council; Deputy Fire Commissioner Maloney, Ald. William O'Toole, Alfred F. Gorman, Harry Hill, John Conroy, Arthur Goodman, William Goodman, William Cullina, and Sidney M. Doheny.

CHATHAM C. OF C. SEEKS INCREASE IN STREET CARS

Demands Switch Tracks at I. C. Viaduct.

The transportation committee of the Chatham chamber of commerce, with L. D. Saxaugr as chairman, has outlined an improved street car program which its members hope to carry out within the next two months, according to William E. Mosby, president of the chamber of commerce.

Included in the program is better service on 76th and 83d streets and switch tracks on 79th street at the Illinois Central tracks. Since both 76th and 83d streets are through boulevards, residents of the Chatham district desire that cars run with greater frequency, Mr. Mosby believes.

Shows Need for Switches.

He pointed out that switch tracks are desirable on 79th street where the street passes under the I. C. tracks through a viaduct because the viaduct becomes impassable when flooded. Cars reaching the impassable viaduct are forced to return by the same tracks on which they came, thus running the risk of colliding with other cars using the same tracks in the opposite direction. Switch tracks would remedy this condition, permitting cars at least to change over to the right tracks in case of an enforced return trip from the viaduct, Mr. Mosby said.

During the last two weeks the Chatham chamber of commerce has succeeded in improving police protection in its district, including the addition of fourteen policemen.

Sees Need for 30 Policemen.

"Until recently we had only one policeman to each of the three shifts in our district, Mr. Mosby said. "For adequate protection we should have ten men in each shift, although the fourteen extra men distributed in the three shifts will be a big improvement."

At the next meeting, which will be held Wednesday noon at Miller's grill, 7906 South Park avenue, the reassessment of property for taxation purposes will be discussed.

Tells Scott P.-T. Body How to Teach Children to Play

"Teaching Children to Play" was the subject of an address by Mrs. L. M. Fetherston of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial foundation at a meeting of the Walter Scott Parent-Teacher association Monday afternoon in the assembly hall of the school, 64th street and Blackstone avenue. A musical program was furnished by pupils of the school.

ARRANGES DANCE

[Russell Photo.]

More than 600 persons are expected to attend the annual dance given by the members of the senior class of St. Xavier academy, 4928 Cottage Grove avenue, April 2 in the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house. Miss Virginia Quinlan, president of the class, is the chairman of the committee arranging for the affair. She will be assisted by Miss Mary Slusser, vice president; Miss Georgia Butt, secretary, and Miss Margaret Twomey, treasurer.

SEEK TO MERGE SMALL SCHOOLS IN COOK COUNTY

Women Cite Chance to Improve Facilities.

Possibilities of a larger school unit will be discussed by both the Chicago school affairs committee and the Cook county school affairs committee of the Council of Cook County Leagues of Women Voters when the twenty-three leagues in the council gather for their monthly meeting in their assembly room at 203 North Wabash avenue Tuesday.

It has been brought to the attention of these committees that there are still eighty one-room schoolhouses in Cook county and the women are interested in combining several small districts into larger units of taxation so that modern school buildings with complete equipment may be installed. Chairmen of the committees are Mrs. George Sikes of the Austin league and Mrs. J. A. Meade of Western Springs.

The bill now pending in the state legislature providing for a larger state school fund will be discussed by the school committees, particularly with reference to distribution of the fund. In addition, the Chicago schools committee will study civil service conditions in schools.

Other Committees to Meet.

Other permanent committees of the League of Women Voters to which each of the 23 leagues will send a delegate to the meeting are: The sanitary district committee, of which Mrs. R. S. Childs of Winnetka is chairman; Cook county government committee, with Mrs. Robert Lee Benson of River Forest as chairman; the Chicago affairs committee with Mrs. C. K. Mohler as chairman; the city and village affairs committee, which has Mrs. Wilson V. Little of Evanston as chairman; and the group of local league presidents who will meet to discuss their local problems such as membership and finance.

Each of these committees meets at the general council meeting once a month and sometimes a committee chairman calls special meetings of her committee more frequently. Part of the meeting time is devoted to the study of specific problems outlined for the year and the remainder is given over to discussion of current problems.

At the meeting this week the sanitary district committee will study the lakes to gulf waterway plans and a report will be made on the status of the bill to provide for civil service in the sanitary district. Members of the committee on city and village affairs will study the city manager plan and attempt to devise means by which it could successfully be applied to their different communities.

Group to Discuss Traction.

The Chicago affairs committee will discuss all phases and angles of the traction problem and will also take up the current tax question.

Luncheon will be served by the Austin league, after which all committees will gather for a general meeting to be addressed by John O. Reese, director of the Cook County Joint Commission on Real Estate Evaluation. Mr. Reese will explain the latest developments in the tax reassessment tangle and will distribute advance copies of the latest report of his committee which will not be released until Wednesday.

Miss Edith Rockwood, public affairs secretary of the Illinois League of Women Voters and the official representative in Springfield, will also address the general meeting Tuesday afternoon, explaining state and national news of current interest. Among the subjects which she will discuss will be the jury service bills, the arbitration and conciliation treaties before the United States senate, the Newton bill for maternity and infant welfare, a bill for motor drivers' licenses, and the state school fund distribution measure.

Drexel Park Presbyterian Club Members Stage Play

"Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?" a three act comedy, was presented by the members of the P. S. A. club of Drexel Park Presbyterian church last week at the Pythian temple, 45th street and Marshfield avenue. The players were: Mae Kerr, Norman Toyle, Amy Cobban, Mary McPherson, Betty Hopkins, Theresa Newsome, Grace Adams, Edna Miller, Elbert Wiesner, Carl Sommer, Charles Prieb, Roy Truesdale, Russ Yarnell, John Klein, Arvin Kreutzer, and Robert Newsome.

Play Staged at Meeting of Woodlawn Women's Club

"A Woman of Character," a play, was presented by the members of the Woodlawn Women's club, under the direction of Mrs. James M. Farrin, 6433 Minerva avenue, Tuesday, at a meeting of the organization in the assembly rooms of St. Paul's Universalist church, 60th street and Dorchester avenue. "Jack and Jill" was the subject of an address by G. F. Rasmweiler, professor of speech at Beloit college. Mrs. John B. Storms, 6425 Greenwood avenue, and her social committee served tea.

Delta Gamma Psi Holds Card and Bunco Party

The Delta Gamma Psi sorority held a card and bunco party Thursday evening at the Southmoor hotel, 67th street and Stony Island avenue. Miss Florence Sexton, 6334 Ingleside avenue, president of the organization, was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair. She was assisted by Miss Catherine McCarthy, 1420 East 67th place, and Miss Alice Joyce, 6734 Ridgeland avenue.

Men and Women's Groups Join Giving Benefit Dance

Calumet council, No. 632, Knights of Columbus, assisted by Calumet circle of the Daughters of Isabella, held its annual St. Patrick's day dance at Trianon ballroom, 62d street and Cottage Grove avenue, Monday evening. Proceeds from the sale of tickets for the affair were donated to the charity fund of the council and circle.

HEADS PRESIDENTS

TOURS EUROPE, ADOPTS WRITING AS HER CAREER

Miss Edith Heal returned last week from four months of travel in Europe. Miss Heal is the author of two children's books recently published by Rand, McNally & Co. called "Robin Hood" and "The Topaz Seal."

Since being graduated from the University of Chicago in 1925 she has held a position in the language department of the university, but expects now to devote all of her time to writing. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Heal of 216 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park, but maintains an apartment for herself at 5514 Blackstone avenue.

Miss Heal was accompanied on her trip abroad by Miss Helen Herlihy of 5136 Kimbark avenue.

The All-Steel, Completely Shielded Chassis

All parts of the receiver itself are permanently, immovably secured to a welded, heavily braced steel chassis. The movable tuning elements are completely enclosed and shielded by a steel housing. On the under side of the chassis, one finds the coils handling radio frequency currents enclosed in heavy copper shields for long distance reception and sharp selectivity. The transformers handling the energy after it becomes audible frequency current are sealed in individual cases with air and water-proof compound. Note the telephone switchboard type wiring employed—the individual shields provided for each of the three tubes handling radio frequency current. Every feature that research engineers have found will aid perfect reception is applied in Majestic Radio.

The Power Pack Is Large—Husky—Rugged

The Power Supply Unit in a Majestic Radio is very nearly as large as some of the table model receivers on the market which include set and power unit. The huge transformers for plate and filament power supply cannot overheat or burn out—are more than adequate for any demands that may be made upon them. The condensers which are part of the current filter are of exceptionally large capacity and carefully tested on high voltage. Nothing approaching the Majestic "Ballast" is to be found in any other Radio. House lighting currents may vary from 90 up to 130 volts (normally 110), but the Majestic "Ballast" maintains an even, constant flow of power to the receiver. Compare this Power Supply with any other!

Tilden Authorities First to Act on New Plan.

Following the first steps taken by the board of education in organizing community councils in eighteen junior and senior high schools throughout the city last week, Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue, is making arrangements for an open house and civic assembly to be held April 18.

Invitations to attend the event are being sent to 6,000 parents of Tilden students, according to Albert W. Evans, principal, and at least half that number of south siders are expected to look over the school and be present at the assembly, he said.

An entertainment of musical and dramatic numbers will be given. The Tilden Glee club, band, and orchestra will take part, and speakers of city wide prominence are being asked to address the gathering, Mr. Evans announced.

Bogan and Caldwell to Speak.

Superintendent William J. Bogan, President H. Wallace Caldwell of the board of education, and John J. Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, are among the speakers scheduled to appear.

All of the shops and special classes will be open for inspection at the open house and various clubs of the school will be in session in order to give the parents an idea of what Tilden boys learn other than from books. Gymnasium classes will be open where various exhibitions of athletic skill will be given, Mr. Evans said.

Exhibits and special conferences dealing with subjects of civic interest in connection with the council being formed at that school will complete the evening's activity.

Benjamin F. Buck, assistant superintendent of schools, was named last week by Mr. Bogan to take charge of the organization of the councils.

General Gathering May 19.

The subject which is to occupy the attention of the civic councils immediately upon their organization, Mr. Buck said last week in a letter to high school principals, is the selection of a delegation to attend the Central civic assembly, to be held on the lake front May 19.

Arrangements will be made for an audience of 3,000, permitting the attendance of more than 100 from each community. The delegation should include faculty and seniors at each school, Mr. Buck said.

The next activity will be the organizing of a civic assembly at each center. Illustrated talks about the Chicago school system should occupy a prominent place on the programs of these assemblies, according to Mr. Buck.

One change in a south side center was reported last week. Kelly Junior High school, recently opened at 42d street and California avenue, will be the center for the 23d district instead of the Sawyer Avenue school, 5248 South Sawyer avenue, as previously planned.

A Sensational Success!

Scores of Neighborhood Merchants Cash in on the Tribune's New Low Cost Advertising Plan!

Retailers in Every Section of Chicago Test the Amazing Sales Power of the Chicago Sunday Tribune—And Find it the Greatest Profit-Maker in Existence!

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S new low-cost advertising plan has gone over with a bang!

Scores of merchants and retailers on all sides of the city have tried it out the past three Sundays. The results have been amazing!

Investing as little as $5—$10—$50—whatever they felt they wanted to invest for winning new business—they have seen their ads pay out and leave wide profit margins besides. Success has been limited to no class or kind of business—large stores and small stores alike have shared in the golden harvest opened up under the Tribune's brand-new advertising plan.

Today they are back for more! And why not! Their advertising pays for itself as it goes along. There's no fuss or bother or details to take their time. All they do is tell the Tribune to go ahead. And the Tribune does—and these alert merchants reap the benefits! Now is the time for you to make your start. For a few dollars—whatever you decide you are able to invest—you can place a strong, business pulling offer before almost every family on your side of the city.

Even if you should get only ten new customers for every thousand families your ad reaches, you can make big profits because the amount you invest is so little that you can't help but get it back plus a margin of profit.

Decide now to cash in on this new Tribune plan. Get the jump on your competition. Show your customers and your prospects that you are as progressive in your advertising methods as you are in your merchandising and retailing.

Call the Tribune tomorrow morning and get the complete details about Sunday Tribune advertising in the Metropolitan Section! Tear out the memo coupon now!

P. E. O. CHAPTERS BUSY PREPARING FOR CONVENTION

Girls Pay Expenses While in College.

The chapters of the P. E. O. sisterhood located on the south side are preparing reports and making plans for the national biennial convention of P. E. O. which will be held in Chicago for the first time next week, 17 to 20. It will be held at the Stevens hotel, and 800 delegates, in addition to many visitors from all over the country, are expected.

Loan Fund for College Girls.

The chief philanthropy of P. E. O. is an educational loan fund for girls who wish to complete their college education.

Chicago chapters are keeping up the end in this philanthropic work. Chapter A, which meets in the Stevens club rooms in the Stevens hotel, is sponsoring four girls and advancing from $500 to $1,000 a year to the educational fund. Recently the officers of this group are Mrs. Thornton, president; Mrs. G. A. Hall, vice president; Mrs. C. C. Snyder, recording secretary; Mrs. H. E. Hall, corresponding secretary; Mrs. C. Faulkner, treasurer; Mrs. Williams, chaplain, and Mrs. Vernon, guard.

Chapter D of Englewood is sponsoring one girl. Its new officers are Mrs. H. D. Wormhoudt, president; Mrs. R. McDougall, vice president; Mrs. G. A. Anderson, recording secretary; Mrs. G. V. Orr, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. F. Mooney, treasurer; Mrs. W. O. Foster, chaplain, and Mrs. Ralph Minteer, guard.

Woodlawn Group Aids Girl.

Members of the Woodlawn chapter, AI, provide funds to send one girl through college through a chapter membership fund and in addition they contribute to the Protestant Children's home. Officers of this chapter are Mrs. R. L. Keezel, president; Mrs. [illegible] Reid, vice president; Mrs. G. D. [illegible], recording secretary; Miss [illegible] Bragden, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. F. Ziegler, treasurer; Mrs. M. Brandenburg, chaplain, and Mrs. R. S. Powell, guard.

Chapter AI of the south shore district is sponsoring two girls. Officers are Mrs. W. C. Indine, president; Mrs. [illegible] Swannrouter, vice president; Mrs. C. E. Day, recording secretary; Mrs. A. Densmore, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. L. Birdsey, treasurer; Mrs. L. B. Cox, chaplain, and Mrs. H. F. Newland, guard.

The Hamilton Park group, known as Chapter AY, is headed by Mrs. E. [illegible] Street as president; Mrs. C. Davis, vice president; Mrs. C. Gordon, recording secretary; Mrs. E. Olson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. Williamson, treasurer; Mrs. R. Robinson, chaplain, and Mrs. N. Wishard, guard. The group is helping a high school girl complete her education.

Chapter AX of Morgan Park is sponsoring three girls in college. Its officers include Mrs. H. F. Harris, president; Mrs. G. F. Baker, vice president; Mrs. C. E. Staehling, recording secretary; Mrs. L. M. Harper, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James [illegible], treasurer, and Mrs. A. D. [illegible], chaplain.

EIGHTH WARD PROMISED NEW LIGHTS SOON

Residents of the Eighth ward living south of 83d street, east of Cottage Grove avenue, who are becoming [illegible] at the delay in installing the new street lights, are advised by Ald. [illegible] D. Meyering that units delivered were found defective.

"I have worked to get those lights in [illegible] ago," said Ald. Meyering. "I [illegible] the bond issue passed more than [illegible] years ago and the work was [illegible] at that time. After the [illegible] were purchased under the direction of the commissioner of gas and electricity, and delivered for installation it was found that the units were not constructed according to specifications and they were rejected.

"New posts are being made, however, and installation of the units will start in the near future."

31 NATIONALITIES IN MELTING POT AT TILDEN TECH

Boys of Distant Lands Organize Club.

A melting pot within a melting pot is Tilden Technical High school, 4747 South Union avenue.

Thirty-one different nationalities are represented by the 142 foreign born boys attending school there.

One traveled all the way from India by way of Port Said, another came from Johannesburg, South Africa; one hails from Kiev, Russia.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, is represented and Karpost, Armenia; Sparta, Greece, and Okayama, Japan; Moravia and Mexico, Sweden and Switzerland, Canada and Czecho-Slovakia.

Revealed by Contest.

Students at Tilden had never realized themselves what an international peace conference was in session there, day in and day out, until the school paper, the Tilden Tech Times, conducted a contest for stories on foreign places written by students who were born and had lived in the countries.

Winners in the contest will be announced next Friday. Krishna Kurup, who traveled from Madras, India, unaccompanied just to attend Tilden, in his entry he said he came to Chicago to study modes of education here and intended to return to India to become a teacher, using the methods he learned at Tilden.

Contest judges are Norman Anderson, chairman; Miss Helen Johnson and Leslie Schaeffer, teachers at the school.

At a meeting of the Tilden All Nations club last week representatives from 26 different foreign countries were gathered together.

Roll Call of Nations.

They included Mark Randall of Leeds, England; John Doolin, Dublin, Ireland; Louie Vervoort, Antwerp, Belgium; Ernest Urbrock, Geestemund, Germany; Anthony Albert, Kollut, Jugo-Slavia; Isadore Kravets, Kiev, Russia; Charles Svidron, Moravia; Leo Favaro, Sicily; Inamiza James, Okayama, Japan; Ted Koycas, Sparta, Greece; Felix Nache, Leon, Mexico; Allen Pearson, Ottenby, Sweden; Blase Del Negro, Buenos Aires, Argentine; Christian Mostert, Groning, Holland; Lubn Antonoff, Plevan, Bulgaria; Krishna Kurup, Madras, India.

SPRING HAS ARRIVED! HERE'S THE PROOF

It was a convincing springtime picture that won the first prize of $5 this week in The Tribune's contest for amateur photographers of the south side. It shows pupils of Brainerd school playing marbles and was made by A. W. Brinkman, 6406 Greenwood avenue. The second prize of $3 was awarded to Fannie Sachar, 4718 Ingleside avenue, for a silhouette of a Russian wolfhound beside a lagoon in Jackson Park. Miss Olive Huntoon, 5344 Lake Park avenue, won the third prize of $2 for her picture of Polly taking a March sun bath.

Spring? Say It with Pictures and Win Prizes

In the spring a photographer's fancy turns to pictures of the first robin, early gardens, Mary and Jane skipping rope and evidences of spring fever.

The Metropolitan section of The Tribune now offers prizes weekly for spring pictures. The Tribune will pay $5 for the best photograph on this general subject taken by an amateur. It will pay $3 for the second best and $2 for the third best.

Address pictures to Photo contest, Metropolitan section of The Tribune. The name and address of the photographer should be written plainly on the back of the print as well as the names of all persons in the picture.

The contest is open only to amateurs and the editor will be final judge. Theme, treatment, and clearness of the print will be taken into consideration. No pictures will be returned.

South Shore Women Voters to Hear Two Speakers

"The Legal Status of Women" will be discussed by Miss Esther Dunshee and "Women in Industry" by Mrs. Frank Halas at a meeting of the South Shore League of Women Voters in St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, 7350 Jeffery avenue, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Halas is president of the Illinois Women's Trade Union league and a member of the state board of the League of Women Voters.

Dr. Levi to Discuss Poems.

"God's Trombones," a book of poetry by the Negro poet, James Weldon Johnson, will be discussed by Dr. Gerson Levi at the next meeting of the Sisterhood of the Temple Isaiah Israel Wednesday afternoon in the community house, 5035 Greenwood avenue.

THEY HEAD GROUPS AIDING COLLEGE GIRLS

*South side chapters of the P. E. O. sisterhood are busy preparing for the national convention of the organization, to be held in Chicago in September, while continuing their work of helping girls through college. The picture shows presidents of five south side chapters. Rear, left to right: Mrs. E. M. Street, 7137 Yale avenue, president of Chapter AY, Hamilton Park; Mrs. H. D. Wormhoudt, 1530 East 62nd street, president of Chapter D, Englewood; Mrs. W. C. Undine, 7701 Crandon avenue, president of Chapter AI, South Shore. Front: Mrs. H. F. # CRERAR CHURCH ACTS TO START BUILDING JUNE 1

Will Erect First Unit of $175,000 Structure.

Plans for the new Crerar Presbyterian church were submitted and discussed at a meeting of the board of directors held Wednesday night. Decision to build on a lot at the southwest corner of 51st street and Calumet avenue which the church has owned since January was reached and tentative selection of a three story Gothic plan was made.

THE REV. W. H. REEVES. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

The Rev. Willard H. Reeves, pastor of the church, expressed a desire to break ground for construction of the first unit of the new church by June 1. The first unit will cost more than $50,000 and the completed structure calls for an expenditure of $175,000.

Community Building First.

Both a community building and parsonage will be incorporated into the first unit of the building, the former having a gymnasium and chapel seating 300 persons. Rowe, Dillard & Rowe are the architects.

The old Crerar Presbyterian church disbanded a year ago and was not reorganized until Dec. 2, although the Rev. Mr. Reeves has been here since last May working under the board of church extensions. The church is now housed in temporary quarters at 7907 South Park avenue and an urgent need for a more fitting structure is felt by every member of the congregation, according to the Rev. Mr. Reeves.

Congregation Grows Steadily.

"Since Dec. 2 the congregation has increased each week and the Sunday school has grown to a membership of 100," he said.

The former Crerar church building was located at 57th street and Prairie avenue and from the sale of this property a nucleus for the building fund was realized.

Groups at Temple Isaiah to Give Historical Pageant

A Purim pageant depicting the history of the Jews will be presented by the Sisterhood Religious school next Sunday afternoon in the Temple Isaiah, Hyde Park boulevard and Greenwood avenue. It will be directed by Miss Pauline Mills. There will also be incidental music during the performance in which the leading parts are taken by students of the school. Mrs. H. I. Davis is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment.

Morgan Park Church Club to Give Religious Drama

Members of the Players' club of the Morgan Park Methodist Evangelical church, 110th place and Longwood drive, will present "The Rock," a three act religious drama, next Sunday evening in the church auditorium. The leading rôles will be played by Arthur Bartele, Mrs. Earl Darflier, Mrs. Alfred Cooke, and Otto Kordewick. Mrs. Millie Hubbird is directing the play.

THE CHUCKLE COLUMN

Patient—I am not well, doctor.
Doctor—How do you live?
Patient—Like any other poor dog. I work like a horse all day, when I come home I'm as ravenous as a wolf, then I am tired as a dog and sleep like a bear.
Doctor—I think you had better consult a veterinary surgeon.
JOHN WILLARD,
240 West 113th place.

Mrs. Jones—Have you given the goldfish their water yet?
Jane, the new maid—No, mum, they ain't finish what I give them yesterday.
NORMAN BARTHOLOMEW,

Jones—Are you quite sure that was a marriage license you sold me two weeks ago?
Clerk—Yes, why?
Jones—Well, I've been leading a dog's life ever since.
PATRICK GROSS,
1307 West 71st street.

Passenger—Really, steward, I have forgotten my cabin number?
Steward—That's difficult, madam. Haven't you any idea where it is?
Passenger—O, yes, I remember now; the window looked out on a lighthouse.
RUTH WALLACE,
83 West Main street, Chicago Heights.

Jim—I kissed her when she wasn't looking.
Tim—What did she do?
Jim—She wouldn't look at me for the rest of the evening.
RUTH HIPPL,

Co-ed—Can you dance on your toes?
Freshie—Are you trying to kid me?
Co-ed—No, I just wondered, because you dance so beautifully on mine.
JOSEPH KENNELLY,
7706 South May street.

Hank—How does Bill like living in the apartment below those college girls?
Horace—He says the women are wild over him.
MARGARET HERATY,
7008 South Ada street.

Frosh—Can you tell me the way to the recitation hall?
Senior—Sorry, but I'm a student here myself.
DOROTHY KHINDOFF,
1331 Roosevelt road.

Little Elizabeth was curious about sardines, and her mother was telling her about them, saying: "These little sardines are sometimes eaten by larger fish."
"But, mother," said little Elizabeth, "how do the larger fish get the cans open?"
JOHN REDMAN,
11034 Morgan street.

CHUCKLES.

The Tribune wants some smiles, chuckles, and hearty laughs for this column from the high school students of Chicago. Two dollars will be paid for each original contribution, joke, jingle, verse, or anecdote. Address them to the Metropolitan editor of The Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago.

Judge—I sentence you to be hanged by the neck.
Prisoner—O, your honor, you wouldn't string me, would you?
S. DORSEN,
2626 South Wells street.

He—Every time I look into your eyes I feel intoxicated.
She—Isn't it funny what two little eye-balls will do!
LORETTA BARR,
1108 East Marquette road.

Teacher—Did you come to school to throw wads of paper on the floor?
Freshie—No, mum, I came to throw them at Willie.
NORMAN TAUB,

Inside the Loud Speaker

BY QUIN RYAN.

Down in the loop, in the office of one of radio's well known figures, Harry Spingold, director of the W-G-N players and an excellent player in his own right, is a little box, a filing cabinet—in which one can spend a most interesting hour.

For a quarter of a century, Harry has been a manager of all manner of actors and vaudevillians. Thumbing through the cards in the little box, he proudly points out his bookings of obscure vaudeville acts of fifteen and twenty years, and chuckles as he explains who these people are today. Whenever they are in town, they drop in and hark back to the struggling days.

In the file labeled "1917," we come upon a girl team breaking in on their first week in vaudeville, who call themselves the Duncan Sisters. During that week they played the College theater, in Chicago, and the Academy of Music, and spent Sunday at the Lincoln theater. Their weekly stipend, out of which they paid all traveling and living expenses and commissions, was $125.

We come upon the plain names of "Coogan and Cox," hoofers de luxe, earning $200 during the weeks they worked — and hopping all over the middle west to Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, La Salle and Ottawa. Today Coogan is a millionaire. But the hoofing days were before little "Jackie" was born.

In 1916 we note that a team of cut ups were making the rounds of the houses, going by the name of "Bernie and Baker," in an act entitled, "This Is Not a Movie." And Harry reminds us that nowadays we know these boys are Ben Bernie, the famous orchestra leader, and Phil Baker, the comedian and accordionist, whose weekly salaries are now over ten times the figures that both of them used to split—$250.

And then, in a quaint family picture, we discover "The Five Columbians," father and mother and three daughters, for whom Harry demanded the astounding weekly wage of $350. They were known as the Miller family—and last Saturday night Harry attended their happy reunion in the Drake hotel—in daughter Marilyn's room!

IN THE rotogravure section of this paper you will find pictures of those famous comic characters, "Herr Louie" and the "Weasel," who are heard every evening in the German band act at 10:15. Herr Louie, the fat one in the photo, is in reality, Hank Moeller, formerly of Davenport, Ia., and for many years a partner in the theatrical producing business with Hal Gilles, formerly of Evansville, Ind., who plays the Weasel.

Every afternoon they can be found bent over a typewriter, concocting the laughs for the evening's episode. Here is the way one of their scenarios looks when they take the air:

LOUIE'S HUNGRY FIVE DISCUSS THE WEATHER, ETC.

BAND—"Ach du lieber augustine."

LOUIE—Py chorge, I only vish dat diss vinter vedder voss first over mit.

WEASEL—Chess, isn't it de trute; Py golly diss iss von of de best of de vorst vinters ve had in a long time yet.

LOUIE—Ya I should said it iss.

WEASEL—Chee viss, how I'm vatin for de good ole summertime, ven a guy kin go oudt undt get hisself a lung full of fresh air vonce in a vile.

LOUIE—Now lissen vonce Veasel: Dares plenty fresh air outside now if you vant it, but, dat vosn't vat I voss deferring to. Vat I meant to said voss diss. If de vinter voss first over, den ve could get oudt undt get some fresh bissness in.

WEASEL—Oh, now I see vat you mean. You mean so ve kin get our finanahul sitchooashuns in good shape again, hu?

LOUIE—Eggzackly. Diss inside bissness so much, alvays makes us shtale, undt also makes youse all so irritationed.

WEASEL—Ve didn't did so bad doe diss year Herr Louie.

LOUIE—Vat you mean ve didn't did so bad? Vere only a couple dollars from de poorhouse.

WEASEL—Oh for gootness grashus mercy sakes, iss dat so?

LOUIE—Ya shure dats so. Undt if I vould haff shtayed long in de hospitoll sick, youse vould probly be now allreddy in it.

WEASEL—Oh I gess ve vouldn't.

LOUIE—You vouldn't hu?

WEASEL—No. Vere shtill out of it, isn't it?

LOUIE—Vell, it isn't your fault dat you iss, I tell you; didn't dat letter giff me a exsampel how tings iss ven I'm not here, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, vy should ve get de blames for someting dat somevon else did, or didn't did? CHEE VISS!

LOUIE—Nun vart mal ein augenblick; chust hold de horses for von minuts. Who iss de von dat's supposing to hendle de bissness ven de suferior iss avay, hu? Who iss de von?

WEASEL—Vell, now dat's something I got to put some considerashun on; I should tink anyvon in de band vould be de von to hendle it.

LOUIE—Uh hu! Your chust de kind of a tripe dat vould tink someting like dat. Now, you lissen vonce to me. Vir going to play now a tune, undt den I'm going to lay down de rules, dat everybody, undt even you kin understhood.

WEASEL—Chess!

LOUIE—Awrite; Vir shpieln Zu Lauterbach Hab Ich Mein Shtrumpf Faloren; Nun Zusammen! Eins, Swei, Shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, shtay right vare your sitten. For vonce in my life I'm going to haff a clear misundershtanding between ourselfs.

WEASEL—Vill it be nezzessary for me to take down notes, Herr Loule?

LOUIE—No; now den: Youse all remember dat ve had a cheneral agriement a long time back allreddy about who iss who und vy in de band; isn't dat right? Vell, am I asking myself someting, or vass ist diss fur dunmheit.

WEASEL—You mean dat meeting dat ve had ven ve dissapointed different vons for different tings, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Eggzackly, dat's vat I mean.

WEASEL—Ach, I should said I do remember dat. Dat voss ven youse gafe me de chunanimous dissapointment as secretare.

LOUIE—Now, you said it. You voss dissapcinted secretare in cheneral, una vat voss supposing to be your duties, hu?

WEASEL—Vell, now let me tink a minute, und don't rush me too fast, or else I maybe forget some of dem.

LOUIE—Ach, you couldn't tink. You voss, undt are supposing to hendle de bissness end of de band if I ain't here, or if I'm inexschposed und laid out.

WEASEL—Vell, isn't dat vat I've bin doing, isn't it?

LOUIE—No, dat isn't vat you've bin doing, isn't it. If you vould haff bin doing your duties, den you vould haff bin here de odder night ven diss fella came und voss looking for me.

WEASEL—Vell, for gootness grashus mercy sakes. I had to keep your girl Chulia kwiet. Chee viss! She voss running around like a shicken mit its neck cut off.

LOUIE—Voss hast du gesacht?

WEASEL—I said dat ven you voss in de hospitoll in, Chulia chust simply vent all to peaces. Py golly, ven I seen her first I tot maybe you broke your leg und dey voss going to shott you or someting.

LOUIE—Awrite, now don't shtart cooking any fish shtories togedder again. Vat has Chulia got to do mit your duties as secretare, dat's vat I'd like to know.

WEASEL—Ach himmel, such a ask!

LOUIE—Na du dummes gezell, vat's de matter mit dat ask. Dat's a civlized kvestion.

WEASEL—Vell, don't get so sore; chee viss!

LOUIE—I ain't gettin' sore. Here I'm trying for years to learn you some reshponsitivities, und vat's de outcome of de results?

WEASEL—Vell, py golly, if you ask me, I tink I did purty darn good for de little inexshperiences I had.

LOUIE—De whoal trouble iss, you don't try to learn more. Ach, vell, I don't care if you vant to shtay a dummy your whole life, go hed. Come on, boys, let's play von. I'm gettin' discustered mit diss kind of bissness. Let's play "My Bonnie Lies Over De Ocean Over." Ready; eins, swei, shpielt!

BAND TUNE HERE.

LOUIE—Now, I tell you vat I do, Veasel. Dat iss, if you promise me you learn so much as you kin, UND if you vill promise me, too, dat you vill shtick mit us, und not after I shpent a couple years on you learning you someting, shneak out undt get marriaged.

WEASEL—O, vell, now you're asking me something, Herr Louie, dat's a sensitive proposishun. You know yourself dat Chenny und me iss crazy, von for de odder, undt I almost exshpeck any day to hear Chenny ask me to be de better half of her.

LOUIE—Now, you see? Und dat's supposing to be granitude, hu?

WEASEL—Ha, ha, ha, ha. Vy don't you marriage Chulia, Herr Louie, den ve could haff togedder a double marriage. Chee viss!

LOUIE—Vass faelt dir, bist du farflkt? Here I try undt talk some senseful bissness, und try to make someting out of diss band out, und dat's de corporation I get.

EMIL—Let him vent for hisself, Herr Louie. I vouldn't vorry no more for him.

WEASEL—Aw, you shut your bissness, Emil. Nobody vosn't talking to you, any how.

LOUIE—Dat's enuff—dat's enuff! Vir shpielu yets eins, und dan gaen vir drausen cause I don't feel no good.

WEASEL—Ach, chee viss! Vat's de sense going out in de middle of de night?

LOUIE—Schweig shtill. Mench, its gettin' so lately a man couldn't even be sick no more und enchoy it. Vir going to play von, und it's Glückauf. Maybe dat helps de sitchooashuns out.

WEASEL—Do you know someting, Herr Louie?

LOUIE—Ya, I know if you don't keep shtill purty soon, you get trowed out heads backvards. Awrite, de tune now. Eins, swei, drei, shpielt!

HOOPLAS and HISSES

W-G-N, Gentlemen:
I think your presentation of the "Hungry Five," at 10:15, is given every night PUNK, entirely overdone, and not a bit true to life.
Sincerely,
Emilie Bartholomaus.

W-G-N, Hungry Five:
We certainly have been enjoying the episodes immensely. I wouldn't miss one on a bet. We laughed so terribly hard last Saturday night; you were a scream.
Mrs. Wegner.

Prize Fights

4:00

The old time prize fights by Quin Ryan have begun again! The colorful episodes of a romantic past are reconstructed to realism. Just as though the announcer were standing at the ringside forty years ago on that hot July afternoon when Sullivan and Kilrain fought seventy-five rounds! Every blow! Every bell in the important rounds brought to you as though the two old time giants were again in the ring. This afternoon at 4:00.

Goldkette

To quote a more or less old tune, "they pushed it through a horn 'til it was worn into a blue note," and then it goes on to tell about what a beautiful, raucous melody was the result. Jean Goldkette and his W-G-N Dance Orchestra are always creating new subtle rhythms—new eerie arrangements—warm, intimate harmony. That's how they earned their name of Radio's Greatest Dance Orchestra. For a new thrill in dance music, listen at 3:30, 10:05, 10:45 and 11:35.

Jubilee Singers

3:15

The Pace Jubilee Singers are five natural artists. They sing those stimulating Negro melodies, some of them wild, glad, laughing songs, and some of them tinged with sadness, reflecting the laments of a strange race in a strange land. There is the beauty wrought from years of bondage when the only recreation was singing. Other songs by the Pace singers are the expression of religious ecstasy. This more emotional and more musical race than the white has contributed what is one of America's most expressive musical forms—the spiritual. This strange quintet makes music that is to be compared only with a few similar organizations. They are the traditional colored harmonists, well trained and sincere. 3:15.

Coon-Sanders

7:00
7:55
11:15

Whip it, kid! And do they! Coon-Sanders, and their Original Nighthawks slick up their trumpets and bassoons, and dust between the black keys on the piano in readiness for their three big dance groups. You'll hear the first group at 7, another at 7:55, and the big group that's "hotter 'n that" at 11:15. Coonie and Joe will play and sing the choruses of your favorite tunes as only they can.

RUSSIAN CHURCH MUSIC FEATURES EASTER PROGRAM

W-G-N Will Broadcast It Tuesday.

The rich liturgical music of the Russian church, considered the most magnificent in the world, will feature a special Easter program to be broadcast Tuesday night from New York. It will go on the air at 8 o'clock Chicago time and will be carried by WGN, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station in the Drake hotel and a chain of 28 others.

The famous Russian Cathedral choir of New York, under the direction of Nikolai Vasilieff, will sing many of the liturgical chants which were written for the Russian church by some of the greatest Slavic composers.

James Stanley, noted basso, and soloist of the New York Symphony and the Russian Symphony orchestras will also be on the program. A full symphonic orchestra under the direction of Nathaniel Shilkret will play a series of characteristic Russian fantasies.

The first part of the program will feature Russian folk music, esteemed the world over for its beauty and simplicity. This music, all written before the Russian revolution, has a wild gayety in marked contrast to the peasant's somber existence and seemed to be his only escape from grim reality.

Tschaikowsky's immortal musical description of Easter eve in Moscow will be one of the principal numbers on the program. This great symphonic composition depicts the procession of the priests, which begins at midnight. Followed by the entire congregation, the procession, in the flickering light of hundreds of candles, marches solemnly around the cathedral bearing ikons of the saints and church banners. The deep voiced carillons of the cathedral boom into the cold night air, and suddenly in a flood of light the procession reënters the church. The priests greet the congregation with the words "Christ is risen" and the people answer: "He is risen indeed."

Germany Plans to Increase Power of Radio Stations

BERLIN.—In order that programs from here may be picked up throughout Germany, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Reichsfunk to increase the power of the Zeesen transmitter to 200 kilowatts. Likewise, it is reported, the relay station at Freiburg is to receive a more powerful plant, in view of the decision of the French to erect a high power station at Strasbourg.

Missouri Auction Bridge Experts Compete in Radio Game Over W. G. N.

The twentieth and last game of the present series of radio auction bridge games will be broadcast from W-G-N, the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m.

One hundred and nineteen radio stations broadcast bridge games during the present season, reaching an estimated audience of several million a week. Announcement has been made that the fifth series of bridge games, featuring widely known players, will be inaugurated next fall with even a larger lineup than the present series.

The contestants in the twentieth game are William J. Wall of Ottawa, Canada, skilled as a player, writer and analyst of bridge tactics, playing with J. H. Landerkin of Toronto, Canada, one of the outstanding players of Toronto, against Mr. Work and Mr. Whitehead, who have been featured in all the games.

Following are the advance hands for game twenty:

Mr. Whitehead.
S—A, J.
H—J, 10, 7, 5, 4, 3, 2.
D—J.
C—J, 4, 2.

Mr. Wall.
S—Q, 6, 5.
H—9, 8, 6.
D—A, Q, 3.
C—9, 8, 7, 6.

Mr. Landerkin.
S—10, 8, 7, 3, 2.
H—Q.
D—K, 10, 8, 4.
C—K, 10, 3.

Mr. Work (dealer).
S—K, 9, 4.
H—A, K.
D—9, 7, 6, 5, 2.
C—A, Q, 5.

For the nineteenth of this season's radio bridge games, which was broadcast Tuesday from station W-G-N, Mr. Work had for his partner Mrs. Clyde Bissett, a well known bridge teacher and lecturer of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. Whitehead was paired with C. Drummond Jones of St. Louis, Mo., one of America's champion players.

The experts held the following hands:

Mrs. Bissett.
S—Q, 7, 2.
H—J, 10, 4.
D—10, 6, 5.
C—K, 8, 6, 5.

Mr. Jones.
S—A.
H—K, 9, 6.
D—A, 6, 3.
C—A, J, 10, 9, 7, 3.

Mr. Whitehead.
S—10, 8, 6.
H—8, 7, 5, 3, 2.
D—9, 7, 4, 2.
C—Q.

Mr. Work (dealer).
S—A, K, J, 9, 5, 3.
H—A, Q.
D—K, Q, J.
C—4, 3.

Mr. Work, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one spade. Mr. Jones, west, said two clubs, and Mrs. Bissett, north, and Mr. Whiteside, east, both passed.

Mr. Work increased his own bid to two spades, which obtained the contract, as Mr. Jones, west, was unable to continue clubs without an assist, which his partner, Mr. Whitehead, east, was unable to give.

Saves King of Clubs.

Opening the play, Mr. Jones, west, led the ace of spades. From Mrs. Bissett's north's, hand which became dummy, Mr. Work, declarer, played the 5 of clubs. Mr. Whitehead, east, played his singleton queen, and Mr. Work, south, declarer, played the 2.

Mr. Jones, west continued with the jack of clubs. Mr. Work realized that if he covered with dummy's king, Mr. Whitehead, east, would trump the trick. If he did not cover, the jack would be good. Since the trick had to be lost in either case, Mr. Work, declarer, played dummy's 6 of clubs, instead of needlessly sacrificing the king. He planned to use the king of clubs later, if possible, for the discard of his own queen of hearts, which would obviate the necessity of attempting a heart finesse.

Mr. Whitehead, east, appreciated Mr. Work's probable intention of later making use of the king of clubs for a discard. Therefore Mr. Whitehead considered the advisability of trumping his partner's good jack, in order to lead a heart or diamond through Mr. Work's hand up to dummy's weakness. This would have given Mr. Jones, west, an opportunity to make a high card of one of those suits, before Mr. Work could secure the discard which he apparently would be able to make later, through entry into dummy with the queen of trumps.

Wins Third Round.

However, Mr. Whitehead was deterred from attempting this coup by two sound reasons: First, Mr. Work, south, might hold three clubs, in which care, if Mr. Whitehead held off, the latter's partner might be able to take a third trick in clubs unless declarer came up with dummy's king. Second, if Mr. Whitehead trumped the trick he would not know whether to lead a heart or a diamond, as he had no basis for a decision as to the suit from which declarer might wish to effect a discard.

Therefore Mr. Whitehead discarded on the jack of clubs his 2 of diamonds; Mr. Work played the 4 of clubs.

Mr. Jones, west, continued with the 10 of clubs. Dummy, north, played the 8-spot. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 4 of diamonds. To have discarded the 2 of hearts to show weakness in that suit also, would have given more valuable information to the declarer than to Mr. Whitehead's partner. Mr. Work, declarer, trumped with the 3 of Spades.

Mr. Work led the ace of spades, to which Mr. Jones followed with the 4; dummy with the 2; Mr. Whitehead with the 6. Mr. Work led the king of spades. Mr. Jones discarded the 9 of hearts as an indication to his partner, Mr. Whitehead, to lead that suit should he have an opportunity. Dummy played the 7 of spades; Mr. Whitehead the 8.

Mr. Work then led the 5 of spades, overtaking with dummy's queen. Mr. Jones, west, discarded the 2 of clubs; Mr Whitehead, east, dropped his last spade, the 10-spot.

Concedes Ace of Diamonds.

Dummy then led the king of clubs, giving Mr. Work, declarer, the much desired discard of his queen of hearts. Mr. Whitehead, east, discarded the 7 of diamonds; Mr. Jones, west, played the 7 of clubs.

Mr. Work, declarer, then laid down his hands, conceding the ace of diamonds and claiming the rest of the tricks. His claim was allowed, and he therefore scored four-odd on the hand, with 36 trick points, and 40 for four honors divided.

In contract, the play of this hand would be exactly the same as in auction. The bidding, however, would be distinctly different, according to Mr. Work's analysis. There are many different systems of initial bids in contract, but Mr. Work gives preference to the one which would bid three spades on south's hand, although he recognises that many players would bid only two.

However, by bidding three, Mr. Work would make certain that his partner would jump him to four if he had a probable trick. It needs only that much in partner's hand to make a game-going bid desirable.

Of course, for those whose two-bid forces the partner to bid, two in this case would be amply sufficient; but that is a system which, in Mr. Work's opinion, produces many losses in the long run. Mr. Work does not want to force his partner to bid with a bust hand. On the other hand, by bidding the full strength of his own hand, he enables his partner to read his strength in the most satisfactory manner, thereby producing the best bid that is in the two hands.

MANY OPERATIC COMPOSITIONS IN FAMILY PARTY

The compositions of such masters of opera as Bizet, Gounod, Leoncavallo, Von Flotow, Wagner, and Verdi are to be knit into a concert during the family party program over W-G-N THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, tomorrow evening. Florence Easton, the English soprano, who is welcomed with equal heartiness from the stage of the Metropolitan Opera company or in the home, Alfio Tedesco, the newest Italian tenor of the Metropolitan and an operatic orchestra and chorus directed by Carlton Rogers, are to provide the program.

Friml's stirring "March of the Musketeers" will provide an overture and then will come the no less stirring toreador music from 'Carmen"—both by the orchestra.

BUILT-UP MOTOR STICK MADE BOY WORLD'S CHAMP

Here's Chance to Profit by His Experience.

Here is the sixth of The Tribune's articles on building scientific airplane models. It tells how to construct the built-up motor stick for the championship tractor described last week. If you have questions on it send them, with a 2 cent stamp for answer, to Mr. Hamburg, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, 2d and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. He'll answer them!

BY MERRILL HAMBURG.
[Secretary Airplane Model League of America.]

Last week THE TRIBUNE, sponsor of the Airplane Model league of America in Chicago, promised an improvement on the championship tractor with its cambered wings—an improvement that makes it perform even better than it did for Ernest McCoy, its designer. The improvement is a built-up motor stick—a hollow stick with internal supports that is both stiffer and lighter than the solid stock.

And the boy who first used it effectively made himself world's champion!

He is Aram Abgarian, 15 year old Detroiter, who used the cambered wing and tail you learned about last week, plus his hollow motor stick—and flew his model to a new world's record of 353.6 seconds at the First National A. M. L. A. contests, held by The American Boy magazine at Detroit in 1928. Here are the plans for his motor stick. You can incorporate them in your Champ tractor.

Study the Diagram.

And you can get the materials you'll need—1-32 inch flat balsa 15¼ inches long, a balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches and ambroid—in the same kit you bought last week for the McCoy ship. It includes all of them. If you haven't yet obtained the kit, you can get it by sending 85 cents in check or money order to the supply department, A. M. L. A., American Boy building, Second and Lafayette boulevards, Detroit, Mich. It will give you all your materials for the complete ship, with either type of motor stick; an A. M. L. A. The manual is included as well.

With the materials in hand, you're ready to start. First, read all through these directions and study the diagram thoroughly, so you'll know exactly the steps to follow. Then get to work.

The outside dimensions of the motor stick are ¼x¼x15 inches. For its four walls you need four strips of balsa, 1-32x15 inches. Two are cut ¼ inch wide and the other two 1-16. Before they are cut they should be marked for plugs and bulkheads—the little inside reinforcements set at one inch intervals.

Manual Tells How.

First, sand carefully a strip of 1-32 inch flat balsa, cutting it to the exact 15 inch length. Draw light pencil lines across the strip ⅜ inch from each end, 1½ inches from each end, and at 1 inch intervals between these last two marks. Now you have located the thirteen bulkheads and the two end plugs.

Next split the strip lengthwise—with a very sharp knife and a straight edge—into the four side walls of the fuselage. The manual tells you how. Take one of the 1-16 inch strips and paint the two edges with ambroid, taking extra care not to get it on either face. Lay it flat on the table and stand the two ¼ inch side walls up against it to form a square cornered U. If you have laid the strips properly the pencil lines will correspond exactly; if they don't one or more of the strips must be reversed, end for end.

Must Be Precise.

Now the end plugs and bulkheads. Cut off two pieces ⅜ inch long from the balsa strip 1-16x3-16x6 inches—the pieces you want, if your U is properly made, will be exactly 1-16x3-16. Make sure that they fit exactly—they must not bulge the ends—and then ambroid them and set them in place. For the bulkheads, cut a strip 1-16 inch wide from the 1-32 flat balsa, then cut off pieces 3-16 inch long—thirteen of them. Every piece must be precise—it must fit neither too tightly nor too loosely. When they are finished and you have found them to fit exactly by setting them into place without glue, take them out one at a time, paint lightly with ambroid and reset them.

There must be room left on top of them, of course, so that the fourth side of the fuselage will fit in. Ambroid this in place, then sand the whole stick lightly to finish it.

And you have the Abgarian fuselage—one less subject to twist by a tightly wound motor than the solid stick, yet lighter by about the weight of the propeller. You save that much weight, and weight counts in an endurance model.

Let 'Er Sail!

Now paint the stick with ambroid at each end, for added strength, and set the metal parts as shown in the drawing. If you made the solid stick ship last week, take the metal pieces from the old fuselage.

You can use your old tail group or build a new set, just as you choose. Careful cutting with your knife will remove the old group from the McCoy model. Set it into the rear end of the motor stick, cutting grooves for the spars as shown at the left of the diagram.

Now clip on your wing, hook up the motor and propeller and let 'er sail! You'll find, if everything is done just right, that you've built your finest indoor model. It will be the lightest for its size, the strongest and the most enduring flyer.

Free Trips to Europe.

And perhaps it will win for you a trip to Europe! For, after THE TRIBUNE holds local contests to select champions, these champions will be sent to Detroit as the guests of this newspaper. And there they will compete with other city champions for cups, medals, other awards and—best of all—free trips to Europe, offered by the American Boy magazine.

Watch this paper for forthcoming airplane model articles. They will tell you how to build other record smashing models—how to compete for other trips to Europe. The next comes one week from today.

10,000 PUPILS SIGNING SAFETY PLEDGE CARDS

Agree to Look for Autos in Crossing Streets.

Easter will find the safety pledge inaugurated by the Marquette Park Lions club signed by 10,000 pupils, according to Chester Patrick, president of the club.

Five months ago business men of the southwest side became aroused by deaths and injuries to school children and embarked on a widespread safety campaign. It was the belief of many that more accidents were caused by children running blindly in front of passing cars and trucks than by careless driving of motorists.

Distributed in Nine Schools.

"We then conceived the idea of impressing on the minds of these children the grave danger of crossing the street without first looking to see if cars are approaching," Mr. Patrick said.

Ten thousand safety cards were printed to be distributed among the children of the nine public and parochial schools in the district bounded by Irving avenue, Central Park, 55th, and 74th streets. On these cards was printed the following:

"My pledge: I will always look both ways before crossing streets and alleys."

The schools have cooperated enthusiastically with members of the Lions club. Each evening the teacher of each class in all the schools reminds her pupils to repeat the pledge, which they have been asked to memorize, and asks them to repeat it each morning and noon to their parents before leaving home.

Although safety cards have been placed on all bulletin boards and all children have memorized it, another week will pass before each pupil owns his individual card. In order to impress the seriousness and importance of taking the pledge upon each student, the teacher gives out only three or four individual pledge cards a day.

Presentation Ceremonies Held.

A simple ceremony marks the presentation of each pledge card. The pupil is called to the teacher's desk, where he makes the pledge solemnly before the teacher and his classmates. He is then allowed to sign the pledge card and it becomes his possession.

"I believe that through the pledge and the safety education accompanying it the children will naturally grow into being more careful," Mr. Patrick declared. "And because of the real benefit which it accomplishes we are making the safety campaign the principal permanent project of the club."

SACRED MUSIC PROGRAM TODAY IN MORGAN PARK

The united choirs of Morgan Park Methodist Episcopal church will present a program of sacred songs this afternoon in the church for an afternoon Palm Sunday service.

All three units of the united choirs, the juniors, seniors, and melodians, will open the program with Gounod's "Unfold, Ye Portals," after which each separate unit will sing a group of selections.

Soloists will be Miss Florence Cook and Richard Beardsley and "The Crucifix" will be sung as a duet by Russell Besser, tenor, and I. Edwin Peterson, bass. The choir is under the direction of Mr. Peterson and Mrs. James Todd is organist.

South Bryn Mawr Group to Have Card Party April 4

The South Bryn Mawr Improvement association will hold a card party on Thursday, April 4, at the Southfield Community church, 78th and Cregier avenue. Mrs. E. W. Kraetsch is in charge of the women's committee on arrangements. Tickets may be obtained from Elmer M. Walsh, president, 7846 Euclid avenue.

Dixon P.-T. to Meet.

The Arthur Dixon Parent-Teacher association will meet tomorrow in the assembly hall of the Martha Ruggles school. Miss Estelle Weltman, head of the Red Cross Home hygiene department, will be the principal speaker.

COPY WRITER-SALESMAN

A young man with some but not necessarily an extensive or varied experience in writing advertising copy to produce direct and immediate results.

He must also be able to contact accounts, either alone or in company with our salesmen, to grasp quickly the nature of an advertiser's objective and to turn it into compelling copy. He will even be required at times actually to close a sale or to assist in doing so.

A large advertising organization offers an excellent opportunity to a man with these qualifications as well as an ambition to advance in this business. We welcome and encourage copy and sales ideas from our men—there is no curbing or suppression of sane individualism or originality.

The salary at the start will be only nominal, but adaptability and accomplishment will be promptly recognized and rewarded.

In reply give your reason for believing you are qualified to fill this position, your age, and the salary expected.

ANNOUNCEMENT!
I WISH TO ANNOUNCE to my friends and former associates my connection with the BOLYN CORPORATION,
Sales and Advertising Counsellors and Advisers,
185 N. WABASH-AV.
Suite 1018. Tel. Franklin 7236.
J. L. BARCLAY.

The following will be of interest only to the highest type of salesmen.

Due to a program of expansion we are now prepared to receive applications from salesmen who have unusual ability and an unusual record. Former experience in advertising, service, books, or high class specialties preferred though not essential.

We are not interested in the ordinary type of salesmen; in order to qualify for a connection with us it is necessary that a man have personality, tact, poise, good appearance, and real selling ability.

The men we select will be between the ages of 30 and 45 years.

We are not interested unless your record of earnings is above the average.

We only wish to interview men who have a reputation for reliability and integrity, for that is the manner in which we conduct our business. We are interested only in talking to a man who is desirous of making his last change.

The men we select will be promoted as rapidly as their ability warrants.

The remuneration for executive positions in our business ranges from $15,000 to $50,000 per year. The really good salesmen in this business earn between $10,000 and $15,000 per year.

Should you be tired of broken promises, overestimated statements, or unsalable propositions we would suggest that you phone us for an appointment. An interview with us might result in a mutually profitable connection.

Our proposition is decidedly out of the ordinary, decidedly different, decidedly new. It is used and indorsed by executive heads of many nationally known organizations, who are known for their ability to pick winners. For appointment phone or write, giving full details regarding qualifications.

J. L. BARCLAY,
FRANKLIN 7236,

WANTED—MALE HELP.
Salesmen, Solicitors, Etc.

Any Man Earning Less Than $65 Per Week Should Read This Offer WE NEED 10 Men at Once

"The proof of the pudding is in the eating." Forty salesmen from this office averaged $90 each for last week's earnings and the lowest made $65.

Nineteen automobiles have been purchased out of earnings in the last eight months by men in one of our Chicago division offices. Now every man in that division owns a car.

B. A. S. came with us last fall fresh from college. He earned $161 last week and has saved almost enough to pay for his medical college course.

E. L. Y., a man of 45 years, failed in his own business; started with us in February; we paid him $140 last week, and he has averaged over $20 a day all this month.

C. A. W., a war veteran, formerly a railroad man, made $115 last week and this is his first selling experience.

F. W. D., a credit man in a department store, tired of an inside job has been with us three months and averaged $75 per week, or 50% more than he formerly made.

D. C. L., an evangelist preacher, has averaged over $500 per month including bonus, ever since last fall.

W. S. H., 38 years old, $2,000 in debt, has in three years paid his debts, bought a home, owns his third automobile and says he values his job at $25,000 cash. He formerly sold vacuum cleaners.

Come in and meet these men. They and others like them are regular fellows, good citizens, honest hard working family men with whom it's a pleasure to work. Among competitors this is rated as one of the finest sales organizations in America. To be a part of it is a recommendation for any man.

If you're looking for a "racket," try somewhere else. Our men are square shooters who will work only for square shooters. If you are an in-and-outer fly-by-night type, don't come, because you won't like the work.

But if an honest chance to make an honest living in a dignified Honorable fashion amongst respectable fellow workers appeals to you, come in and talk this over. It has been a God-send to many men and might be for you.

If you can qualify, the work will be permanent, the earnings will increase as you build a clientele and the opportunity for steady advancement and promotion is splendid. While this is not an "ad" for executives, every executive now in our vast organization started on the job that is now available here.

We now want ten men between 25 and 45, neat, intelligent and of good reputation, who thoroughly investigate every phase of this offer without obligation and in advance of any decision.

Call 9 to 12 Monday morning at the address most convenient for you.

1320 N. STATE

Unusual Apartments on the Near North Side.

EXCLUSIVE SURROUNDINGS. Beautifully designed apartment homes of 7 and 8 rooms—some with duplex arrangement and 2-story living rooms.

These apartments are available on the Rental-Purchase Plan; also several of them are for lease.

You are invited to inspect this building which is open every day; or call Miss Blanche McDonald for appointment at

Superior 2837

222 E. CHESTNUT

7 Rooms—3 Baths

THERE ARE STILL AVAILABLE several of these delightful 7 ROOM apartments. The apartments themselves are exceptionally well arranged—the rooms are large, with more than the average window space. The arrangement is for 3 master chambers—one of which may be used as a library. The vista that is afforded from the living room through the rest of the apartment must be seen to be appreciated.

THE APPOINTMENTS ARE EXceptional—even down to a butler's pantry which is a room in itself. Of course, the appointments are of the highest type and ultra modern.

IF YOU ARE CONTEMPLATING an apartment for May 1st, we would suggest that arrangements be made now so that the decorating—which is done to the personal likes of the tenant—can be properly arranged.

THE APARTMENTS ARE OPEN for inspection TODAY and EVERY DAY.

REAL ESTATE LOANS.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

It is our observation that many home owners who are desirous of making second mortgage loans do not proceed as carefully in arranging for their loan as they would in a suit of clothes were involved.

Second mortgage loans are something like Heinz 57 Varieties of Pickles. They are all pickles or second mortgages as the case may be, but there is a wide variation in the terms under which the loans are made, covering margin of security, cost, method of repayment, and last but not least, the multitude of methods under which the ultimate cost is levied.

Through the Agency of the Chicago Morris Plan Bank a very large fund advanced by Mr. Julius Rosenwald is being used to make second mortgage loans and these loans are made on one basis only. One to three years is the time allowed. A minimum monthly payment of 2% of the principal sum is required. The total of first and second mortgages must not exceed 75% of a fair value of the property involved. The interest is 6% payable monthly, and the commission is 3½% for one year, 6½% for two years and 9% for three years. These commissions are flat and do not vary whether the borrower chooses to repay in installments amounting to 2% of the principal, or if he chooses to make equal installments throughout the life of the loan.

Thousands and thousands of dollars have already been saved to Chicago home owners through the facilities of our second mortgage fund. So favorably has our plan been received that we have been offered to look for larger quarters in which to do business. We are now located on the fourth floor of the Morris Plan Bank Building at 21 N. La Salle-st. Shortly we will announce our removal to the new building at the southwest corner of Madison and Clark-sts.

It has never been the policy of the Chicago Morris Plan Bank nor the Trustees of the Rosenwald Loan Fund to unduly urge anybody, whether home owner or not, to borrow money needlessly. It has been our policy on the other hand to urge those who do require money for useful purposes to think twice as they shop around in order that they may obtain the amount of money which best suits their desires on terms which are most favorable to the person or family involved.

Come in.
